LBJ Seeking $1-Billion For Aid To Appalachia

THE LITTLE MERMAID sitting on a stone in Copenhagen harbor where it has been admired and photographed by thousands of tourists, lost her head early Saturday. Police attribute deed to a vandal who is believed to have sawed off the mermaid's head and made off with it. Vietnamese Strike, Rout Red Troops

Action Arouses Advisors' Praise; Gains Stronghold

Bodies of seven Viet Cong remained draped over bunkers when government forces overran the entrenchments, foxholes, tunnels and machine-gun nests that had been dug into the rockhard terrain of this Mekong River delta area in near perfect order.

UNHAPPY REDS

"They must have been mighty unhappy to give these up," an American officer said with a smile. "We sure are giving the 514th hell."

The Red veterans, who have roamed the northern part of the delta for years, pulled back under harassment by government units that moved on quickly to other designated targets.

A Viet Cong attack on two government outposts Friday set off the battle near Binh Chanh, about 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

Lt. Roger W. Zailskas, Waterbury, Conn., was slightly wounded in the fighting Friday. A former West Point football player who is advising a Vietnamese reconnaissance company, he was hit in the face by a shell fragment. Treated in Saigon, he returned to duty Saturday morning.

Attached to the same company is Sgt. Clarence Bath, Savannah, Ga., who described as beautiful an initial charge by 200 whooping and yelling troops across paddyfields, behind a line of 24 armored personnel carriers, toward coconut trees sheltering the Red entrenchments.

"They bounced across the grass like they were in a foot race," he said.

Gore Lashes Aid Threats In Right Bill

Measure's Fate May Depend On Border Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of the civil rights bill may rest with border state senators, and Saturday one of them took the Senate floor to label the measure "seriously defective and potentially dangerous."

What caused Tennessee's Albert Gore to lash the administration-sponsored and House-passed bill more than three hours is a section that would permit the President and other officials to cut off federal aid funds if a state or local agency engages in racial discrimination.

FEARS REPRISAL

In the hands of some future president, Gore contended, this could be a wedge for political reprisal. And so broad is the provision, he said, a state's entire school lunch or welfare funds could be cut off if a single district is found in violation.

Then, in a broader assessment of the complex measure, he declared: "There are simply too many uncertainties."

"It is surely unrealistic," Gore continued, "to hope that all bias, preference and prejudice can be eliminated from our private lives.

"And it would be contrary to generally accepted principles of individual freedom for government to attempt to compel it."

A Democrat, Gore voted for the civil rights bills of 1957 and 1960, but said he cannot support the current legislation in its present form.

However, the Dixie field marshal, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., told a reporter it is "highly unlikely" there will be any vote on the amendment next week.

Southerners want to make many more speeches on it, he said, and added: "It's not much of a compromise. It's just a mustard plaster on a cancer."

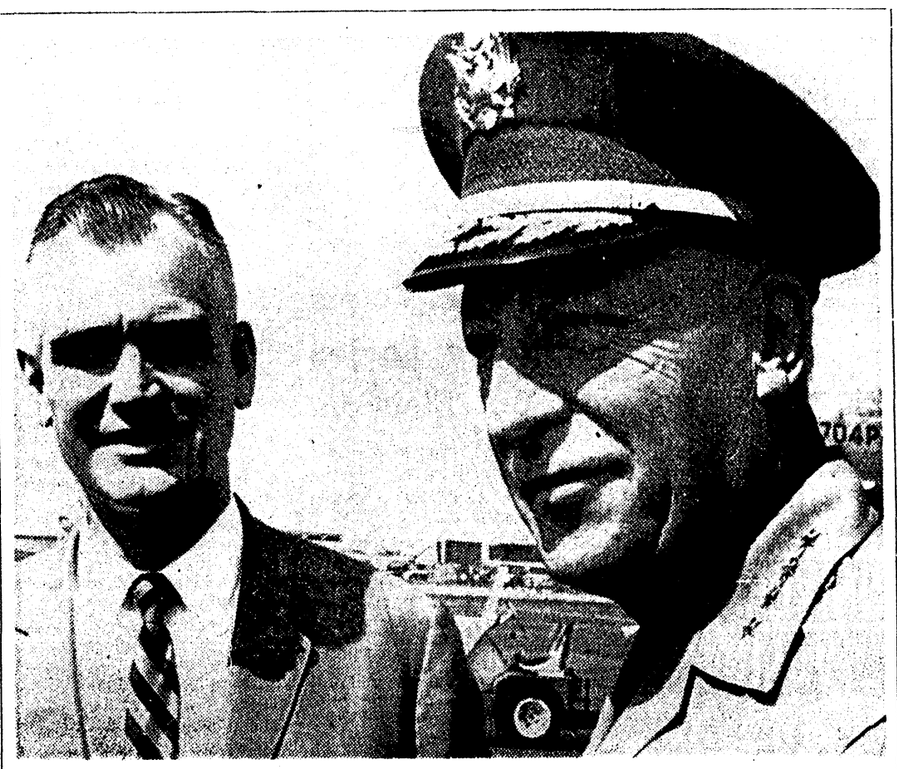

The amendment was introduced Friday by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen. It would limit to a $300 fine and 30 days in jail contempt sentences without a jury trial under all injunctive provisions of the 1964 bill. And it would bring the 1957 measure into line by reducing the jail ceiling in voter rights cases from 45 days to 30 days.

If the Southerners mount an oratorial barrage against it, the amendment cannot be brought to a vote.

Earlier, Russell said his forces are ready to debate the bill itself "until we are gagged by two-thirds of the Senate or until we have convinced 51 per cent of those voting that the bill should not pass."

He gave this view on the weekly television and radio program Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., transcribed for broadcast in his home state.

"We do not have a majority now to defeat this bill," Russell conceded. And he added "it's difficult for us here to assay exactly the effect of the fight we are making."

GEN. PAUL D. HARKINS, right, will be replaced by his deputy, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, left, as commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, President Johnson announced Saturday in Washington. The change, expected for some time, will be effective Aug. 1. The timing means Harkins will be on the job 2½ months beyond May 15 when he reaches the statutory retirement age of 60. (AP Wirephoto)

Also Reveals U.S., Russia Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Saturday he will ask Congress to approve a billion-dollar aid program for nine Appalachian states.

The President also told a news conference that the United States and the Soviet Union are discussing several possible agreements which he said "might lessen tensions and promote peace."

HOPEFUL OUTLOOK

Johnson said "we are hopeful" about the outcome of American - Soviet discussions. And, without getting specific, he reported that he has exchanged "a good many communications" with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Johnson met with reporters in his oval office, flanked at his desk by former President Harry S. Truman, who dropped in for lunch, and Texas author J. Frank Dobie, who is a weekend house guest.

The 79-year-old former president, asked if he would stump for the Democratic ticket in November, replied that if "Johnson thinks I can do anything to get him extra votes, I would be glad to do it."

Johnson announced at the outset that he will submit to Congress on Monday legislative proposals to aid the Appalachian states — Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina.

The President, who visited three of those states Friday to dramatize his "war on poverty," gave figures which indicated the aid program eventually would cost $1 billion or more, including $840 million for 2,150 miles of highways.

He said the cost during the first year—the 12 months that begin July 1—would come to about $220 million. He said such outlays won't affect the budget because they will be taken from a contingency fund already provided.

Following a conference with seven Appalachian governors Friday night at Huntington, W.Va., Johnson said he "worked through the night" to help shape up specific recommendations for Congress.

On other major topics, the President said:

—"There is still a serious risk of efforts to upset the Geneva accords" providing for a neutralist-headed government in Laos. "We are still disturbed about the situation," he said.

—Aircraft manufacturers have failed in efforts to develop design proposals for an economic supersonic jet transport, so the program will be reviewed. "I remain convinced that it will be possible to develop an American supersonic transport which will be economic to operate," said Johnson.

LIGHTNING STRIKES

Losses Are High In 2 Area Fires

By SARAH LITTLE World Staff Writer

Fires apparently started by lightning during a severe thunderstorm in the Twin Cities area Saturday afternoon razed the high school at Holly Ridge, heavily damaged an adjacent school gymnasium and caused around $100,000 damages at the Swartz electrical station.

According to Hugh Balfour, engineer with Louisiana Power & Light Co., the electrical 115,000 volts substation was struck by lightning during the brief thunderstorm and a large transformer heavily damaged. He said exact amount of damages could not be determined late Saturday, but estimated losses would be around $100,000.

FIRE QUELLED

He said the transformer hit was a 12 - foot, 20,000 KVA unit. The fire was brought under control by application of dry powder extinguisher which Monroe Fire Chief H. L. Haile and a power company maintenance man used. Two trucks from the Monroe fire department and one from the nearby West Monroe department were dispatched to the scene.

The sub - station is located on the Old Swartz Road, east of Monroe. Balfour said power in the Swartz area was temporarily cut off, but was restored after the fire was extinguished.

Meanwhile, the 12 - year - old one story brick school at Holly Ridge east of Monroe burned to the ground Saturday afternoon, and the gymnasium was reportedly damaged.

Fire units from nearby Rayville and Delhi battled the blaze, but were hampered by lack of water. Unofficial sources said late Saturday that the high school gymnasium was damaged, but saved from being completely destroyed.

An eighth grade teacher, Mrs. Joyce Loftin of Delhi, reportedly tried to enter the blazing inferno to save some of her school articles and fell, breaking an arm. She was taken to the Delhi clinic for treatment.

Cause of the fire was unknown, but spectators believe lightning apparently struck the building during a thunderstorm. Passersby noticed the smoke and flames and notified fire departments. One of the fire trucks reportedly caught fire and received minor damage while firemen were battling the blaze.

Meanwhile, the thunderstorm dumped almost another inch of precipitation in Monroe causing flash flooding of streets but no damages. According to W. L. Ellerbe, superintendent of the Monroe Water department, the rain Friday brought the water level up in the bayou almost a foot.

He said the water elevation

Area Highway Project Work Starts Monday

Work will begin Monday on an important improvement project along the Bawcomville - Eros Highway, State Route 34, under a $691,480 contract to the Green-Snider Construction Co. of Delhi, according to Highway Director Ray W. Burgess.

The project will begin on State Route 34 about 350 feet south of its junction with State Routes 617 and 840-1 in the outskirts of West Monroe, and extend southwesterly along portions of existing 34 as well as links along new locations for 3.6 miles.

Grading, installing drainage structures, preparing a soil cement base course, asphalt and concrete paving will comprise the job, Burgess said.

During the 12-month construction period the contractor will not be required to maintain through traffic.

W. R. Overton of Monroe will serve as the Highway Department's project engineer, Burgess said.

LBJ Names New General To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Paul Harkins, top U. S. commander in South Viet Nam, will be succeeded in August by Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, President Johnson announced Saturday.

Johnson said Harkins is being asked to stay on beyond the normal retirement age of 60 in order to keep the command until August.

WEST POINTER

Westmoreland, who will succeed him, is a former commandant of West Point.

There had been speculation that Harkins would leave the command post and that Westmoreland, who is deputy commander, would take his place.

The Pentagon created the post of deputy earlier this year and gave the job to Westmoreland with the explanation that he would aid Harkins in carrying out increased responsibilities of the command.

There have been reports that U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge wanted a change in command. Harkins has been in South Viet Nam since February 1962.

Westmoreland escaped injury Friday in Viet Nam when a plane in which he was riding was hit by Communist sniper fire. Three others aboard were injured.

Harkins will reach the age retirement point of 60 years on May 15 and on July 31 will have 35 years service and five years in the permanent grade of major general. That is the highest permanent grade, with three and four star ranks being temporary.

CYPRUS FIGHTING

Greeks Capture Turk Positions

ST. HILARION, Cyprus (UPI) — The Greek Cypriots Saturday night reported "successful completion" of a bloody win-or-die campaign against Turkish Cypriot positions in the Kyrenia Mountains.

The Turkish fortress of St. Hilarion Castle still held out, however, and new fighting was feared today.

Cyprus Radio said the Greek Cypriots had "stabilized their newly captured positions and cut off the supply route on the western side of the mountain range from the Turkish terrorists occupying St. Hilarion Castle."

A tentative United Nations casualty list said one Greek Cypriot and six Turkish Cypriots were confirmed killed and one Greek and six Turkish Cypriots wounded. Two Turkish Cypriots were missing.

The Greek Cypriot Radio which claimed success for the Kyrenian campaign north of Nicosia reported 11 Turkish Cypriots killed. A spokesman put the death toll at 15 Turks and said another was captured.

The Greek Cypriot government radio used the word "completion" of the operation but all indications were the Greeks were massing for an all out assault on the citadel which was last conquered in the 12th century by the English king, Richard the Lion - Hearted. It is the Turks' last big stronghold in the northeast.

A Turkish Cypriot spokesman said at least 1,500 Greek Cypriots were attacking the Turkish Cypriot positions from both sides of Kyrenia Pass. He claimed "at least 20 Greek army officers and men" were taking part in the attack.

Sen. Goldwater Gets Delegates From 2 States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona picked up eight more Republican National Convention delegates Saturday in his campaign to win the GOP presidential nomination.

The Nevada delegation of six was pledged to him, and Minnesota contributed two more, giving him six in that state. It was the first time that Nevada officials could recall a state delegation there committing itself to any candidate.

With Saturday's addition, 19 states out of the 50 have selected a total of 382 delegates so far. Of these Goldwater has 180, Henry Cabot Lodge 14, Richard M. Nixon, 5, others 34 and uncommitted 147.

MERMAID, BOXER

Vandals Saw Off 2 Famous Heads

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The Little Mermaid of Copenhagen, one of Denmark's chief tourist attractions, lost her head Saturday. She had to be covered with a shroud and carted off to the royal foundry to hide her shame.

Hundreds of Danes watched in silence as the world famous bronze statue—whose head was sawed off apparently by a vandal with a hacksaw — was removed from the rock upon which she rested in Copenhagen harbor. She had been there 50 years.

Authorities learned meanwhile that the head of another statue had been wrenched off. This one was at Odense, birthplace of the celebrated teller of fables, Hans Christian Andersen, 85 miles from Copenhagen.

Odense police said the head of a figure called "The Boxer" has been wrenched loose from its base and stolen only hours after the monument was erected Friday evening.

There was no indication the incidents were connected.

Police vowed to maintain an unrelenting search for the person or persons who neatly beheaded the Little Mermaid during the night and spirited it away.

"We are looking for fingerprints on her shoulders," a police spokesman said.

He called it "an act of senseless vandalism" against the dainty sculpture which has become a symbol of the Danish nation for millions of tourists from all over the world.

Then Copenhagen's City Council ordered its workmen to shroud the mutilated statue decently in a waterproof sheet and remove her and the boulder—all weighing one and a half tons—to the privacy of the royal foundry.

Police Arrest Killer Suspect

NEW YORK (AP)—A poker-faced, teen - aged drifter was charged Saturday with the baffling slayings of Manhattan career girls Janice Wylie and Emily Hoffert.

Police arrested him after he allegedly had struck twice again, but was chased from the last, living victim.

George Whitmore Jr., 19, a Negro who dropped out of school after the eighth grade, admitted all the charges in an oral statement, detectives said.

Miss Wylie, 21, daughter of writer and television producer Max Wylie and niece of author Philip Wylie, and Miss Hoffert, 23, daughter of Dr. Henry Hoffert of Minneapolis, were found stabbed and beaten to death last Aug. 28 in their apartment.

Tanganyikans, Zanzibar Unite

DAR ESSALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—The Revolutionary Council of Zanzibar and the Tanganyika National Assembly ratified the agreement for the union of Tanganyika and Zanzibar late Saturday night.

The new United Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar officially came into being at the stroke of midnight.

The announcement of Zanzibar's ratification was made by a Tanganyika government official as the National Assembly went into the last stages of the ratification procedure.

The official said the next step would be for Tanganyika President Julius Nyerere, who will be the head of the new nation, to appoint ministers.

Sunday was designated Union Day.

LBJ's Daughter Gives Back Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) — The engagement of President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, to Navy Lt. (j.g.) Bernard Rosenbach has been broken by mutual agreement.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson, the First Lady, confirmed Saturday the engagement had been broken. She said Rosenbach, 23, was in Washington last weekend and Lynda Bird, 20, returned his ring at that time.

Rosenbach, stationed at Mayport Naval Station near Jacksonville, Fla., said when asked about the broken engagement: "Yes, that is true."

Mrs. Carpenter said religion was not a factor.

PARISH TAX ELECTION

Drainage, Cheniere Lake Needs Cited

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third and final in a series of articles on the tax election in Ouachita Parish Tuesday. Today's article pertains to Proposition No. 4 and Proposition No. 5.)

By SAM HANNA
Political Editor

Five current tax proposals will be on the ballot Tuesday for renewal with the approval of Ouachita Parish property owners to operate parish programs.

The polls open at 7 a.m., closing at 6 p.m. while the Police Jury plans to meet May 1st to promulgate the returns officially.

Proposition No. 4 calls for the renewal of the current half-mill tax for drainage while Proposition No. 5 is a tenth of a mill for the maintenance of Cheniere Lake, now owned completely by Ouachita Parish.

No. 1 is two mills for new black top construction and a half-mill for blacktop maintenance while No. 2 is a quarter mill for the Green Oaks Dentention Home and No. 3 is a mill for the Ouachita Health Unit.

Regarding the half-mill tax for drainage, jurymen generally agree that drainage presents one of the major problems for the Police Jury in operating the parish.

Ouachita has 751 miles of roads maintained by the parish, which means that the parish has a sprawling network of ditches to keep clean for drainage.

This does not include drainage canals located throughout the parish.

The half-mill provides about $60,000 annually to finance the parish drainage program.

Meantime, Proposition No. 5 is a tenth of a mill to continue maintaining and improve Cheniere. A half-mill tax voted in 1959 to buy the lake for $150,000 expired in 1963.

This means that if the five propositions are renewed Tuesday, parish taxpayers will see

Fires apparently started by lightning during a severe thunderstorm in the Twin Cities area Saturday afternoon razed the high school at Holly Ridge, heavily damaged an adjacent school gymnasium and caused around $100,000 damages at the Swartz electrical station.

Work will begin Monday on an important improvement project along the Bawcomville - Eros Highway, State Route 34, under a $691,480 contract to the Green-Snider Construction Co. of Delhi, according to Highway Director Ray W. Burgess.

The project will begin on State Route 34 about 350 feet south of its junction with State Routes 617 and 840-1 in the outskirts of West Monroe, and extend southwesterly along portions of existing 34 as well as links along new locations for 3.6 miles.

Greeks Capture Turk Positions

ST. HILARION, Cyprus (UPI) — The Greek Cypriots Saturday night reported "successful completion" of a bloody win-or-die campaign against Turkish Cypriot positions in the Kyrenia Mountains.

The Turkish fortress of St. Hilarion Castle still held out, however, and new fighting was feared today.

Cyprus Radio said the Greek Cypriots had "stabilized their newly captured positions and cut off the supply route on the western side of the mountain range from the Turkish terrorists occupying St. Hilarion Castle."

A tentative United Nations casualty list said one Greek Cypriot and six Turkish Cypriots were confirmed killed and one Greek and six Turkish Cypriots wounded. Two Turkish Cypriots were missing.

The Greek Cypriot Radio which claimed success for the Kyrenian campaign north of Nicosia reported 11 Turkish Cypriots killed. A spokesman put the death toll at 15 Turks and said another was captured.

The Greek Cypriot government radio used the word "completion" of the operation but all indications were the Greeks were massing for an all out assault on the citadel which was last conquered in the 12th century by the English king, Richard the Lion - Hearted. It is the Turks' last big stronghold in the northeast.

A Turkish Cypriot spokesman said at least 1,500 Greek Cypriots were attacking the Turkish Cypriot positions from both sides of Kyrenia Pass. He claimed "at least 20 Greek army officers and men" were taking part in the attack.

Sen. Goldwater Gets Delegates From 2 States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona picked up eight more Republican National Convention delegates Saturday in his campaign to win the GOP presidential nomination.

The Nevada delegation of six was pledged to him, and Minnesota contributed two more, giving him six in that state. It was the first time that Nevada officials could recall a state delegation there committing itself to any candidate.

With Saturday's addition, 19 states out of the 50 have selected a total of 382 delegates so far. Of these Goldwater has 180, Henry Cabot Lodge 14, Richard M. Nixon, 5, others 34 and uncommitted 147.

Klan Leader's House Bombed

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —A bomb blast shattered the home Saturday of a Ku Klux Klan leader who is awaiting trial on charges stemming from the dynamiting of a young Negro boy's home.

The explosion, which occurred at 12:45 a.m., turned the five-room frame house into a blazing inferno and sprayed the neighborhood with debris, but no one was injured.

MERMAID, BOXER

Vandals Saw Off 2 Famous Heads

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The Little Mermaid of Copenhagen, one of Denmark's chief tourist attractions, lost her head Saturday. She had to be covered with a shroud and carted off to the royal foundry to hide her shame.

Hundreds of Danes watched in silence as the world famous bronze statue—whose head was sawed off apparently by a vandal with a hacksaw — was removed from the rock upon which she rested in Copenhagen harbor. She had been there 50 years.

Authorities learned meanwhile that the head of another statue had been wrenched off. This one was at Odense, birthplace of the celebrated teller of fables, Hans Christian Andersen, 85 miles from Copenhagen.

Odense police said the head of a figure called "The Boxer" has been wrenched loose from its base and stolen only hours after the monument was erected Friday evening.

There was no indication the incidents were connected.

Police vowed to maintain an unrelenting search for the person or persons who neatly beheaded the Little Mermaid during the night and spirited it away.

"We are looking for fingerprints on her shoulders," a police spokesman said.

He called it "an act of senseless vandalism" against the dainty sculpture which has become a symbol of the Danish nation for millions of tourists from all over the world.

Then Copenhagen's City Council ordered its workmen to shroud the mutilated statue decently in a waterproof sheet and remove her and the boulder—all weighing one and a half tons—to the privacy of the royal foundry.

Police Arrest Killer Suspect

NEW YORK (AP)—A poker-faced, teen - aged drifter was charged Saturday with the baffling slayings of Manhattan career girls Janice Wylie and Emily Hoffert.

Police arrested him after he allegedly had struck twice again, but was chased from the last, living victim.

George Whitmore Jr., 19, a Negro who dropped out of school after the eighth grade, admitted all the charges in an oral statement, detectives said.

Miss Wylie, 21, daughter of writer and television producer Max Wylie and niece of author Philip Wylie, and Miss Hoffert, 23, daughter of Dr. Henry Hoffert of Minneapolis, were found stabbed and beaten to death last Aug. 28 in their apartment.

Tanganyikans, Zanzibar Unite

DAR ESSALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—The Revolutionary Council of Zanzibar and the Tanganyika National Assembly ratified the agreement for the union of Tanganyika and Zanzibar late Saturday night.

The new United Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar officially came into being at the stroke of midnight.

The announcement of Zanzibar's ratification was made by a Tanganyika government official as the National Assembly went into the last stages of the ratification procedure.

The official said the next step would be for Tanganyika President Julius Nyerere, who will be the head of the new nation, to appoint ministers.

Sunday was designated Union Day.

LBJ's Daughter Gives Back Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) — The engagement of President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, to Navy Lt. (j.g.) Bernard Rosenbach has been broken by mutual agreement.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson, the First Lady, confirmed Saturday the engagement had been broken. She said Rosenbach, 23, was in Washington last weekend and Lynda Bird, 20, returned his ring at that time.

Rosenbach, stationed at Mayport Naval Station near Jacksonville, Fla., said when asked about the broken engagement: "Yes, that is true."

Mrs. Carpenter said religion was not a factor.

PARISH TAX ELECTION

Drainage, Cheniere Lake Needs Cited

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third and final in a series of articles on the tax election in Ouachita Parish Tuesday. Today's article pertains to Proposition No. 4 and Proposition No. 5.)

By SAM HANNA
Political Editor

Five current tax proposals will be on the ballot Tuesday for renewal with the approval of Ouachita Parish property owners to operate parish programs.

The polls open at 7 a.m., closing at 6 p.m. while the Police Jury plans to meet May 1st to promulgate the returns officially.

Proposition No. 4 calls for the renewal of the current half-mill tax for drainage while Proposition No. 5 is a tenth of a mill for the maintenance of Cheniere Lake, now owned completely by Ouachita Parish.

No. 1 is two mills for new black top construction and a half-mill for blacktop maintenance while No. 2 is a quarter mill for the Green Oaks Detention Home and No. 3 is a mill for the Ouachita Health Unit.

Regarding the half-mill tax for drainage, jurymen generally agree that drainage presents one of the major problems for the Police Jury in operating the parish.

Ouachita has 751 miles of roads maintained by the parish, which means that the parish has a sprawling network of ditches to keep clean for drainage.

This does not include drainage canals located throughout the parish.

The half-mill provides about $60,000 annually to finance the parish drainage program.

Meantime, Proposition No. 5 is a tenth of a mill to continue maintaining and improve Cheniere. A half-mill tax voted in 1959 to buy the lake for $150,000 expired in 1963.

This means that if the five propositions are renewed Tuesday, parish taxpayers will see

Bella Arrives In Soviet For 1st Red Visit

MOSCOW (AP) — President Alhmed Ben Bella of Algeria arrived Saturday for his first visit to the Soviet Union, and was immediately hailed by Premier Khrushchev as a "dear comrade" and an outstanding fighter against imperialism.

Ben Bella responded by hinting that he would like more Soviet aid. He said Algeria has embarked on a Socialist course, and added: "We are confident that this expression (of policy) will be morally and technically supported by the Soviet Union and other Socialist countries."

From Moscow, Ben Bella goes to Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia, where he will also presumably be discussing economic matters. He then goes to the United Arab Republic where he will meet Khrushchev at a May 15 ceremony at the Aswan Dam, built under Soviet direction.

Ben Bella arrived in a Soviet Ilyushin 18 turboprop plane, bearing bright red Algerian markings. Seven Soviet jet fighters roared along in escort.

In addition to Khrushchev, the Soviet welcoming delegation included President Leonid Brezhnev, Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, party theoretician Mikhail Suslov and First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Alexei Kosygin.

Ben Bella will be here 10 days, and will occupy a place of honor beside Khrushchev during the May Day parade in Red Square. Last May Day, the honored guest was Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

THE NORTHEAST Louisiana State College unit of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military society for advanced ROTC students, has elected new officers for the coming year. 'Fuzziness' Plagues U.S. Policy Bids

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. programs in the cold war struggle for men's minds sometimes suffer from "fuzziness of concept," a House subcommittee said Saturday.

"Duplication, fragmentation of responsibility and inconsistencies have at times marked the administration of State Department - sponsored educational exchanges as a result of steps taken to avoid the charge that these government-financed programs have some political overtones," said a report by a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee.

"While we do not want to see educational exchanges turned into an indoctrination effort on the Soviet model, we believe that it is time to reaxamine and acknowledge the naivete of certain assumptions which have influenced the conduct of these undertakings.

"We refuse to believe that the people of other countries . . . consider these programs unrelated to the objectives of United States foreign policy and therefore completely devoid of political motivations."

That was one aspect of the second of a series of reports by a subcommittee on "Winning the Cold War," headed by Rep. Dante B. Fascell, D-Fla. It has held many hearings on the subject.

The report said "perhaps the weakest aspect of the U. S. ideological effort is the apparent lack of a clearly defined, operational authority.

"In practice, the day-to-day control over ideological and psychological operations is partly centralized and partly dispersed," the report said.

The subcommittee said that to be effective the ideological offensive must be "unified and vested in a person exclusively assigned to this task."

Another adverse factor it mentioned is "fragmentation of congressional supervision" over programs comprising what the subcommittee called the "third dimension of U. S. foreign policy."

Heading a list of recommendations by the subcommittee was this:

That the highest level of the government should acknowledge the need for organizing all these ideological programs into an effective, blended whole.

Similarly, it said operational authority should be placed "at an appropriately high level in the executive branch."

Madison Voters Approve Levies In Tax Election

TALLULAH (Special) — Saturday's three-part tax election swept to a decisive victory here, carried by a wide margin in both popular votes and property assessments.

The tax election, for a total of 2½ mills, was for maintenance of the library, the hospital and the Madison Parish Health Unit.

The voting went as follows; for the library, 587 for with property assessments of $2,259,562; 41 against, with property assessments of $126,500.

For the health unit — 571 for, assessments of $2,173,512; and 54 against with assessments of $182,850.

Biggest oppostion came for the hospital, where there were only 532 for and assessments of $4,092,905, and 106 against with assessments of $280,557.

Voting officials said this was a good turnout since the weather was inclement all day in Tallulah.

Negro Injured In Wreck Dies

TALLULAH (Special) — A Florida Negro prisoner of a U.S. Deputy Marshall died in the Madison Parish hospital Friday night of injuries received in an automobile collision near here Wednesday afternoon.

Tallulah officials identified the dead man as Benny Cain, 43, of Florida. He was a prisoner of Deputy Marshall Loren Wideman, of Miami, Fla. when the accident occurred Wednesday afternoon on U. S. 80.

Wideman, who was also slightly injured along with another prisoner, Hershal Addington, 32, of California, was en route to federal court in Shreveport with his two charges when the accident occurred. However, Wideman and Addington were treated, released and went on to Shreveport. Cause of Cain's death was not given.

Fleeing Youths' Bail Bonds Set At Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — U.S. Commissioner James Barton set bonds at $25,000 each Saturday for three youths who overpowered a jailer at Norman, Okla., and escaped last Sunday.

John J. Kutcher, 20, Steve James Solis, 17, and Nathan Lee Prewett, 16, waived formal removal hearings and will be returned to Oklahoma, officers said.

Two others who escaped with them, William Harper and Douglas Lee Austin, were captured in Florence, Ala.

The prisoners escaped by flooding their cell, then knocking out jailer A. H. Briggs with a bar of soap wraped in a sock when he came to investigate. They abducted a janitor, fled in a stolen car and later released the janitor unharmed in Oklahoma City.

Violist Arrives For Northeast Concert Tuesday

Violist Kenneth Byler arrived by plane Saturday night from Appleton, Wis., and will go into rehearsal with the Twin City Symphony Orchestra here tonight for the premiere presentation of Conductor Eloy Fominaya's new work for viola and orchestra.

The concerto will be performed at Brown Auditorium on the Northeast State College campus Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. This is the final program of the current Northeast State Concerts Association season.

In addition to the new work by Dr. Fominaya, a member of the Northeast State College faculty, the Twin City Symphony will perform the Overature, Iphigenia in Aulis, by Gluck; the Symphony in G minor, by Mozart, and "The White Peacock," Op. 7, No. 1, by Griffes.

The guest soloist for the forthcoming concert series presentation holds degrees from the American Conservatory at Chicago, where he studied with Scott Willets, and the University of Michigan. He also studied at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, violin with Edward Dethier and conducting with Thor Johnson.

He only recently returned to his post as associate professor of music and conductor of orchestras at the Lawrence College Conservatory in Appleton from a research leave in Europe where he studied with the eminent teacher, Max Rosenthal in Switzerland.

At Lawrence, he was Fominaya's major professor, directing much of his training in violin, chamber music, conducting and orchestra. The new work has been dedicated to him by Dr. Fominaya.

Suspect Booked After Slaying In West Monroe

A West Monroe Negro, P. L. Jones, 46, was booked by West Monroe Police Saturday on charges of murder after he reportedly shot and killed Earnest Harper, Negro, 42, with a single barrel 12 guage shotgun.

According to investigating police, Harper was shot once in the left chest with the shotgun from a distance of approximately two feet.

The incident occured at 803 Coleman Ave., West Monroe. Both men were listed as residing at 801 Coleman Ave.

Jones was transferred to the Ouachita Parish Jail by city police.

Alfred Dorsey, 22-year-old Negro, was apprehended by police about 1:40 a.m. Saturday under the building attempting to pry off floor boards with a metal car tool, according to investigating officers who were tipped by a phone call.

Dorsey, who gave his address as a rear apartment in the same building, was booked on charges of attempted burglary.

Joseph W. Pankey Jr., 21, of 607 Highland St., Winnsboro, was booked by West Monroe police Saturday on charges of driving while intoxicated after being apprehended on McMillian Road at 10:25 p.m.

In other police action, Monroe authorities booked Sherman Hopkins, 29-year-old Negro of 1731 Short Flynn St., Monroe, on charges of aggravated assault and vagrancy after he reportedly tried to stab his wife, Mattie Hopkins, with a butcher knife.

Hopkins was arrested in the 1700 block of Short Flynn at 6:22 p.m. Saturday.

Postal Service Adjustments To Begin Saturday

The limited adjustments in some postal services ordered in Washington in March by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski will go into effect in the Twin Cities May 4, local postmasters announced Saturday.

Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn and West Monroe Postmaster Homer B. Roark said these changes in postal services are in line with President's Johnson's economy programs under which the recent Federal income tax cut was made. They are slated to save $12.7 million annually.

Postmaster Hathorn announced the following changes in Monroe services::

Parcles for the downtown business area will not be delivered on Saturdays beginning May 4. Other areas receiving deliveries by parcel post carriers will not be delivered on Thursdays after that date. Parcel post will continue to be delivered daily on rural routes and mounted routes in the city.

Saturday mornings, money orders will not be sold at the Post office windows or on rural routes, and postal savings business will be suspended on Saturdays. However, windows will remain open on Saturday mornings for the sale of stamps, acceptance of parcel post, General Deliver service and Registry and COD transactions.

Postmaster Hathorn stressed that these changes go into effect on and after May 4, and apply to the main post office downtown and the branch Ouachita and Louisville stations.

In West Monroe, Postmaster Roark said changes made will include the following:

Parcel post will not be delivered to the business section and non-mounted delivery routes on Tuesday of each week, but will continue to be delivered daily on rural and mounted routes.

Only one service window will be open in West Monroe Saturday mornings. Money orders will not be sold through the post office windows, contract stations or rural routes. All other services will be provided through this one service window at the downtown post office.

Postal customers at all locations are encouraged to make maximum use of stamp vending machines located in lobbies and to transact as much of their postal business as possible on weekdays.

Both Postmasters emphasized that no essential major services are affected under these orders. There will be no changes in home or special delivery, regular business mail deliveries will continue as usual and letters and other fist class mail will receive the same priority as usual.

STRONG DOLLAR

NEW YORK (UPI) — Today's dollar bill is lasting 30 per cent longer than it used to, according to the Manufacturing Chemists' Association. This is the result of a specially-developed currency paper compounded from cotton, linen fibers and melamine plastic. The new model marks the first change in paper since 1929.

Four At Tech Given Offices

RUSTON (Special)—Two students and two faculty members of Louisiana Tech were elected to offices at the first biennial convention of the National Collegiate Association for Secretaries held in Memphis.

Marilyn Hill of Bossier City was elected deputy national president, and Martha Maxwell, also of Bossier City, was chosen to be deputy second vice president.

Dr. Irol Balsley, head of the department of office administration at Tech, was re-elected national president of NCAS. Dr. Reba Neel, associate professor of office administration, was chosen to hold the national office of second vice president.

Vicksburg Jury Grants Damages

VICKSBURG, Miss. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Clinton E. Lum, of Jena, La., have been awarded $59,500 for injuries sustained in a 1962 traffic accident by a circuit court jury here.

The jury ruled Continental Southern Bus Lines Inc. should pay Lum $51,000 and his wife $8,500 for their injuries. The suit concerned an accident Aug. 26, 1962, near Port Gibson, Miss. Lum claimed the bus stopped on the highway without warning, causing him to skid into another car.

Soviets May Dread Crisis

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

NEWS ANALYSIS

Soviet Premier Khrushchev and his supporters, involved in a complex, many-sided debate over his policies, may be contemplating with dread the possibility that a new U. S.-Soviet confrontation over Cuba could bring Moscow an impossible choice.

The U. S.-Cuban quarrel over American surveillance flights comes at an awkward time for the Kremlin.

Bedeviled by unrelenting nagging from the Communist Chinese, the Soviet party is going to lengths to justify in the eyes of Communists at home and abroad not only its foreign policies but even its strictly domestic policies.

A spate of dialectical discussions in the Soviet press is accompanied by an odd obligato: A lively discussion about military affairs, leaving the reader wondering whether certain elements of the high military brass are unhappy about aspects of Khrushchev's program.

All this raises many intriguing questions:

Why has an elaborate defense of Soviet internal economic and Communist party policies been necessary in the Soviet press?

Are the world Communist split and the Chinese attacks beginning to erode some of the confidence of Khrushchev's supporters?

Why is so much being printed about the role of the Soviet Communist party and its control inside the armed forces?

Why did Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the defense minister and a career military man, see fit in a recent article to make clear that Khrushchev during World War II was essentially a political officer?

Malinovsky wrote that "we military commanders" were encouraged by Khrushchev's work in "political administrations and staffs at the front, the political organs of units and party and Komsomol (Young Communist) organizations of units." Was this to put Khrushchev in his place as a man whose basic experience was that of political commissar rather than military strategist?

The present political chief of the armed forces, a nonmilitary party man named A. A. Yepishev, also had a recent article in which he paid tribute to Khrushchev for creating a "new type" of armed forces.

Khrushchev, trying to build up the Soviet internal economy, insists on a policy of heavy reliance on nuclear-missile defenses. This suggests less emphasis on massive conventional forces, and it is known some generals have been unhappy about this policy.

The party press pays much attention these days to the notion of "one-man command" in the armed forces. At the same time it insists that the Communist party retain strict control. Is this to mollify officers who, once again, are balking at too much civilian interference?

All these questions are raised against the backdrop of new clouds over the Caribbean — possibly ominous clouds for Khrushchev.

Girls To Sell Poppies Here Next Saturday

Twin City teenage girls will be on downtown streets next Saturday selling poppies made by bed patients in Veteran's hospitals and disabled veterans.

Saturday has been proclaimed official "Poppy Day" in Monroe by Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard. Poppy Day is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and all funds collected from their sale are used for Guild Welfare work for veterans and their families and those confined in hospitals.

Mrs. Pat Sherman, chairman of the local Poppy sale drive, said no set amount is charged for the small red paper poppy, but any donation persons purchasing the flower wish to give is acceptable.

The annual sale will get underway about 8:30 a.m. Saturday and last until late in the afternoon. The American Legion Auxiliary supplies veterans with free material for making the poppies which are attached to a green stem and bear a white tag labled "handmade by Veterans."

Inmate Tells Of Sadistic Prison Boss

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — A former inmate Friday denounced a one-time Gestapo boss at the Auschwitz death camp as a sadist who enjoyed killing thousands of prisoners by injecting carbolic acid (phenol) into their hearts.

The witness, Dr. Ceslau Glowacki, told the West German war crimes court that Josef Klehr "celebrated" Christmas 1942 by selecting 100 extra inmates for fatal injections.

Glowacki testified at the trial of Klehr and 21 other former officials and guards accused of taking part in the murders of up to 4 million persons at the Nazi concentration camp in Poland during World War II.

The 45-year-old doctor from Warsaw said he spent four years in the death camp carrying Klehr's victims to the crematories.

"Klehr was a sadist, he enjoyed the killings," Glowacki said. "If we didn't carry the bodies fast enough, he'd kick us."

"I estimate he killed 18,000 to 20,000 persons in Auschwitz with phenol injections into their heart muscles," Glowacki said. Klehr personally selected at least 10,000 of the victims, the witness said.

Asked by the court to comment on the testimony, Klehr said in a matter-of-fact voice: "If I had squirted 10,000 or 20,000 persons, only the Auschwitz band would have stayed alive. At that time, 1942, there were only about 16,000 prisoners in all of Auschwitz."

Chief Judge Hans Hofmeyer rebuked Klehr for his flippancy. The judge said: "You should not make jokes . . . You know new shipments of prisoners constantly took the place of those who were killed."

Klehr scratched his ear and sat down.

Sen. Clair Engle Recovering From Brain Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aide to Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., said Saturday that the senator was recovering from a brain operation performed Friday "to relieve pressure."

Paul Green, press aide to the senator, said Dr. Roy L. Sexton, Engle's personal physician, reported that the operation was "a craniotomy performed to relieve pressure."

"He had a restful night and morning," Green said in a statement brought to the Senate press gallery.

Green, who said Friday he did not know what kind of an operation had been performed, could not amplify on details.

He did not know when the senator expected to be able to leave the hospital and resume his Senate duties and campaign for re-election.

Engle underwent a prior brain operation last August but suffered afterward from partial paralysis and partial lack of speech.

Louisiana Press Elects Monroe Editor Director

BOSSIER CITY (Special) — Jack Gates, executive editor of the Monroe News-Star—World was elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the Louisiana Press Association Saturday on the closing day of the 84th annual convention here.

Elected to serve with Gates were Lou Major, Bogalusa Daily News; Bob Wagner Jr., Jena Times; and Jim Levy, Bunkie Record. They were newly elected members, while five others will continue on the board.

Newly elected officers include Tom Colton, of the Minden Press, president; George Houston, Beuregard News, DeRidder, first vice president; Hugh Thisthewaite, Opelousas Daily World, second vice president; and James Robinson, St. Francisville Democrat, secretary-treasurer.

Five continuing on the board are Malva Huson, Clinton Watchman; Richard D'Aquin, Lafayette Advertiser; David Reynaud, Lutcher News Examiner; Danny Scott, Springhill Press and News Journal; and Gordon Nelson, Coushatta Citizen.

The board of the directors for the Community Newspaper Representatives Inc., includes Robert Mathes, Hammond Daily Star; Griff Gomez, Opelousas Daily World; Gordon Nelson, Coushatta Citizen; and John Gordon, Houma Courier; and Sid Steiner, Jefferson Parish Times.

Workers To Free Mud Mired Ship

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The freighter Manhattan, mired in mud with a huge cargo of wheat destined for Russia, was discharging ballast and was expected to be water-borne again Friday.

A spokesman for the Dalton Steamship Co., said the ship, which went aground at the mouth of the Mississippi River 10 days ago, discharged 5,580 tons of her 79,000-ton cargo of wheat.

The discharged cargo went into the tanker Siwanoy, which went alongside the grounded Manhattan. The Siwanoy then proceeded to the Gulf and anchored. Then the Manhattan, which had retained ballast so she would be more stable during the discharge operation, started pumping out her ballast.

This operation was expected to be completed in a matter of hours. Then she would proceed to a rendezvous with the Siwanoy to take on the 5,580 tons.

LOUIS R. GARVER, above, will be featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Sales and Marketing Executives club Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Paragon club. He will speak on the effects of the computer age on advertising and selling. He is manager of the New Orleans branch of The Branham Co., newspaper representatives. He is a graduate of the College of Commerce and Business of Tulane University.

Presbyterians Approve Move On Integration

MONTREAT, N. C. (AP) — The Southern Presbyterian Church's General Assembly took a major step in the field of race relations Saturday when it voted to help its church units eliminate segregation.

The assembly adopted by a 251-150 vote a motion by Dr. A. J. Kissling of Jacksonville, Fla., proposing that the church's Board of Christian Education provide information and counsel to ministers and congregations on how to contribute to the elimination of segregation and racial discrimination, not only in the church but in the nation.

Dr. Kissling, in offering the motion, said his fellow commissioners (delegates) would leave the assembly with "a heavy heart" if cries for action in the field of civil rights went unheeded.

SEEKS 'LOGJAM' CURE

Tessier Pre-Files Legislative Bills

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sen. George D. Tessier of New Orleans said Saturday he has prefiled two bills designed to focus sharper public attention on legislative affairs.

One bill would attempt to cure the logjam of bills by requiring they be prefiled at least 60 days before the legislature convenes.

A copy would be mailed to each legislator 30 days before the session began.

The second bill would require publication of the roll call vote of legislators on spending items allocated by the Board of Liquidation of State Debt.

The board, which has $1 million a year to spend, is headed by the governor and top legislative and state fiscal officers. Its action is subject to a mail ballot of lawmakers between sessions, but hardly anyone ever sees the vote except the governor or one of his aides.

Both proposals were offered in 1962 but died in a Senate committee.

Legislators now can introduce bills in the 60-day regular session during the first 21 days. Approximately 2,000 bills will be offered. Constitutional proposals can be introduced the first 30 days of a session. Special emergency bills can be introduced after the 21-day deadline, with two-thirds majority consent.

Tessier said his first bill would help solve the jammed legislative machinery by warding off what he called a lot of "faulty or poor legislation."

Each bill would receive a close scrutinization before the legislature opens. Tessier said it would tend to discourage many unnecessary bills and would provide more time for serious legislation.

The 60-day ban could be overcome — when emergency bills are required — by obtaining a three-fourths majority consent for introduction.

"With such legislation," Tessier said, "no longer would we have to consider constitutional changes in present legislative sessions to find more time for consideration of bills."

Each bill would have to have a memorandum attached making clear in brief language just what the bill would do. The bills would be filed with the Louisiana Legislative Council.

The second proposal would focus more public attention on performance of lawmakers in their mail ballot voting for spending projects pushed by the administration's board of liquidation of state debt.

The vote—and the record of those who did not vote—would have to be published 21 days after the ballots were mailed.

Miss Northeast Beauty Pageant Finalists Named

Twelve college beauties will compete in the annual Miss Northeast Pageant in Brown Auditorium Friday night, May 15.

Entries were chosen Friday night in a screening program to determine finalists from the original number of contestants.

Stage appearance and talent were factors considered in the selection by the screening panel, Fred J. Vogel, dean of Student Services, announced.

Finalists to participate in the annual pageant are Shirley Allen of West Monroe, Barbara Borgkvist of Monroe, Alice Butler of Monroe, Sharon Coldron of Shreveport, Gloria Jean Crowe of Pioneer, Teddy Dixon of Monroe, Jan Hallmark of Monroe, Linda Diane Jones of Oak Grove, Kitty Jan Monroe of West Monroe, Sue Parkerson of Bossier City, Diane Robertson of Tallulah, and Donna Weaver of Monroe.

Directing the pageant are two education majors, Jerilyn Gilstrap and Barbara McCoy, both of Monroe, who have had experience in assisting or directing other productions on and off the campus. Miss McCoy holds the presidency of Phi Beta, national professional fraternity for women in music and speech, and Miss Gilstrap is a member of the organization.

Inmate Tells Of Sadistic Prison Boss

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — A former inmate Friday denounced a one-time Gestapo boss at the Auschwitz death camp as a sadist who enjoyed killing thousands of prisoners by injecting carbolic acid (phenol) into their hearts.

The witness, Dr. Ceslau Glowacki, told the West German war crimes court that Josef Klehr "celebrated" Christmas 1942 by selecting 100 extra inmates for fatal injections.

Glowacki testified at the trial of Klehr and 21 other former officials and guards accused of taking part in the murders of up to 4 million persons at the Nazi concentration camp in Poland during World War II.

The 45-year-old doctor from Warsaw said he spent four years in the death camp carrying Klehr's victims to the crematories.

"Klehr was a sadist, he enjoyed the killings," Glowacki said. "If we didn't carry the bodies fast enough, he'd kick us."

"I estimate he killed 18,000 to 20,000 persons in Auschwitz with phenol injections into their heart muscles," Glowacki said. Klehr personally selected at least 10,000 of the victims, the witness said.

Asked by the court to comment on the testimony, Klehr said in a matter-of-fact voice: "If I had squirted 10,000 or 20,000 persons, only the Auschwitz band would have stayed alive. At that time, 1942, there were only about 16,000 prisoners in all of Auschwitz."

Chief Judge Hans Hofmeyer rebuked Klehr for his flippancy. The judge said: "You should not make jokes . . . You know new shipments of prisoners constantly took the place of those who were killed."

Klehr scratched his ear and sat down.

Sen. Clair Engle Recovering From Brain Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aide to Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., said Saturday that the senator was recovering from a brain operation performed Friday "to relieve pressure."

Paul Green, press aide to the senator, said Dr. Roy L. Sexton, Engle's personal physician, reported that the operation was "a craniotomy performed to relieve pressure."

"He had a restful night and morning," Green said in a statement brought to the Senate press gallery.

Green, who said Friday he did not know what kind of an operation had been performed, could not amplify on details.

He did not know when the senator expected to be able to leave the hospital and resume his Senate duties and campaign for re-election.

Engle underwent a prior brain operation last August but suffered afterward from partial paralysis and partial lack of speech.

The announcement Saturday said that "his temperature, pulse and blood pressure are in the normal range."

measured 66.60 feet Friday morning and 67.45 feet around 8:30 a. m. Saturday. However, Ellerbe said that the Bayou DeSiard still lacks around two and one - half feet of elevation before it will be back to normal after last summer's drought

FAA officials at Selman Field said .96 inches of rain fell in Monroe Saturday, with most of the precipitation falling between 12-noon and 6 p. m. The thunderstorm which struck here moved on eastward, reportedly growing in intensity.

The weather bureau warned the parishes of Richland, Franklin, Tensas, Madison, East and West Carroll that there were possibilities of hail and strong wind gusts Saturday night. A severe weather warning which was issued around 1:45 p. m. Saturday for northeast Louisiana was lifted at 8 p. m.

Despite the stormy weather, temperatures remained mild in the Monroe area Saturday with a high of 74 recorded and the low 62. Today's temperatures will climb to the 80s again, with the high predicted between 80 and 85. The low tonight is expected to be between 65 and 70.

Skies today and Monday will remain considerably cloudy with less than 30 per cent of sunshine expected and scattered showers and thundershowers predicted throughout the two days. Winds will be southerly 5 to 15 mph except gusty in thunderstorms.

SCATTERED SHOWERS ARE expected today for central Rockies, central Plains, Ohio, Tennessee and lower Mississippi Valleys, and Gulf region, with thunderstorms likely in northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley. Warmer weather is forecast for Lakes' area, Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, and north Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto)

Temple Revokes Invitation For Barnett To Talk

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Temple University and its student body announced Friday withdrawal of an invitation to former Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi, a segregationist leader, to speak here.

Barnett had been invited by the Student Council as part of its "Project Awareness" to speak next Tuesday, as integrationists have done in the past.

The university, however, said it had made "a careful re-evaluation, motivated in part by the concerns expressed by security and community agencies of the city of Philadelphia.

"The Student Council, the faculty Senate Steering Committee and the administrative offices of Temple University," the statement said, "have concluded that the impending presence of Gov. Ross Barnett on campus would inhibit the free and temperate discussion of the views which he represents."

The Philadelphia branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People protested the scheduled speech.

In Jackson, Barnett said he received a telephone call Friday advising his appearance might cause trouble because feelings were running high about the invitation.

Louisiana P-TA Avoids Battle On State Aid Grants

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Parent-Teachers Association sidestepped action two controversial issues dealing with school integration.

The group, at its annual convention here, adopted amendments to resolutions rejecting the state's grant-in-aid program and the eligibility of local P-TA units in the state organization.

The resolution to cut off some $400 a year to pupils who prefer private segregated schools to integrated public ones was changed to provide instead that the state P-TA urge the Legislature to require all schools receiving state funds to meet minimum standards.

The resolution, as originally introduced by the PTA unit at Hazel Park School in Jefferson Parish, would have asked the Legislature to reject the grant-in-aid program entirely.

A showdown fight on the eligibility of unit membership was avoided by delegates to the 41st annual convention.

Drainage, Cheniere Lake Needs Cited

a slight reduction in their tax rates for the next five years, unless other taxes are added later on.

Cheniere Lake, consisting of 3,287 acres, is currently being operated by the Cheniere Lake Commission on a $16,000 budget annually, provided by the tenth of a mill.

With thousands of people going to Cheniere to fish and picnic, the commission has created seven public areas for recreation. Facilities are being constructed for the public with funds from the tenth of a mill tax.

For example, at Area One, a sheltershed, well, barbecue pits, rest rooms and picnic tables have been constructed with funds from the tenth of a mill tax.

Facilities also have been constructed at other areas, including Two where a shelter with a kitchen was built, along with barbecue pits and picnic tables.

Similiar facilities have been installed at Areas Four and Five, the latter for Negroes, while Area 6 was set aside for Boy Scout activities, including camping.

Area Four is perhaps the largest and commission records show that last year some 9,163 persons used the sheltershed through reservation for picnicing.

Aside from parish financing, the Department of Public Works and the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, with matching federal funds, plan to construct boat launching ramps at Areas One and Four.

Renewal of the tenth of a mill tax will assure the Cheniere Lake Commission, whose members serve without pay, and the Police Jury the continuation of the development of Cheniere Lake for public recreation.

All five propositions are for five years.

Red China Offers Rice To Japanese

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese trade representatives in Peking reported Saturday that Communist China has offered to sell 100,000 tons of rice to Japan.

Japanese government sources reported, however, there is little possibility of Japan importing rice from Communist China since Japan has decided to import 130,000 tons of rice from Nationalist China, Spain and the United States this year.

50-Year Award

L. P. Loviza of Monroe will be honored in Chicago, Ill., June 4, for 50 years service with the Illinois Central Railroad.

Now a mechanical foreman, a job he has held since May, 1942, Loviza came to Monroe in 1936. Previous jobs include foreman at Vicksburg, Miss., and machinist.

Mrs. Loviza will join him for the trip. The couple will leave June 2 and return from Chicago, Friday, June 5.

McKeithen Man Predicts Model State In Future

BOSSIER CITY, La. (AP)—Gov. - elect John McKeithen's executive secretary predicted Saturday the administration which takes over next month will convert Louisiana into "a model state in a short time."

Gus Weill, one of McKeithen's closest aides, spoke on behalf of the governor-elect before the 84th annual convention of the Louisiana Press Association.

The two-day convention at the La Sands Western Hills Motel in Bossier City ended Saturday night with a speech by Sergio Rojas, a former Cuban ambassador and a leader in the Bay of Pigs invasion. A pre-Castro prime minister of Cuba, Garcia Montez, spoke at Saturday's luncheon.

Weill, of Lafayette, told the convention McKeithen will hold weekly news conferences after taking office May 12, with the conferences alternating each week between morning and aftnoon.

Weill predicted "the next four years should be the best our beloved state has ever seen. John McKeithen will bring a forthright, honest government to Baton Rouge."

Weill said McKeithen has given top priority to a list of tax reforms which will be introduced at the 60-day legislative session which opens the day before the governor's inauguration. Buddhist Heads Seek Leniency For Young Diem

SAIGON, South Viet Nam — (UPI) —Some prominent Buddhist leaders have urged South Vietnam's military rulers to show "compassion" for Ngo Dinh Can, younger brother of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem, by commuting his death sentence, according to Buddhist sources.

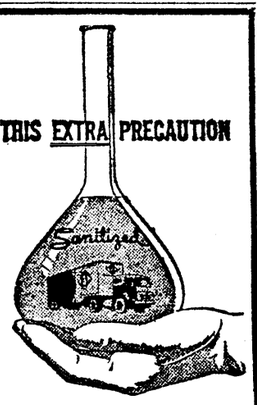

Can was sentenced earlier this week to death on the guillotine by a special revolutionary court for murder, extortion, illegal arrests and acts harmful to the national economy. He appealed to chief of state Major General Duong Van Minh for clemency.

If his appeal is accepted, Can will have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment at hard labor. If it is rejected, he must be beheaded within five days.

measured 66.60 feet Friday morning and 67.45 feet around 8:30 a. m. Saturday. However, Ellerbe said that the Bayou DeSiard still lacks around two and one - half feet of elevation before it will be back to normal after last summer's drought

FAA officials at Selman Field said .96 inches of rain fell in Monroe Saturday, with most of the precipitation falling between 12-noon and 6 p. m. The thunderstorm which struck here moved on eastward, reportedly growing in intensity.

The weather bureau warned the parishes of Richland, Franklin, Tensas, Madison, East and West Carroll that there were possibilities of hail and strong wind gusts Saturday night. A severe weather warning which was issued around 1:45 p. m. Saturday for northeast Louisiana was lifted at 8 p. m.

Despite the stormy weather, temperatures remained mild in the Monroe area Saturday with a high of 74 recorded and the low 62. Today's temperatures will climb to the 80s again, with the high predicted between 80 and 85. The low tonight is expected to be between 65 and 70.

Skies today and Monday will remain considerably cloudy with less than 30 per cent of sunshine expected and scattered showers and thundershowers predicted throughout the two days. Winds will be southerly 5 to 15 mph except gusty in thunderstorms.

SCATTERED SHOWERS ARE expected today for central Rockies, central Plains, Ohio, Tennessee and lower Mississippi Valleys, and Gulf region, with thunderstorms likely in northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley. Warmer weather is forecast for Lakes' area, Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, and north Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto)

Temple Revokes Invitation For Barnett To Talk

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Temple University and its student body announced Friday withdrawal of an invitation to former Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi, a segregationist leader, to speak here.

Barnett had been invited by the Student Council as part of its "Project Awareness" to speak next Tuesday, as integrationists have done in the past.

The university, however, said it had made "a careful re-evaluation, motivated in part by the concerns expressed by security and community agencies of the city of Philadelphia.

"The Student Council, the faculty Senate Steering Committee and the administrative offices of Temple University," the statement said, "have concluded that the impending presence of Gov. Ross Barnett on campus would inhibit the free and temperate discussion of the views which he represents."

The Philadelphia branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People protested the scheduled speech.

In Jackson, Barnett said he received a telephone call Friday advising his appearance might cause trouble because feelings were running high about the invitation.

Louisiana P-TA Avoids Battle On State Aid Grants

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Parent-Teachers Association sidestepped action two controversial issues dealing with school integration.

The group, at its annual convention here, adopted amendments to resolutions rejecting the state's grant-in-aid program and the eligibility of local P-TA units in the state organization.

The resolution to cut off some $400 a year to pupils who prefer private segregated schools to integrated public ones was changed to provide instead that the state P-TA urge the Legislature to require all schools receiving state funds to meet minimum standards.

The resolution, as originally introduced by the PTA unit at Hazel Park School in Jefferson Parish, would have asked the Legislature to reject the grant-in-aid program entirely.

A showdown fight on the eligibility of unit membership was avoided by delegates to the 41st annual convention.

Drainage, Cheniere Lake Needs Cited

a slight reduction in their tax rates for the next five years, unless other taxes are added later on.

Cheniere Lake, consisting of 3,287 acres, is currently being operated by the Cheniere Lake Commission on a $16,000 budget annually, provided by the tenth of a mill.

With thousands of people going to Cheniere to fish and picnic, the commission has created seven public areas for recreation. Facilities are being constructed for the public with funds from the tenth of a mill tax.

For example, at Area One, a sheltershed, well, barbecue pits, rest rooms and picnic tables have been constructed with funds from the tenth of a mill tax.

Facilities also have been constructed at other areas, including Two where a shelter with a kitchen was built, along with barbecue pits and picnic tables.

Similiar facilities have been installed at Areas Four and Five, the latter for Negroes, while Area 6 was set aside for Boy Scout activities, including camping.

Area Four is perhaps the largest and commission records show that last year some 9,163 persons used the sheltershed through reservation for picnicing.

Aside from parish financing, the Department of Public Works and the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, with matching federal funds, plan to construct boat launching ramps at Areas One and Four.

Renewal of the tenth of a mill tax will assure the Cheniere Lake Commission, whose members serve without pay, and the Police Jury the continuation of the development of Cheniere Lake for public recreation.

All five propositions are for five years.

Red China Offers Rice To Japanese

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese trade representatives in Peking reported Saturday that Communist China has offered to sell 100,000 tons of rice to Japan.

Japanese government sources reported, however, there is little possibility of Japan importing rice from Communist China since Japan has decided to import 130,000 tons of rice from Nationalist China, Spain and the United States this year.

Ussrey, manager of the local State Department of Motor Vehicles, said the deadline for purchasing license plates without penalty is April 30 at midnight. He said truck and trailer licenses are only issued for one year, and the prices vary as to the type of tag purchased. Ussrey said purchasers should come by the office on North Third Street in Monroe, or mail in their order forms which may be obtained at almost any service station in the Twin City area.

50-Year Award

L. P. Loviza of Monroe will be honored in Chicago, Ill., June 4, for 50 years service with the Illinois Central Railroad.

Now a mechanical foreman, a job he has held since May, 1942, Loviza came to Monroe in 1936. Previous jobs include foreman at Vicksburg, Miss., and machinist.

Mrs. Loviza will join him for the trip. The couple will leave June 2 and return from Chicago, Friday, June 5.

McKeithen Man Predicts Model State In Future

BOSSIER CITY, La. (AP)—Gov. - elect John McKeithen's executive secretary predicted Saturday the administration which takes over next month will convert Louisiana into "a model state in a short time."

Gus Weill, one of McKeithen's closest aides, spoke on behalf of the governor-elect before the 84th annual convention of the Louisiana Press Association.

The two-day convention at the La Sands Western Hills Motel in Bossier City ended Saturday night with a speech by Sergio Rojas, a former Cuban ambassador and a leader in the Bay of Pigs invasion. A pre-Castro prime minister of Cuba, Garcia Montez, spoke at Saturday's luncheon.

Weill, of Lafayette, told the convention McKeithen will hold weekly news conferences after taking office May 12, with the conferences alternating each week between morning and aftnoon.

Weill predicted "the next four years should be the best our beloved state has ever seen. John McKeithen will bring a forthright, honest government to Baton Rouge."

Weill said McKeithen has given top priority to a list of tax reforms which will be introduced at the 60-day legislative session which opens the day before the governor's inauguration. These reforms, said Weill, will be aimed "at putting Louisiana on a competitive basis with neighboring states" in attracting new industry and in meeting the needs of industry already established in the state.

Weill said Arkansas and Texas were "passing us by" in bringing in new industry to their states. He said this trend must be reversed.

Young Fire-Eater Admits Slaying Of Woman, 68

NEW YORK (UPI) — A teenage former carnival fire-eater who liked to prowl Times Square confessed Friday he killed and raped 68 - year - old widow because she was sarcastic when he asked for 15 cents.

Norman Walter Mayronne, 19, a tall, gangly youth in an orange jacket, was arrested Thursday night strolling under the dazzling lights of the Great White Way. The jacket helped detectives staked out in the area identify him as a suspect.

Police said Mayronne, who picked up odd jobs in recent months at the fish market, broke under questioning Friday and admitted he strangled Mrs. Bertha Haas and mutilated her body with an eight-inch knife like those used by skin divers. He was formally charged with homicide.

The mutilation, a series of criss - crsos marks that "appeared almost surgical" in addition to 10 stab wounds, made Maryonne a suspect in the unsolved slaying here last August of career girls Janet Wylie and Emily Hoffert. Miss Wylie was the niece of writer Philip Wylie.

Both were slashed innumerable times about their bodies by a killer who had broken into their apartment.

Judge Dawkins Dismisses Case Against Mother

SHREVEPORT (AP)—A complaint charging Mrs. Evelyn Arnold Manley, 20, with robbing the Pioneer Bank and Trust Co. of $200 last September has been dismissed.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Dawkins Jr. granted a motion by federal attorneys Friday that the charge against her be dropped on psychiatric grounds.

Mrs. Manley, who was expecting a child at the time of the holdup, told police following her arrest she handed a teller a note demanding $200 or that she would shoot. She was not armed when caught 10 minutes after the holdup.

Social Security Benefits Noted

JONESVILLE (Special) — About one out of every 12 residents of Catahoula parish is now receiving a monthly social security check, according to John E. Engelsman, Alexandria social security district manager.

Englesman's report listed the number of Catahoula Parish beneficiaries as 929 at the end of 1963, an increase of 87 over the corresponding figure at the beginning of 1963. The dollar benefit amounts total more than $502,116 yearly.

Retired workers are the largest single group of social security beneficiaries in the parish, he stated. There are 371 in this group and their old-age insurance benefits total $21,650. monthly.

Rusk Pledges U.S. Intentions To Stay In Asia

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP)—Declaring that Asia's communists still are dangerous, Secretary of State Dean Rusk pledged Saturday that American forces will stay in the Western Pacific "until that part of the world is safe for freedom."

In a prepared speech reporting on his just-completed 10-day Asian trip, Rusk reiterated U.S. determination not to heed the Red cry of "bring the Yanks home."

Rusk noted in a speech prepared for a Valparaiso University law school dedication that the United States has some 200,000 men in its armed forces West of Alaska and Hawaii.

The secretary of state, who attended a Southeast Asia Treat Organization meeting at Manila and also visited Formosa and South Viet Nam, said: "Despite their economic failures—Indeed, perhaps all the more because of these failures—the Asian Communists remain dangerous. Desperation might lead them to deeds which rational men would shun.

"Most of the leaders and peoples of free Asia know that the free nations are far stronger than the Communist nations. In particular, they realize the power of the United States.

"What they are not always certain about is the resolve of the free world, including the United States, to deter or defeat aggression. They know that the foremost Communist objective is to get the Yankees to go home. They sometimes fear that we may in fact go home."

Rusk said America's armed forces and aid in Asia serve the same end as those in Europe—"to protect the security of the United States."

He added that during his recent trip: "I gave renewed assurances that the United States has no intention of accommodating the Communists—of assisting their campaigns for world domination — by bringing the Yanks home. I said that we are in the Western Pacific to stay until that part of the world is safe for freedom."

The secretary of state listed Japan, Korea, Nationalist China and Southeast Asia as all vital to U.S. security.

In Southeast Asia, he said the Reds are trying to take over just as they tried in Korea 14 years ago although this time they are attempting guerrilla instead of overt warfare. He said Communist North Viet Nam is managing the assaults in South Viet Nam and Laos with support from Red China while Moscow gives some lip service.

As for the race between the free and the Communist systems in improving living standards, Rusk said the inhabitants of Asia are recognizing communism's failures as shown in Red China and North Viet Nam.

While those two Red nations "are bogged down in a morass of misery," he said, "most of the nations of the Western Pacific continue to advance economically and socially" and some now are even giving aid to other countries.

WHERE HISTORY WALLS A LIBRARY— INSIDE AND OUT!

Books in the library of the University of Mexico cover that country's history back to the great Mayan Empires, centuries before Christ.

Outside, its walls are covered by Juan O'Gorman's colorful mosaic (made of more than 7½ million separate stones) depicting the history and culture of Mexico.

The school itself dates back to 1551, but its campus is one of the world's most modern. Built in 1954, it was designed by a team of Mexico's finest architects.

Even in a country known for its architecture, on a campus that is a collective example for the world, the library stands out.

Young Fire-Eater Admits Slaying Of Woman, 68

NEW YORK (UPI) — A teenage former carnival fire-eater who liked to prowl Times Square confessed Friday he killed and raped 68 - year - old widow because she was sarcastic when he asked for 15 cents.

Norman Walter Mayronne, 19, a tall, gangly youth in an orange jacket, was arrested Thursday night strolling under the dazzling lights of the Great White Way. The jacket helped detectives staked out in the area identify him as a suspect.

Police said Mayronne, who picked up odd jobs in recent months at the fish market, broke under questioning Friday and admitted he strangled Mrs. Bertha Haas and mutilated her body with an eight-inch knife like those used by skin divers. He was formally charged with homicide.

The mutilation, a series of criss - crsos marks that "appeared almost surgical" in addition to 10 stab wounds, made Maryonne a suspect in the unsolved slaying here last August of career girls Janet Wylie and Emily Hoffert. Miss Wylie was the niece of writer Philip Wylie.

Both were slashed innumerable times about their bodies by a killer who had broken into their apartment.

Judge Dawkins Dismisses Case Against Mother

SHREVEPORT (AP)—A complaint charging Mrs. Evelyn Arnold Manley, 20, with robbing the Pioneer Bank and Trust Co. of $200 last September has been dismissed.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Dawkins Jr. granted a motion by federal attorneys Friday that the charge against her be dropped on psychiatric grounds.

Mrs. Manley, who was expecting a child at the time of the holdup, told police following her arrest she handed a teller a note demanding $200 or that she would shoot. She was not armed when caught 10 minutes after the holdup.

Social Security Benefits Noted

JONESVILLE (Special) — About one out of every 12 residents of Catahoula parish is now receiving a monthly social security check, according to John E. Engelsman, Alexandria social security district manager.

Englesman's report listed the number of Catahoula Parish beneficiaries as 929 at the end of 1963, an increase of 87 over the corresponding figure at the beginning of 1963. The dollar benefit amounts total more than $502,116 yearly.

Retired workers are the largest single group of social security beneficiaries in the parish, he stated. There are 371 in this group and their old-age insurance benefits total $21,650. monthly.

Rusk Pledges U.S. Intentions To Stay In Asia

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP)—Declaring that Asia's communists still are dangerous, Secretary of State Dean Rusk pledged Saturday that American forces will stay in the Western Pacific "until that part of the world is safe for freedom."

In a prepared speech reporting on his just-completed 10-day Asian trip, Rusk reiterated U.S. determination not to heed the Red cry of "bring the Yanks home."

Rusk noted in a speech prepared for a Valparaiso University law school dedication that the United States has some 200,000 men in its armed forces West of Alaska and Hawaii.

The secretary of state, who attended a Southeast Asia Treat Organization meeting at Manila and also visited Formosa and South Viet Nam, said: "Despite their economic failures—Indeed, perhaps all the more because of these failures—the Asian Communists remain dangerous. Desperation might lead them to deeds which rational men would shun.

"Most of the leaders and peoples of free Asia know that the free nations are far stronger than the Communist nations. In particular, they realize the power of the United States.

"What they are not always certain about is the resolve of the free world, including the United States, to deter or defeat aggression. They know that the foremost Communist objective is to get the Yankees to go home. They sometimes fear that we may in fact go home."

Rusk said America's armed forces and aid in Asia serve the same end as those in Europe—"to protect the security of the United States."

He added that during his recent trip: "I gave renewed assurances that the United States has no intention of accommodating the Communists—of assisting their campaigns for world domination — by bringing the Yanks home. I said that we are in the Western Pacific to stay until that part of the world is safe for freedom."

The secretary of state listed Japan, Korea, Nationalist China and Southeast Asia as all vital to U.S. security.

In Southeast Asia, he said the Reds are trying to take over just as they tried in Korea 14 years ago although this time they are attempting guerrilla instead of overt warfare. He said Communist North Viet Nam is managing the assaults in South Viet Nam and Laos with support from Red China while Moscow gives some lip service.

As for the race between the free and the Communist systems in improving living standards, Rusk said the inhabitants of Asia are recognizing communism's failures as shown in Red China and North Viet Nam.

While those two Red nations "are bogged down in a morass of misery," he said, "most of the nations of the Western Pacific continue to advance economically and socially" and some now are even giving aid to other countries.

WHERE HISTORY WALLS A LIBRARY— INSIDE AND OUT!

Books in the library of the University of Mexico cover that country's history back to the great Mayan Empires, centuries before Christ.

Outside, its walls are covered by Juan O'Gorman's colorful mosaic (made of more than 7½ million separate stones) depicting the history and culture of Mexico.

The school itself dates back to 1551, but its campus is one of the world's most modern. Built in 1954, it was designed by a team of Mexico's finest architects.

Even in a country known for its architecture, on a campus that is a collective example for the world, the library stands out.

JOB TRAINING STUDY

150 Monroe Firms Will Be Surveyed Beginning May 1

Interviewers representing LSU will begin a survey of more than 150 Monroe agriculture-business firms May 1 to determine job opportunities and training required of prospective employees.

Information gained in the survey, which is approved by the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, will be used in reorienting agricultural instruction in some 300 schools throughout the state.

"An attempt will be made to place less emphasis on the farm-centered agricultural instruction presently offered and more on the agri-business training which is vitally needed," according to Dr. C. L. Mondart Sr. professor and director of the LSU school of vocational education.

Six persons from the Monroe area have been selected and will begin an intensive, three - day training course in the techniques of interviewing Monday.

The survey in the Monroe area will be completed in approximately two weeks, Dr. Mondart commented.

The interviews, requiring approximately two hours each, will seek such information as the nature of the individual business firm, the areas with which the workers must be familiar to perform and advance on the job, the educational level desired for job titles and the extent of farm experience desired.

The survey represents the first phase of the most extensive revision in the history of Louisiana's vocational agriculture education program.

"Today, fewer farms require fewer workers owing to mechanized conditions. At the same time, an increasingly large number of workers is needed to staff commercial concerns engaged in servicing the farmer and handling his products" Dr. Mondart said.

In Louisiana it is estimated that 40 per cent of the employment by private concerns is in agriculture and its allied industries for which the word "agri-business" has been coined. Some 185,000 persons are working on farms, while some 145,000 are in businesses supplying goods and distributing farm produce, according to Dr. Mondart.

"Census figures for 1959 show that Louisiana has had some 12,-582 rural boys ready to enter the labor market at 19 years of age. According to reports, 2,200 of According to reports, 2,200 of them had an opportunity to actually own and operate a profitable farm. The remaining 10.-382 had to enter occupations contained in business and industry allied with farming or occupations unrelated to their basic experiences," the LSU professor said.

The lag in the high school training program is primarily due to the lack of information concerning specific areas of work in agri-business, he said.

Similar surveys have already been conducted in Lafayette, Baton Rouge, Alexandria and Shreveport.

"The data will be computed at LSU in Baton Rouge and the courses of study will be organized and related around 'clusters' of jobs. The information will be passed on to high school teachers, who will also be trained at the University to instruct the new material," Dr. Mondart said.

Directing the research and professional personnel at the University will be Dr. Charlie M. Curtis, associate professor of vocational agricultural education. His graduate assistants will be Richard Morrison of Baton Rouge, Laurie Breeden of Greensburg and Clarence Monasco of Merryville.

The revision in agricultural education in Louisiana is part of a nationwide effort to revitalize the agricultural training programs. More than 30 states are already engaged in research similar to that slated in Louisiana.

'JACK THE RIPPER'

Policewomen Seek To 'Allure' Killer

LONDON (AP)— Policewomen posing as prostitutes moved into London's clubland Saturday night in an undercover hunt for a suspected "Jack the Ripper" killer.

Wearing tight skirts, heavy makeup and needle-heel shoes, the women were seeking clues that may lead Scotland Yard to the strangler of Helen Barhtelemy—fourth prostitute to die violently in London in five months. Police believed the killer might be the same man—a man with an insane grudge against good-time girls.

The search echoed one of the biggest manhunts in London's police history—the search for the infamous "Jack the Ripper," who preyed on the prostitutes of London's gaslit East End in the late 1880s. "The Ripper" killed at least five girls and maybe 14. He was never found.

Picked for their attractive looks, the policewomen went into sleazy clubs in Bayswater, Soho and Notting Hill, known haunts of Miss Barthelemy, and the three other dead women.

Policemen, dressed in jeans and sweaters, escorted them, mixing with real prostitutes in an attempt to break down a barrier of silence that has descended on the underworld since Scotland Yard started its probe.

Everywhere detectives have met a shake of the head and a reluctance to talk about Helen Barthelemy and the three other victims.

Miss Barthelemy, 23, a former strip - tease artist, was found strangled, lying face down in a dark back alley in Brentford, a Thames-side suburb of west London, Friday.

The four killings all bore striking similarities, strengthening police belief they might be connected. The bodies were all unclothed. They were all found in or near the Thames—all within an area of five-square miles in west London. And they were all prostitutes.

State Bar Picks Rayville Man As President-Elect

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Sit-ins, stand-ins and similar tactics by civil rights demonstrators were condemned Saturday by the Louisiana State Bar Association.

The group, ending its 23rd annual convention, said the proper action for persons with grievences was through legal channels not the streets.

A resolution adopted by the Louisiana lawyers condemned all demonstrations which involve violence or injury or intentional violation of the law calculated to provoke arrest or obtain publicity.

Leon Sarpy of New Orleans was installed as president of the association, replacing Bascom D. Talley Jr. of Bogalusa.

W. Davis Cotton of Rayville was named president-elect and David R. Normann of New Orleans was chosen secretary-treasurer.

WANTED SELF-EMPLOYMENT

Mastermind's Plan For Robbery Fails

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A caviar-loving bridegroom, charged as the mastermind of a bizarre scheme to rob four Houston banks with the aid of unsuspecting messengers, said Saturday he had planned to go into business for himself—"maybe opening up a bank."

Only one of the messengers, however, managed to deliver the cash, about $12,000 to a mystery man who hired him.

John L. Burke, 27, of Las Vegas, Nev., was charged with bank robbery before U.S. Commissioner Billy Costa, who set bond at $50,000. It was not posted.

"I had enough money for me and my wife to last a couple of months," Burke told newsmen. "And in a couple of months, I was planning to go into some kind of business, maybe opening up a bank."

Burke, who identified himself as a former gossip columnist for a Las Vegas magazine, was arrested early Saturday at a Houston apartment.

Police quoted Burke as saying the first purchase with his new riches was a three-pound jar of caviar which he ate for lunch Friday.

Officers said Burke signed a statement admitting he planned to rob the four suburban banks Friday by sending messengers with letters threatening children of four tellers with death unless the money was handed over.

Messengers appearing at the Harrisburg National, Spring Branch Bank and MacGregor Park National got nothing, but one scored at Belfort State Bank, where the teller stuffed about $12,000 in a bag.

When detectives arrested Burke, they found more than $10,000 in his room and $494 in his billfold.

Burke said after marrying his wife Silvia, a former waitress in Las Vegas, he and his bride went on a honeymoon to Honolulu, where he evolved the plan to come to Houston "because it is a big town—no other reason."

"I told my wife we were coming here to work on a real estate deal," he said.

A tipster, whom police declined to identify, told detectives a man answering the description broadcast after the robbery was living in the apartment. After checking the license number of the man's car and getting information on him from various sources in Las Vegas, police moved in.

Detectives said two of the four messengers identified Burke as the man who told them to go various banks with sealed envelopes and money bags. They are Joel W. Tindall, 25, and Dale Keith Sausley, 16.

The other two messengers are Robert Paul Dreggors, 17, and Charles Edward Keng, 21.

The youths, hired through the Texas Employment Commission by a man calling himself "Charles Hudson" were released after police questioned them.

One of the messengers was arrested in the bank, another in his automobile and a third after he had turned the $12,000 over to his mystery employer. The fourth messenger surrendered voluntarily after hearing about the other incidents.

Detective Lt. Joe Singleton said officers were attempting to determine if Burke was involved in a similar extortion scheme at Las Vegas last March, when $5,000 was taken by an 18-year-old messenger. The messenger was caught, questioned and released, and the money recovered. The mastermind was not apprehended.

4 New Members Of Police Jury Commissioned

JONESVILLE (Special)—The four new members of the Catahoula Parish Police Jury have been issued commissions by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and took the oath of office the past week.

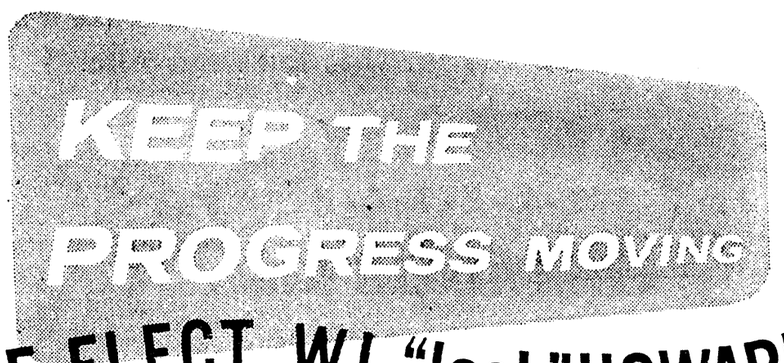

Those were sworn in by Deputy Clerk of Court Ikie Henderson were Colvin Manning of ward six and H. B. Watson of ward three.

O. E. King of ward four and Shelby Mitchell of ward 5 were sworn in by W. R. Richardson, clerk of court.

Also taking the oath of office were Ancel McGuffee, constable of ward three; W. W. Tullos, constable of ward five and W. A. Clark, justice of peace of ward three.

Commissions have been signed by the governor and received by all other parish officials, it was reported. In the past, it has been the custom that the incoming governor issue commissions to the newly - elected parish officials after he has been intalled.

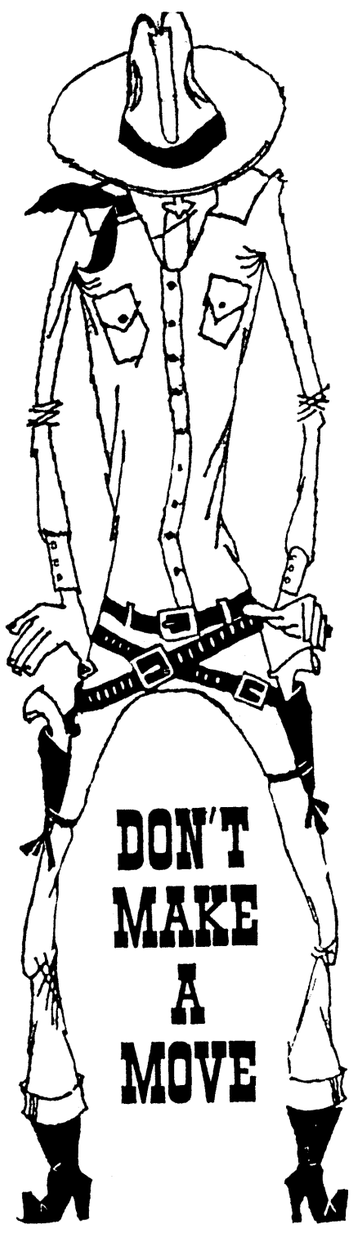

The police jury will meet May 4 to organize. At that time it is expected that a president will be elected by the jurors.

State Bar Picks Rayville Man As President-Elect

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Sit-ins, stand-ins and similar tactics by civil rights demonstrators were condemned Saturday by the Louisiana State Bar Association.

The group, ending its 23rd annual convention, said the proper action for persons with grievences was through legal channels not the streets.

A resolution adopted by the Louisiana lawyers condemned all demonstrations which involve violence or injury or intentional violation of the law calculated to provoke arrest or obtain publicity.

Leon Sarpy of New Orleans was installed as president of the association, replacing Bascom D. Talley Jr. of Bogalusa.

W. Davis Cotton of Rayville was named president-elect and David R. Normann of New Orleans was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Mastermind's Plan For Robbery Fails

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A caviar-loving bridegroom, charged as the mastermind of a bizarre scheme to rob four Houston banks with the aid of unsuspecting messengers, said Saturday he had planned to go into business for himself—"maybe opening up a bank."

Only one of the messengers, however, managed to deliver the cash, about $12,000 to a mystery man who hired him.

John L. Burke, 27, of Las Vegas, Nev., was charged with bank robbery before U.S. Commissioner Billy Costa, who set bond at $50,000. It was not posted.

"I had enough money for me and my wife to last a couple of months," Burke told newsmen. "And in a couple of months, I was planning to go into some kind of business, maybe opening up a bank."

Burke, who identified himself as a former gossip columnist for a Las Vegas magazine, was arrested early Saturday at a Houston apartment.

Police quoted Burke as saying the first purchase with his new riches was a three-pound jar of caviar which he ate for lunch Friday.

Officers said Burke signed a statement admitting he planned to rob the four suburban banks Friday by sending messengers with letters threatening children of four tellers with death unless the money was handed over.

Messengers appearing at the Harrisburg National, Spring Branch Bank and MacGregor Park National got nothing, but one scored at Belfort State Bank, where the teller stuffed about $12,000 in a bag.

When detectives arrested Burke, they found more than $10,000 in his room and $494 in his billfold.

Burke said after marrying his wife Silvia, a former waitress in Las Vegas, he and his bride went on a honeymoon to Honolulu, where he evolved the plan to come to Houston "because it is a big town—no other reason."

"I told my wife we were coming here to work on a real estate deal," he said.

A tipster, whom police declined to identify, told detectives a man answering the description broadcast after the robbery was living in the apartment. After checking the license number of the man's car and getting information on him from various sources in Las Vegas, police moved in.

Detectives said two of the four messengers identified Burke as the man who told them to go various banks with sealed envelopes and money bags. They are Joel W. Tindall, 25, and Dale Keith Sausley, 16.

The other two messengers are Robert Paul Dreggors, 17, and Charles Edward Keng, 21.

The youths, hired through the Texas Employment Commission by a man calling himself "Charles Hudson" were released after police questioned them.

One of the messengers was arrested in the bank, another in his automobile and a third after he had turned the $12,000 over to his mystery employer. The fourth messenger surrendered voluntarily after hearing about the other incidents.

Detective Lt. Joe Singleton said officers were attempting to determine if Burke was involved in a similar extortion scheme at Las Vegas last March, when $5,000 was taken by an 18-year-old messenger. The messenger was caught, questioned and released, and the money recovered. The mastermind was not apprehended.

4 New Members Of Police Jury Commissioned

JONESVILLE (Special)—The four new members of the Catahoula Parish Police Jury have been issued commissions by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and took the oath of office the past week.

Those were sworn in by Deputy Clerk of Court Ikie Henderson were Colvin Manning of ward six and H. B. Watson of ward three.

O. E. King of ward four and Shelby Mitchell of ward 5 were sworn in by W. R. Richardson, clerk of court.

Also taking the oath of office were Ancel McGuffee, constable of ward three; W. W. Tullos, constable of ward five and W. A. Clark, justice of peace of ward three.

Commissions have been signed by the governor and received by all other parish officials, it was reported. In the past, it has been the custom that the incoming governor issue commissions to the newly - elected parish officials after he has been intalled.

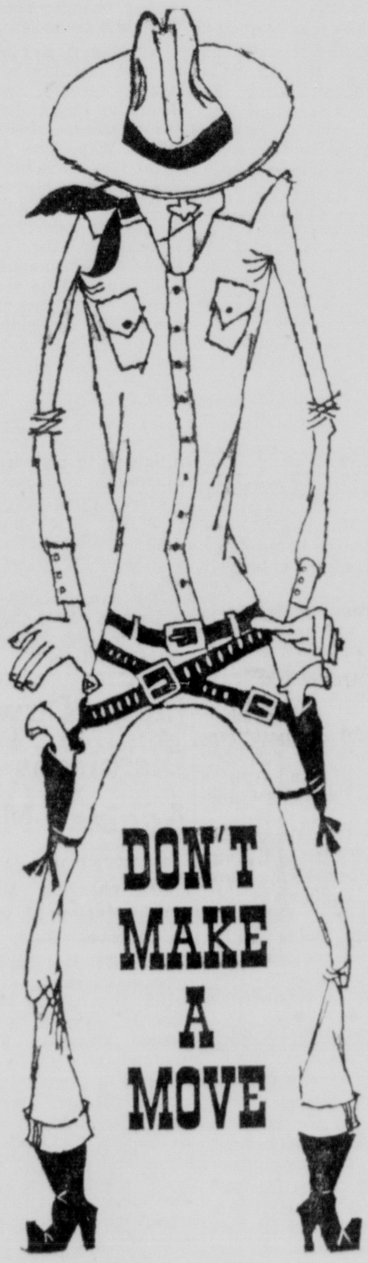

The police jury will meet May 4 to organize. At that time it is expected that a president will be elected by the jurors.

Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet makes roads feel as smooth as the maps they're printed on

That's a preview of how it feels to get there in a Jet-smooth Chevrolet Impala.

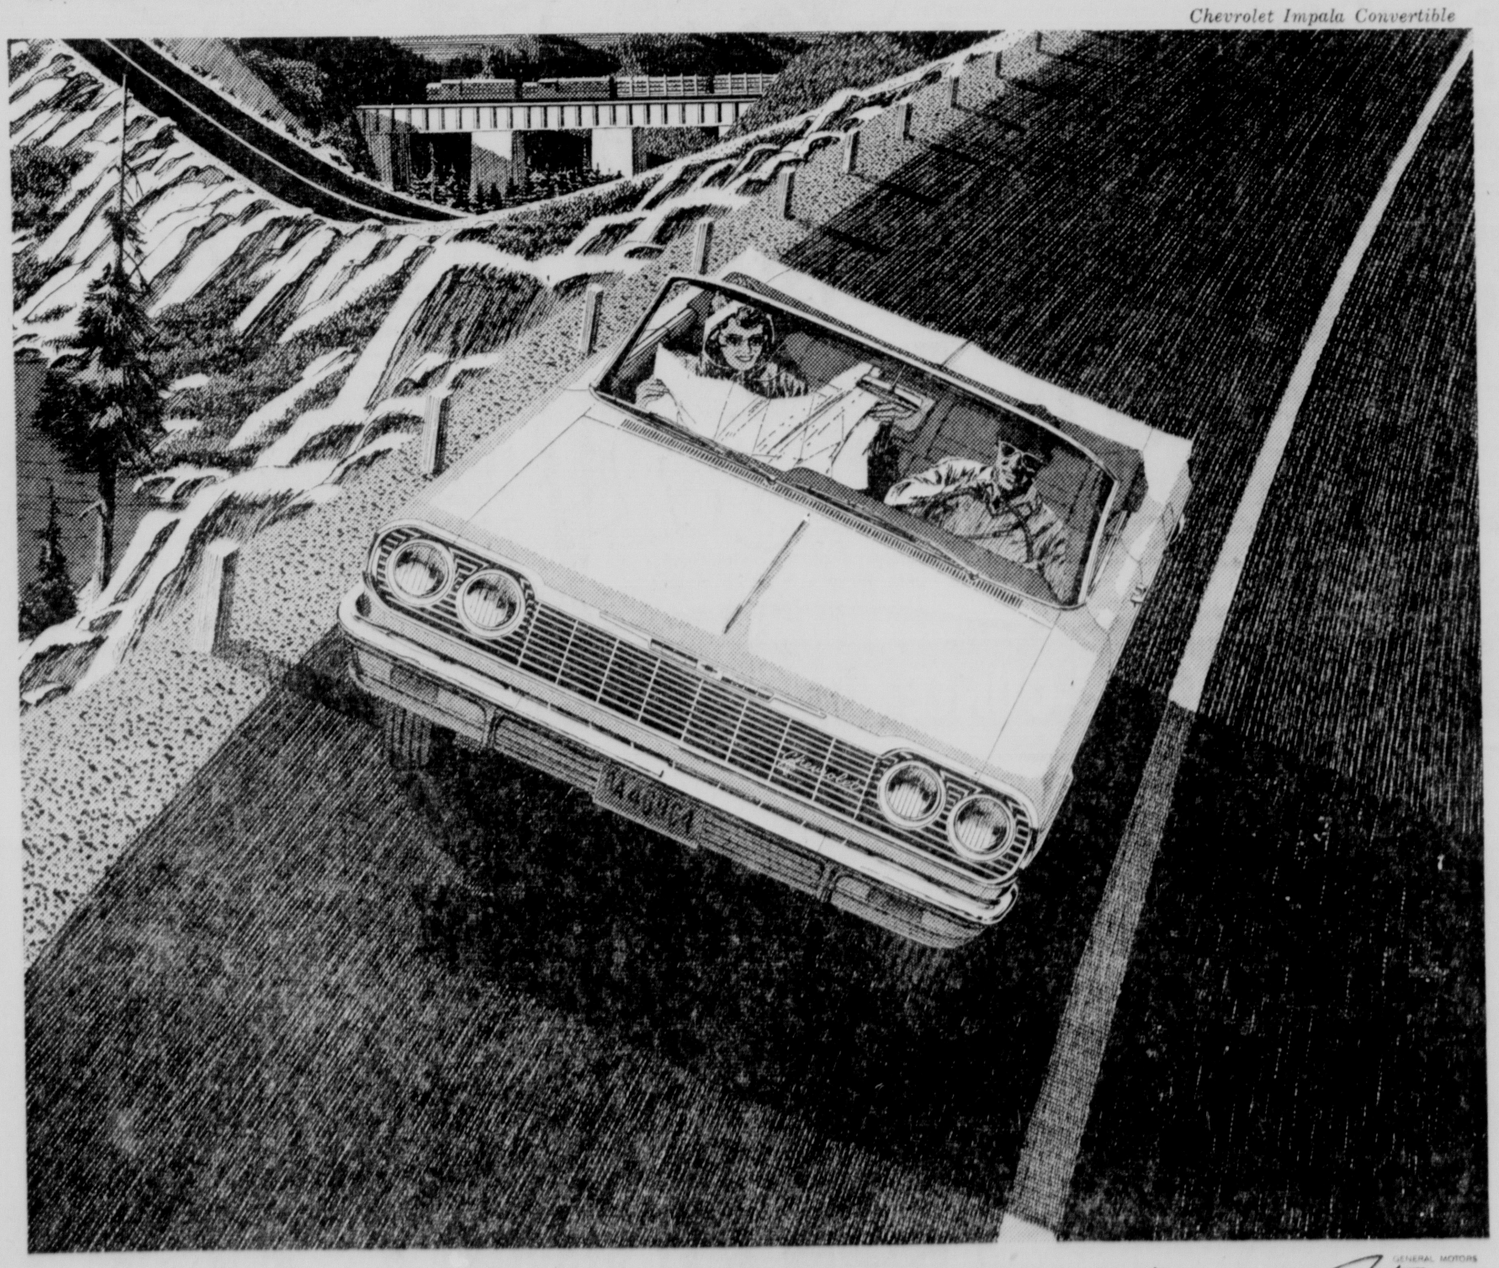

We've put what we think is the best suspension system in its class under this great highway performer. A big husky coil spring at each wheel and double-action shock absorbers to soak up bumps. Over 700 sound deadeners throughout the chassis and that spacious Body by Fisher to blot out noise from road and wind.

CHEVROLET
TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME
FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

There's a lot of other Jet-smooth luxury, too. Wide seats with foam-cushioning front and rear. Luxurious wall-to-wall deep-twist carpeting (this year it comes with even the lowest priced Biscaynes). A choice of seven great engines, all precision-balanced for smoother running, with four smooth-shifting transmissions to match. Everything that makes Chevrolet the great highway performer it is.

So get out those road maps. And wherever your trip might take you, get off to a good start—during Trade 'N' Travel Time at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Fink's Looks Forward In 50th Year

Mrs. Fink Reveals Plans For Future

Fink's Men's Store, 334 DeSiard, Monroe, now in its 50th year, is using modern methods of merchandising, and has the "forward look."

This is the view reflected by Mrs. Herbert Fink, owner, who said "We are looking forward—not back."

Evidence of this is seen from the front display windows to the back of the store, where merchandise is being brought out of cases and placed on attractive display for the convenience of customers.

INVITATION

The owner extended an invitation for the public to come in and see the pleasing changes taking place in the modernizing program being carried out at the store.

"We want people to come in and browse, and stay a moment for coffee with us" she said. "You aren't obligated to buy anything, just drop by for a visit."

The two recently remodeled and redecorated display windows which catch the attention of passersby, were described by Mrs. Fink as "almost like having two more salesmen. We have had a lot of comment on them."

EARLY HISTORY

She recalled some of the early history of the store, which was founded in 1914 by Julius Fink, now in retirement. The same year he was joined in the business by his brother, Max Fink.

The establishment was then known as "Fink The Tailor, Inc.", and continued to be known by that name until 1947.

The present owner said, "Max and Julius Fink were two of the best tailors in the country, and it was strictly a tailor shop. There were rows of tables and shelves with nothing but bolts of material on them.

PRESENT NAME

The store's present name was adopted in 1947, when the store was completely remodeled and men's suits and accessories added, and Herbert J. Fink took over as owner. Max Fink continued his tailoring there until a few years before his death.

During World War II, Finks handled military accessories, and Mr. Fink measured at all the army camps, and tailored clothes for officers and enlisted men.

Noel Grower, now reassociated with Fink's as a salesman, worked for Fink's when it was a tailoring shop, and "showed many a bolt of material," he recalled.

TAILORING SERVICE

The store still has a custom tailoring service available from Fashion Park for the hard to fit man or the man who prefers custom tailored clothing.

About her son, Herbert Jr., Mrs. Fink said, "Herbert has a pleasing personality and a way of making friends as his father did . . . he loves hunting, fishing and all sports. He's a student at Lee Junior High and plans to finish high school then go on to LSU. He will be 13 in September and whether or not he wants to follow in his father's footsteps is a decision he'll have to make when the time comes."

GOING FORWARD

The business is going forward under the leadership of Mrs. Fink, who with her capable staff and her drive are working to make Fink's one of the best men's stores in Louisiana. "The store has become a real challenge to me," she said.

Emphasizing her appreciation for the loyalty of customers through the years, Mrs. Fink said, "I do want to thank our customers and friends for their patronage of the last 50 years. It is your faith and loyalty that has made Fink's one of the outstanding Men's stores in Louisiana."

Pictured above are MRS. HERBERT FINK and her son Herbert Jr. Mrs. Fink assumed ownership of the store in February. She has worked in the store off and on for the past 14 years. Herbert Jr. will soon be 13 and is a student at Lee Jr. High School. Both Mrs. Fink and her son enjoy fishing, hunting and other sports. She also has two daughters and five grandsons.

Fink's Concerned With Comfort Of Customers

The comfort of the customers is paramount at Fink's, where newly installed air-conditioning and heating facilities keep the store at a proper temperature during all seasons.

The friendly atmosphere is one of pleasantness, amid attractively displayed merchandise, where customers may come in and feel relaxed, chat with the personnel and feel at home.

The store is well known in a vast trade area surrounding the Twin Cities for at least a 100 miles, reaching into Arkansas and Mississippi. Orders by mail come from even greater distances, from such points as California, Texas and New York, where former Twin Cities area residents now reside.

MRS. SUE SANFORD is in charge of Fink's Alterations Department. She has been with Fink's for 21 years and resides with her husband, Bob Sanford in West Monroe. Her job is to see that each garment is properly fitted and altered before it leaves the store.

Fink's Offers Charge Plan For Customers

For the convenience of customers, Fink's Men's store has several charge account plans.

The plans include the regular monthly charge account, the 60 day account and a 90 day charge plan. Courteous sales personnel are ready to help coordinate customers wardrobes as they open their new charge accounts.

It was also pointed out that parking is no problem in Downtown Monroe. The customer may park at any downtown lot and Fink's will gladly stamp your parking ticket.

MRS. ROLAND COATES JR. will "pinch-hit" for her mother, Mrs. Fink, on her days off. She is the former Linda Fay McKenzie and the mother of two sons, Roland and Gregory. She resides with her husband on Rainbow Drive in West Monroe.

Cuba Refugee Sets Tuesday Talk At Tech

RUSTON (Special) —"Is Cuba Still a Missile Threat to the U.S.? — A Panoramic View of Latin America Today" will be the topic of a speech by Dr. Fernando Penabaz, Cuban refugee, Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Louisiana Tech Student Center.

The program, sponsored by the Tech Americanism Club, will be free.

Dr. Penabaz first left Cuba in December, 1959, carrying a memorandum on the Communist takeover of Cuba. The memorandum was mimeographed and given to U.S. legislators and top officials.

At present Dr. Penabaz writes a five-times-a-week column published in the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., News; the Santa Monica, Calif., Observer; Popular News and several other newspapers.

He has lectured before more than 200 organizations in this country and has been a guest speaker before numerous television and radio panels.

Dr. Penabaz earned his law degree from Duke University in Durham, N.C., and his doctor of civil law degree from the University of Havana.

Education Day Slated At Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Education Day will be held at Louisiana Tech Wednesday, with a banquet talk at 7 p.m. by President John A. Hunter of Louisiana State University to highlight the observance.

The dinner will be held in the banquet room of the Student Center here.

Free tickets will be distributed through Tuesday to education majors in the foyer of the Education Building.

Edwina Whitman of Hope, Ark., a speech education major, will give a brief summary of the activities of the School of Education for this year at the banquet.

Music will be provided by Elizabeth Mooney of Ruston, James Earl Alexander of Ruston, Fern Halford of Vivian and Jerlynne Lott of Jackson, Miss.

OWEN COOPER

Crosses Burned In Mississippi

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special) — Crosses were burned in wide sections of Mississippi Friday night. Seven were burned here, including one at Confederate Memorial Park in downtown Natchez and one in the Negro section of town.

Other areas of Adams County reported cross burnings.

Crosses were reported burned at Jackson, Canton, Hattiesburg, Vicksburg, Utica, Prentiss and Crystal Springs.

Grambling Wins College Debate

Topic of the debate was "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Guarantee an Opportunity for Higher Education to all Qualified High School Graduates."

Aaron James, Eunice, Mable Reed, Mansfield, and Carolyn Calloway, Bernice upheld the negative argument to win the decision over the Mississippeans.

Lay Leader To Address Men's Group

A prominent businessman and Baptist lay leader of Yazoo City, Miss., Owen Cooper, will be the inspirational speaker at a "Baptist Men's Night" at Parkview Baptist Church, Monroe, on Monday, May 4. The event is sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of Parkview.

Men from other churches have been invited to a supper at 6:30 p.m. and the program to follow, which will include gospel quartet singing. Coopers' message will be, "Laymen - Christianity's Great Need."

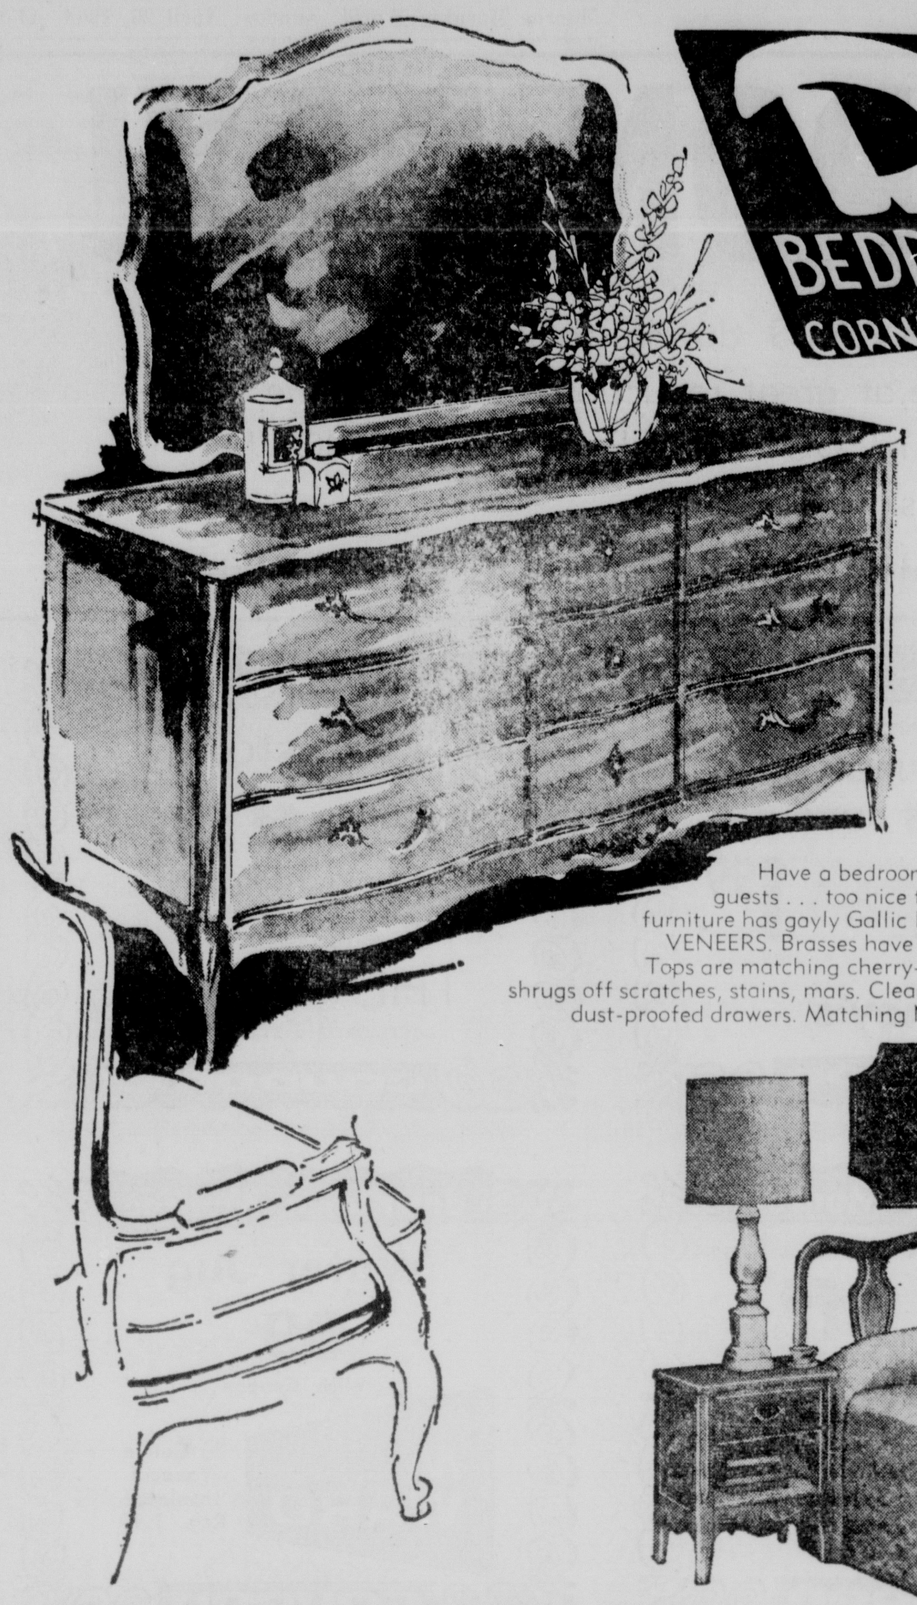

A challenge he is expected to pose will concern a West Coast Laymen's Crusade July 22-26, at about 1,000 Southern Baptist churches and missions in California and the Pacific Northwest. Two thousand men are needed for the crusade.

Gilbert T. Brown, president of the Parkview Brotherhood, said "the West Coast has been termed the most strategic mission field on earth. Of the 22 million people living in this fast growing area, some 70 per cent are unchurched. It is our hope that a delegation of laymen from the Twin Cities area might be sent to participate in this vitally needed evangelistic effort."

BACKGROUND

A native of Warren County, Miss., Cooper was educated at Mississippi State College, the University of Southern Calif., and Mississippi College, where he earned the doctor of laws degree. He is president of Mississippi Chemical Corp. and Coastal Chemical Corp., and chairman of the board of First Mississippi Corp. He is also vice president of the Mississippi Blue Cross, past president of the state YMCA and the Mississippi State University Alumni Association, past assistant director of the state's Planning Commission, and has served other civic, educational and professional organizations.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Southern Baptist Convention and is a past president of the Mississippi Baptist Convention and the board of trustees of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

RUSTON (Special) — Education Day will be held at Louisiana Tech Wednesday, with a banquet talk at 7 p.m. by President John A. Hunter of Louisiana State University to highlight the observance.

The dinner will be held in the banquet room of the Student Center here.

Free tickets will be distributed through Tuesday to education majors in the foyer of the Education Building.

Edwina Whitman of Hope, Ark., a speech education major, will give a brief summary of the activities of the School of Education for this year at the banquet.

Music will be provided by Elizabeth Mooney of Ruston, James Earl Alexander of Ruston, Fern Halford of Vivian and Jerlynne Lott of Jackson, Miss.

Crosses Burned In Mississippi

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special) — Crosses were burned in wide sections of Mississippi Friday night. Seven were burned here, including one at Confederate Memorial Park in downtown Natchez and one in the Negro section of town.

Other areas of Adams County reported cross burnings.

Grambling Wins College Debate

Topic of the debate was "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Guarantee an Opportunity for Higher Education to all Qualified High School Graduates."

Aaron James, Eunice, Mable Reed, Mansfield, and Carolyn Calloway, Bernice upheld the negative argument to win the decision over the Mississippeans.

Lay Leader To Address Men's Group

A prominent businessman and Baptist lay leader of Yazoo City, Miss., Owen Cooper, will be the inspirational speaker at a "Baptist Men's Night" at Parkview Baptist Church, Monroe, on Monday, May 4. The event is sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of Parkview.

Men from other churches have been invited to a supper at 6:30 p.m. and the program to follow, which will include gospel quartet singing, Coopers' message will be, "Laymen - Christianity's Great Need."

A challenge he is expected to pose will concern a West Coast Laymen's Crusade July 22-26, at about 1,000 Southern Baptist churches and missions in California and the Pacific Northwest. Two thousand men are needed for the crusade.

Gilbert T. Brown, president of the Parkview Brotherhood, said "the West Coast has been termed the most strategic mission field on earth. Of the 22 million people living in this fast growing area, some 70 per cent are unchurched. It is our hope that a delegation of laymen from the Twin Cities area might be sent to participate in this vitally needed evangelistic effort."

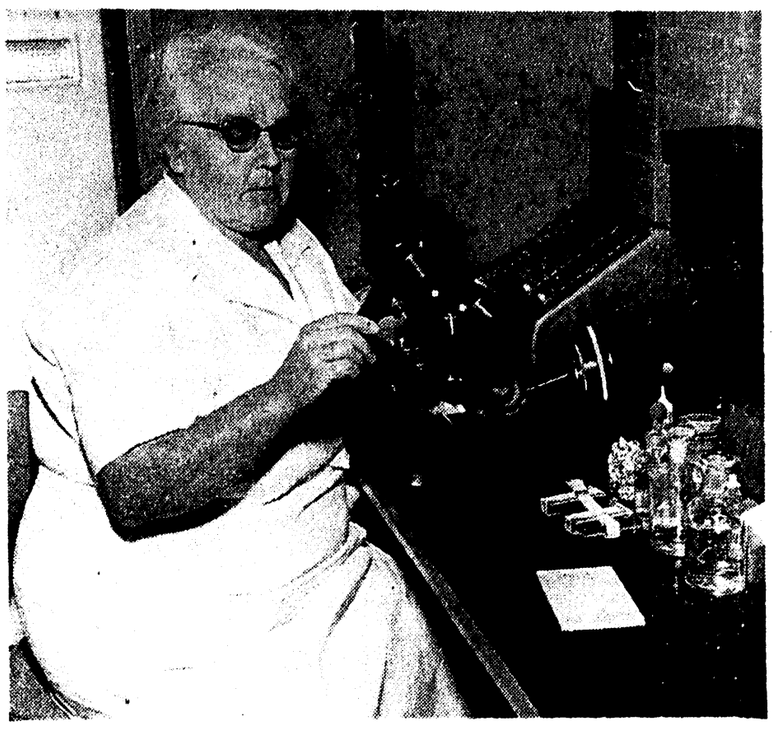

BACKGROUND

A native of Warren County, Miss., Cooper was educated at Mississippi State College, the University of Southern Calif., and Mississippi College, where he earned the doctor of laws degree. He is president of Mississippi Chemical Corp. and Coastal Chemical Corp., and chairman of the board of First Mississippi Corp. He is also vice president of the Mississippi Blue Cross, past president of the state YMCA and the Mississippi State University Alumni Association, past assistant director of the state's Planning Commission, and has served other civic, educational and professional organizations.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Southern Baptist Convention and is a past president of the Mississippi Baptist Convention and the board of trustees of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

"MY SECOND LOVE is gardening," says Miss Drach. "I think spring flowers are the most luscious of all flowers. My yard is always full of tulips and hyacinths in the early spring." Roses predominate now. Miss Drach also is raising a flower normally seen only in the north — the peony. "Everybody marvels that peonies are growing here," she remarks, "but I think there's a whole lot in the way you plant them and take care of them. They like a certain kind of soil and drainage."

It's a long step from nurturing the minds of the young, to blazing new trails in the battle against disease, but Miss Florence Drach of Monroe, made this transition with distinction.

In 1929 when Gov. Huey P. Long was "kingfish" in Louisiana and the nation was going through the great depression, the State Department of Health decided to establish regional laboratories—first in Tallulah, then in Monroe.

Miss Florence Drach, then only 27-years-old, was given the task of building the labs from nothing. She went on to become the first woman administrator of a regional laboratory in the state, and a pioneer in public health work here.

The health situation in both Tallulah and Monroe was critical.

LONG WORK DAYS

"I worked days and nights running meningitis cultures and examining spinal fluids for meningitis," recalls Miss Drach. "The doctors would go out and make a spinal tap and come get you up in the middle of the night to examine it and make a culture on it."

Malaria, typhoid fever and diptheria rates were high.

"If you took three people and stuck their fingers, one would have malaria. About every third slide I looked at indicated malaria.

"Veneral disease was rampant. I did blood surveys and they would run 35 to 40 per cent positive for syphilis.

"Water supplies were a problem — some were badly contaminated. It wasn't the wells as much at fault as storing water in holding tanks that weren't properly covered. You'd find dead birds in the darn things.

MANY SICK BABIES

"We had a good many sick babies as a result of the contaminated water, and quite a high fatality rate."

The laboratory was the "clearing house" for work being done by inspectors, health officers and physicians. State health engineers sent out chlorinating facilities to help clear up the water situation in the small towns.

"We kept examining the specimens, water supplies and milk supplies," Miss Drach explains. "I guess when I left Tallulah we had reached a peak and were running 1,500 to 1,600 specimens a month."

"When I came to Monroe in 1930, I expect one of our biggest problems was hookworm.

"We did surveys in the schools. In many, the rate ran 99 to 100 per cent infestation in the children.

"We had a lot of malaria around here — caused by a lack of mosquito control .

TYPHOID CARRIERS

"I found typhoid fever carriers in dairies. We had an outbreak here, and in one week had eight cases from the same place of supply."

In those days the laboratory was part of the Ouachita Health Unit, and was housed in one small room on the second floor of the Monroe City Hall.

"We started out with about $1,000 worth of equipment," the administrator said, contrasting it with the $80,000 worth of scientific implements in the current Monroe Regional Laboratory building at 2915 DeSiard St.

But when the lab was first established, there were lots of mighty sick people in northeast Louisiana.

"We would have outbreaks of diphtheria in the fall of the year. I used to run anywhere from 100 to 200 diphtheria cultures a day. Carriers caused it.

"Many deaths occurred from both diphtheria and typhoid fever. Flies spread typhoid.

MANY CHANGES

"Of course," Miss Drach remarked, "things have changed so much since then, you'd hardly recognize the kind of situations we had to contend with."

"We had to work out our own salvation in those days. Now laboratory procedures are all standardized — what one lab does, we all do, according to methods established by the American Public Health Association."

Florence Drach came to Louisiana from Michigan. Her brother still lives near Coloma, on farmland acquired by the family as a land grant during the 19th century.

She received degrees from Western Michigan University and from the graduate school of the University of Chicago, where she studied bacteriology and public hygiene.

TEACHING ROLES

She taught in a Michigan high school, at Alabama State College, served as general supervisor of mathematics for all high schools in Houston, Tex., then accepted an invitation to establish a school of bacteriology at State Teacher's College in Virginia.

"I loved the teaching field very much," she admits. "But I didn't like the extra curricular angle. When the day was over you had a meeting here that you had to attend, or a conference there.

"I think that's the very thing that settled the whole works for me — I had to sponsor a sorority house at the Virginia State Teachers College. Those girls got into fights and like that and I thought that life was too short to spend the rest of it in the middle of something like that."

Bacteriology was an open field in Louisiana at that time. She accepted the invitation to work with the State Department of Health.

"It was a man's world, but I'd had special training in bacteriology."

After the school survey indicated widespread hookworm infestation among local children, the Public Health Service moved in, built privies, treated cases "and the rate fell way down."

Surveys on malaria resulted in mosquito control work through federal funds. "It was during the depression that all this federal money was spent to help the unemployed find work," Miss Drach explained.

SPECIMENS

Physicians brought in specimens of blood, stools and urine for analysis, "to find out if their diagnosis was right, for example, if it was a typhoid organism that was giving trouble," she recalled.

"Our reports were turned over to the health department, and they in turn went out and checked water and milk supplies and anything else that might be a possible cause — to protect healthy people from becoming ill from the same source." Monroe's water supply, however, "has been in good shape, bacteriologically, ever since I've been here."

During World War II, the Division of Laboratories was separated from the health units and made a separate entity.

But with more workers needed in the lab, fewer were available — those not in the Armed Forces went into defense work for high pay.

"I couldn't keep anyone more than a month or two. Then the Army got them. Any girl who started here as a typist would get experience and then go out to Selman Field for twice as much money."

BLOOD TESTING

To Miss Drach fell the task of doing all the blood testing for selective service. "I was running 500 to 600 blood tests every day besides the other work. I'd carry an armful of malaria smears home to look through at night.

"I don't see why we stayed on. I've often wondered — I guess I don't quit easily. You know, you get established in something and . . ."

Eleven persons are on the staff now.

The laboratory has expanded to serve the entire area of northeast Louisiana: East Carroll parish, West Carroll, Morehouse, Richland, Madison, Union, Ouachita, Lincoln, Jackson, Caldwell, Catahoula, Concordia, Franklin and Tensas.

Miss Drach oversees the entire operation. The laboratory has two milk rooms, general laboratory, tuberculosis room, culture room, serology room, water analysis, rabies room, virus room, media room, two storerooms, engine room, lounge, reception room, administrator's office, general office, washroom and four rest rooms.

"From one little room, it's come a long way," she comments.

SMEARS

Smears predominantly contain organisms out of sputums, strep, staph, diplococci, various bacilli spirochetes. Smears and cultures are checked for tuberculosis. Cultures from stools and urine are examined for shigella and salmonella and intestinal parasites.

Rabies examination consists of smears from the brain tissue of animals suspected of rabies.

Dangerous? Only if you are careless," says Miss Drach. "You could pick up a lab infection, TB, pathogenic fungus — the whole secret is being careful."

GRADUAL PROCESS

Looking back over the years — she will have 35 years with the State in July — Miss Drach comments: "It's been such a gradual process, it's hard to pinpoint the greatest change.

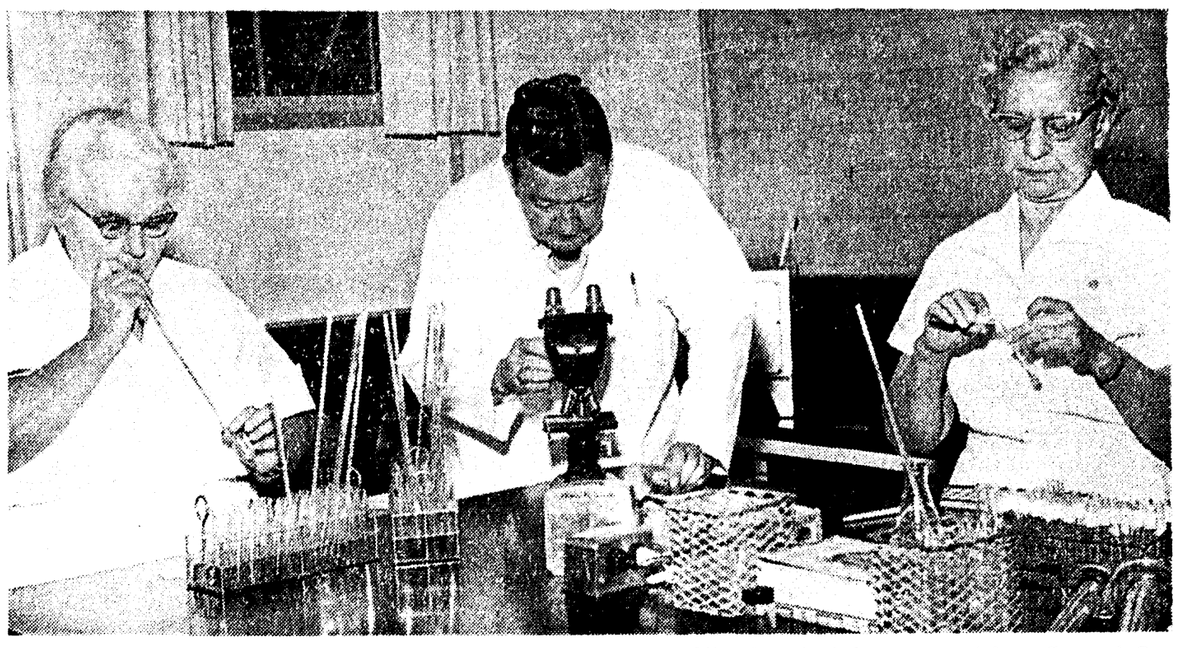

"When you realize you've gone from a highly contagious typhoid and diptheria situation which practically does not exist any more, and consider that malaria is wiped out in this area, you can't put your hand on anything that has been the greatest change."

Her staff members, who — without her knowledge — this year nominated her for the Dr. C. B. White award for meritorious and diligent service in public health, have this to say:

"Thirty-five years of Miss Drach's life have been devoted to serving the cause of public health through her work in the laboratory . . . she has worked untiringly and unselfishly to serve any and all who needed her . . . sometimes she was the whole laboratory staff, technician, clerk and dishwasher, but the quantity and quality of her work always maintained the highest level of excellence.

"Today she is the administrator, but she still works alongside all of us in whatever is to be done.

"The Laboratory has truly been Miss Drach's "Baby", they conclude. "We think she has "brought us quite a child."

TESTS FOR TYPHOID and undulant fever are conducted by Miss Drach, left, as technicians Samuel O. Brooks, center, conducts a blood test for syphilis and Miss Flora T. Carr, right, pours serum off blood samples. Brooks and Miss Carr were cited for 20-years service this month, and hold seniority in length-of-service next to Miss Drach.

MONROE REGIONAL LABORATORY of the State Board of Health opened one year ago at 2915 DeSiard St., next to Ouachita Parish Health Unit. Building contrasts sharply with one-room available for the regional lab when Miss Drach was assigned to establish it here in 1930. Bushes and flowers surrounding the building were planted this spring by the administrator.

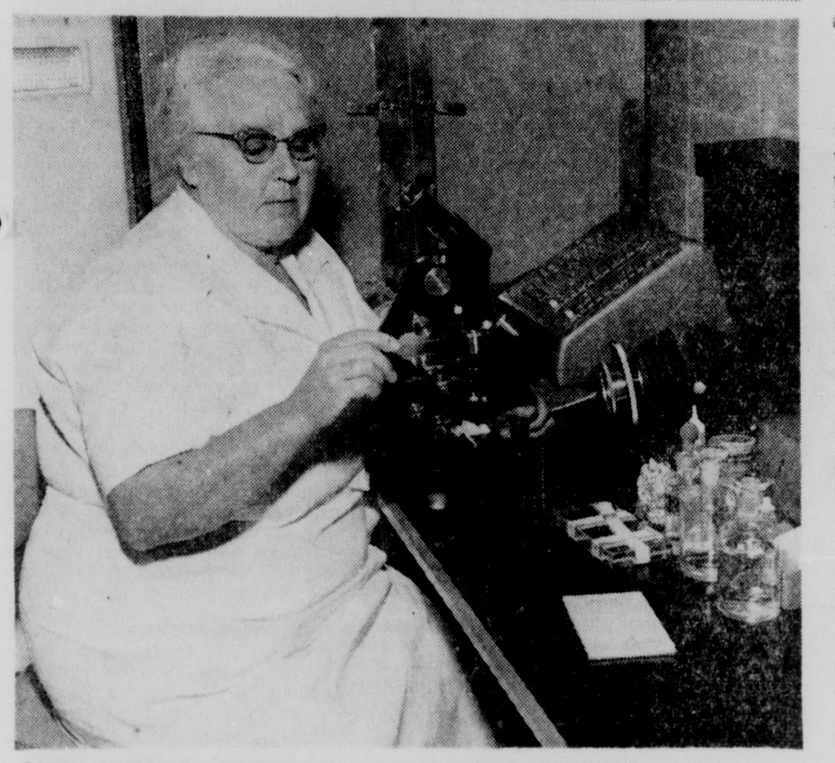

IN 1930, these eight people made up the staff of the Ouachita Parish Health Unit and regional laboratory. In center, standing, is the late Dr. John Williams, who was health unit director. Next to him, at right, is Miss Drach.

'The Dove Of Peace'

Arising out of Johnson's mind in a white cloud is a picture of a dove, sitting on a twig and blissfully singing or cooing. Coming up from Khrushchev's mind is the same dove, skinned, dressed, cooked and served up to him hot on toast.

While this cartoon rather aptly pictures the intentions and designs of the United States and Russia as a whole, it probably is far from exactly what is in the chief executives' minds. Both men probably are putting on the broad smiles so it won't show when they laugh up their sleeves.

One newspaper columnist has stated repeatedly that the United States has already stockpiled enough nuclear fission material to kill everyone of the three billion people in the world several hundred times over. Often he has used the term "overkill," which actually means more than enough to kill the entire population of the earth. He has stated on occasion that the United States was continuing to produce this material, under contract, without the slightest possibility that the new production would be needed.

Unless the columnist is mistaken, and there is no reason to think he is, since he obtained his information from thoroughly responsible sources, the nuclear cutback won't have any effect on the ability of the United States to use atomic or hydrogen bombs to the utmost if war should occur. The cutback announcement was played up chiefly for world consumption. Of course the United States can save a considerable sum of money by reducing this production — unless, as is often the case, it merely diverts it into something else.

There is no reason to think Khrushchev's action is any more magnanimous than that of President Johnson and it might not be any less. Without a doubt, Khrushchev knows of the United States' over-abundance of nuclear fission material and knows the reduction doesn't actually mean much. Probably he is in about the same boat. Anyhow, we know he is not motivated primarily by a desire for peace. He may also already have on hand an abundance of nuclear material, he may know he can't keep pace with the United States or he may merely be making a public announcement which he has no intention of fulfilling. It would be difficult indeed for the United States to know whether he is increasing or reducing production.

Khrushchev had developed a palsy-walsy relationship with the late President John F. Kennedy and it was kept warm by their direct telephone line. The United States always courts peace as a matter of policy, sometimes resorting to inexcusable appeasement and abandonment, to keep the dove sitting on its shoulder. Right now Khrushchev, who is in a big controversy with Red China over whether the cause of communism should be advanced by infiltration or by war, wants to present himself to the world as an emissary of peace.

About the best immediate assessment that could be made of the cutback announcement is: probably no harm done; probaby no good either —up to this time.

Commentators, however, say there is likely to be a lot more "wheeling and dealing" with Russia, and that we will need to watch.

Change In Tragedies

In most articles and editorials on accidental deaths, particularly those occurring in automobile crashes, favorite words seem to be "grisly," "carnage" and "terrible toll." Who ever saw an optimistic editorial on automobile tragedies?

We admit there is little to be optimistic about when an accident occurs, particularly if it is fatal, but we recall one case in which a man was pleased that his aunt had a non-fatal accident that destroyed her car because, if she hadn't, she probably would have had a fatal mishap. We are still puzzling over whether that was logical reasoning, since there are many who never have an accident.

On the other hand, we can be optimistic about a decline in accidents, even though those which do occur are bad.

Motorists have borne most of the brunt from those who condemn carelessness and maybe that is the reason, in one city at least, that riding in an automobile seems safer than staying at home. There was a time when people were said to spend more time in their cars than at home but that was before a new home entertainment was added—and now even some spells of epilepsy have been charged to that form of entertainment.

Memphis, Tenn., known as "the silent city," because no one is allowed to toot his own horn there or to whistle or sing on the streets, is bemoaning the fact that its accidental death toll last year was 259, the highest number in 14 years. But Memphis is a growing town and there are more people.

Here is the surprise. Although automobile accidents usually head the list, in Memphis there were 105 deaths in home accidents and only 97 in motor vehicle mishaps. The figures may be high but the ratio has changed. The report showed 18 drowned in unsupervised swimming holes, 56 died from falls, 31 met death by fire, eight were poisoned and seven breathed lethal gases.

If claims for various kinds of automobile safety were true, the total percentage reduction would be so great that loss of life would equal less than nothing. We know that can't happen but if we were to cut deaths and injuries by 75 per cent we would hear less talk about "grisly" and "carnage" and "terrible toll."

Some people claim deaths and injuries can be cut 50 per cent by wearing safety belts. One inventor said a recoil bumper on each end of the car, extending out about 18 inches, would reduce deaths and accidents at least 50 per cent. Figures show that adequate four-lane highways cut the traffic toll on those roads perhaps more than 50 per cent. If we add those three 50 per cents together we get a total of 150 per cent, which is not possible, but encouraging.

If home accidents continue to increase and if new safety devices and safer highways continue to cut the percentage of traffic deaths, it may not be long before an automobile will be among the safest places on earth for the man or woman who is reluctant to depart this life — but we need those safety measures.

The Library of Congress in Washington added 664,313 items to its permanent collection in the fiscal year 1962. The institution preserves some 41,879,000 items, including 12,534,000 books and pamphlets and 17,989,000 manuscripts.

President Is Intervening In Indiana And Maryland

Faced with the possible loss of one of these "swing states" to the segregationist leader, the President has assigned Clifton Carter, his top political troubleshooter, to direct and coordinate administration help for Senator Daniel Brewster, D-Md., and Indiana Governor Matthew Welch.

Carter already has assisted Senator Brewster and Governor Welch — both running "scared" — in raising nearly $100,000 for their campaigns to assure pro-Johnson delegations to the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City.

On directions from the President, Carter loaned two staff members of the Democratic National Committee to Brewster as speech writers and advance publicity men to bolster his sagging campaign.

CARTER ARRANGED to have Governor Welch and Senator Brewster individually photographed with President Johnson in the White House for their use in TV during the closing days of the Indiana (May 5) and Maryland (May 19) primaries.

The President's unannounced decision to intervene in these hotly contested primaries was made after polls by the Democratic National Committee showed that Wallace will make a stronger showing in both states than he did in Wisconsin, where he unexpectedly polled 33 per cent of the vote.

The poll in nearby Maryland startled President Johnson by indicating that Wallace is running "neck and neck" with Senator Brewster and has a possible chance to win the primary unless the present trend is reversed.

Senator Brewster, with an original campaign budget of $75,000 is now seeking $50,000 for additional TV appearances during the final weeks. Governor Wallace, how always seems to have plenty of money, purchased $50,000 worth of prime TV time for the closing of his campaign. A Wallace aide estimates the governor will spend $250,000 in Maryland and another $150,000 in Indiana.

THE SIDE SHOW—The Brewster-Wallace battle in Maryland is being complicated by a ding-dong battle for the Democratic senatorial nomination between Joseph D. Tydings, son of the late Senator Millard Tydings, and Louis Goldstein, State Comptroller since 1959.

In his campaign, Goldstein is giving Brewster his full support at the private request of President Johnson; while Tydings, being backed by Attorney General Robert Kennedy, is taking a neutral stand and staying completely out of the Brewster-Wallace contest.

The irony of Tydings' campaign is that it is encouraging some of his campaigners to make deals with Wallace supporters for votes at the same time that Tydings is traveling about the state "mimicking" the speech manner of the late President Kennedy, from watching old Kennedy movies, Tydings not only tries to talk like the late President, but uses a jabbing finger to drive home key passages of his speeches. He also changed his hair style to have a lock cover his forehead like Kennedy's.

BIG - MONEY CAMPAIGN - Despite these outward emulations of the late President, Tydings has shown on indication that he plans to follow White House hints to openly support Senator Brewster against Wallace, who is opposing the Kennedy civil rights program.

Money also seems to be no serious object in young Tydings' campaign. His step-grandmother is Marjorie Merriweather Post May, one of the richest women in the world. She helped the former U. S. District Attorney purchase $150,000 in prime TV time for the campaign.

In addition, Tydings has purchased a $40,000 full-page advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post for statewide distribution, and a $32,000 five-page spread in a Baltimore paper. One of Tydings' speech writers is being paid more than $20,000. Opponent Goldstein has budgeted less than $100,000 for his campaign.

POLITICAL FALLOUT —Supporters of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara are planting stories that President Johnson is considering making McNamara his vice presidential nominee and offering the Defense post to Attorney General Kennedy. The latter's interest in "counter-insurgency" warfare is being cited as one of Kennedy's qualifications for the McNamara post — Senator Barry Goldwater is so enthused about his chances of winning at San Francisco in July that he is organizing a special train to bring his supporters to the Republican convention from the East Coast. The train is to leave Washington D. C., on July 10, and make stops in Pittsburgh, Akron, Chicago, Kansas City and other cities to be named later. The Senator's two sons, Mike and Barry Jr., will be aboard, as well as other celebrities. Goldwater backers are also planning a national rally at Madison Square Garden, May 12, to step up the tempo of his campaign — Bill Haddad, former associate director of the Peace Corps, is circulating a folder of photographs showing his close association with the late President Kennedy, in his bid for the Democratic congressional nomination from the 19th district in New York.

Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., has a big disappointment in store for certain eager-beaver Democratic politicos who would like to replace him. They have been spreading the word that the exceedingly able and widely esteemed World War II veteran, one-time diplomat and lawmaker plans to quit the Senate in 1966. It can be authoritatively reported that is the last thing Cooper is thinking of. He will definitely run for re-election, and former Governor "Happy" Chandler and others counting on Cooper's retiring can forget it — UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson apparently is not very enthuiastic about that recently-launched boom to name him the New York Democratic senatorial candidate. A political acquaintance greeted him with, "Hello, Senator, how's the campaign coming?" Replied the one-time Illinois governor, "I like the title Governor better."

Pregnancy Often Period Of Worry

PREGNANCY, especially the first, is a time of borrowed anxieties and apprehensions. Young expectant mothers tend to panic at the very thought of complications, however unlikely. For example, consider this letter in reply to a recent column in which I spoke of the rare complication of acute appendicitis in pregnancy:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I've just read your column on appendicitis and pregnancy and I feel that I'm qualified to answer Mrs. O. Personally. You see, I'm the one case in 37,000 that you referred to.

I went into the hospital on Sept. 6, 1947, expecting to have my baby which was due. The only complications we expected was that it would be an Rh baby.

Thanks to a wonderful nurse on duty, it was discovered that I was not in labor, but was having an attack of appendicitis. She contacted my doctor immediately and he in turn consulted a specialist. A blood count was taken within an hour and in no time at all I was in the operating room, having my appendix removed.

THE BABY WAS born on Sept. 10, (4 days later), by normal delivery. I was in labor for approximately 9 hours, then I gave birth to a beautiful 6-pound, 13-ounce baby, who incidentally, was an Rh negative baby. The birth took place at H. C. Hospital and he was transferred to H. Hospital a few hours after birth — where he had a complete blood replacement. He is now a healthy 6-footer and a B student in school.

So you see, Dr. Steincrohn, we both came through with flying colors and I really hope you will print my letter to take some of the fear out of some of the mothers' hearts — because I know how they feel when they hear the words, "will have to operate." or "It will be an Rh negative baby."

Just have confidence in the doctors and God and everything will be fine — I know! The main thing to remember is don't be frightened and don't panic. — Mrs. M., Michigan.

Mrs. H.: The specific cause of psoriasis is not known. For this reason it is a stubborn, disheartening disease. It causes much mental torture for so many persons who try remedy after remedy without coming up with the key that will unlock its secrets. Although the scaly patches may not be inflamed and cause itching in all patients, the very presence of these disfiguring patterns brings much grief and disappointment to patients. I suggest that patients continue to go to understanding family physicians and dermatologists for alleviation. Some are greatly helped by medication although the cure may not be complete and lasting.

MRS. V.: "SPOILED" pork or ham, when eaten, gives notice within the day as a rule. If pork, for example, is infected with trichina (which are parasites), the patient has nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and muscle aches accompanied by dizziness. Of course, you must know by now that the best way to kill the parasites is to do a thorough job of cooking the meat.

You say that four days have passed without any symptoms. I think you can forget about trichinosis; just be sure to keep raw sausage and undercooked pork and ham away from the family.

Dreams Of Rocky Now Only Rubble

NEW YORK—There is something sad and a little tragic about the contemplation of Nelson Rockefeller's Presidential aspirations. They lie in an untidy mass of wreckage today — and the bright hopes sustained by him and by his colleagues have vanished in the wind of political realities.

From every side in this city of vast grandeur and picayune despair, the word can be heard. Republican leaders, once carefully abstemious in their criticism of New York's major political force, now speak bluntly of Mr. Rockefeller as if he were no more than an ordinary mortal. They have discovered that the king's new clothes were after all, non-existent. And in this newfound knowledge, they are being perhaps more brutal than is exactly necessary.

The cruel fact is simply that Governor Rockefeller never had it. He was no more Presidential timber than, let us say, Wendell Willkie. Astute public relations and the power and prestige of the Rockefeller name did it all. He never had the support of the lower, middle, or even upper echelon politicians — the precinct workers or the state chairmen — and what seemed like an occasional flash was merely a reflection of light from his money belt.

DESPITE THIS, New York's governor could not be ignored in his balliwick. Where others had been kingmakers, he could claim the title of Kingbreaker of 1960. The muscle he exerted then did much to hurt Richard Nixon and to compromise the GOP's chances at retaining the White House. In Albany, where the State legislature waited to do his bidding, he could easily command and cajole the unruly Republican ranks into submission.

It is not telling tales out of school to note now that this power, inherent in the office of governor, had long been in the process of evaporating. Well before the assassination of President Kennedy, very careful polls were taken by those not precisely in the governor's corner. One poll showed that Mr. Rockefeller would not gather in 17 per cent of the vote in a contes' for the Presidency.

This seemed so absurdly impossible that a second poll was taken. To the astonishment of those who conducted it, the result showed that the earlier figure had overestimated the situation. Now, the pollsters said, his total would be 15 per cent. These gory statistics were filed away for future use. The changing situation in the nation made them somewhat academic.

But those who make politics their business did not fail to read the handwriting on the wall. Governor Rockefeller, they realized, was no longer the king in his own country.

FROM THAT MOMENT on, the erosion of Mr. Rockefeller's strength on the county level began. Republican officeholders lost their fear of being seen in the precincts of the fledgling Conservative Party. Though regular GOP leaders could not openly defy the governor, they could allow the Conservatives to do the job for them. And so a small but strategically placed new party became the focus and locus of anti-Rockefeller activity and sentiment.

What has happened since: The public prints in New York have now confirmed that new and more recent polls in populous Republican counties show the complete deterioration of Governor Rockefeller's position. Two such polls show him trailing so badly that they have encouraged dissident Republicans to speak up in favor of the candidate they always wanted — Senator Barry Goldwater. Other polls, not yet leaked to the press, enforce the view that almost any GOP Presidential candidate, with the possible exception of Harold Stassen, could outdraw Governor Rockefeller.

In practical terms, this means that the New York delegation to the San Francisco convention is — if not quite up for grabs — at least in jeopardy from the Rockefeller point of view.

THE WALL STREET money, practical and always with an eye on retaining control of the national Republican Party, has turned its yearning eyes on Richard Nixon. The rank-and-file in the upstate and suburban areas yearns towards Barry Goldwater. How these factions will swing is a function of the California primary which, according to the best information, is still in Senator Goldwater's pocket.

The elimination of Governor Rockefeller as a serious contender, has now narrowed the field to two men. The rest of the candidates are not being given much consideration by the professionals.

From now on in, it is Goldwater versus Nixon. Oddly enough, that "confrontation" may never take place. For there is more than a little chance that Mr. Nixon will remove himself from the race if he sees too many delegate votes locked away safely in the Goldwater safe. What will happen is far from a lead-pipe cinch. But the Republicans can surely say that their quadrennial ball game remains the most interesting in the league.

SYLVIA PORTER

'Work-At-Home' Racket Is Large

ONE OF THE MOST insidious and fastest-growing gyp schemes flourishing in the nation today is the "work-at-home" racket.

Inquiries and complaints are pouring into Better Business Bureaus across the U.S. at a record clip, dwarfing the totals last year. An estimate is that this racket alone will bilk us out of more than $500 million in 1964.

Work-at-home schemes are routinely advertised in classified columns and through the mails. The tragedy is that they are aimed at those most gullible and least able to afford any financial loss or disappointment — lonely widows, shut-ins, retired people and housewives desperately trying to supplement the family's income.

The schemes range from mushroom-growing to bootie-knitting. Here is a sampling of the most common forms making the rounds today — along with the "catch" in each case and rules for spotting outright gyps.

SCHEME: Address postcards at home. Promoter furnishes "everything." Earn $50 a week.

CATCH: PROMOTER is selling "instructions" — not offering employment — despite the fact that he lures you through the help-wanted columns. If you're a "double victim," you'll pay for postcards as well as instructions. You make money only if the cards you send actually bring in orders. In a typical case, a home worker spent $1 for instructions, $5 for 250 postcards, $10 for postage. Total profit on two orders: $2. Loss: $14.

SCHEME: Assemble at home anything from bow ties to garters, fish lures to artificial flowers — and reap enormous piecework profits.

CATCH: Promoter offers no employment. Instead, he's selling instructions and, in all probability, exhorbitantly priced equipment and pre-cut materials. He has no intention of buying the goods you make unless they're "up to standards" and, of course, they never are. Often, victims spend hundreds of dollars on heavy equipment at grossly inflated prices in the belief that the promoter will furnish enough work to cover the equipment costs. Such work never materializes and you're left with a heartache and a debt payable to a finance company.

SCHEME: CLIP newspapers at home, earn $75 a week selling local press mentions to individuals and companies at $1 to $5 apiece.

CATCH: "Instructions" cost up to $15 (often shoddy, badly mimeographed, unprofessional), and you must subscribe to the newspapers yourself. You also must find your own markets for your clips.

SCHEME: Raise animals — bull frogs, foxes, minks, muskrats, etc. — at home and sell them for fabulous profits. Typical ad says: "There is Big Money in raising bullfrogs. Start in your backyard. We furnish breeders and instructions and buy what you raise."

CATCH: BREEDERS are excessively priced, potential profits are grossly exaggerated and animals bought back must be "in a healthy and marketable condition." Of course, they never are so judged by a gypster, and frequently the fine print you never read stipulates the animals must be skinned and butchered before they will be bought.

So the frauds go — appealing to the poor and lonely, feeding on the fact that there are legitimate deals for making money at home. Here are the most obvious earmarks of the fraudulent scheme:

1. Use of help wanted columns to advertise when advertiser has no employment to offer.
2. A promise of huge profits or big part-time earnings.
3. A profusion of vague "testimonials" to the deal.
4. A requirement that you buy expensive instructions and equipment — even before the promoter gives you details of the deal.

'The Dove Of Peace'

Arising out of Johnson's mind in a white cloud is a picture of a dove, sitting on a twig and blissfully singing or cooing. Coming up from Khrushchev's mind is the same dove, skinned, dressed, cooked and served up to him hot on toast.

While this cartoon rather aptly pictures the intentions and designs of the United States and Russia as a whole, it probably is far from exactly what is in the chief executives' minds. Both men probably are putting on the broad smiles so it won't show when they laugh up their sleeves.

One newspaper columnist has stated repeatedly that the United States has already stockpiled enough nuclear fission material to kill everyone of the three billion people in the world several hundred times over. Often he has used the term "overkill," which actually means more than enough to kill the entire population of the earth. He has stated on occasion that the United States was continuing to produce this material, under contract, without the slightest possibility that the new production would be needed.

Unless the columnist is mistaken, and there is no reason to think he is, since he obtained his information from thoroughly responsible sources, the nuclear cutback won't have any effect on the ability of the United States to use atomic or hydrogen bombs to the utmost if war should occur. The cutback announcement was played up chiefly for world consumption. Of course the United States can save a considerable sum of money by reducing this production — unless, as is often the case, it merely diverts it into something else.

There is no reason to think Khrushchev's action is any more magnanimous than that of President Johnson and it might not be any less. Without a doubt, Khrushchev knows of the United States' over-abundance of nuclear fission material and knows the reduction doesn't actually mean much. Probably he is in about the same boat. Anyhow, we know he is not motivated primarily by a desire for peace. He may also already have on hand an abundance of nuclear material, he may know he can't keep pace with the United States or he may merely be making a public announcement which he has no intention of fulfilling. It would be difficult indeed for the United States to know whether he is increasing or reducing production.

Khrushchev had developed a palsy-walsy relationship with the late President John F. Kennedy and it was kept warm by their direct telephone line. The United States always courts peace as a matter of policy, sometimes resorting to inexcusable appeasement and abandonment, to keep the dove sitting on its shoulder. Right now Khrushchev, who is in a big controversy with Red China over whether the cause of communism should be advanced by infiltration or by war, wants to present himself to the world as an emissary of peace.

About the best immediate assessment that could be made of the cutback announcement is: probably no harm done; probaby no good either —up to this time.

Commentators, however, say there is likely to be a lot more "wheeling and dealing" with Russia, and that we will need to watch.

Change In Tragedies

In most articles and editorials on accidental deaths, particularly those occurring in automobile crashes, favorite words seem to be "grisly," "carnage" and "terrible toll." Who ever saw an optimistic editorial on automobile tragedies?

We admit there is little to be optimistic about when an accident occurs, particularly if it is fatal, but we recall one case in which a man was pleased that his aunt had a non-fatal accident that destroyed her car because, if she hadn't, she probably would have had a fatal mishap. We are still puzzling over whether that was logical reasoning, since there are many who never have an accident.

On the other hand, we can be optimistic about a decline in accidents, even though those which do occur are bad.

Motorists have borne most of the brunt from those who condemn carelessness and maybe that is the reason, in one city at least, that riding in an automobile seems safer than staying at home. There was a time when people were said to spend more time in their cars than at home but that was before a new home entertainment was added—and now even some spells of epilepsy have been charged to that form of entertainment.

Memphis, Tenn., known as "the silent city," because no one is allowed to toot his own horn there or to whistle or sing on the streets, is bemoaning the fact that its accidental death toll last year was 259, the highest number in 14 years. But Memphis is a growing town and there are more people.

Here is the surprise. Although automobile accidents usually head the list, in Memphis there were 105 deaths in home accidents and only 97 in motor vehicle mishaps. The figures may be high but the ratio has changed. The report showed 18 drowned in unsupervised swimming holes, 56 died from falls, 31 met death by fire, eight were poisoned and seven breathed lethal gases.

If claims for various kinds of automobile safety were true, the total percentage reduction would be so great that loss of life would equal less than nothing. We know that can't happen but if we were to cut deaths and injuries by 75 per cent we would hear less talk about "grisly" and "carnage" and "terrible toll."

Some people claim deaths and injuries can be cut 50 per cent by wearing safety belts. One inventor said a recoil bumper on each end of the car, extending out about 18 inches, would reduce deaths and accidents at least 50 per cent. Figures show that adequate four-lane highways cut the traffic toll on those roads perhaps more than 50 per cent. If we add those three 50 per cents together we get a total of 150 per cent, which is not possible, but encouraging.

If home accidents continue to increase and if new safety devices and safer highways continue to cut the percentage of traffic deaths, it may not be long before an automobile will be among the safest places on earth for the man or woman who is reluctant to depart this life — but we need those safety measures.

The Library of Congress in Washington added 664,313 items to its permanent collection in the fiscal year 1962. The institution preserves some 41,879,000 items, including 12,534,000 books and pamphlets and 17,989,000 manuscripts.

President Is Intervening In Indiana And Maryland

Faced with the possible loss of one of these "swing states" to the segregationist leader, the President has assigned Clifton Carter, his top political troubleshooter, to direct and coordinate administration help for Senator Daniel Brewster, D-Md., and Indiana Governor Matthew Welch.

Carter already has assisted Senator Brewster and Governor Welch — both running "scared" — in raising nearly $100,000 for their campaigns to assure pro-Johnson delegations to the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City.

On directions from the President, Carter loaned two staff members of the Democratic National Committee to Brewster as speech writers and advance publicity men to bolster his sagging campaign.

CARTER ARRANGED to have Governor Welch and Senator Brewster individually photographed with President Johnson in the White House for their use in TV during the closing days of the Indiana (May 5) and Maryland (May 19) primaries.

The President's unannounced decision to intervene in these hotly contested primaries was made after polls by the Democratic National Committee showed that Wallace will make a stronger showing in both states than he did in Wisconsin, where he unexpectedly polled 33 per cent of the vote.

The poll in nearby Maryland startled President Johnson by indicating that Wallace is running "neck and neck" with Senator Brewster and has a possible chance to win the primary unless the present trend is reversed.

Senator Brewster, with an original campaign budget of $75,000 is now seeking $50,000 for additional TV appearances during the final weeks. Governor Wallace, how always seems to have plenty of money, purchased $50,000 worth of prime TV time for the closing of his campaign. A Wallace aide estimates the governor will spend $250,000 in Maryland and another $150,000 in Indiana.

THE SIDE SHOW—The Brewster-Wallace battle in Maryland is being complicated by a ding-dong battle for the Democratic senatorial nomination between Joseph D. Tydings, son of the late Senator Millard Tydings, and Louis Goldstein, State Comptroller since 1959.

What has happened since: The public prints in New York have now confirmed that new and more recent polls in populous Republican counties show the complete deterioration of Governor Rockefeller's position. Two such polls show him trailing so badly that they have encouraged dissident Republicans to speak up in favor of the candidate they always wanted — Senator Barry Goldwater. Other polls, not yet leaked to the press, enforce the view that almost any GOP Presidential candidate, with the possible exception of Harold Stassen, could outdraw Governor Rockefeller.

In practical terms, this means that the New York delegation to the San Francisco convention is — if not quite up for grabs — at least in jeopardy from the Rockefeller point of view.

THE WALL STREET money, practical and always with an eye on retaining control of the national Republican Party, has turned its yearning eyes on Richard Nixon. The rank-and-file in the upstate and suburban areas yearns towards Barry Goldwater. How these factions will swing is a function of the California primary which, according to the best information, is still in Senator Goldwater's pocket.

The elimination of Governor Rockefeller as a serious contender, has now narrowed the field to two men. The rest of the candidates are not being given much consideration by the professionals.

From now on in, it is Goldwater versus Nixon. Oddly enough, that "confrontation" may never take place. For there is more than a little chance that Mr. Nixon will remove himself from the race if he sees too many delegate votes locked away safely in the Goldwater safe. What will happen is far from a lead-pipe cinch. But the Republicans can surely say that their quadrennial ball game remains the most interesting in the league.

SYLVIA PORTER

'Work-At-Home' Racket Is Large

Inquiries and complaints are pouring into Better Business Bureaus across the U.S. at a record clip, dwarfing the totals last year. An estimate is that this racket alone will bilk us out of more than $500 million in 1964.

Work-at-home schemes are routinely advertised in classified columns and through the mails. The tragedy is that they are aimed at those most gullible and least able to afford any financial loss or disappointment — lonely widows, shut-ins, retired people and housewives desperately trying to supplement the family's income.

The schemes range from mushroom-growing to bootie-knitting. Here is a sampling of the most common forms making the rounds today — along with the "catch" in each case and rules for spotting outright gyps.

SCHEME: Address postcards at home. Promoter furnishes "everything." Earn $50 a week.

CATCH: PROMOTER is selling "instructions" — not offering employment — despite the fact that he lures you through the help-wanted columns. If you're a "double victim," you'll pay for postcards as well as instructions. You make money only if the cards you send actually bring in orders. In a typical case, a home worker spent $1 for instructions, $5 for 250 postcards, $10 for postage. Total profit on two orders: $2. Loss: $14.

SCHEME: Assemble at home anything from bow ties to garters, fish lures to artificial flowers — and reap enormous piecework profits.

CATCH: Promoter offers no employment. Instead, he's selling instructions and, in all probability, exhorbitantly priced equipment and pre-cut materials. He has no intention of buying the goods you make unless they're "up to standards" and, of course, they never are. Often, victims spend hundreds of dollars on heavy equipment at grossly inflated prices in the belief that the promoter will furnish enough work to cover the equipment costs. Such work never materializes and you're left with a heartache and a debt payable to a finance company.

SCHEME: CLIP newspapers at home, earn $75 a week selling local press mentions to individuals and companies at $1 to $5 apiece.

CATCH: "Instructions" cost up to $15 (often shoddy, badly mimeographed, unprofessional), and you must subscribe to the newspapers yourself. You also must find your own markets for your clips.

SCHEME: Raise animals — bull frogs, foxes, minks, muskrats, etc. — at home and sell them for fabulous profits. Typical ad says: "There is Big Money in raising bullfrogs. Start in your backyard. We furnish breeders and instructions and buy what you raise."

CATCH: BREEDERS are excessively priced, potential profits are grossly exaggerated and animals bought back must be "in a healthy and marketable condition." Of course, they never are so judged by a gypster, and frequently the fine print you never read stipulates the animals must be skinned and butchered before they will be bought.

So the frauds go — appealing to the poor and lonely, feeding on the fact that there are legitimate deals for making money at home. Here are the most obvious earmarks of the fraudulent scheme:

1. Use of help wanted columns to advertise when advertiser has no employment to offer.
2. A promise of huge profits or big part-time earnings.
3. A profusion of vague "testimonials" to the deal.
4. A requirement that you buy expensive instructions and equipment — even before the promoter gives you details of the deal.

Top U. S. Soldier Is Tough, Ready

By BEM PRICE

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force officer still remembers, with a touch of awe, the day he passed the office of Gen. Paul DeWitt Adams just as a colonel was emerging.

"That colonel," said the officer, "had combat ribbons up to his eyeballs and he was crying."

Since that time, the officer added, "I've learned the hard way that if you know your job you'll get along with 'P.D.A.' but Adams doesn't suffer fools gladly."

Adams, at 58, is the nation's No. 1 field soldier. He commands every combat-ready soldier and airman in the United States with the exception of the Strategic Air Command and the Marines.

He even has a small fleet, assigned to him by the Navy, operating in the Middle East going around—as he put it—"calling on people and doing good deeds."

Adams is commander-in-chief of the joint task force known as Strike Command — STRICOM —and, as such, he has a world of problems.

If any U.S. theater commander anywhere in the world calls for help, it is Adams' job to provide it. He also has the primary responsibility for carrying out U.S. military policies in a huge area which includes the Middle East, Africa south of the Sahara, and Southern Asia, including India and Pakistan.

In military lingo this huge area, embracing 69 nations and sheikdoms—most of them new—is identified by the acronym "MEAFSA."

If a crisis should arise in the area, Adams firmly believes that a quick reaction by the United States is a form of fire prevention. And "even if a fire starts and you can't put it out immediately, maybe you can, at least, keep it from growing," he says.

Because of the size of the MEAFSA area, Adams is constantly stressing mobility, chiefly by air.

Adams looks upon the two armored divisions attached to his command as primarily for use in the European theater, possibly in North Africa or the Middle East "if you can get them shipped in time."

But Adams clearly has little use for armor. He keeps pressing his research people to push for a tank-killing infantry weapon 'which can be hauled in like cordwood and fired by striking a match."

The general has problems which confront few other commanders. To reach some hotspots in the MEAFSA area, he needs permission to fly over certain neutral nations, the right to stockpile materiel in some nations and the right to land his troops in neutral staging areas before going into possible combat situations.

"The basic general scheme," he said, "is to get as close as you can, pull up the tail (of the airborne column) and then hit with all necessary force."

In pushing for mobility, Adams and his staff are watching a Pacific experiment in stockpiling heavy equipment and supplies aboard a small aircraft carrier which could roam the seas near troubled nations.

Adams is never more than 30 seconds away from the "hot line" to the Pentagon, even on those rare occasions when he can break away to play golf.

His golf cart is equipped with a radio-telephone and so is his official car. The latter contains a device which blows the horn and keeps blowing it when a call comes through and the car is unattended. The horn can be silenced only by lifting the receiver.

Adams' staff, all 551 of them, can be assembled within an hour. There are two men on duty at all times in Adams' command post.

If the Joint Chiefs of Staff ever tell Adams to put his men in motion, he can assemble aircraft, load the troops and start them on their way within six hours.

Under his direct control, Adams has 225,000 men, 1,000 fighter-bombers and four wings of troop transports. He also has first call on the Military Air Transport Service.

Beyond this are the reserve troop carrier squadrons which can put 65 per cent of their planes and crews into the air on two hours notice; all of them within 12 hours.

The stocky, 185-pound Adams is a military scholar of high order. He is of that breed of strategist who holds that the most successful generals are the ones who attain their objectives without fighting, if possible, and with the fewest casualties if fighting is necessary.

Adams lectures over and over on "economy of force" as a principle of war.

The general and his wife, the former Mabel Decker, live in a barn-like, white stucco house with their daughter, Majorie, at MacDill Air Force Base. A son, Robert T. Adams, is a regular Army first lieutenant.

Adams spends a great deal of time flying about the country on inspection trips in former President Harry S. Truman's old plane, the "Independence."

"HE READS"

Asked to describe the general's rare, quiet home hours, a staff member replied, "He reads. She knits. Everything the man reads is somehow related to his job."

One thing about Adams is certain: There are few, if any, men in the nation who spend more time on the job. He works seven days a week, at least 12 hours a day, more likely 16 to 18 hours. He has even been known to call staff conferences on Christmas Eve.

One major general with deep circles under his eyes said wearily that working for Adams often meant a 96-hour week. A 72-hour week, he said, was about normal. A 70-hour week is loafing.

Despite the long, grinding hours, the staff seems to thrive on the work load. Every man encountered seemed to have developed an intense, driving sense of purpose.

Since STRICOM was established Oct. 9, 1961, Adams has had three days' leave. He went to a nearby beach—and an aide got his shoes filled with sand twice a day running papers out from headquarters for the general's information or signature.

Adams is little known outside military circles. He appeared briefly on the world stage as the taciturn, unapproachable commander of U.S. forces in Lebanon during the 1958 crisis.

This is despite the fact that he fought with conspicuous success as a regimental commander in Italy during World War II (Cassino, Anzio, Rome-Arno campaigns), as a division commander (the 25th) in Korea and as 8th Army chief of staff under Gen. James Van Fleet, also in Korea.

In any event, Adams has come a long way from a boyhood in the red, impoverished hills of Alabama where he was born Oct. 6, 1906, in the town of Heflin.

Escar B. Wood, Heflin druggist for 35 years and a former schoolmate of Adams', remembers him chiefly as a studious boy who often said "his greatest happiness would be to be a captain in the Army."

Wood thinks Adams developed his single-minded devotion to the military life when, at age 15, he lied slightly about his age and enlisted in the old Citizens' Military Training Camp program and went off to summer camp for 30 days in 1921.

Adams came back to Heflin, finished high school and then prepped for a year at Marion (Ala.) Military Academy. He obtained his West Point appointment in 1924.

Adams still has a soft Southern drawl, so soft at times it borders on a mumble—unless he is angry.

One officer said of Adams: "He can charm you right out of your chair—or blister so badly you need first aid."

Hess Is Now Eccentric— Howls In Cell Like Wolf

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—Rudolf Hess, once Adolf Hitler's deputy, has become so eccentric that he sometimes howls like a wolf in his prison cell, says a man in a position to know.

Hess is 70 Sunday. He has been behind bars 23 years.

First he was in British captivity after flying to England on a "peace mission" in 1941. Then he was sentenced to life by the Nuernberg international tribunal for war crimes.

For 17½ years he has been in the Allied War Crimes Prison in the Berlin suburb of Spandau.

An officer who saw him recently says:

"His skin is deeply wrinkled. His dark, glaring eyes are deeply sunken.

"His thick eyebrows are bushier than ever, but now gray.

"He looks a strange sight as he shambles around in an old German army skicap and a long military overcoat that flaps around his ankles.

"His mental state has not improved with the years.

"Some nights he howls like a wolf in his cell.

"The soldiers on guard can hear him plainly and sometimes they get so fed up with it that they howl back at him."

Hess and two other convicted war criminals are the only occupants of the prison built to hold 600 inmates. The prison is guarded in rotation by American, Russian, British and French troops. This month it is the American turn to have a company of military police at the jail.

The military guard originally was posted to prevent any attempt by Germans to rescue their former leaders.

The other inmates are Baldur von Schirach, the former leader of the Hitler Youth, 57, and Albert Speer, Nazi munitions minister, 59. Both complete 20-year terms in 1966.

Hess is in for life. Nuernberg rules require sentences to be served in full, although others have been prematurely released from Spandau because of ill health.

The Western powers would probably be glad to shut down what is likely the world's most expensive prison per capita. But the Soviets have blocked all moves to grant clemency to the three men.

Is New Era In Policy Opening?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he moved into the White House five months ago, President Johnson has dealt with a half a dozen international crises, from Panama to Viet Nam.

The most striking fact about changing conditions in today's world is that not one of these crises involved a direct conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Revolutionary shifts are under way in the global power struggle between the Communist and non-Communist nations. Foreign policies of the great powers are subject to strains that were only dimly seen as late as a year ago. Johnson seems to be confronted not only with the problems of a new president but also those of a new historical era.

The reason is plain enough. The cold war battlefronts that developed after World War II no longer hold. Old friends are quarreling and old enemies are talking peace. New nations are jockeying for position and power.

Russians eat American wheat. Cubans drive British buses. Chinese leader Mao Tze-tung turns a more cordial face to French President Charles de Gaulle than to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. De Gaulle, recognizing the Peking regime, deals a blow to the policies of both Khrushchev and Johnson.

The world is at a crossroads in history, and no one in Washington or any other major capital seems sure where it will head next.

"We are in a period of change," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said some days ago. "Things are in motion."

"Our leadership has been steadily losing its effectiveness," wrote former President Harry S. Truman.

"We are confronted with a complex and fluid world situation," declared the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. William Fulbright, "and we are not adapting ourselves to it."

Hostility between Washington and Moscow primarily supplied the tensions that for years maintained the familiar pattern of cold war relations. When John F. Kennedy became president he deliberately began to soft-pedal insult and invective in exchanges with Khrushchev. Secretary Rusk initiated a probing operation to seek points of possible East-West agreement.

But it was not until after the crisis of the Berlin wall in 1961 and, finally, the confrontation with the Soviet Union over Cuba in October 1962 that tensions between Moscow and Washington began to decline. The relaxation was both confirmed and accelerated last July by the agreement among the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain on a treaty limiting the testing of nuclear weapons. Since then the old world of the cold war has been ripping apart.

President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev now both seem to be groping cautiously for ways to stabilize a great power stalemate that could endure indefinitely.

The retreat from the edge of nuclear disaster that began after the Cuban confrontation — and was dramatized in the test-ban treaty — has not, obviously, turned into a massive surge toward peace and a stable international order. Instead it has encouraged the breakup of the old power systems centered on Washington and Moscow and favored the spread of new rivalries.

The policy moves by De Gaulle in Europe and the Far East have extended and hardened differences among the NATO allies with his quest for a "third world" under French leadership. He has paralyzed if not destroyed the American - sponsored dream of building Western unity into a new North American - European Atlantic community.

Britain has pulled apart from the United States over issues of trade with Cuba and long-term credits for the Soviet Union. Visiting Washington in February, Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas - Home told Johnson bluntly that Britain could not go along with U.S. trade policies toward the Communist bloc.

Peking's Mao Tze - tung has broken the Communist bloc with his campaign to wrest power from the Kremlin. Latin America and Africa have become increasingly arenas of Communist ambition, both Chinese and Soviet. Western leaders, for their part, as Rusk has told Congress, look to growing nationalism in the Communist countries of Eastern Europe to curb Soviet power and control there.

Basic to all these developments is the decline of war fears resulting from the nuclear standoff between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The growth of confidence and the restraints on the use of power by the nuclear giants have provided more scope for other countries of all sizes to flex their muscles and assert their independence of action. In consequence, each of the two super-powers has suffered a loss of authority over world affairs and now finds its leadership ability impaired.

Johnson feels this state of affairs is harder on Khrushchev than on himself. The reason, he has explained, is simply that the Western system of alliances has always been looser and more flexible and therefore more tolerant of disagreement than the highly centralized Communist system.

In a national television interview on his first 100 days in the White House, Johnson confessed that he has had to deal with some problems abroad that caused discouragement and irritation. But he said that on balance a world of several political systems, less dependent on two great blocs, is in his view a safer world — even though it limits American power. Americans have to understand, Johnson argued, that the world is changing.

"There are going to be these demands from time to time (from) people who feel that all we need to do is mash a button and determine everybody's foreign policy," Johnson said, "but we are not living in that kind of world anymore. They are going to determine it for themselves and that is the way it should be."

Johnson first began talking publicly in February about his conviction that the United States could not run a push-button diplomacy. The alternative he has so far talked about is logical persuasion.

Reasoned agreement seems to be what he has tried to use on the problems that have come up to him for action—when he had the choice of talking softly rather than wielding a big stick. These problems all had one thing in common—they could not be stalled off.

The importance of the point is that Johnson is reported to have decided in his first days in the White House that he would move slowly in foreign affairs and would be content to give primary attention to domestic issues in this election year.

By rough estimate of one of his close associates, the President has spent somewhat less than 50 per cent of his working time on foreign affairs. He relies more than President John F. Kennedy did on Secretary Rusk and on his special assistant for security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, to collect the facts and lay out the alternatives for action. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara plays a key role in all matters involving military questions; he has a decisive influence on policy toward Viet Nam.

Johnson meets with McNamara, Rusk and Bundy at lunch once a week, usually on Tuesday. The three men arrive with questions and recommendations and they go away with decisions. Johnson also talks with Rusk and other top foreign policy officials, including Undersecretary George Ball, on the telephone several times a day.

He likes the telephone contact, likes talking out problems and is impatient with paper work. Nevertheless he does his homework in foreign policy, reading through each night a big stack of policy documents which Bundy prepares for him on the problems of the day.

When the Panama crisis erupted suddenly in January Johnson telephoned President Roberto Chiari and made arrangements to send a planeload of investigators and negotiators to Panama immediately to restore "neighborly relations."

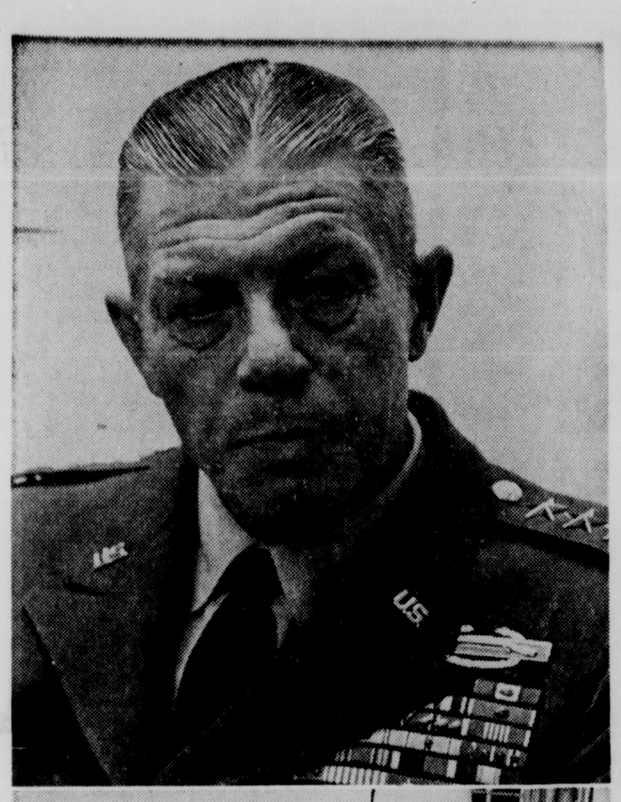

Johnson's phone call looked like an impulsive act. But in fact it was not. It was recommended to him by Rusk and Bundy along with possible alternative courses of action. He chose the speediest and most direct means which he thought would get results.

"The main difference between President Johnson's approach to foreign policy and President Kennedy's," one top authority said recently, "is the point at which Johnson gets into a problem. Kennedy had a deep interest in details of all foreign situations. He would sometimes call a desk officer early in the morning and ask, what are we doing about some situation reported in news dispatches? Naturally the pressure in such cases was to find something to do.

THE TELEPHONE saves President Johnson some paper work, but it can't supply all the answers to the many problems on foreign policy. This phone is in the Oval Room of the White House in Washington. Superimposed on the dome is a list of the major foreign issues. Changing world conditions are bringing new U.S. policies in what the President has called "a frustrating period, and exciting period, a developmental period." (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

"The soldiers on guard can hear him plainly and sometimes they get so fed up with it that they howl back at him."

Hess and two other convicted war criminals are the only occupants of the prison built to hold 600 inmates. The prison is guarded in rotation by American, Russian, British and French troops. This month it is the American turn to have a company of military police at the jail.

The military guard originally was posted to prevent any attempt by Germans to rescue their former leaders.

The other inmates are Baldur von Schirach, the former leader of the Hitler Youth, 57, and Albert Speer, Nazi munitions minister, 59. Both complete 20-year terms in 1966.

Hess is in for life. Nuernberg rules require sentences to be served in full, although others have been prematurely released from Spandau because of ill health.

The Western powers would probably be glad to shut down what is likely the world's most expensive prison per capita. But the Soviets have blocked all moves to grant clemency to the three men.

Is New Era In Policy Opening?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he moved into the White House five months ago, President Johnson has dealt with a half a dozen international crises, from Panama to Viet Nam.

The most striking fact about changing conditions in today's world is that not one of these crises involved a direct conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Revolutionary shifts are under way in the global power struggle between the Communist and non-Communist nations. Foreign policies of the great powers are subject to strains that were only dimly seen as late as a year ago. Johnson seems to be confronted not only with the problems of a new president but also those of a new historical era.

The reason is plain enough. The cold war battlefronts that developed after World War II no longer hold. Old friends are quarreling and old enemies are talking peace. New nations are jockeying for position and power.

Russians eat American wheat. Cubans drive British buses. Chinese leader Mao Tze-tung turns a more cordial face to French President Charles de Gaulle than to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. De Gaulle, recognizing the Peking regime, deals a blow to the policies of both Khrushchev and Johnson.

The world is at a crossroads in history, and no one in Washington or any other major capital seems sure where it will head next.

"We are in a period of change," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said some days ago. "Things are in motion."

"Our leadership has been steadily losing its effectiveness," wrote former President Harry S. Truman.

"We are confronted with a complex and fluid world situation," declared the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. William Fulbright, "and we are not adapting ourselves to it."

Hostility between Washington and Moscow primarily supplied the tensions that for years maintained the familiar pattern of cold war relations. When John F. Kennedy became president he deliberately began to soft-pedal insult and invective in exchanges with Khrushchev. Secretary Rusk initiated a probing operation to seek points of possible East-West agreement.

But it was not until after the crisis of the Berlin wall in 1961 and, finally, the confrontation with the Soviet Union over Cuba in October 1962 that tensions between Moscow and Washington began to decline. The relaxation was both confirmed and accelerated last July by the agreement among the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain on a treaty limiting the testing of nuclear weapons. Since then the old world of the cold war has been ripping apart.

President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev now both seem to be groping cautiously for ways to stabilize a great power stalemate that could endure indefinitely.

The retreat from the edge of nuclear disaster that began after the Cuban confrontation — and was dramatized in the test-ban treaty — has not, obviously, turned into a massive surge toward peace and a stable international order. Instead it has encouraged the breakup of the old power systems centered on Washington and Moscow and favored the spread of new rivalries.

The policy moves by De Gaulle in Europe and the Far East have extended and hardened differences among the NATO allies with his quest for a "third world" under French leadership. He has paralyzed if not destroyed the American - sponsored dream of building Western unity into a new North American - European Atlantic community.

Britain has pulled apart from the United States over issues of trade with Cuba and long-term credits for the Soviet Union. Visiting Washington in February, Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas - Home told Johnson bluntly that Britain could not go along with U.S. trade policies toward the Communist bloc.

Peking's Mao Tze - tung has broken the Communist bloc with his campaign to wrest power from the Kremlin. Latin America and Africa have become increasingly arenas of Communist ambition, both Chinese and Soviet. Western leaders, for their part, as Rusk has told Congress, look to growing nationalism in the Communist countries of Eastern Europe to curb Soviet power and control there.

Basic to all these developments is the decline of war fears resulting from the nuclear standoff between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The growth of confidence and the restraints on the use of power by the nuclear giants have provided more scope for other countries of all sizes to flex their muscles and assert their independence of action. In consequence, each of the two super-powers has suffered a loss of authority over world affairs and now finds its leadership ability impaired.

Johnson feels this state of affairs is harder on Khrushchev than on himself. The reason, he has explained, is simply that the Western system of alliances has always been looser and more flexible and therefore more tolerant of disagreement than the highly centralized Communist system.

In a national television interview on his first 100 days in the White House, Johnson confessed that he has had to deal with some problems abroad that caused discouragement and irritation. But he said that on balance a world of several political systems, less dependent on two great blocs, is in his view a safer world — even though it limits American power. Americans have to understand, Johnson argued, that the world is changing.

"There are going to be these demands from time to time (from) people who feel that all we need to do is mash a button and determine everybody's foreign policy," Johnson said, "but we are not living in that kind of world anymore. They are going to determine it for themselves and that is the way it should be."

Johnson first began talking publicly in February about his conviction that the United States could not run a push-button diplomacy. The alternative he has so far talked about is logical persuasion.

Reasoned agreement seems to be what he has tried to use on the problems that have come up to him for action—when he had the choice of talking softly rather than wielding a big stick. These problems all had one thing in common—they could not be stalled off.

The importance of the point is that Johnson is reported to have decided in his first days in the White House that he would move slowly in foreign affairs and would be content to give primary attention to domestic issues in this election year.

By rough estimate of one of his close associates, the President has spent somewhat less than 50 per cent of his working time on foreign affairs. He relies more than President John F. Kennedy did on Secretary Rusk and on his special assistant for security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, to collect the facts and lay out the alternatives for action. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara plays a key role in all matters involving military questions; he has a decisive influence on policy toward Viet Nam.

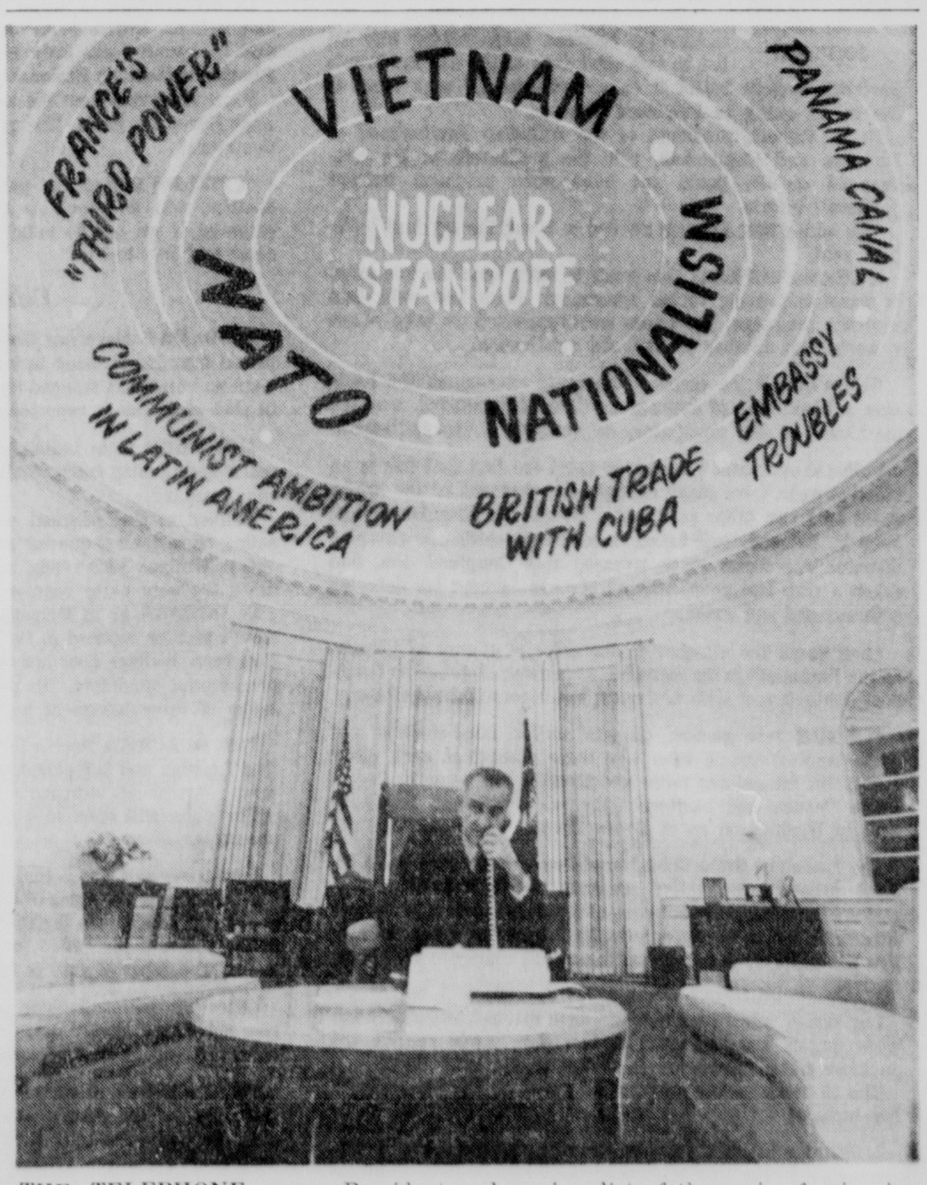

Johnson meets with McNamara, Rusk and Bundy at lunch once a week, usually on Tuesday. The three men arrive with questions and recommendations and they go away with decisions. Johnson also talks with Rusk and other top foreign policy officials, including Undersecretary George Ball, on the telephone several times a day.

He likes the telephone contact, likes talking out problems and is impatient with paper work. Nevertheless he does his homework in foreign policy, reading through each night a big stack of policy documents which Bundy prepares for him on the problems of the day.

When the Panama crisis erupted suddenly in January Johnson telephoned President Roberto Chiari and made arrangements to send a planeload of investigators and negotiators to Panama immediately to restore "neighborly relations."

Johnson's phone call looked like an impulsive act. But in fact it was not. It was recommended to him by Rusk and Bundy along with possible alternative courses of action. He chose the speediest and most direct means which he thought would get results.

"The main difference between President Johnson's approach to foreign policy and President Kennedy's," one top authority said recently, "is the point at which Johnson gets into a problem. Kennedy had a deep interest in details of all foreign situations. He would sometimes call a desk officer early in the morning and ask, what are we doing about some situation reported in news dispatches? Naturally the pressure in such cases was to find something to do.

THE TELEPHONE saves President Johnson some paper work, but it can't supply all the answers to the many problems on foreign policy. This phone is in the Oval Room of the White House in Washington. Superimposed on the dome is a list of the major foreign issues. Changing world conditions are bringing new U.S. policies in what the President has called "a frustrating period, and exciting period, a developmental period." (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

The Week In Focus

The U. S. A.

THE WORLD'S FAIR opening and the rail strike settlement turned last week's spotlight on national news thus giving the "cold war" and associated developments a welcome moment offstage.

While there is no "racial pavilion" as such at New York's fairgrounds, the demonstrating groups appeared determined to make a display of their activities to the world in connection with the fair's opening.

The announced "stall-in," a threatened traffic tie-up along main arteries of the city's street and throughway systems with autos purposely driven out with low tanks, did not cause as much confusion as anticipated. There were also organized attempts to stop subway trains. Beefed-up police units went into action and made more than 300 arrests during Wednesday outbreaks.

Earlier, President Johnson and spokesmen from both major political parties had appealed to racial groups to omit the demonstrations and other tactics at the fair.

BUT WHEN the President spoke at the dedication of the U.S. Pavilion, a group of demonstrators jeered in the background. Washington reports following the occasion said Mr. Johnson had taken note of "a few pickets whom he considered rude" but that he assessed their conduct with compassion.

"I pity them," the President said. "They served no good purpose."

The northern-southern "double standard" was much in evidence as a result of the outbreaks in a metropolis north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, recalled the preoccupation of administration officials with police conduct in such cities as Birmingham rather than with disorders as such. He renewed a demand later in the week which he had issued Wednesday that U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and the Civil Rights Commission conduct a thorough investigation of police methods put to practice against the New York demonstrating groups.

SOMETHING WAS said about the Justice Department "looking into" the accusation that New York police had "manhandled" demonstrators. But the "command post" atomosphere in that Washington bureau and the direct telephone lines to the demonstration leaders — standard equipment during the Birmingham crisis — were absent.

Yet the attitudes and actions of demonstrators and law enforcement authorities showed no differences in New York or the trouble spots of the South. Demonstration leaders were equally militant and police were equally firm in clearing streets of stalled autos and "lie-in" groups and in bodily removing certain individuals from the scene.

"OUR PURPOSE is to close the fair on opening day to point up discrimination in the city," Isiah Brunson, chairman of the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, said. He was chief organizer of the traffic jam.

James Farmer, national director of CORE, was in charge of demonstrations inside the fair. He said these were intended to spotlight the issues between the "glitter and the fantasy of the World's Fair and the real world of discrimination."

Farmer led demonstrators in a march from a mid-Manhattan church to Pennsylvania Station where they boarded a Long Island Rail Road train for the fairgrounds to picket certain state and commercial exhibits.

Farmer carried a cattle prod, a battery-powered pole that produces an electric shock when pressed against cattle or people. He also carried a placard that said: "This is cattle prod used by Louisiana police."

He said CORE members had come from Missouri, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida and other states.

BUT ATTENDANCE figures tell the final story of the fair's success in spite of avowed attempts to stop it. By early afternoon on Thursday, 82,076 persons had filed through the turnstiles as compared with only 56,626 on opening day.

The weather had also improved and indications pointed to daily turnouts above the 90,000-mark for this weekend.

JOHNSON

Rail Settlement

AS THE week got underway, the 25-day delay in a threatened nationwide railroad strike somehow became stretched out indefinitely. Accounts of the break in the statlemate between management and labor in this vital area of the nation's transportation system hailed it as a "settlement," with most of the credit going to President Johnson.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, said the settlement of the five-year-old dispute could not have been achieved without Johnson's efforts.

"He added that element needed to break the log jam," Gilbert said.

Mediators will begin this week to work with the two sides in translating basic verbal agreements made last week into contract language. Revisions were expected to take about a week with another 10 days for ratification.

BUT FOR all the points of apparent agreement, the basic sore subject, that of firemen on diesel locomotives, was not mentioned in any news story or analysis of the settlement.

Political overtones bringing to mind the fact that this is an election year were clear enough. One account of the settlement said two other presidents, Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy had failed in efforts to settle the complex dispute. The same story stressed that Congress, too, had taken a stab last year—without success—except for delaying a threatened rail strike.

Then came the clincher to the colorful climax of "Peace on the Potomac" in the following paragraph sketched as President Johnson met with newsmen, mediators and negotiators:

"IN THE rose garden, all was smiles, hand-shaking and back-slapping among men who were glaring at each other across the bargaining table less than 24 hours earlier."

The "peace and harmony" theme, it appears, works as well in Washington as in Baton Rouge.

The Louisiana State Chamber of Commerce rolled out a 15-point proposed legislative program to Fifth District lawmakers here Tuesday that ranged from a reduction in the gas severance tax to improvements in the workman's compensation law in hopes of enhancing the state's ability to attract industry.

Legislators attending the conference listened attentively but were largely non-committal in how they would receive the package when introduced in Baton Rouge next month.

The 15 points of the program endorsed by the State Chamber include:

1. Elimination of the power use and electric taxes. 2. Improvement in the employment security law. 3. Improvements in the Workmen's Compensation Law. 4. Code of Ethics. 5. Changes in the constitution to require a two-third vote of the Legislature plus approval of the people before the state could incur debt. 6. Centralized purchasing. 7. Centralized budgetary control under the Division of Administration and the Legislative Budget Committee. 8. A. Workable plan whereby the Legislature could act in open session on bills vetoed by the governor.

9. Revise the state constitution. 10. Legislation regulating campaign financing. 11. Amend procedures for incorporating municipalities so that majority of residents in the proposed area would sign petitions calling for the incorporation. 12. Permit parishes to establish industrial, urban areas. 13. Repeal the legislative retirement act. 14. Reduce the number of state agencies. 15. An equitable distribution of the ad valorem tax burden on property.

Delegates Instructed

LOUISIANA Republicans want to nominate Senator Barry Goldwater to make the race for president and Charlton Lyons for vice president. And the state's GOP convention meeting at Alexandria last weekend instructed its 20 delegates to so vote at the party's national convention this summer in San Francisco.

CHARLTON LYONS

Thomas Stagg Jr. of Shreveport was named national committeeman and Mrs. Virginia deGravelles of Lafayette was named national committeewoman.

The convention also elected Lyons one of the four delegates-at-large to the national convention, boosted him to membership on the State Central Committee and named him state party chairman. He will lead the Louisiana delegation to the July meeting.

THE OTHER three delegates-at-large picked were Morton Blackwell of Baton Rouge, Mrs. Florence Stilwell of New Orleans and Mrs. deGravelles.

Four alternates named to the national meeting were George Despot of Shreveport, William Castellini of Opelousas, and Mrs. Natalie Jorgensen and Charles Schwartz, both of New Orleans.

Sixteen delegates were chosen earlier in district conventions. All were pledged to Goldwater.

World Wide

IN MOST polite oriental fashion, the generals who supposedly deposed Premier Souvanna Phouma in neutral Laos at the beginning of the week later reversed themselves and apologized.

The position of the United States and England was regarded as curious in some circles because in particular, the United States had stated satisfaction over a right-wing revolution which toppled the Goulart regime in Brazil only several weeks ago.

STRONG ACTION by the United States, Britain, and France put pressure on the coup leader, Gen Kouprasith Abbay. The Western Allies feared that the change of the delicate balance of forces in Laos could have reprecussions throughout Southeast Asia. Since 1962, neutralists, pro-Communists, and right-wingers have shared rule in Laos.

PRINCE SOUVANNA PHOUMA

THE PRESSURE apparently was successful.

SINCE THE Geneva agreement of 1962 setting up a three-way government for Laos, Phouma and "Red Prince" Souphanouvong, head of the pro-Communist faction have served as deputy premiers under Souvanna.

IN AN overture to Soviet Russia and the European Soviet bloc nations, British Prime Minister Douglas-Home last week said his country was fully associated with the United States-Russian cutback in fissionable material for nuclear weapons.

Some observers saw the move as a bid for more British-East European trade. The prime minister told the House of Commons:

"I BELIEVE that the public announcement of these reductions will do much to foster that confidence which is essential if we are to build on the achievement of the nuclear test ban treaty."

Currents

ALABAMA'S Governor George C. Wallace, pleasantly surprised over his showing in write-ins in Illinois where he solicited no votes, has stepped up an active campaign in Indiana. In that state, he is reportedly blowing up a political storm.

THE WORD from Indianapolis is that Wallace is likely to poll a spectacular vote in Indiana's May 5 presidential preference primary.

Wallace rattled political windows in Wisconsin where he polled more than a quarter of a million preferential primary votes. Wallace didn't win any delegates but he polled 10-times the vote party regulars predicted he would.

IN INDIANA as in Wisconsin, Wallace offers himself as a state's righter opposed to the civil rights bill now pending in Congress. Wallace does not expect to be taken seriously as a presidential candidate. His purpose is to illuminate northern areas of disenchantment with the civil rights development.

THE OUACHITA Parish Police Jury has scheduled an election Tuesday and has called on property owners to renew five taxes -- without increase — to operate the parish.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. in all precincts.

Parish records show that the Police Jury has authorized the building of 135 miles of blacktop roads over the past four years with funds from the blacktop tax. This takes up 1½ mills of the two-mill tax called for in the proposition dealing with roads. The other ½ mill is for maintenance.

Other propositions include taxes to support the parish detention home, the health unit, drainage and the maintenance of recreation areas on Cheniere Lake.

IN ARKANSAS, Governor Orval E. Faubus announced his sixth try for the state's chief executive post and said last week he was going to find out "if a poor boy can still beat a millionaire."

Clearly tagging himself the "common man's candidate," he said he was running because of thousands of requests from throughout the state.

By MARK KURAMITSU

TOKYO (AP)—After the bars and night clubs have switched off their neon lights, after the trains and taxis have disgorged their last load of homebound passengers, another part of the world's largest city comes to life.

At Miyake-Zaka, where two arterial highways will crisscross in a mammoth underground interchange, floodlights are turned on while dump trucks, free from daytime traffic jams, shuttle back and forth in endless convoys, emptying mountains of earth.

On Nishi-Ginza Street, boards are removed to expose cavernous depths where an army of men are building a six-block long underground parking lot.

At Komazawa a new shift of men comes on the job, swarming over webs of scaffolding and a maze of hardening concrete that one day will blossom into a beautiful complex of sports stadiums.

There are scenes like this all over Tokyo. For Tokyo is in the throes of a rebuilding program the likes of which it has never seen befor

Even so, the capital is growing faster than men can build the facilities to meet its needs. Tokyo's motor vehicles, which now number 925,000, are increasing at a rate of 110,000 a year, far outstripping road construction. When an extensive subway expansion program is completed by 1970, it will still fall far short of alleviating commuter congestion.

Now a new sense of urgency has been added to the already critical situation by the coming of the Olympics here in October.

The feeling permeates through all levels, from Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, who has appointed a special Cabinet Minister to coordinate Olympic planning and construction, down to men like Yoshiaki Kudo.

Kudo is one of some 600,000 workers engaged in construction projects in the city. By occupation Kudo, 35, is a fisherman. He has a wife and two children in Hokkaido, northern Japan, where he returns six months a year for the fishing season.

As a construction worker, Kudo averages 50,000 yen—$166—a month, of which he says he sends home 35,000 to 40,000 yen. This is his second year in Tokyo and he admits "I have the olympics to thank for it."

Kudo lives in a large, two-story barracks put up near his construction site. There are dormitories all over the city, a society in themselves where men sleep packed together on straw mat floors and cluster in circles to play mahjong or Japanese chess and talk of home.

"Before the war," said a construction foreman, "laborers in this business were mostly toughs from the lowest fringes of society. Knife fights and killings occurred frequently. Since the war the construction worker has become respectable."

Part of the reason is because attractive wages have brought to Tokyo large numbers from the countryside. An official of one large construction company estimated that close to 90 per cent of his firm's workers were off-season farmers and fishermen.

Most of them are married. The official explained, "We like to hire married men. They work harder because they have dependents to support and are willing to work overtime."

Kudo works 10 hours a day. Though he likes sake (rice wine) he drinks it sparingly "because I have to send home as much money as possible." He stays away from bars and entertainment districts.

Mitsuru Aoki, who works with Kudo, is a farmer from Kyushu, southern Japan. "I hope to save enough money to buy some farm machinery," he says.

Wherever they come from, and however long they stay, these are the men, say officials, who are really making the 18th olympics possible.

Top priority is being given to construction projects directly connected with the Olympics, like the freeway connecting Tokyo airport with the downtown area, the stadiums where the sports events will be held, and roads linking t he sports sites with the Olympic Village.

The airport freeway, 18 miles long and costing $200 million, is scheduled for completion in August, as is a 7.8-mile monorail from the airport to the city.

A star attraction of the new road network is the underground interchange at Miyake-Zaka. Claimed to be the first such mammoth interchange built below ground—so done not to mar the scenic view of the Imperial Palace moat next to it—the project will cost $34 million.

Officials report that of the 33 miles of new or widened roads given Olympic priority, more than 70 per cent has been completed.

More than 10 miles of new subway lines are scheduled to be ready by Olympic time.

Much of the credit will belong to men like Kudo.

"I'll probably be watching the games on television," he said.

Freedom Day Slated In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—On June 30, the Congo's fourth Independence Day, this vast focal point of Africa will become independent in fact as well as in name. The last foreign soldier of the blue-helmeted United Nations army will have gone.

What happens then?

The Congolese say this is a county of surprises, and they are right. Uneasiness is an occupational disease of Congo residents.

In July 1950 Congolese soldiers, drunk on looted beer, raped and killed. Tens of thousands of terrified Belgians fled, and the Congo shattered itself into warring factions. That brought the U.N. here.

Herdsman Hasn't Gotten His Reward

By JOHN GALE

But months after Maris led police to the gang's lonely hideout on a Buckinghamshire farm, he is still waiting to collect his share of the reward.

This will be paid in full only after the loot is recovered and the case is closed.

On present indications, Maris and others who have helped along the way are in for a long wait.

The train robbers escaped with $7,280,000. Apart from $840,000 either unloaded by the gang or recovered by the police the loot is still missing.

Fourteen men have been jailed for terms totaling more than 300 years. The thieves have been stripped of much of their glamor and the English courts have shown their determination to stamp out big-time crime by the sternest measures at their disposal.

The raid last August on the night mail train hurtling through sleepy Buckinghamshire en route from Scotland to London produced one lasting tragedy. Engine driver Jack Mills, 57, was badly beaten around the head. He is unlikely to work again.

Said Trial Judge Edmund Davies as he handed down sentences April 16: "let us clear away any romantic notions of dare devilry.

Thirty-year terms followed for seven of 12 accused men. Five others drew terms of up to 25 years, while two more men were jailed for shorter periods at a later trial on receiving charges.

The main trial exposed the gang not as talented amateurs—the sort of people Britons often appreciate — but as hardened crooks. Only two of the 12—attorney John Wheater and his managing clerk, Brian Field—had no previous convictions.

The rest had among them run up 40 convictions for such crimes as burglary, assault, fraud, shopbreaking, assaulting police and picking pockets.

The convicted train robbers took their secrets to prison with them and police press their search for the remnants of the gang and the hidden loot.

The pictures of three fugitives —James White, 43, a cafe proprietor; Ronald Edwards, 32, a florist, and Bruce Reynolds, 41, an antique dealer—are prominently displayed outside every police station. The brains behind the raid may still be at large and may be among still other men that the police have not identified.

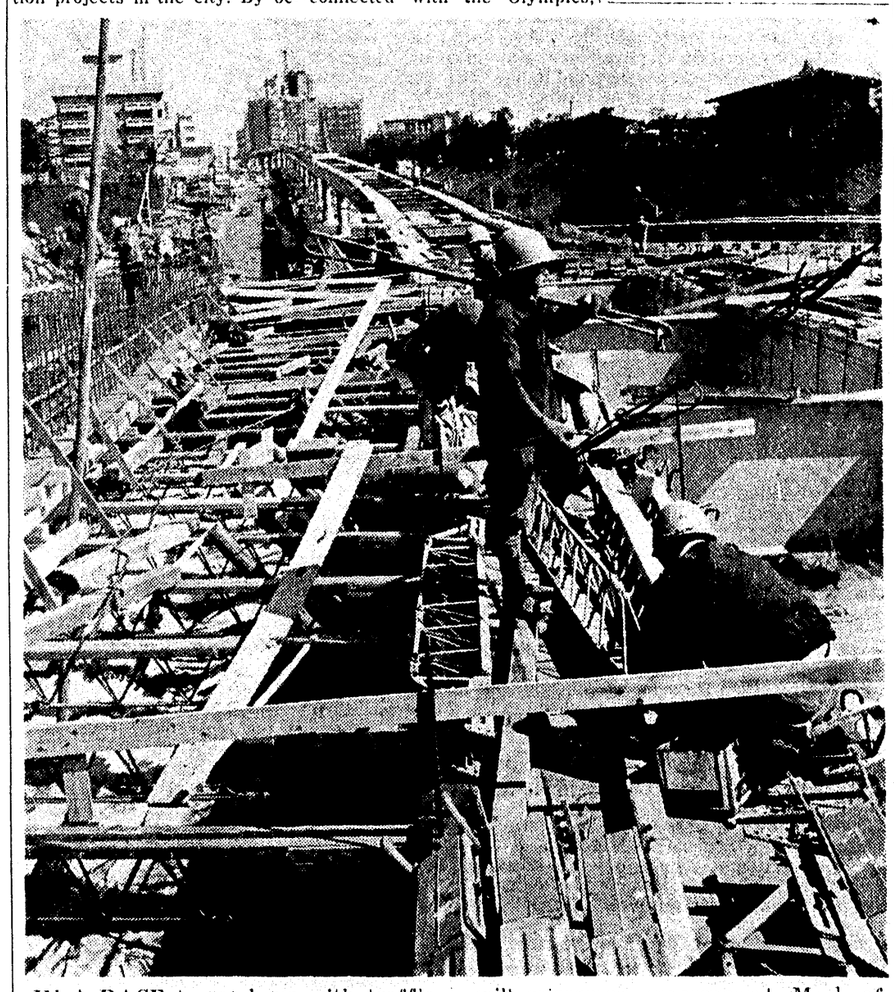

Senior detectives continue to assert that more arrests are imminent but are not so optimistic publicly about getting the money back. Privately, they swap numerous theories about the whereabouts of the loot.

It may take another John Maris before there is a further break in the case.

Maris told the police of his suspicions and they swooped. The gang had fled but the farmhouse was covered with finger and palm prints that led to several arrests.

The farm of five acres now has acquired a curio value. It has been offered for sale and a bid of $14,000 has been received. Owner Bernard Rixon, who moved out sometime before the gang moved in, is holding out for more.

IN A RACE to catch up with traffic, work is rushed on a mammoth highway interchange at Miyake-Zaka in Tokyo. When the $34 million project is completed, two arterial highways will crisscross underground. Much of the road construction in Tokyo is done at night as the city gets ready for the Olympics opening in October. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

"IN THE rose garden, all was smiles, hand-shaking and back-slapping among men who were glaring at each other across the bargaining table less than 24 hours earlier."

The "peace and harmony" theme, it appears, works as well in Washington as in Baton Rouge.

The Louisiana State Chamber of Commerce rolled out a 15-point proposed legislative program to Fifth District lawmakers here Tuesday that ranged from a reduction in the gas severance tax to improvements in the workman's compensation law in hopes of enhancing the state's ability to attract industry.

Legislators attending the conference listened attentively but were largely non-committal in how they would receive the package when introduced in Baton Rouge next month.

The 15 points of the program endorsed by the State Chamber include:

1. Elimination of the power use and electric taxes. 2. Improvement in the employment security law. 3. Improvements in the Workmen's Compensation Law. 4. Code of Ethics. 5. Changes in the constitution to require a two-third vote of the Legislature plus approval of the people before the state could incur debt. 6. Centralized purchasing. 7. Centralized budgetary control under the Division of Administration and the Legislative Budget Committee. 8. A. Workable plan whereby the Legislature could act in open session on bills vetoed by the governor.

9. Revise the state constitution. 10. Legislation regulating campaign financing. 11. Amend procedures for incorporating municipalities so that majority of residents in the proposed area would sign petitions calling for the incorporation. 12. Permit parishes to establish industrial, urban areas. 13. Repeal the legislative retirement act. 14. Reduce the number of state agencies. 15. An equitable distribution of the ad valorem tax burden on property.

Delegates Instructed

LOUISIANA Republicans want to nominate Senator Barry Goldwater to make the race for president and Charlton Lyons for vice president. And the state's GOP convention meeting at Alexandria last weekend instructed its 20 delegates to so vote at the party's national convention this summer in San Francisco.

CHARLTON LYONS

Thomas Stagg Jr. of Shreveport was named national committeeman and Mrs. Virginia deGravelles of Lafayette was named national committeewoman.

The convention also elected Lyons one of the four delegates-at-large to the national convention, boosted him to membership on the State Central Committee and named him state party chairman. He will lead the Louisiana delegation to the July meeting.

THE OTHER three delegates-at-large picked were Morton Blackwell of Baton Rouge, Mrs. Florence Stilwell of New Orleans and Mrs. deGravelles.

Four alternates named to the national meeting were George Despot of Shreveport, William Castellini of Opelousas, and Mrs. Natalie Jorgensen and Charles Schwartz, both of New Orleans.

Sixteen delegates were chosen earlier in district conventions. All were pledged to Goldwater.

World Wide

IN MOST polite oriental fashion, the generals who supposedly deposed Premier Souvanna Phouma in neutral Laos at the beginning of the week later reversed themselves and apologized.

The position of the United States and England was regarded as curious in some circles because in particular, the United States had stated satisfaction over a right-wing revolution which toppled the Goulart regime in Brazil only several weeks ago.

STRONG ACTION by the United States, Britain, and France put pressure on the coup leader, Gen Kouprasith Abbay. The Western Allies feared that the change of the delicate balance of forces in Laos could have reprecussions throughout Southeast Asia. Since 1962, neutralists, pro-Communists, and right-wingers have shared rule in Laos.

PRINCE SOUVANNA PHOUMA

THE PRESSURE apparently was successful.

SINCE THE Geneva agreement of 1962 setting up a three-way government for Laos, Phouma and "Red Prince" Souphanouvong, head of the pro-Communist faction have served as deputy premiers under Souvanna.

IN AN overture to Soviet Russia and the European Soviet bloc nations, British Prime Minister Douglas-Home last week said his country was fully associated with the United States-Russian cutback in fissionable material for nuclear weapons.

Some observers saw the move as a bid for more British-East European trade. The prime minister told the House of Commons:

"I BELIEVE that the public announcement of these reductions will do much to foster that confidence which is essential if we are to build on the achievement of the nuclear test ban treaty."

Currents

ALABAMA'S Governor George C. Wallace, pleasantly surprised over his showing in write-ins in Illinois where he solicited no votes, has stepped up an active campaign in Indiana. In that state, he is reportedly blowing up a political storm.

THE WORD from Indianapolis is that Wallace is likely to poll a spectacular vote in Indiana's May 5 presidential preference primary.

Wallace rattled political windows in Wisconsin where he polled more than a quarter of a million preferential primary votes. Wallace didn't win any delegates but he polled 10-times the vote party regulars predicted he would.

IN INDIANA as in Wisconsin, Wallace offers himself as a state's righter opposed to the civil rights bill now pending in Congress. Wallace does not expect to be taken seriously as a presidential candidate. His purpose is to illuminate northern areas of disenchantment with the civil rights development.

THE OUACHITA Parish Police Jury has scheduled an election Tuesday and has called on property owners to renew five taxes — without increase — to operate the parish.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. in all precincts.

Parish records show that the Police Jury has authorized the building of 135 miles of blacktop roads over the past four years with funds from the blacktop tax. This takes up 1½ mills of the two-mill tax called for in the proposition dealing with roads. The other ½ mill is for maintenance.

Other propositions include taxes to support the parish detention home, the health unit, drainage and the maintenance of recreation areas on Cheniere Lake.

IN ARKANSAS, Governor Orval E. Faubus announced his sixth try for the state's chief executive post and said last week he was going to find out "if a poor boy can still beat a millionaire."

Clearly tagging himself the "common man's candidate," he said he was running because of thousands of requests from throughout the state.

Building Boom In Tokyo Underway For Olympics

By MARK KURAMITSU

TOKYO (AP)—After the bars and night clubs have switched off their neon lights, after the trains and taxis have disgorged their last load of homebound passengers, another part of the world's largest city comes to life.

At Miyake-Zaka, where two arterial highways will crisscross in a mammoth underground interchange, floodlights are turned on while dump trucks, free from daytime traffic jams, shuttle back and forth in endless convoys, emptying mountains of earth.

On Nishi-Ginza Street, boards are removed to expose cavernous depths where an army of men are building a six-block long underground parking lot.

At Komazawa a new shift of men comes on the job, swarming over webs of scaffolding and a maze of hardening concrete that one day will blossom into a beautiful complex of sports stadiums.

There are scenes like this all over Tokyo. For Tokyo is in the throes of a rebuilding program the likes of which it has never seen befor

Even so, the capital is growing faster than men can build the facilities to meet its needs. Tokyo's motor vehicles, which now number 925,000, are increasing at a rate of 110,000 a year, far outstripping road construction. When an extensive subway expansion program is completed by 1970, it will still fall far short of alleviating commuter congestion.

Now a new sense of urgency has been added to the already critical situation by the coming of the Olympics here in October.

The feeling permeates through all levels, from Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, who has appointed a special Cabinet Minister to coordinate Olympic planning and construction, down to men like Yoshiaki Kudo.

Kudo is one of some 600,000 workers engaged in construction projects in the city. By occupation Kudo, 35, is a fisherman. He has a wife and two children in Hokkaido, northern Japan, where he returns six months a year for the fishing season.

As a construction worker, Kudo averages 50,000 yen—$166—a month, of which he says he sends home 35,000 to 40,000 yen. This is his second year in Tokyo and he admits "I have the olympics to thank for it."

Kudo lives in a large, two-story barracks put up near his construction site. There are dormitories all over the city, a society in themselves where men sleep packed together on straw mat floors and cluster in circles to play mahjong or Japanese chess and talk of home.

"Before the war," said a construction foreman, "laborers in this business were mostly toughs from the lowest fringes of society. Knife fights and killings occurred frequently. Since the war the construction worker has become respectable."

Part of the reason is because attractive wages have brought to Tokyo large numbers from the countryside. An official of one large construction company estimated that close to 90 per cent of his firm's workers were off-season farmers and fishermen.

Most of them are married. The official explained, "We like to hire married men. They work harder because they have dependents to support and are willing to work overtime."

Kudo works 10 hours a day. Though he likes sake (rice wine) he drinks it sparingly "because I have to send home as much money as possible." He stays away from bars and entertainment districts.

Mitsuru Aoki, who works with Kudo, is a farmer from Kyushu, southern Japan. "I hope to save enough money to buy some farm machinery," he says.

Wherever they come from, and however long they stay, these are the men, say officials, who are really making the 18th olympics possible.

Top priority is being given to construction projects directly connected with the Olympics, like the freeway connecting Tokyo airport with the downtown area, the stadiums where the sports events will be held, and roads linking the sports sites with the Olympic Village.

The airport freeway, 18 miles long and costing $200 million, is scheduled for completion in August, as is a 7.8-mile monorail from the airport to the city.

A star attraction of the new road network is the underground interchange at Miyake-Zaka. Claimed to be the first such mammoth interchange built below ground—so done not to mar the scenic view of the Imperial Palace moat next to it—the project will cost $34 million.

Officials report that of the 33 miles of new or widened roads given Olympic priority, more than 70 per cent has been completed.

More than 10 miles of new subway lines are scheduled to be ready by Olympic time.

Much of the credit will belong to men like Kudo.

"I'll probably be watching the games on television," he said.

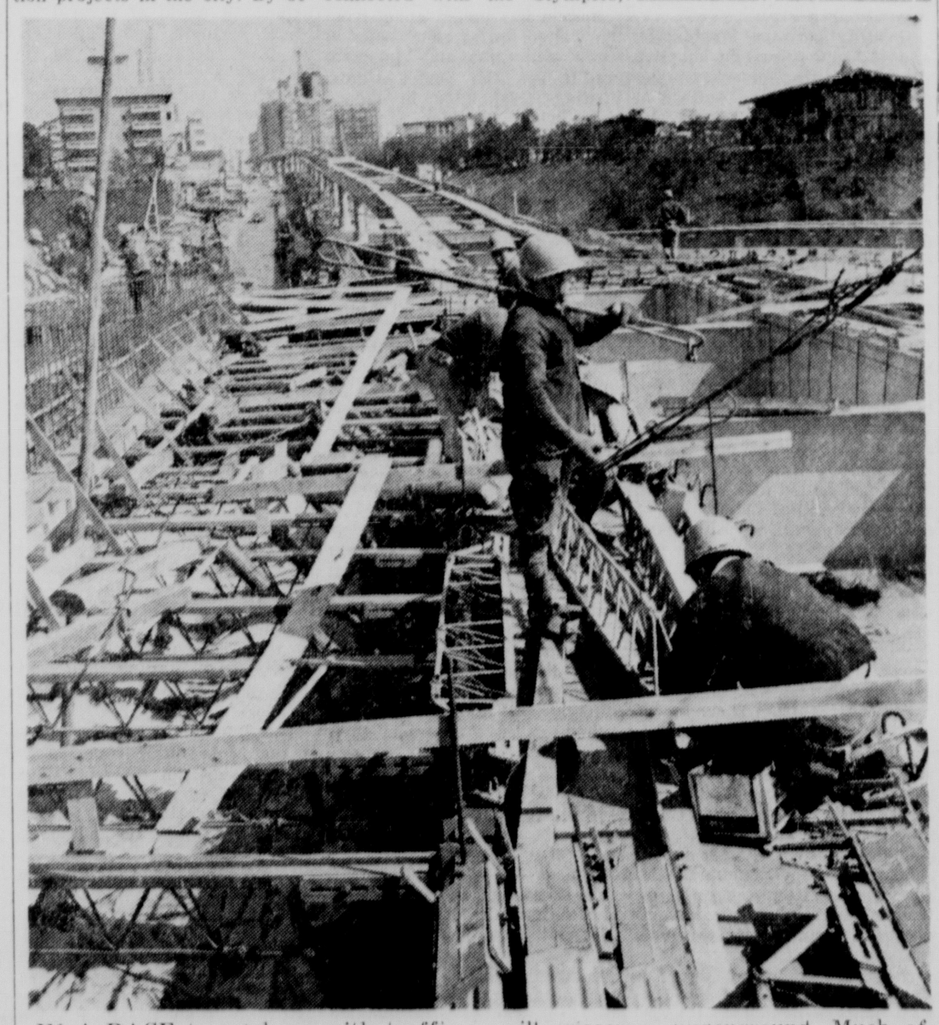

Freedom Day Slated In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—On June 30, the Congo's fourth Independence Day, this vast focal point of Africa will become independent in fact as well as in name. The last foreign soldier of the blue-helmeted United Nations army will have gone.

What happens then?

The Congolese say this is a county of surprises, and they are right. Uneasiness is an occupational disease of Congo residents.

In July 1950 Congolese soldiers, drunk on looted beer, raped and killed. Tens of thousands of terrified Belgians fled, and the Congo shattered itself into warring factions. That brought the U.N. here.

IN A RACE to catch up with traffic, work is rushed on a mammoth highway interchange at Miyake-Zaka in Tokyo. When the $34 million project is completed, two arterial highways will crisscross underground. Much of the road construction in Tokyo is done at night as the city gets ready for the Olympics opening in October. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

Herdsman Hasn't Gotten His Reward

By JOHN GALE

But months after Maris led police to the gang's lonely hideout on a Buckinghamshire farm, he is still waiting to collect his share of the reward.

This will be paid in full only after the loot is recovered and the case is closed.

On present indications, Maris and others who have helped along the way are in for a long wait.

The train robbers escaped with $7,280,000. Apart from $840,000 either unloaded by the gang or recovered by the police the loot is still missing.

Fourteen men have been jailed for terms totaling more than 300 years. The thieves have been stripped of much of their glamor and the English courts have shown their determination to stamp out big-time crime by the sternest measures at their disposal.

The raid last August on the night mail train hurtling through sleepy Buckinghamshire en route from Scotland to London produced one lasting tragedy. Engine driver Jack Mills, 57, was badly beaten around the head. He is unlikely to work again.

Said Trial Judge Edmund Davies as he handed down sentences April 16: "let us clear away any romantic notions of dare devilry.

Thirty-year terms followed for seven of 12 accused men. Five others drew terms of up to 25 years, while two more men were jailed for shorter periods at a later trial on receiving charges.

The main trial exposed the gang not as talented amateurs—the sort of people Britons often appreciate — but as hardened crooks. Only two of the 12—attorney John Wheater and his managing clerk, Brian Field—had no previous convictions.

The rest had among them run up 40 convictions for such crimes as burglary, assault, fraud, shopbreaking, assaulting police and picking pockets.

The convicted train robbers took their secrets to prison with them and police press their search for the remnants of the gang and the hidden loot.

The pictures of three fugitives —James White, 43, a cafe proprietor; Ronald Edwards, 32, a florist, and Bruce Reynolds, 41, an antique dealer—are prominently displayed outside every police station. The brains behind the raid may still be at large and may be among still other men that the police have not identified.

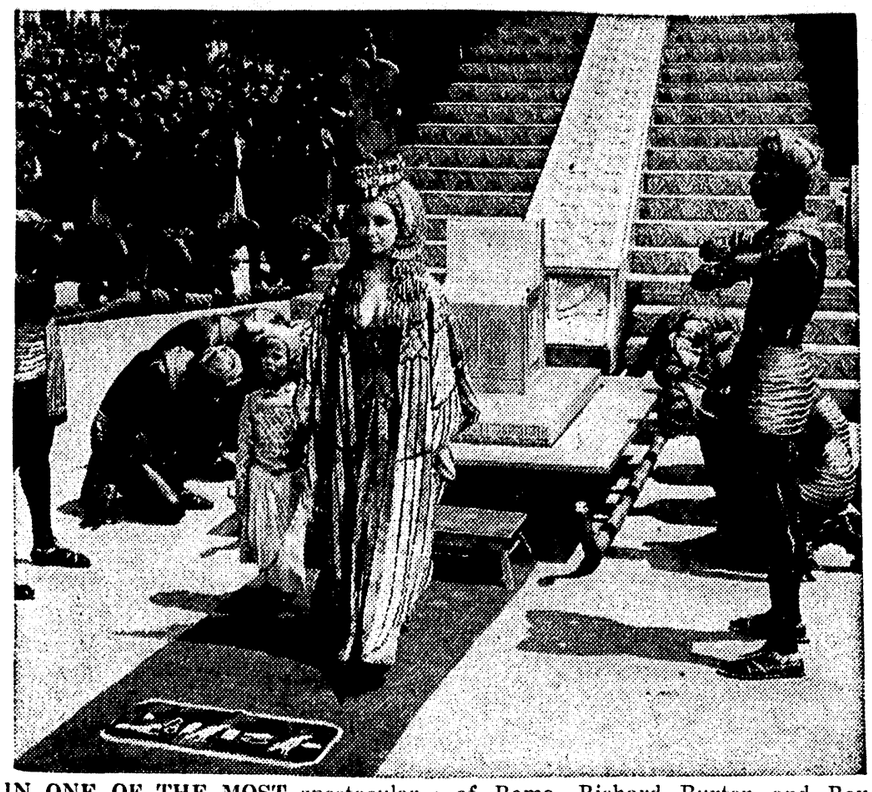

Senior detectives continue to assert that more arrests are imminent but are not so optimistic publicly about getting the money back. Privately, they swap numerous theories about the whereabouts of the loot.

It may take another John Maris before there is a further break in the case.

Maris told the police of his suspicions and they swooped. The gang had fled but the farmhouse was covered with finger and palm prints that led to several arrests.

The farm of five acres now has acquired a curio value. It has been offered for sale and a bid of $14,000 has been received. Owner Bernard Rixon, who moved out sometime before the gang moved in, is holding out for more.

IN ONE OF THE MOST spectacular scenes in the 20th Century-Fox epic, "Cleopatra," Elizabeth Taylor in the title role triumphantly enters the city of Rome. Richard Burton and Rex Harrison co-star in the Deluxe Color attraction, which starts Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

With the opening of the New York World's Fair, it is safe to predict that the area of Flushing Meadows, L. I., will become the most concentrated target for world camera fans for the two years of its existence. Its spectacular buildings, its color activities and its assorted multitudes will provide endless subject matter for every type of camera, day and night.

A World's Fair is a magical creation that appears suddenly . . . full of wonders and excitement . . . then disappears.

QUESTION

How would you photograph the idea of a fair's appearance?

I first gave it some thought 25 years ago just before the opening of the 1939 New York World's Fair on the very same site. At that time I lived about two miles from the fairgrounds and could see the Fair taking shape from the roof of my apartment building.

I called a magician friend and asked him to pose for a bit of 'photo magic.' By photographing him from the roof of my building and by calculating the correct perspective and depth of field, I was able to picture a magician waving his magic wand and producing the Hemisphere and Trylon, symbols of the '39 Fair, from his top hat. Naturally it was an optical illusion or trick photography.

The idea still seemed good this year and this time I enlisted the assistance of Mark Wilson, star of ABC-TV's "Magic Land of Allakazam" and producer of a "Hall of Magic" show in the General Cigar pavilion at this year's Fair. We spent an afternoon searching for the right building for some more photo magic.

We finally found it at the Heliport, landing spot for helicopters which crowns the Top of the Fair restaurant. It was extremely windy and very cold but with the help of optical perspective, Mark Wilson was photographed producing the Unisphere, symbol of the Fair, from his magician's top hat.

I tried several cameras but the one that did the trick best was a 35mm single-lens reflex camera with the telephoto lens. You see exactly what you're getting with a single-lens reflex and the telephoto lens made the Unisphere appear larger and a more important element in the photo.

The problem of exposure and depth of field is very important, too, in this case because it is necessary that both the magician in the foreground and the Unisphere in the background be in focus. This was accomplished by shooting at a comparatively slow speed (1-60th), a small lens opening (f-16 for the late afternoon light) and with the camera focused on a spot a few feet behind Mark Wilson.

STAMPS

The five cent commemorative stamp honoring the tercentenary of the State of New Jersey will go on first day sale June 15 in Elizabeth, N. J.

The city of Elizabeth was chosen because it is also celebrating its 300th anniversary and is the oldest city in the state as well as the first capital.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the New Jersey commemorative may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamp to be affixed, to the postmaster, Elizabeth, N. J. 97200. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers, New Jersey Tercentenary Stamp." Requests must be postmarked not later than June 15.

Austria has issued a new set of six values commemorating the 1964 Viennese International Horticultural Exhibition. The multi-colored stamps depict various flowers on display in the exhibition. Also issued by that country is a series of stamps marking the 15th Universal Postal Congress held in Vienna, and a special stamp for the Second Parliamentary and Scientific Conference.

Indonesia has issued four new stamps featuring a portrait of President Sukarno. The values are 6, 100, 250 and 500 rupiah. The portrait was based on a painting of Sukarno by Basuki Abdullah.

CURTAIN CALL

Executive director Richard M. Clark has completed most of the casting for "Take Her, She's Mine," and rehearsals have started. Barbara Borgkvist will make her dramatic debut as Mollie whose transformation after going away to college bewilders her doting parents. Barbara, of course, was a member of the chorus of "Once Upon A Mattress."

Nancy and Beryl Franklin will play the mother and father, to which they bring credits for many previous Little Theatre productions. Two more graduates of the "Once Upon A Mattress" chorus are Margaret Doyle as Mollie's younger sister and Jan Evans as her college roommate. Marie Pitts is cast as another college friend.

Others in the cast are Hugh Matthews, Arthur Griffith, Bill Wells, Paul Wank, Don Ouchley and Sammy Hammett. A few more names are still to be added.

With "Take Her, She's Mine," the 1963-64 season closes on a note of mirth and joy. Here is a comedy that will appeal to parents who have been through or who face the experience of sending children to college, for Mr. and Mrs. Michaelson in the play stand for all of them. College - bound boys and girls will have no trouble identifying with the young people of "Take Her, She's Mine," who represent all the rebellion, questioning and perplexity of that stage of life.

The underlying element of a true-to-life situation makes the humor of "Take Her, She's Mine", all the more biting as the older and younger generation take turns scoring on each other. Phoebe and Henry Ephron's script recognizes the justice on each side and the funny lines will keep our audiences in good spirits throughout.

By coincidence, "Take Her, She's Mine," has been done this season by our community theatre neighbors to the north in El Dorado, and to the south in Alexandria, the latter dedicating its production to the Little Theatre of Monroe in honor of our 150th major production.

SURPRISE VISIT

Bob Beard, the choreographer of "Once Upon A Mattress," and also The Minstrel in this season's musical, surprised us with a short visit en route from New York to Galveston. He has sacrificed the whiskers he grew for the part.

Stan Wyatt deserves much credit for "Stranger" which he adapted from a television script, directed and produced at Northeast last Tuesday. Stan even had to replace ailing Chuck Stancart in the cast on short notice. Buddy Smith was particularly good as The Stranger, a drastic departure from the roles he has played in Little Theatre musicals.

Stan's selection of Dale Wasserman's script was daring in itself, for in this penetrating character study five people confronted themselves through the symbolism of the "stranger" and the consequences were hardly pleasant. If the show dragged a bit, it was largely because the Student Union facilities were not well adapted to the quick scene shifts demanded by the staging sequence.

INITIATIVE

The main thing is that a Northeast student had the initiative to conceive and execute such an ambitious dramatic project from start to finish. "Take Her, She's Mine," shows the funny side of the fact that college is a period of new departures and experimentation for young people. In more serious vein, Stan Wyatt has demonstrated the same thing and we wish his production could have a second showing to a wider audience under more favorable technical conditions.

Two things impressed us about the announcement of the world premiere of the motion picture of "My Fair Lady," on October 21 in New York. One was the price scale of $4.50 to $5.50 for night admission; the other was that most evenings are already sold out well into December and a few well beyond.

Members are again reminded to attend the annual meeting on Monday, May 4, at 7:30 p. m. at Strauss Playhouse.

IN HIS LIFE

NEW YORK (AP) — Abe Burrows is polishing up the story for a musical he started working on while directing "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

A week before the out-of-town testing of that hit was finished, Burrows decided it was in perfect shape. To fill the unexpected interlude, he began reflecting on a story about the women in every man's life.

"There are," he notes, "wife, daughter, sisters, mother-in-law and so forth." Tentative title of the project is "The Harem." Still waiting to be chosen, a composer.

This was accomplished by shooting at a comparatively slow speed (1-60th), a small lens opening (f-16 for the late afternoon light) and with the camera focused on a spot a few feet behind Mark Wilson.

STAMPS

The five cent commemorative stamp honoring the tercentenary of the State of New Jersey will go on first day sale June 15 in Elizabeth, N. J.

The city of Elizabeth was chosen because it is also celebrating its 300th anniversary and is the oldest city in the state as well as the first capital.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the New Jersey commemorative may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamp to be affixed, to the postmaster, Elizabeth, N. J. 97200. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers, New Jersey Tercentenary Stamp." Requests must be postmarked not later than June 15.

Austria has issued a new set of six values commemorating the 1964 Viennese International Horticultural Exhibition. The multi-colored stamps depict various flowers on display in the exhibition. Also issued by that country is a series of stamps marking the 15th Universal Postal Congress held in Vienna, and a special stamp for the Second Parliamentary and Scientific Conference.

Indonesia has issued four new stamps featuring a portrait of President Sukarno. The values are 6, 100, 250 and 500 rupiah. The portrait was based on a painting of Sukarno by Basuki Abdullah.

CURTAIN CALL

Executive director Richard M. Clark has completed most of the casting for "Take Her, She's Mine," and rehearsals have started. Barbara Borgkvist will make her dramatic debut as Mollie whose transformation after going away to college bewilders her doting parents. Barbara, of course, was a member of the chorus of "Once Upon A Mattress."

Nancy and Beryl Franklin will play the mother and father, to which they bring credits for many previous Little Theatre productions. Two more graduates of the "Once Upon A Mattress" chorus are Margaret Doyle as Mollie's younger sister and Jan Evans as her college roommate. Marie Pitts is cast as another college friend.

Others in the cast are Hugh Matthews, Arthur Griffith, Bill Wells, Paul Wank, Don Ouchley and Sammy Hammett. A few more names are still to be added.

With "Take Her, She's Mine," the 1963-64 season closes on a note of mirth and joy. Here is a comedy that will appeal to parents who have been through or who face the experience of sending children to college, for Mr. and Mrs. Michaelson in the play stand for all of them. College - bound boys and girls will have no trouble identifying with the young people of "Take Her, She's Mine," who represent all the rebellion, questioning and perplexity of that stage of life.

The underlying element of a true-to-life situation makes the humor of "Take Her, She's Mine", all the more biting as the older and younger generation take turns scoring on each other. Phoebe and Henry Ephron's script recognizes the justice on each side and the funny lines will keep our audiences in good spirits throughout.

By coincidence, "Take Her, She's Mine," has been done this season by our community theatre neighbors to the north in El Dorado, and to the south in Alexandria, the latter dedicating its production to the Little Theatre of Monroe in honor of our 150th major production.

SURPRISE VISIT

Bob Beard, the choreographer of "Once Upon A Mattress," and also The Minstrel in this season's musical, surprised us with a short visit en route from New York to Galveston. He has sacrificed the whiskers he grew for the part.

Stan Wyatt deserves much credit for "Stranger" which he adapted from a television script, directed and produced at Northeast last Tuesday. Stan even had to replace ailing Chuck Staneart in the cast on short notice. Buddy Smith was particularly good as The Stranger, a drastic departure from the roles he has played in Little Theatre musicals.

Stan's selection of Dale Wasserman's script was daring in itself, for in this penetrating character study five people confronted themselves through the symbolism of the "stranger" and the consequences were hardly pleasant. If the show dragged a bit, it was largely because the Student Union facilities were not well adapted to the quick scene shifts demanded by the staging sequence.

INITIATIVE

The main thing is that a Northeast student had the initiative to conceive and execute such an ambitious dramatic project from start to finish. "Take Her, She's Mine," shows the funny side of the fact that college is a period of new departures and experimentation for young people. In more serious vein, Stan Wyatt has demonstrated the same thing and we wish his production could have a second showing to a wider audience under more favorable technical conditions.

Two things impressed us about the announcement of the world premiere of the motion picture of "My Fair Lady," on October 21 in New York. One was the price scale of $4.50 to $5.50 for night admission; the other was that most evenings are already sold out well into December and a few well beyond.

Members are again reminded to attend the annual meeting on Monday, May 4, at 7:30 p. m. at Strauss Playhouse.

IN HIS LIFE

NEW YORK (AP) — Abe Burrows is polishing up the story for a musical he started working on while directing "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

A week before the out-of-town testing of that hit was finished, Burrows decided it was in perfect shape. To fill the unexpected interlude, he began reflecting on a story about the women in every man's life.

"There are," he notes, "wife, daughter, sisters, mother-in-law and so forth." Tentative title of the project is "The Harem." Still waiting to be chosen, a composer.

IS IT OLD-FASHIONED TO SAY "NO"?

Rail Agreement Erases Big Threat To Economy

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A menacing cloud that lurked on the economy's horizon for 4½ years was whisked away during the week by the ending of a railroad strike threat.

Under prodding from President Johnson, rail management and union officials compromised a stubborn disagreement over work rules. Congress reluctantly intervened last summer in a phase of the dispute involving locomotive firemen, decreeing arbitration, but other aspects of the controversy festered on.

Laid aside finally was the possibility of a coast-to-coast rail tie-up that the President said would have idled six million workers, cut back the gross national product 13 per cent and forced a general price rise.

The economy, in the 38th month of the longest postwar upswing, is likely to have reeled downhill.

A second fruit of the settlement was a recognition that even extremely bitter conflicts involving abolition of many jobs can be made to yield to collective bargaining.

Adjustment of the dispute appeared to be on grounds a little closer to the original union position than management's.

By one reckoning, the railroads will gradually realize about $250 million a year of the $600-million reduction they sought in payment made for services they said were unneeded or not rendered.

On the other hand, the overall settlement eventually will cost the unions elimination of 30,000 or more jobs provided under existing rules. About 660,000 men are employed on major railroads.

Overshadowed by the dramatic White House announcement of the rail accord was a swelling stream of handsome reports by businesses on first-quarter profits; a 10 per cent rise in first-quarter dividend payments, and signs of continued strength in the vital auto and steel industries.

Humming auto assembly lines brought production for the year so far to just short of 2.8 million suits, about 225,000 ahead of the comparable 1963 period. Sales moved apace. Industry officials looked ahead optimistically.

Chrysler Corp., first of the Big Three to spell out January-March results, reported a 48 per cent gain in profits from a year ago to an all-time first-quarter high of $53.8 million.

Ford reported a jump to $144.3 million from $121.3 million in the 1963 first quarter.

The gain of third-ranking Republic Steel Corp., first big steel producer to check in with its figures, was a resounding 73 per cent over a mediocre 1963 first quarter. Republic cleared $15.8 million.

Other glowing reports came from Union Carbide, Socony Mobil, Reynolds Metals, Inland Steel, International Nickel, the Pennsylvania Railroad, American Cyanamid, National Steel, Marathon Oil and a host of other large corporations. A number hit record earnings levels.

The nation's steel mills after a brief pause on a high plateau posted another production gain during the week. Although slight, it was the 14th in 16 weeks.

The theme that the February tax cut will spur the economy to marked improvement was bluntly challenged before the House Banking Committee in Washington by a widely known economist who said it may amount only to a "temporary little fillip."

The testimony came from Leon H. Keyserling, chairman of former President Harry S. Truman's Council of Economic Advisers.

Consumers may use increased take-home pay not to buy new goods but to pay off existing installment debt on cars and washing machines faster and "put a few more things on the table."

Also tempering the generally encouraging outlook were government reports that new orders for durable goods, a sensitive barometer of future business, declined in March for the second month in a row and new housing starts also declined a bit.

Excitement from the reported Timmins, Ont., copper, zinc and silver strike by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. crackled on securities marts, especially on the Toronto Stock Exchange where trading reached a frenzied pitch. On the New York Stock Exchange, Texas Gulf, Curtis Publishing Co. and International Nickel all jumped sharply higher on speculation of major financial benefits.

Eight steel firms and officials of two of them entered innocent pleas to a U.S. grand jury indictment charging price-fixing on carbon steel sheets between 1955 and 1961.

The week also saw opening of the 1964-65 New York World's fair, sometimes described as a $1-billion bazaar as a result of $300 million investments by business in pavilions and exhibits. Many companies plan to make it their main sales-promotion and public relations project of the year.

Stocks Take Slight Loss; Worst Of '64

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined last week, taking its worst loss of 1964 but—as losses go, not very much.

For the first four days of trading the averages were down only slightly. A fairly sharp selloff came on Friday.

It was the sharpest loss since the severe break of Nov. 22 when President Kennedy was assassinated, but it was nowhere near as large.

For the week as a whole, also, the list took its worst setback since the week in which Kennedy was killed.

This week The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declind 3.3 to 303.4, compared with the drop of 9.8 in the week ended Nov. 23.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week declined 12.44 to 814.99. It fell 28.51 in the tragic November week.

The market decline came in the face of generally good news about business and the over-all economy. Wall Street, in fact, had the best news it could hope for—settlement of the five-year-old dispute over work rules which threatened a nationwide railroad strike this weekend.

Analysts said the market seemed "tired" and expressed no surprise that a general market decline had taken place. They pointed, however, to the flood of bright earnings reports and generally good economic figures to support their opinion that the setback was technical and probably would not last very long.

U.S. Treasury bond prices gained last week. Corporate bonds traded on the New York Stock Exchange were unchanged to lower.

Corporates had a fairly active turnover on the exchange, with trading Thursday and Friday the heaviest in a month. Volume for the week totaled $51.27 million par value, compared with $46.74 million the week before.

SIX NEW COMPLETIONS

District Oil, Gas Activity Slower

Monroe Oil & Gas District drillers reported six completions last week in the 15-parishes. Among them was a dual completion in Ouachita Parish.

The week's only recompletion also was recorded in Ouachita Parish.

Other activity was generally slower than a week ago. Only nine new locations were staked in the district and 20 rigs were actively drilling or testing at week's end.

Completions, besides those in Ouachita Parish, were in Catahoula Parish where two wells were gauged, Concordia and Tensas Parishes.

New locations included three in Concordia Parish, two each in Rapides and Richland and one each in Catahoula and Tensas Parishes.

The active rigs were in nine parishes — six in LaSalle, four each in Concordia and Tensas, one each in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Grant, Ouachita, Union and Winn.

The Ouachita Parish recompletion was in the Monroe Gas Field, D. J. Simmons' Kate Cole No. 3, recompleted at 2274 feet in second sand Harrell Formations, section 36-20-4E.

Three wells were plugged and abandoned during the week and three were 59 sites listed as inactive. One abandonment was listed temporary.

Cotton Futures Slighlty Firmer

At the close of trading Friday, active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange were off $1.85 to up 85 cents from a week earlier.

During the preceding week active deliveries had been off $1.85 to up $2.80.

The decline recorded by the nearby May for the most part was occasioned by pre-notice liquidation. Otherwise, the market was sustained through short covering operations, the appearance of a small amount of new buying and a relative lack of offerings.

Exports in the week ended Tuesday were estimated at 154,000 bales, compared with 133,000 a week earlier and 61,000 a year ago. For the current season through April 21 they had reached 4,254,000 bales against 2,564,000 a year earlier.

Jones County New Deep Oil Pool Opened

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new deep oil producing pool has been opened in the Pool Creek field of Jones County with Placid Oil Co.'s No. 1, Weems sec. 22-9n-10w, flowing 400 barrels of oil per day.

The well is in the Cotton Valley formation at 12,776-874 feet, several hundred feet deeper than the original producing level of the field.

In Scott County Austral Oil Co. has abandoned its wildcat, the Eichelberger No. 1, sec. 19-5n-9e, after encountering salt at 14,294 feet. The well was drilled through the Smackover lime formation with extensive coring and drill stem testing done.

Operators released very little information on the tests with reports that uncommercial oil shows lobbed in the Smackover formation. The failure was northwest of the Bienville Forest field of Smith County, the only field in Mississippi to produce oil from the Smackover.

Triad Oil and Gas Co. is rigging up at its Richardson No. 1 sec. 32-10n-16w, confirmation well in the recently found Mt. Olive field of Smith County. The test is an east offset to the discovery well completed last week flowing 1,572,000 cubic feet of gas and 35 barrels of oil per day from a paluxy sand at 12,824-60 feet.

In southwestern Wilkinson County, Pan American Petroleum Corp. squeezed cemented perforations at 8,993-96 feet in its wildcat, the Brandon No. 1, sec. 20-1n-4w, in an effort to complete as a commercial producer. The well swabbed on initial tests at the rate of 65 barrels of oil and salt water.

In the Quitman Bayou field of Adams County, Callon Petroleum Co. Co. has logged 20 feet of oil sand at 5,341-51 feet in its Junkin No. A-2, sec. 20-8n-3w, a one-fourth mile west extension to the field. The upper Wilcox sand at 3,912 feet logged 17 feet of pay sand.

The Quitman Bayou area found last fall has recorded the thickest Wilcox oil sand section yet found in the state with the 3,900 foot sand logging over 60 feet of oil said in a number of wells.

Three wildcat tests in Clarke County are underway to explore the Smackover lime. Tom Glennon is drilling below 8,100 feet in his Hall No. 1, sec. 21-1n-17e, northeast of Shubuta. Texas Pacific Oil Co. is drilling surface hole at its Ulmer No. 1, sec. 9-10n-8w, west of Shubuta and the Brandon Co. is below 3,100 feet in its Longbell No. 1, sec. 6-2n-17e, six miles east of Quitman.

In the Hardrock country of Northeast Mississippi, Pan American Petroleum Corp. is running electrical log at its Calhoun County wildcat, the Hodges No. 2, sec. 4-22n-10e, with the venture at contract depth of 6,400 feet.

In the Maxie field of Forest County, Barnwell Drilling Co. completed its Coleman & Powe No. 2, sec. 32-1n-12w, flowing 1,657,000 cubic feet of gas plus 42 barrels of condensate per day from a sand at 8,390-8,412 feet.

Oil Contractors Are Encouraged By 1964 Trends

HOUSTON (AP) — Oilwell drilling contractors are encouraged by 1964 trends.

More rotary drilling rigs have been in use this year than in the early weeks of 1963.

The American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors credits the substantial boost in operations to a flurry of activity in Ohio and southern Louisiana.

The March-April edition of the association's bi-monthly publication "The Drilling Contractor," says January-March rotary rig activity this year probably averaged about 1,425 to 1,430, compared to 1,394 the same 1963 period.

"The fact rotary rig activity has not fallen to the low level which was experienced last year is encouraging," the publication said. "The lowest level of rig activity so far this year has been the 1,358 rigs on February 10, contrasted with a low of 1,306 in late January, 1963."

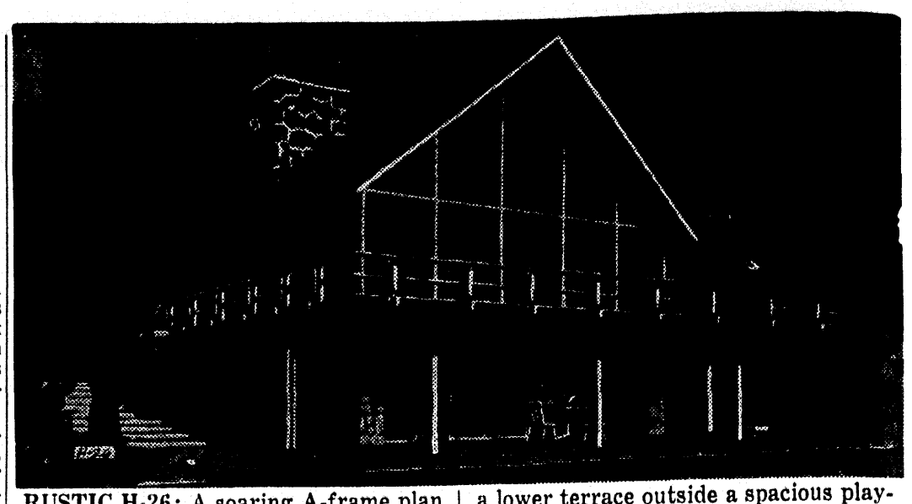

Warren L. Baker, executive vice president of the contractor trade group, said 1964 rotary rig activity would be very low without the increases in Ohio and south Louisiana.

"These two areas have 125 more rigs running than a year ago," Baker said. "But the United States total is only 50 higher than a year ago. Large decreases iln some other areas darkened the local picture."

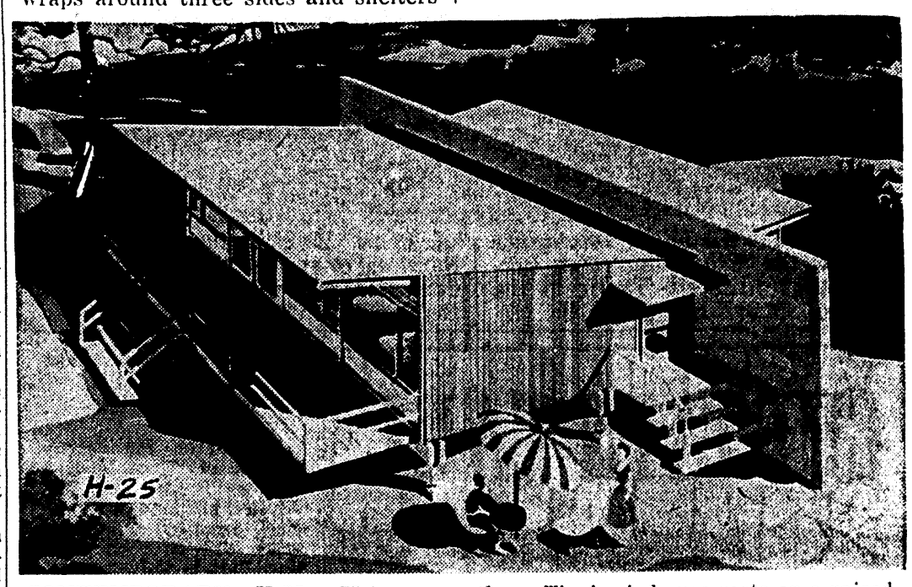

An oil drilling boom has been under way in Morrow County, Ohio since last fall.

"The situation in Ohio is amazing for several reasons," Baker said. "It is one of the older producing states and nothing spectacular has happened there in a long time, furthermore, cable tools have always been predominant in that area until now."

Baker said there were 96 active rotary rigs in Ohio on March 23 compared to an average of only from 5 to 10 a year ago.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Choice Of Year-Round Vacation Homes Offered

When the hounds of spring are on winter's traces, as the poet put it, inevitably the annual dream returns of having your own place out in the country; a hideaway for vacations and week-end excursions.

H-25 FLOOR PLANS: The basic house is 704 square feet. The main deck is 192 square feet; the service deck 112 square feet. A separate material list for both the three and five bedroom additions accompanies the blueprints from architect Samuel Paul.

The only way the dream can be practical is if the hideaway is more than just a fair weather retreat.

Today's House of the Week selections are just that. You may take your choice of two delightful small homes, designed not merely as vacation houses but as year-round dwellings — for retirement, perhaps, or for the here and now if you like the simple life.

One, designed by architect Samuel Paul, is a contemporary single-level home under a shed type roof, which offers the utmost in flexibility. The other is a rustic A-frame chalet with a bonus basement featuring a playroom with its own fireplace, designed by architect Lester Cohen.

CONTEMPORARY H-25

Paul's basic house consists of a single volume, enclosing the entry, large multi-purpose room and a utility core which consists of a full bath, storage and utility room, and a full open kitchen. It rests on a raised platform which extends out through the front wall forming a large outdoor deck sheltered by a deep roof overhang.

The heart of the house is a continuous masonry wing wall which becomes the structural basis for the original construction as well as future additions. These additions will be inexpensive (even moreso than the rest of the house) because all the plumbing and othr costly equipment are part of the original construction.

A free standing fireplace, open on all sides, is a strong focal point for the interior. The interior plan is competely flexible and convertible to your own needs.

The basic house is only 704 square feet. The main deck is 192 square feet and the service deck 112 square feet. Over-all dimensions are 32' by 22'. One key to its economy is that it can be built on any terrain because of the platform-on-pier construction.

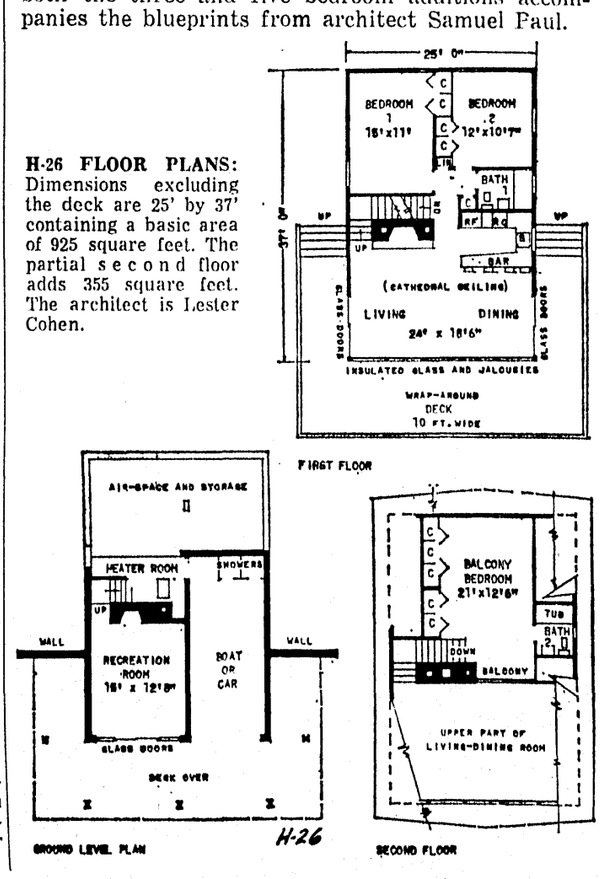

RUSTIC H-26

Cohen's house, too, was designed for economical construction with a maximum of comfort.

The deck on three sides makes possible an indoor - outdoor sweep of 37' in warm weather; and on cold evenings the great fireplace transforms the house into a snug retreat.

The stairs to the balcony bedroom wrap around the masonry chimney and fireplace. From rail to rear, the upper level is more than 21' and contains a private bathroom and almost 16' of closets.

Besides the playroom with its own fireplace and window wall that opens to a sheltered terrace, the basement contains extra space in the back which, depending on the terrain, could be large enough for more storage. The other section of the basement was designed for a boat or car, and note the two showers economically placed on the same plumbing stack as the overhead bathrooms.

H-26 FLOOR PLANS: Dimensions excluding the deck are 25' by 37' containing a basic area of 925 square feet. The partial second floor adds 355 square feet. The architect is Lester Cohen.

Rail Agreement Erases Big Threat To Economy

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A menacing cloud that lurked on the economy's horizon for 4½ years was whisked away during the week by the ending of a railroad strike threat.

Under prodding from President Johnson, rail management and union officials compromised a stubborn disagreement over work rules. Congress reluctantly intervened last summer in a phase of the dispute involving locomotive firemen, decreeing arbitration, but other aspects of the controversy festered on.

Laid aside finally was the possibility of a coast-to-coast rail tie-up that the President said would have idled six million workers, cut back the gross national product 13 per cent and forced a general price rise.

The economy, in the 38th month of the longest postwar upswing, is likely to have reeled downhill.

A second fruit of the settlement was a recognition that even extremely bitter conflicts involving abolition of many jobs can be made to yield to collective bargaining.

Adjustment of the dispute appeared to be on grounds a little closer to the original union position than management's.

By one reckoning, the railroads will gradually realize about $250 million a year of the $600-million reduction they sought in payment made for services they said were unneeded or not rendered.

On the other hand, the overall settlement eventually will cost the unions elimination of 30,000 or more jobs provided under existing rules. About 660,000 men are employed on major railroads.

Overshadowed by the dramatic White House announcement of the rail accord was a swelling stream of handsome reports by businesses on first-quarter profits; a 10 per cent rise in first-quarter dividend payments, and signs of continued strength in the vital auto and steel industries.

Humming auto assembly lines brought production for the year so far to just short of 2.8 million units, about 225,000 ahead of the comparable 1963 period. Sales moved apace. Industry officials looked ahead optimistically.

Chrysler Corp., first of the Big Three to spell out January-March results, reported a 48 per cent gain in profits from a year ago to an all-time first-quarter high of $53.8 million.

Ford reported a jump to $144.3 million from $121.3 million in the 1963 first quarter.

The gain of third-ranking Republic Steel Corp., first big steel producer to check in with its figures, was a resounding 73 per cent over a mediocre 1963 first quarter. Republic cleared $15.8 million.

Other glowing reports came from Union Carbide, Socony Mobil, Reynolds Metals, Inland Steel, International Nickel, the Pennsylvania Railroad, American Cyanamid, National Steel, Marathon Oil and a host of other large corporations. A number hit record earnings levels.

The nation's steel mills after a brief pause on a high plateau posted another production gain during the week. Although slight, it was the 14th in 16 weeks.

The theme that the February tax cut will spur the economy to marked improvement was bluntly challenged before the House Banking Committee in Washington by a widely known economist who said it may amount only to a "temporary little fillip."

The testimony came from Leon H. Keyserling, chairman of former President Harry S. Truman's Council of Economic Advisers.

Consumers may use increased take-home pay not to buy new goods but to pay off existing installment debt on cars and washing machines faster and "put a few more things on the table."

Also tempering the generally encouraging outlook were government reports that new orders for durable goods, a sensitive barometer of future business, declined in March for the second month in a row and new housing starts also declined a bit.

Excitement from the reported Timmins, Ont., copper, zinc and silver strike by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. crackled on securities marts, especially on the Toronto Stock Exchange where trading reached a frenzied pitch. On the New York Stock Exchange, Texas Gulf, Curtis Publishing Co. and International Nickel all jumped sharply higher on speculation of major financial benefits.

Eight steel firms and officials of two of them entered innocent pleas to a U.S. grand jury indictment charging price-fixing on carbon steel sheets between 1955 and 1961.

The week also saw opening of the 1964-65 New York World's fair, sometimes described as a $1-billion bazaar as a result of $300 million investments by business in pavilions and exhibits. Many companies plan to make it their main sales-promotion and public relations project of the year.

Stocks Take Slight Loss; Worst Of '64

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined last week, taking its worst loss of 1964 but—as losses go, not very much.

For the first four days of trading the averages were down only slightly. A fairly sharp selloff came on Friday.

It was the sharpest loss since the severe break of Nov. 22 when President Kennedy was assassinated, but it was nowhere near as large.

For the week as a whole, also, the list took its worst setback since the week in which Kennedy was killed.

This week The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declind 3.3 to 303.4, compared with the drop of 9.8 in the week ended Nov. 23.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week declined 12.44 to 814.99. It fell 28.51 in the tragic November week.

The market decline came in the face of generally good news about business and the over-all economy. Wall Street, in fact, had the best news it could hope for—settlement of the five-year-old dispute over work rules which threatened a nationwide railroad strike this weekend.

Analysts said the market seemed "tired" and expressed no surprise that a general market decline had taken place. They pointed, however, to the flood of bright earnings reports and generally good economic figures to support their opinion that the setback was technical and probably would not last very long.

U.S. Treasury bond prices gained last week. Corporate bonds traded on the New York Stock Exchange were unchanged to lower.

Corporates had a fairly active turnover on the exchange, with trading Thursday and Friday the heaviest in a month. Volume for the week totaled $51.27 million par value, compared with $46.74 million the week before.

W. D. Bates, of Monroe attended the Seventeenth Annual Convention of Armstrong Cork Company Building Products Wholesale Distributors the past week in Lancaster, Pa. Bates is a representative of Dealers Supply Company.

SIX NEW COMPLETIONS

District Oil, Gas Activity Slower

Monroe Oil & Gas District drillers reported six completions last week in the 15-parishes. Among them was a dual completion in Ouachita Parish.

The week's only recompletion also was recorded in Ouachita Parish.

Other activity was generally slower than a week ago. Only nine new locations were staked in the district and 20 rigs were actively drilling or testing at week's end.

Completions, besides those in Ouachita Parish, were in Catahoula Parish where two wells were gauged, Concordia and Tensas Parishes.

New locations included three in Concordia Parish, two each in Rapides and Richland and one each in Catahoula and Tensas Parishes.

The active rigs were in nine parishes — six in LaSalle, four each in Concordia and Tensas, one each in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Grant, Ouachita, Union and Winn.

The Ouachita Parish recompletion was in the Monroe Gas Field, D. J. Simmons' Kate Cole No. 3, recompleted at 2274 feet in second sand Harrell Formations, section 36-20-4E.

Three wells were plugged and abandoned during the week and three were 59 sites listed as inactive. One abandonment was listed temporary.

COMPLETIONS

Cotton Futures Slightly Firmer

At the close of trading Friday, active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange were off $1.85 to up 85 cents from a week earlier.

During the preceding week active deliveries had been off $1.85 to up $2.80.

The decline recorded by the nearby May for the most part was occasioned by pre-notice liquidation. Otherwise, the market was sustained through short covering operations, the appearance of a small amount of new buying and a relative lack of offerings.

Exports in the week ended Tuesday were estimated at 154,000 bales, compared with 133,000 a week earlier and 61,000 a year ago. For the current season through April 21 they had reached 4,254,000 bales against 2,564,000 a year earlier.

Jones County New Deep Oil Pool Opened

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new deep oil producing pool has been opened in the Pool Creek field of Jones County with Placid Oil Co.'s No. 1, Weems sec. 22-9n-10w, flowing 400 barrels of oil per day.

The well is in the Cotton Valley formation at 12,776-874 feet, several hundred feet deeper than the original producing level of the field.

In Scott County Austral Oil Co. has abandoned its wildcat, the Eichelberger No. 1, sec. 19-5n-9e, after encountering salt at 14,294 feet. The well was drilled through the Smackover lime formation with extensive coring and drill stem testing done.

Operators released very little information on the tests with reports that uncommercial oil shows lobbed in the Smackover formation. The failure was northwest of the Bienville Forest field of Smith County, the only field in Mississippi to produce oil from the Smackover.

Triad Oil and Gas Co. is rigging up at its Richardson No. 1 sec. 32-10n-16w, confirmation well in the recently found Mt. Olive field of Smith County. The test is an east offset to the discovery well completed last week flowing 1,572,000 cubic feet of gas and 35 barrels of oil per day from a paluxy sand at 12,824-60 feet.

In southwestern Wilkinson County, Pan American Petroleum Corp. squeezed cemented perforations at 8,993-96 feet in its wildcat, the Brandon No. 1, sec. 20-1n-4w, in an effort to complete as a commercial producer. The well swabbed on initial tests at the rate of 65 barrels of oil and salt water.

In the Quitman Bayou field of Adams County, Callon Petroleum Co. Co. has logged 20 feet of oil sand at 5,341-51 feet in its Junkin No. A-2, sec. 20-8n-3w, a one-fourth mile west extension to the field. The upper Wilcox sand at 3,912 feet logged 17 feet of pay sand.

The Quitman Bayou area found last fall has recorded the thickest Wilcox oil sand section yet found in the state with the 3,900 foot sand logging over 60 feet of oil said in a number of wells.

Three wildcat tests in Clarke County are underway to explore the Smackover lime. Tom Glennon is drilling below 8,100 feet in his Hall No. 1, sec. 21-1n-17e, northeast of Shubuta. Texas Pacific Oil Co. is drilling surface hole at its Ulmer No. 1, sec. 9-10n-8w, west of Shubuta and the Brandon Co. is below 3,100 feet in its Longbell No. 1, sec. 6-2n-17e, six miles east of Quitman.

In the Hardrock country of Northeast Mississippi, Pan American Petroleum Corp. is running electrical log at its Calhoun County wildcat, the Hodges No. 2, sec. 4-22n-10e, with the venture at contract depth of 6,400 feet.

In the Maxie field of Forest County, Barnwell Drilling Co. completed its Coleman & Powe No. 2, sec. 32-1n-12w, flowing 1,657,000 cubic feet of gas plus 42 barrels of condensate per day from a sand at 8,390-8,412 feet.

Oil Contractors Are Encouraged By 1964 Trends

HOUSTON (AP) — Oilwell drilling contractors are encouraged by 1964 trends.

More rotary drilling rigs have been in use this year than in the early weeks of 1963.

The American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors credits the substantial boost in operations to a flurry of activity in Ohio and southern Louisiana.

The March-April edition of the association's bi-monthly publication "The Drilling Contractor," says January-March rotary rig activity this year probably averaged about 1,425 to 1,430, compared to 1,394 the same 1963 period.

"The fact rotary rig activity has not fallen to the low level which was experienced last year is encouraging," the publication said. "The lowest level of rig activity so far this year has been the 1,358 rigs on February 10, contrasted with a low of 1,306 in late January, 1963."

Warren L. Baker, executive vice president of the contractor trade group, said 1964 rotary rig activity would be very low without the increases in Ohio and south Louisiana.

"These two areas have 125 more rigs running than a year ago," Baker said. "But the United States total is only 50 higher than a year ago. Large decreases iln some other areas darkened the local picture."

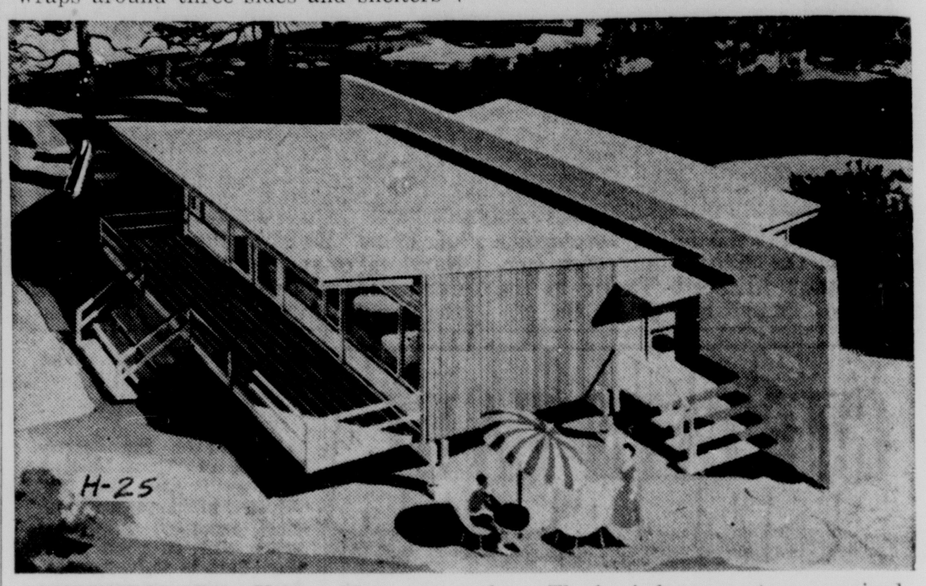

An oil drilling boom has been under way in Morrow County, Ohio since last fal!

"The situation in Ohio is amazing for several reasons," Baker said. "It is one of the older producing states and nothing spectacular has happened there in a long time, furthermore, cable tools have always been predominant in that area until now."

Baker said there were 96 active rotary rigs in Ohio on March 23 compared to an average of only from 5 to 10 a year ago.

The deck on three sides makes possible an indoor - outdoor sweep of 37' in warm weather; and on cold evenings the great fireplace transforms the house into a snug retreat.

The stairs to the balcony bedroom wrap around the masonry chimney and fireplace. From rail to rear, the upper level is more than 21' and contains a private bathroom and almost 16' of closets.

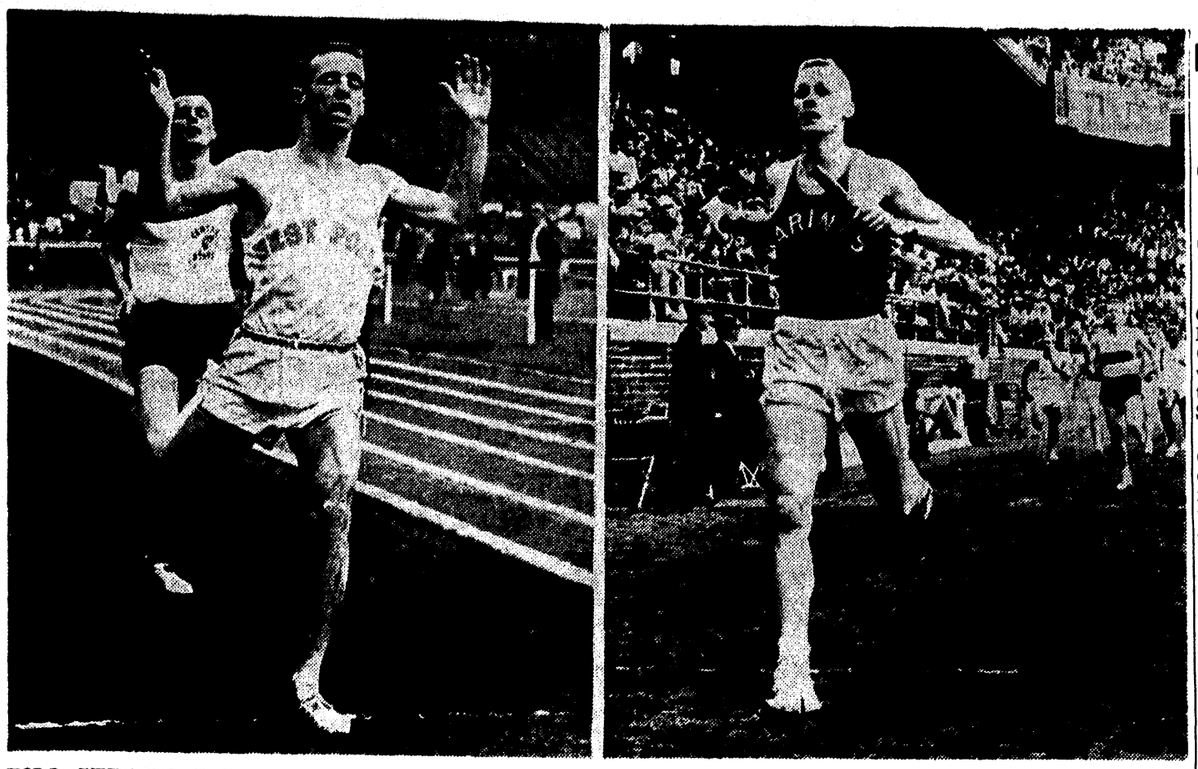

Besides the playroom with its own fireplace and window wall that opens to a sheltered terrace, the basement contains extra space in the back which, depending on the terrain, could be large enough for more storage. The other section of the basement was designed for a boat or car, and note the two showers economically placed on the same plumbing stack as the overhead bathrooms.

H-25 FLOOR PLANS: The basic house is 704 square feet. The main deck is 192 square feet; the service deck 112 square feet. A separate material list for both the three and five bedroom additions accompanies the blueprints from architect Samuel Paul.

H-26 FLOOR PLANS: Dimensions excluding the deck are 25' by 37' containing a basic area of 925 square feet. The partial second floor adds 355 square feet. The architect is Lester Cohen.

A full study of this architect-designed House of the Week may be obtained by writing THE HOUSE OF THE WEEK, c-o the Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La., and enclosing 50 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing. Please specify House Plans H-25 and H-26.

Norm Tate, Bob Hayes Penn Relays Standouts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Villanova dominated the premier relay events as they haven't been in 19 years, but North Carolina College's Norman Tate swept individual honors in the windup of the Penn Relays Saturday.

Villanova became the third team in the 70 year history of the event to win four relays and the first since Michigan in 1945. Pitt did it in 1939.

Tate, from East Orange, N.J., scored two individual victories, anchored two winning North Carolina College relay teams and was voted the meet's outstanding collegian.

He took the broad jump at 24-11 in opening day activity Friday, then added the triple jump 50-8¼ Saturday before a crowd of 39,142.

He also anchored the North Carolina College relay teams that won the 440, in 41 seconds flat and the 880, in 1:25.6.

The other outstanding individual performers, were Villanova's Vic Zwolak, who ran on three winning relay teams and won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 9:12.9, and big Bob Hayes of Florida State.

Hayes, running in the Olympic development section of the meet added for Olympic hopefuls trying for a spot on the U.S. team to visit Tokyo this fall — ripped off a 9.3 100-yard dash and a 20.6 around the curve on the 220.

Villanova, which won the distance medley and the four-mile anchored by Zwolak Friday, added the sprint medley and the two mile in 3:23.4 and 7:31.7, respectively, Saturday and then missed on two chances to become the first team ever to win the five relays.

Tom O'Hara In Win As Records Fall In Relays

O'Hara, making his first outdoor start after a sensational indoor campaign, uncorked a typical, arm-flapping stretch drive to win a special Drake mile in 4:01, slashing more than four seconds from the meet record.

Hopkins' 51-8 was almost two feet better than the former Drake record of 49-9 set by Houston's Jack Smyth in 1958.

Although O'Hara entered the meet with dim hopes of cracking the four-minute barrier, he rose to the challenge of early pacesetters in the special mile.

O'Hara, who had complained of aches and pains last week, caught John Camien of Emporia, Kan. State coming off the final turn and sprinted to a four-yard victory.

Camien also broke the old meet mark of 4:05.4 set last year by Dyrol Burleson, with a 4:01.6 clocking. Early in the race, the pace was set by Pat McNeal of Kansas State and Ray Stevens of Nebraska, with O'Hara running fourth or fifth.

On the back stretch of the final lap, Camien charged ahead, followed closely by O'Hara. But the little Loyola redhead cut down Camien around the last turn and won easily.

"I was just running to win," said O'Hara. "I didn't care about the time, but I didn't seem to have the zip I did indoors."

Hopkins was in brilliant form as the Davenport, Iowa, high school product went all out for the home folk.

He topped 50 feet on all six of his triple jumps. His best was just 1¼ inches under the NCAA mark of 51-9¼ set by Luther Hayes of Southern California in 1961.

The Olympic triple jump record is 55-1¾ set by Poland's Joszek Schmidt in the 1960 Games at Rome.

In a special shotput, Texas A&M's Randy Matson bettered the NCAA freshman record with a toss of 64-1. The present mark of 63-7 was held by Dallas Long.

Dodgers Lose Game; Get 3 More Injured

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Troubles mounted for the staggering Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday as pitchers Johnny Podres and Ron Perranoski and left fielder Tommy Davis were injured in the Dodgers' 5-1 loss to Milwaukee.

Los Angeles, which has lost nine of 11 games, already had ace pitcher Sandy Koufax on the sidelines with an elbow injury.

The 31-year-old Podres, who won 14 games in 1963 and a victory in the Dodgers' sweep against the New York Yankees in the World Series, was felled while making his first appearance of the year.

Sidelined the last few weeks by a sore arm, Podres was hit by a Warren Spahn fast ball when he went to bat in the third.

Podres was taken to Milwaukee Hospital where X rays disclosed a severe bruise on his left elbow. It could not be determined how long he would be out.

Davis, the National League's batting champion the past two years, jammed his right shoulder when he dived back to first on a pickoff attempt in the sixth inning. He remained in the game but could do little more than lob the ball on a throw back to the infield in the eighth.

Grambling Ties World Record

WALNUT, Calif. (AP)—Two-time Olympic champion Al Oerter of the New York Athletic Club broke his own world's record in the discus with a throw of 206-6 Saturday in the Mt. San Antonio Relays.

Oerter, who missed much of the track season with a bad back last summer, is pointing toward a third gold medal in the coming Olympics in Tokyo.

He won the event in the Melbourne Olympics in 1956 with a toss of 184-10½. In 1960, at Rome, his winning toss was 194-2.

The four-man relay team from Grambling College, Louisiana, equalled the existing world's record in the 440-yard relay and also the American record with a time of 40 seconds flat.

The University of Oregon team holds the listed record for the relay, but there is a pending one of 39.9 made by an Australian national team March 16, 1964. Oregon also holds the American record.

The Grambling foursome also ran away with the 880-yard relay in 1:23.4. It was a meet record, bettering the 1:23.6 set in 1961 by a University of Southern California team.

Colavito And Green Power Athletics' Win

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Home runs by Rocky Colavito and rookie Dick Green powered Kansas City to a 3-1 victory over Washington Saturday night.

Green's home run, which followed Colavito's single in the fourth inning, broke a 1-1 deadlock. Colavito smashed his first of the year in the second.

The Senators scored in their half of the fourth on two singles and two infield outs.

Moe Drabowsky won in his first appearance of the season but needed relief help from John Wyatt after he walked Don Zimmer opening the eighth. Drabowsky allowed six hits, struck out nine and walked only one.

Chicago Tops Surging Phils By 4-1 Count

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Andre Rodgers' two-run homer and four Philadelphia errors—three in one inning—carried the Chicago Cubs over the Phillies 4-1 Saturday night.

Rodgers' home run, his third this season, drove in Ron Santo in the eighth and helped boost Larry Jackson to his second victory against one loss.

The Phillies threatened in the ninth, loading the bases on two singles and a walk with one out. But Lindy McDaniel relieved Jackson and got Clay Dalrymple to force Tony Gonzalez at the plate and struck out Wine.

The Cubs also had their problems as second baseman Jim Stewart committed two errors and Jackson threw a wild pitch that cost him a run.

Philadelphia's Bobby Wine, who also made an error in the second inning, fumbled Stewart's routine ground ball to begin the third inning. Then Lou Brock beat out a bunt and went to second as losing pitcher Dennis Bennett threw wild to first.

DESPITE SLUMP

Smith Leading In Titleholders

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Defending champion Marilynn Smith slumped to a 77 in the third round of the Titleholders Golf Tournament Saturday but still tied her own 54-hole record of 216 and held a three-stroke lead over favorite Mickey Wright.

Rain and a cold wind dropped temperatures and sent scores soaring. The lowest round of the day was a one-over-par 73 by Shirley Englehorn of Los Angeles, which left her seven strokes back at 223.

The 77 by Miss Smith, who plays out of Runaway Ban, Jamaica, was 11 strokes worse than the 66 she shot Friday to shatter three tournament records.

"The course played a lot longer today," said Marilynn. "They set the tees further back and the rain made it so dark I felt like I was playing at night."

Miss Smith needs a 74 in Sunday's final round to break the 72-hole record of 291 set by Patty Berg in 1955.

Miss Wright of Dallas, Tex., shot a 75. Five strokes back at 221 were Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa, and JoAnn Prentice of Birmingham, Ala. Miss Kimball had a 78 and Miss Prentice 77.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., and Louise Suggs of Cincinnati, Ohio, shot 74 and 76, respectively, to tie at 222.

Miss Berg, first round leader, shot a 79 for a 224 which tied her with Clifford Ann Creed, Barbara Romack and Judy Torluemke. Ruth Jessen of Seattle, Wash. fired a 74 to tie Miss Englehorn at 223.

Maloney Stops Giants 3-1 On Two-Run Single

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Jim Maloney singled two runs across in the fifth inning Saturday and set the rampaging San Francisco Giants down with six hits in a 3-1 Cincinnati victory.

Maloney collected the first hit by a Cincinnati pitcher this season in the fifth with the score tied 1-1 and sent the deciding runs across.

Willie Mays singled the Giants' only run across in the top of the fifth inning. Chuck Hiller singled in the inning after two were out and moved up as Duke Snider drew a walk. After Mays singled Hiller home, Maloney got Willie McCovey on a line drive to second base.

Bailey Hitting Leads Pirates Past Mets, 5-4

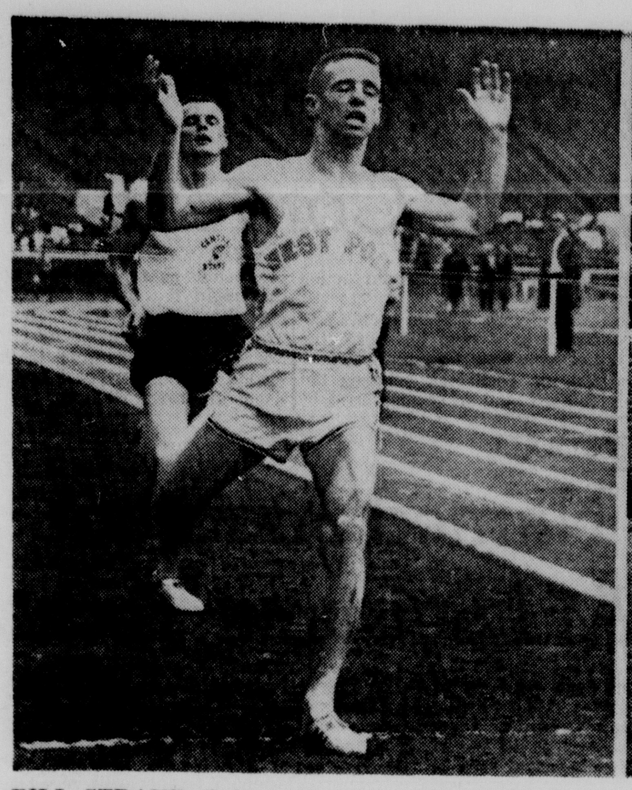

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Bailey drove in four runs with his first homer of the season and a sacrifice fly Saturday as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 5-4.

The young third baseman drove in the winning run in the sixth, Jerry Lynch scoring on the fly to break a 4-4 tie.

The Mets got a run in the second when Amado Samuel doubled home Frank Thomas. They added three more in the third on two doubles, a single and a groundout. The doubles, each good for one run, were by Ron Hunt and Bob Taylor.

Norm Tate, Bob Hayes Penn Relays Standouts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Villanova dominated the premier relay events as they haven't been in 19 years, but North Carolina College's Norman Tate swept individual honors in the windup of the Penn Relays Saturday.

Villanova became the third team in the 70 year history of the event to win four relays and the first since Michigan in 1945. Pitt did it in 1939.

Tate, from East Orange, N.J., scored two individual victories, anchored two winning North Carolina College relay teams and was voted the meet's outstanding collegian.

He took the broad jump at 24-11 in opening day activity Friday, then added the triple jump 50-8¼ Saturday before a crowd of 39,142.

He also anchored the North Carolina College relay teams that won the 440, in 41 seconds flat and the 880, in 1:25.6.

The other outstanding individual performers, were Villanova's Vic Zwolak, who ran on three winning relay teams and won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 9:12.9, and big Bob Hayes of Florida State.

Hayes, running in the Olympic development section of the meet added for Olympic hopefuls trying for a spot on the U.S. team to visit Tokyo this fall — ripped off a 9.3 100-yard dash and a 20.6 around the curve on the 220.

Villanova, which won the distance medley and the four-mile anchored by Zwolak Friday, added the sprint medley and the two mile in 3:23.4 and 7:31.7, respectively, Saturday and then missed on two chances to become the first team ever to win the five relays.

Tom O'Hara In Win As Records Fall In Relays

O'Hara, making his first outdoor start after a sensational indoor campaign, uncorked a typical, arm-flapping stretch drive to win a special Drake mile in 4:01, slashing more than four seconds from the meet record.

Hopkins' 51-8 was almost two feet better than the former Drake record of 49-9 set by Houston's Jack Smyth in 1958.

Although O'Hara entered the meet with dim hopes of cracking the four-minute barrier, he rose to the challenge of early pacesetters in the special mile.

O'Hara, who had complained of aches and pains last week, caught John Camien of Emporia, Kan. State coming off the final turn and sprinted to a four-yard victory.

Camien also broke the old meet mark of 4:05.4 set last year by Dyrol Burleson, with a 4:01.6 clocking. Early in the race, the pace was set by Pat McNeal of Kansas State and Ray Stevens of Nebraska, with O'Hara running fourth or fifth.

On the back stretch of the final lap, Camien charged ahead, followed closely by O'Hara. But the little Loyola redhead cut down Camien around the last turn and won easily.

"I was just running to win," said O'Hara. "I didn't care about the time, but I didn't seem to have the zip I did indoors."

Hopkins was in brilliant form as the Davenport, Iowa, high school product went all out for the home folk.

He topped 50 feet on all six of his triple jumps. His best was just 1¼ inches under the NCAA mark of 51-9¼ set by Luther Hayes of Southern California in 1961.

The Olympic triple jump record is 55-1¾ set by Poland's Joszek Schmidt in the 1960 Games at Rome.

In a special shotput, Texas A&M's Randy Matson bettered the NCAA freshman record with a toss of 64-1. The present mark of 63-7 was held by Dallas Long.

MISERIES MOUNTING

Dodgers Lose Game; Get 3 More Injured

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Troubles mounted for the staggering Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday as pitchers Johnny Podres and Ron Perranoski and left fielder Tommy Davis were injured in the Dodgers' 5-1 loss to Milwaukee.

Los Angeles, which has lost nine of 11 games, already had ace pitcher Sandy Koufax on the sidelines with an elbow injury.

The 31-year-old Podres, who won 14 games in 1963 and a victory in the Dodgers' sweep against the New York Yankees in the World Series, was felled while making his first appearance of the year.

Sidelined the last few weeks by a sore arm, Podres was hit by a Warren Spahn fast ball when he went to bat in the third.

Podres was taken to Milwaukee Hospital where X rays disclosed a severe bruise on his left elbow. It could not be determined how long he would be out.

Davis, the National League's batting champion the past two years, jammed his right shoulder when he dived back to first on a pickoff attempt in the sixth inning. He remained in the game but could do little more than lob the ball on a throw back to the infield in the eighth.

Grambling Ties World Record

WALNUT, Calif. (AP)—Two-time Olympic champion Al Oerter of the New York Athletic Club broke his own world's record in the discus with a throw of 206-6 Saturday in the Mt. San Antonio Relays.

Oerter, who missed much of the track season with a bad back last summer, is pointing toward a third gold medal in the coming Olympics in Tokyo.

He won the event in the Melbourne Olympics in 1956 with a toss of 184-10½. In 1960, at Rome, his winning toss was 194-2.

The four-man relay team from Grambling College, Louisiana, equalled the existing world's record in the 440-yard relay and also the American record with a time of 40 seconds flat.

The University of Oregon team holds the listed record for the relay, but there is a pending one of 39.9 made by an Australian national team March 16, 1964. Oregon also holds the American record.

The Grambling foursome also ran away with the 880-yard relay in 1:23.4. It was a meet record, bettering the 1:23.6 set in 1961 by a University of Southern California team.

Colavito And Green Power Athletics' Win

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Home runs by Rocky Colavito and rookie Dick Green powered Kansas City to a 3-1 victory over Washington Saturday night.

Green's home run, which followed Colavito's single in the fourth inning, broke a 1-1 deadlock. Colavito smashed his first of the year in the second.

The Senators scored in their half of the fourth on two singles and two infield outs.

Moe Drabowsky won in his first appearance of the season but needed relief help from John Wyatt after he walked Don Zimmer opening the eighth. Drabowsky allowed six hits, struck out nine and walked only one.

Chicago Tops Surging Phils By 4-1 Count

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Andre Rodgers' two-run homer and four Philadelphia errors—three in one inning—carried the Chicago Cubs over the Phillies 4-1 Saturday night.

Rodgers' home run, his third this season, drove in Ron Santo in the eighth and helped boost Larry Jackson to his second victory against one loss.

The Phillies threatened in the ninth, loading the bases on two singles and a walk with one out. But Lindy McDaniel relieved Jackson and got Clay Dalrymple to force Tony Gonzalez at the plate and struck out Wine.

The Cubs also had their problems as second baseman Jim Stewart committed two errors and Jackson threw a wild pitch that cost him a run.

Philadelphia's Bobby Wine, who also made an error in the second inning, fumbled Stewart's routine ground ball to begin the third inning. Then Lou Brock beat out a bunt and went to second as losing pitcher Dennis Bennett threw wild to first.

MARILYNN SMITH of Runaway Bay, Jamaica points toward the hole her ball missed on a putt at the 18th green in the Titleholders Tourney. She shot a 77 Saturday, but still leads after three rounds. (AP Wirephoto)

DESPITE SLUMP

Smith Leading In Titleholders

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Defending champion Marilynn Smith slumped to a 77 in the third round of the Titleholders Golf Tournament Saturday but still tied her own 54-hole record of 216 and held a three-stroke lead over favorite Mickey Wright.

Rain and a cold wind dropped temperatures and sent scores soaring. The lowest round of the day was a one-over-par 73 by Shirley Englehorn of Los Angeles, which left her seven strokes back at 223.

The 77 by Miss Smith, who plays out of Runaway Ban, Jamaica, was 11 strokes worse than the 66 she shot Friday to shatter three tournament records.

"The course played a lot longer today," said Marilynn. "They set the tees further back and the rain made it so dark I felt like I was playing at night."

Miss Smith needs a 74 in Sunday's final round to break the 72-hole record of 291 set by Patty Berg in 1955.

Miss Wright of Dallas, Tex., shot a 75. Five strokes back at 221 were Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa, and JoAnn Prentice of Birmingham, Ala. Miss Kimball had a 78 and Miss Prentice 77.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., and Louise Suggs of Cincinnati, Ohio, shot 74 and 76, respectively, to tie at 222.

Miss Berg, first round leader, shot a 79 for a 224 which tied her with Clifford Ann Creed, Barbara Romack and Judy Torluemke. Ruth Jessen of Seattle, Wash. fired a 74 to tie Miss Englehorn at 223.

Maloney Stops Giants 3-1 On Two-Run Single

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Jim Maloney singled two runs across in the fifth inning Saturday and set the rampaging San Francisco Giants down with six hits in a 3-1 Cincinnati victory.

Maloney collected the first hit by a Cincinnati pitcher this season in the fifth with the score tied 1-1 and sent the deciding runs across.

Willie Mays singled the Giants' only run across in the top of the fifth inning. Chuck Hiller singled in the inning after two were out and moved up as Duke Snider drew a walk. After Mays singled Hiller home, Maloney got Willie McCovey on a line drive to second base.

Bailey Hitting Leads Pirates Past Mets, 5-4

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Bailey drove in four runs with his first homer of the season and a sacrifice fly Saturday as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 5-4.

The young third baseman drove in the winning run in the sixth, Jerry Lynch scoring on the fly to break a 4-4 tie.

The Mets got a run in the second when Amado Samuel doubled home Frank Thomas. They added three more in the third on two doubles, a single and a groundout. The doubles, each good for one run, were by Ron Hunt and Bob Taylor.

Bastrop Area Increases

Once again the elusive Mr. Tom proved that he is truly the cock of the walk.

When the season closed last Sunday, the great majority of hunters in Louisiana hadn't even come close to killing a wild turkey. It's safe to say that most of them didn't see a turkey.

We saw five — one too far away to identify and four hens, but that's as close as we came to getting a gobbler.

But from all indications, there were a lot of disappointed hunters. For instance, the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission issued about 800 permits for the Chicago Mill Game Management Area.

Twenty-two turkeys, according to the last count, were killed on the area. A few more reports of kills will trickle in, now that the season is over.

Apparently, the Bastrop area led Northeast Louisiana this season in total kills. Biologist Cliff Williams has a record on 34 kills in Morehouse with 12 in Union.

This is a bigger kill than last year for Morehouse and Union, but we're not surprised since there are so many turkeys on the Terzia Refuge outside Bastrop.

For one reason or another, the kill was off this season in Tensas, Franklin and Madison-the three parishes that normally report the biggest kills in North Louisiana.

Biologist Bob Kimble of Ferriday has a record of 41 kills in the three parishes, including the 22 killed on Chicago Mill. Unless the kill increases as more reports come in, this is about half of what's usually killed in the Delta.

For one reason, there were fewer hunters, Kimble believes. He pointed out that last year the commission issued about 1300 permits for the Chicago Mill area, compared to about 800 this year.

But game wardens working the Tensas River area told us that turkeys since weeks ago in the "Brick House" section could not be found during the season. A sick hen was found also.

Usually, the "Brick House" area on the Tensas River is about the best turkey country in the Delta.

So it looks as though Morehouse-Union has out-produced the Delta in turkey kills this year.

Now that the season is over, it's four months until the next hunting season in Louisiana, if the dove season is opened around the first of September.

You can always go crow hunting. We understand they're not as hard to kill as a turkey.

Cheniere Lake Program

The Cheniere Lake Commission, whose members serve without pay, issued a report a day or so ago outlining its accomplishments in developing Cheniere.

Of course, this program could not have been carried out without the support of the people, the Police Jury and the tenth-of-a-mill tax that provides $16,000 annually for the lake development.

One of the amazing aspects of the commission's report pertained to the public turn-out at one of the public areas on Cheniere. During 1963, some 9,163 persons, through reservations, used Area Four to picnic or barbecue.

That's just one area, and there are seven areas on the lake.

Sheltersheds have been constructed, wells created, restrooms installed and picnic tables built.

When you analyze it, $16,000 is not a lot of money for the development of a public recreation area like Cheniere. That's why we believe personally that the renewal of the tenth of the mill tax Tuesday is the least that can be done for Cheniere.

Sewage Treatment Plans

According to the National Wildlife Federation, an unprecedented $820 million was spent in the United States last year for the construction of municipal sewage treatment plants.

This was a record year in the nation's anti-pollution campaign, but still, according to the federation, a total of 5,744 communities need sewage treatment plants, which will cost an estimated $1.9-billion.

The federation says that if the 1963 rate of construction can be maintained the country can catch up with its need in this field within the next five years.

Of course, the program is designed to protect water.

Since the federal construction grants program started in 1956, more than 5,300 projects have been started at a total cost exceeding $2.5 billion. Federal aid has amounted to more than $500 million.

Monroe's new plant should be completed within the next year or so while West Monroe is getting closer to presenting a bond issue program to the people for their plant.

Cleaning up our streams is a great need.

Little Man's Corner

The fishing was good and the last of the legal birds gobbled as the little men made news afield.

Locally, Black Bayou has been a hot fishing spot. That's where Joe Ware of Monroe landed a seven-pound bass — one of the biggest caught this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Neely of West Monroe caught 50 bream and C. E. Bailey of Monroe landed 48 bluegills. Mrs. K. S. Smith caught 25 large bream.

From West Monroe, M. S. Joiner and R. D. Lowery set what may be a record. They caught 65 chinkapins in three hours. S. E. Fletcher landed 49 bream in Black Bayou.

Fishing Black Bayou from Rayville, Pat Earl caught 45 bluegills.

Hunting in Tensas Parish, A. J. Buquet, chairman of the Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, of Houma bagged a gobbler.

At Lake St. John, Mrs. Hugh I. Cross caught the limit of bream and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Burts landed the limit of bream and catfish on worms.

From Winnsboro, Mrs. L. C. Beasley got the limit of bream in St. John about 25 feet from the bank in the cypress trees. H. A. Gunter caught the limit of white perch in the Blue Hole.

Getting the limit of bass in Lake Concordia were Paul Smith, Lynn Jones, Wayne Jackson, Ralph Brown and J. V. Brown, all of Vidalia. Also catching the limit were Ronnie O'Neal and his dad, David O'Neal, Jimmy Gaspard, all of Vidalia.

AN UNUSUAL feat was performed a few days ago by this young angler, 10-year-old Bessie Fudickar of Ferriday. Fishing with a flyrod, a bream hook and a worm, Bessie landed a 13½-pound German Carp in Lake St. John. Catching a German Carp in Louisiana fresh water is not uncommon, but landing one with a flyrod, a bream hook and a worm is something else. It just isn't done, but Bessie did it. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fudickar of Ferriday and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fudickar Sr. of Monroe.

BEGINS SECOND YEAR

Legion Amateur First Game Set

Officials and managers of the American Legion Amateur Baseball League have set Tuesday May 12 as the opening date for the 1964 season.

This will be the second year of operation for the Amateur League and it is expected that the teams will be bolstered this year by the addition of more college players and graduates of the Dixie Senior League.

Loop officials report the field at Legion Stadium has been put in perfect condition with the infield being seeded and some fifty loads of dirt placed in the infield and outfield. The diamond is expected to be in the best shape since its construction in 1949.

Opening day tickets are now on sale and can be purchased from any manager or member of any team in the league or at Saul Adler's Garage. The ducats are $1 each and if not used for the opening night contest can be used for any regularly scheduled game during the season.

Teams and managers for this season are: Piggly Wiggly, Guy Gannaway, and J. C. McDougald; Davis Food Center, Marvin Collins; KTVE, Jerry Lovette; Louisiana National Guard, Sgt. Q. Johnson; Falstaff Beer, James Allen; Ouachita National Bank, George Moore; Rivers Ford, Red Hibbard and Dave McKenzie; and Monroe All Stars, Dan McClure.

Tiger Swifties First Entry In Coliseum Go

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (Special) — Grambling College's speedy four-man relay team is the first official entry for the 24th Annual Colisuem Relays May 15, it was announced by Jesse Hill, chairman of the relays selection committee.

"Grambling's speedsters have the fastest time in the nation this year." Hill said.

The quartet flashed these marks in the Pelican State Relays at Baton Rouge and at the University of Texas Relays.

As the season progresses, other top teams and individuals from around the nation and world will be invited to compete in the 1964 Olympics preview at the Coliseum.

Grambling's 40.2 mark in the 440 tops the 40.3 with which Texas Southern won the Coliseum Relays in 1962. The Relays record is a sizzling 40.0 flat by the University of Texas in 1947.

Grambling's 1:23.3 time last week beats the Coliseum Relays 880 record of 1:23.4 set in 1962 by Florida A&M.

BUSIEST WEEK OF YEAR

Indians Warm Up Tom-Toms For Thirteen Sports Contests

Northeast State begins its busiest sports week of the year with three athletic events Monday afternoon and ends it the same way next Saturday.

A total of 13 athletic events are scheduled for Indian teams this week, two of them being postponed from last week.

Monday, the Northeast baseball team faces Northwestern at Natchitoches in a crucial doubleheader that could decide the Gulf States Conference pennant. The teams have been 1-2 in the conference race since the first day.

The Tuesday baseball and golf contests were rained out last week, the golf match being originally set for Friday, April 24, and the baseball games the following day.

On Wednesday the tennis team travels to Southeastern and Thursday tackles Northwestern here while the golfers meet Delta State in Cleveland.

Delta State's tennis team is host to Northeast Friday and Saturday the baseball, tennis and track teams are in action — all in Monroe.

The baseball team meets McNeese in a twin bill here, the net team meets Southwestern — the top roadblock between the Indians and a second straight GSC tennis championship — and that night the Indian thinclads face East Texas State, Southwestern, Louisiana Tech, McNeese and Northwestern in the second annual Northeast Invitational in Brown Stadium.

Fant Speaks At Harrisonburg Awards Banquet

HARRISONBURG (Special) — Harrisonburg high school held its annual Basketball Awards Banquet Friday night with some 125 people in attendance. Coach Lenny Fant of Northeast Louisiana State college was the featured speaker. His theme, directed primarily to players and interested followers of basketball, centered around those qualities of character which a champion must possess — determination to succeed, team spirit, co-operation with leaders and willingness to learn, pride and hard work.

Sherry Bartmess and David Mitchell were presented trophies as Most Valuable Players of their respective teams. Betty McHale and David Mitchell were awarded certificates of recognition by the Louisiana High School Athletic Association for making the All-State teams in Class B. Captains for the coming season were named. They are Janis Alexander, (girls) and Malcolm Terry, (boys).

Yvonne May of Caldwell Parish High school and Chris Rhodes of Monterey high school were special guests. They were selected by the Harrisonburg team as their most outstanding individual opponents during the current season. Each was presented a token gift by the Bulldogs in recognition of their abilities.

Huff Stricken By Infection

CHERAW, S.C. (AP)—Professional football player Sam Huff, here to speak at an athletic banquet, was hospitalized Friday night with an infection of the upper respiratory system.

Huff, recently traded by the New York Giants to the Washington Redskins, was speaking at a Cheraw High School dinner when he was stricken.

He excused himself and was taken to the Chesterfield County Hospital, where he was treated for a fever and the respiratory infection.

Dr. M.W. Hooks said Huff likely will be released Sunday.

TO COACH BASKETBALL

Landry Named Assistant Coach At Louisiana Tech

RUSTON (Special) — Don Landry, basketball coach at St. Aloysius High School in New Orleans, has been appointed assistant basketball coach at Louisiana Tech, Athletic Director, Joe Aillet announced Saturday.

Landry's appointment, approved by the state board of education, will be effective in September. Landry, 26, is a graduate of the University of Southwestern Louisiana where he lettered in basketball and baseball. Landry will be an assistant to Scotty Robertson, who was an assistant at Tech last year before elevation to the head coaching post following the retirement of Cecil Crowley, Tech coach for 22 seasons.

Aillet, commenting on the appointment of Landry, said, "Mr. Landry was the unanimous selection of Coach Robertson and the athletic council. His interest in tactics, strategy, and techniques fit in with the style of basketball which Coach Robertson teaches.

"I feel that Mr. Landry has the potential to make a real contribution to our basketball program. He will be a welcome addition to our present coaching staff in the department of intercollegiate athletics," Aillet said.

Landry coached baseball and basketball at St. Aloysius for two years and had an outstanding prep record. In 1961-62, he was basketball coach and assistant football coach at Chalmette, where he also coached American Legion Baseball.

In 1960-61, Landry was assistant basketball and football coach and head baseball mentor at Cathedral High School in Lafayette. Landry was a standout prep athlete at the Lafayette School before entering USL.

At Southern, Landry served as an assistant basketball, football, and baseball coach in 1959-60 before entering the prep ranks. He is married and the father of two sons.

JAVELIN STAR

McNabb Plans Pro Ball Future

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Chunky Delmon McNabb, who has thrown the javelin farther than any other college freshman is more interested in tossing a baseball.

Meanwhile, the barrel-chested 18-year-old youth is combining the two sports. And the track world is buzzing over his exploits.

Last month, McNabb sailed his aluminum spear 254-2—nearly five feet more than the freshman record of Larry Stuart of Southern California. The college record is 273-10½.

"I've never seen anyone with a faster arm whip," the LSU track coach, Joe May, says.

"He's got only fair form right now, and he's not as big as I'd like him. But he makes up for it in speed coming to the line and good, strong, quick arm action."

McNabb, solid at 5-foot-9½ and 177 pounds, works out with the javelin from about 3-4:30 p.m. each day. Occasionally, he practices baton passing because he runs on the freshman 440 relay.

Then, he goes over to the diamond to get in on the last 30 minutes or so of the baseball workout.

In his first appearance this year, McNabb pitched three scoreless innings in relief, fanning six.

Are the two sports conflicting? May doesn't think so. He says the motion in throwing a javelin and a baseball is exactly alike.

How far can McNabb go this season?"

"Last year, I started at 200 feet," the youngster says. "I ended at 231. This year, I started at 252. I'd like to throw 265-270 before the year is out."

2-Run Triple Leads Detroit To 5-2 Victory

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Dick McAuliffe poked a two-run triple to right-center field in the eighth inning, leading Detroit to a 5-2 victory over Minnesota Saturday.

McAuliffe's blow highlighted a three-run outburst, which the Tigers needed as the Twins rallied in their half of the inning and chased starter Dave Wickersham.

Sherry came on after the Twins had scored one run and had runners at first and third with one out. He struck out Harmon Killebrew and got Don Mincher on a flyout.

Tech's Contest With NSC Nine Is Postponed

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Gulf States Conference baseball doubleheader with league leading Northwestern was postponed because of wet grounds here Saturday and reset for Wednesday.

Monday they travel to Lake Charles for a conference clash with McNeese State, Wednesday are the NSC games and Saturday they host Southwestern University.

The Techmen, 4-8 in conference play, may have more trouble with McNeese's Cowboys than they did in sweeping a twinbill here earlier. In the last four games McNeese swept a doubleheader from Southeastern in Hammond and split with Northwestern in Natchitoches.

The other two clubs won't be much easier. Both USL and the Demons swept their homefield doubleheaders with the Bulldogs.

Bastrop Area Increases

Once again the elusive Mr. Tom proved that he is truly the cock of the walk.

When the season closed last Sunday, the great majority of hunters in Louisiana hadn't even come close to killing a wild turkey. It's safe to say that most of them didn't see a turkey.

We saw five — one too far away to identify and four hens, but that's as close as we came to getting a gobbler.

But from all indications, there were a lot of disappointed hunters. For instance, the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission issued about 800 permits for the Chicago Mill Game Management Area.

Twenty-two turkeys, according to the last count, were killed on the area. A few more reports of kills will trickle in, now that the season is over.

Apparently, the Bastrop area led Northeast Louisiana this season in total kills. Biologist Cliff Williams has a record on 34 kills in Morehouse with 12 in Union.

This is a bigger kill than last year for Morehouse and Union, but we're not surprised since there are so many turkeys on the Terzia Refuge outside Bastrop.

For one reason or another, the kill was off this season in Tensas, Franklin and Madison-the three parishes that normally report the biggest kills in North Louisiana.

Biologist Bob Kimble of Ferriday has a record of 41 kills in the three parishes, including the 22 killed on Chicago Mill. Unless the kill increases as more reports come in, this is about half of what's usually killed in the Delta.

For one reason, there were fewer hunters, Kimble believes. He pointed out that last year the commission issued about 1300 permits for the Chicago Mill area, compared to about 800 this year.

But game wardens working the Tensas River area told us that turkeys since weeks ago in the "Brick House" section could not be found during the season. A sick hen was found also.

Usually, the "Brick House" area on the Tensas River is about the best turkey country in the Delta.

So it looks as though Morehouse-Union has out-produced the Delta in turkey kills this year.

Now that the season is over, it's four months until the next hunting season in Louisiana, if the dove season is opened around the first of September.

You can always go crow hunting. We understand they're not as hard to kill as a turkey.

Cheniere Lake Program

The Cheniere Lake Commission, whose members serve without pay, issued a report a day or so ago outlining its accomplishments in developing Cheniere.

Of course, this program could not have been carried out without the support of the people, the Police Jury and the tenth-of-a-mill tax that provides $16,000 annually for the lake development.

One of the amazing aspects of the commission's report pertained to the public turn-out at one of the public areas on Cheniere. During 1963, some 9,163 persons, through reservations, used Area Four to picnic or barbecue.

That's just one area, and there are seven areas on the lake.

Sheltersheds have been constructed, wells created, restrooms installed and picnic tables built.

When you analyze it, $16,000 is not a lot of money for the development of a public recreation area like Cheniere. That's why we believe personally that the renewal of the tenth of the mill tax Tuesday is the least that can be done for Cheniere.

Sewage Treatment Plans

According to the National Wildlife Federation, an unprecedented $820 million was spent in the United States last year for the construction of municipal sewage treatment plants.

This was a record year in the nation's anti-pollution campaign, but still, according to the federation, a total of 5,744 communities need sewage treatment plants, which will cost an estimated $1.9-billion.

The federation says that if the 1963 rate of construction can be maintained the country can catch up with its need in this field within the next five years.

Of course, the program is designed to protect water.

Since the federal construction grants program started in 1956, more than 5,300 projects have been started at a total cost exceeding $2.5 billion. Federal aid has amounted to more than $500 million.

Monroe's new plant should be completed within the next year or so while West Monroe is getting closer to presenting a bond issue program to the people for their plant.

Cleaning up our streams is a great need.

Little Man's Corner

The fishing was good and the last of the legal birds gobbled as the little men made news afield.

Locally, Black Bayou has been a hot fishing spot. That's where Joe Ware of Monroe landed a seven-pound bass — one of the biggest caught this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Neely of West Monroe caught 50 bream and C. E. Bailey of Monroe landed 48 bluegills. Mrs. K. S. Smith caught 25 large bream.

From West Monroe, M. S. Joiner and R. D. Lowery set what may be a record. They caught 65 chinkapins in three hours. S. E. Fletcher landed 49 bream in Black Bayou.

Fishing Black Bayou from Rayville, Pat Earl caught 45 bluegills.

Hunting in Tensas Parish, A. J. Buquet, chairman of the Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, of Houma bagged a gobbler.

At Lake St. John, Mrs. Hugh I. Cross caught the limit of bream and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Burts landed the limit of bream and catfish on worms.

From Winnsboro, Mrs. L. C. Beasley got the limit of bream in St. John about 25 feet from the bank in the cypress trees. H. A. Gunter caught the limit of white perch in the Blue Hole.

Getting the limit of bass in Lake Concordia were Paul Smith, Lynn Jones, Wayne Jackson, Ralph Brown and J. V. Brown, all of Vidalia. Also catching the limit were Ronnie O'Neal and his dad, David O'Neal, Jimmy Gaspard, all of Vidalia.

BEGINS SECOND YEAR

Legion Amateur First Game Set

Officials and managers of the American Legion Amateur Baseball League have set Tuesday May 12 as the opening date for the 1964 season.

This will be the second year of operation for the Amateur League and it is expected that the teams will be bolstered this year by the addition of more college players and graduates of the Dixie Senior League.

Loop officials report the field at Legion Stadium has been put in perfect condition with the infield being seeded and some fifty loads of dirt placed in the infield and outfield. The diamond is expected to be in the best shape since its construction in 1949.

Opening day tickets are now on sale and can be purchased from any manager or member of any team in the league or at Saul Adler's Garage. The ducats are $1 each and if not used for the opening night contest can be used for any regularly scheduled game during the season.

Teams and managers for this season are: Piggly Wiggly, Guy Gannaway, and J. C. McDougald; Davis Food Center, Marvin Collins; KTVE, Jerry Lovette; Louisiana National Guard, Sgt. Q. Johnson; Falstaff Beer, James Allen; Ouachita National Bank, George Moore; Rivers Ford, Red Hibbard and Dave McKenzie; and Monroe All Stars, Dan McClure.

Tiger Swifties First Entry In Coliseum Go

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (Special) — Grambling College's speedy four-man relay team is the first official entry for the 24th Annual Colisuem Relays May 15, it was announced by Jesse Hill, chairman of the relays selection committee.

"Grambling's speedsters have the fastest time in the nation this year." Hill said.

The quartet flashed these marks in the Pelican State Relays at Baton Rouge and at the University of Texas Relays.

As the season progresses, other top teams and individuals from around the nation and world will be invited to compete in the 1964 Olympics preview at the Coliseum.

Grambling's 40.2 mark in the 440 tops the 40.3 with which Texas Southern won the Coliseum Relays in 1962. The Relays record is a sizzling 40.0 flat by the University of Texas in 1947.

Grambling's 1:23.3 time last week beats the Coliseum Relays 880 record of 1:23.4 set in 1962 by Florida A&M.

BUSIEST WEEK OF YEAR

Indians Warm Up Tom-Toms For Thirteen Sports Contests

Northeast State begins its busiest sports week of the year with three athletic events Monday afternoon and ends it the same way next Saturday.

A total of 13 athletic events are scheduled for Indian teams this week, two of them being postponed from last week.

Monday, the Northeast baseball team faces Northwestern at Natchitoches in a crucial doubleheader that could decide the Gulf States Conference pennant. The teams have been 1-2 in the conference race since the first day.

The Indian baseball team plays another doubleheader Tuesday, this one at Wossman Recreation Center here against 1963 GSC champ Southeastern. At the same time the Tribe golfers face another defending conference champion, Louisiana Tech, at Bayou DeSiard while Northeast's track team ends a nine-day layoff in a dual meet against Tech at Ruston.

The Tuesday baseball and golf contests were rained out last week, the golf match being originally set for Friday, April 24, and the baseball games the following day.

On Wednesday the tennis team travels to Southeastern and Thursday tackles Northwestern here while the golfers meet Delta State in Cleveland.

Delta State's tennis team is host to Northeast Friday and Saturday the baseball, tennis and track teams are in action — all in Monroe.

The baseball team meets McNeese in a twin bill here, the net team meets Southwestern — the top roadblock between the Indians and a second straight GSC tennis championship — and that night the Indian thinclads face East Texas State, Southwestern, Louisiana Tech, McNeese and Northwestern in the second annual Northeast Invitational in Brown Stadium.

Tech's Contest With NSC Nine Is Postponed

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Gulf States Conference baseball doubleheader with league leading Northwestern was postponed because of wet grounds here Saturday and reset for Wednesday.

Monday they travel to Lake Charles for a conference clash with McNeese State, Wednesday are the NSC games and Saturday they host Southwestern University.

The Techmen, 4-8 in conference play, may have more trouble with McNeese's Cowboys than they did in sweeping a twinbill here earlier. In the last four games McNeese swept a doubleheader from Southeastern in Hammond and split with Northwestern in Natchitoches.

The other two clubs won't be much easier. Both USL and the Demons swept their homefield doubleheaders with the Bulldogs.

NEXT GAME AT BOSTON

Celtics 'Sense The Kill' In Playoffs; Warriors Down 3-1 In Best Of Seven

BOSTON (AP) — A Boston Celtics team that senses the kill can win a sixth straight playoff title — and a status unique in the history of professional sports —by beating the San Francisco Warriors Sunday night.

Boston leads the best-of-seven final series in the National Basketball Association showdown 3-1 after its hectic 98-95 decision at San Francisco Friday night.

The Celtics are publicly making pronouncements about avoiding overconfidence but privately have vowed to wrap up matters at home.

A sixth game, if necessary, will be played in San Francisco Tuesday night.

No team in playoff sports has won six straight crowns. Baseball's New York Yankees ran a string of five World Series championships, 1949-53, and Montreal's Canadiens of the National Hockey League held the Stanley Cup for a like span, 1956-60.

"It's not over yet," Red Auerbach, Boston coach, said Saturday. "I doubt if we're going to blow it now. But this next game is the big one."

"We're not out of it yet," counters Alex Hannum of the Warriors. We knew when this series started that we were going to have to win one game in Boston.

"Now we're going to have to win two games here and I think our boys can still pull it out."

Bill Russell, the rebounding-defensive key to Boston's success who has held bigger Wilt Chamberlain in check better than any other man could, agrees with Auerbach.

"I don't count these guys out," Russell says. "They're rough and will stay that way."

Then Russell revealed the extra incentive which has spurred the team while admitting "Championships are getting harder to come by."

"I just wanted to win this thing so badly I was hungrier this year than I've ever been since my freshman year in college," Russell added.

"I got sick and tired of having people ask how we'd do without Bob Cousy. I have the greatest respect for Cousy. We all do. But it was irritating to have so many people think we as a team, couldn't win on our own."

Both sides had praise for Tommy Heinsohn of the Celtics, who scored 15 of his 25 points in a 36-point outbusrst in the third period Friday night.

"Nobody can do more on a court than Heinsohn," said Russell. "And when he started to break with the ball we opened things up and that made the difference."

"Heinsohn made the tough shots — when we had him well-guarded," Hannum said.

Tresh Blasts Yankees Past Baltimore, 4-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Tresh drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a single Saturday as the New York Yankees downed Baltimore 4-1 on a four-hitter by Jim Bouton and Steve Hamilton.

Bouton pitched no-hit ball until Jackie Brandt singled up the middle with two out in the sixth. Norm Siebern broke the shutout bid with his first homer of the year in the seventh.

After Bouton walked Lus Aparicio opening the ninth, Manager Yogi Berra replaced Bouton with Hamilton, a lefthander. Siebern singled but Hamilton struck out pinch hitter Joe Gaines and John Orsino and got pinch hitter Sam Bowens on a fly ball.

Mickey Mantle's bunt single preceded Tresh's homer into the right field bleachers in the second. Successive doubles by Bobby Richardson and Roger Maris added another Yank run in the third.

It was the first victory for Bouton, who was the Yanks' first major holdout in over 15 years this spring until he finally capitulated to threats of a $100-a-day penalty.

Hansen Triple Lifts Chicago Past Red Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Hansen tripled home two runs in a three-run third inning that carried the Chicago White Sox past the Boston Red Sox 4-2 Saturday.

The White Sox were aided by 10 bases on balls, silx walks being served by Ed Connolly before Earl Wilson came to the rescue in the third and finished the game,

In the big inning Mike Hershberger collected the first of his three singles and Don Buford walked. Floyd Robinson's single scored Hershberger. Hansen then brought home Buford and Robinson.

Chicago added another run in the seventh when Hansen walked and Al Weis tripled.

Rayville Nine In Playoff Fray Today At 3 p.m.

RAYVILLE (Special) — Rayville High's twice rained out baseball playoff game with A.I.C. of Opelousas will be played today at 3 p. m. on the Rayville diamond.

The Hornets were runner up in district 2 - A while A. I. C. is the only school in its conference that plays baseball. The winner of today's fray will advance to the state semi - finals Tuesday.

If rain forces postponement again today the contest will be played "rain or shine" Monday at 12 noon according to coach Bobby Anderson.

Big Aubry Quimby will pitch for Rayville. The 6-6 righthander has a 4-4 record this season.

Rain Forces Postponement Of Loop Meet

The District 2-AA track meet, originally scheduled for Saturday, has been postponed because of rain.

The event will be Monday on the Ruston High track and will get under way with the field events at 5:30 p.m. and the running contests at 6:30.

54-YEAR OLD PRO

Harrison Shoots 4-Under 66 To Take Open Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the 54-year-old veteran of 35 tours, shot a four-under-par 66 Saturday to jump from a tie for fourth into the lead at 54 holes in the $40,000 Texas Open.

The Arkansas Traveler of the Hagen and Sarazen era sank a 40-foot putt on the 18th green as a jammed gallery cheered. He had made the 54 holes in 202.

He overtook Gordon Jones of Orlando, Fla., who had come in with one of the tournament's lowest rounds, a 65, for a 203.

Harrison, twice winner of the Texas Open, was shooting his third straight sub-par round and was eight-under-par for the 54 holes.

Littler soared to a 71 and Dill had a 72. Littler fell down to a tie for fifth at 205 and Dill to a tie for ninth at 206.

Ken Venturi, making a comeback after years of absence from the winner's circle, and Dan Sikes tied for third with 204. Venturi shot a 68 Saturday while Sikes had a 69.

Harrison, if he wins in the final round today, would be the oldest golfer ever to bag a tournament. John Barnum won the Cajun Classic in 1962 at 51 and holds the record.

OFFENSE UNDER WRAPS

LSU Gold Team Defeats Purple

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State kept its football squad under wraps most of the night but sophomore quarterback Jerry Joseph and 1963 star halfback Joe Labruzzo couldn't be denied in the fourth period as the Gold team shutout the Purples 10-0 Saturday night in the annual spring game.

For the most part, the game, marking the end of LSU's off-season drills—was about as unspectacular as head coach Charlie McClendon had predicted it would be.

With scouts of next fall's opponents looking on, McClendon had said he didn't plan any innovations that would give foes an advance look at strategy.

McClendon let his coaching staff guide the two teams and sat in the press box with Gov.-elect John McKeithen.

Only five backs—three of the purple squad and two on the gold unit—saw regular action in the 1963 campaign. Most notable absentee from the game was Pat Screen, the sophomore quarterback who started out with a bang last year only to suffer a broken collar bone. Screen, fully recovered from the injury, skipped spring practice to play on the baseball squad.

Joseph, a 5-10, 178-pound product of University High on the LSU campus, clicked for nine of 17 passes good for 97 yards. He led Gold rushers with 34 yards in 10 carries to take total offense honors.

Joseph sparked the Gold touchdown drive late in the third period with a 21-yard burst which carried the ball to his own 41. He passed 8 yards to halfback Ronnie Morgan as the period ended and then flipped a 22-yard pass to end Billy Masters and a 23-yarder to Labruzzo before going the final two himself.

Later in the fourth period, Joseph moved his squad deep into Purple territory and when the drive bogged, Labruzzo booted a 27-yard field goal.

The Purple unit pushed to the White one late in the second quarter, but was held on downs. Another scoring threat ended when Joseph intercepted Purple quarterback Billy Ezell's pass from the 19 in the end zone, and Lloyd Christ of the Purples tried a 23-yard field goal in the third but it was short.

Although he couldn't muster scoring punch, Ezell was his team's offensive leader. He carried the ball three times for 51 yards and completed 8 of 15 tosses for another 69. Both Ezell and Joseph saw three of their aerials intercepted.

Legion Baseball Meeting Slated For Farmerville

FARMERVILLE (Special) — A meeting to discuss Junior Legion baseball in the Fifth District will be held at the courthouse here next Saturday at 2 p.m., according to James Spencer, district commissioner.

All cities wishing to enter teams this year should have a representative present, Spencer said.

Boys born on or after Sept. 1, 1945 are eligible to play this year, Spencer said.

Celtics 'Sense The Kill' In Playoffs; Warriors Down 3-1 In Best Of Seven

BOSTON (AP) — A Boston Celtics team that senses the kill can win a sixth straight playoff title — and a status unique in the history of professional sports —by beating the San Francisco Warriors Sunday night.

Boston leads the best-of-seven final series in the National Basketball Association showdown 3-1 after its hectic 98-95 decision at San Francisco Friday night.

The Celtics are publicly making pronouncements about avoiding overconfidence but privately have vowed to wrap up matters at home.

A sixth game, if necessary, will be played in San Francisco Tuesday night.

No team in playoff sports has won six straight crowns. Baseball's New York Yankees ran a string of five World Series championships, 1949-53, and Montreal's Canadiens of the National Hockey League held the Stanley Cup for a like span, 1956-60.

"It's not over yet," Red Auerbach, Boston coach, said Saturday. "I doubt if we're going to blow it now. But this next game is the big one."

"We're not out of it yet," counters Alex Hannum of the Warriors. We knew when this series started that we were going to have to win one game in Boston.

"Now we're going to have to win two games here and I think our boys can still pull it out."

Bill Russell, the rebounding-defensive key to Boston's success who has held bigger Wilt Chamberlain in check better than any other man could, agrees with Auerbach.

"I don't count these guys out," Russell says. "They're rough and will stay that way."

Then Russell revealed the extra incentive which has spurred the team while admitting "Championships are getting harder to come by."

"I just wanted to win this thing so badly I was hungrier this year than I've ever been since my freshman year in college," Russell added.

"I got sick and tired of having people ask how we'd do without Bob Cousy. I have the greatest respect for Cousy. We all do. But it was irritating to have so many people think we as a team, couldn't win on our own."

Both sides had praise for Tommy Heinsohn of the Celtics, who scored 15 of his 25 points in a 36-point outbusrst in the third period Friday night.

"Nobody can do more on a court than Heinsohn," said Russell. "And when he started to break with the ball we opened things up and that made the difference."

"Heinsohn made the tough shots — when we had him well-guarded," Hannum said.

Tresh Blasts Yankees Past Baltimore, 4-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Tresh drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a single Saturday as the New York Yankees downed Baltimore 4-1 on a four-hitter by Jim Bouton and Steve Hamilton.

Bouton pitched no-hit ball until Jackie Brandt singled up the middle with two out in the sixth. Norm Siebern broke the shutout bid with his first homer of the year in the seventh.

After Bouton walked Lus Aparicio opening the ninth, Manager Yogi Berra replaced Bouton with Hamilton, a lefthander. Siebern singled but Hamilton struck out pinch hitter Joe Gaines and John Orsino and got pinch hitter Sam Bowens on a fly ball.

Mickey Mantle's bunt single preceded Tresh's homer into the right field bleachers in the second. Successive doubles by Bobby Richardson and Roger Maris added another Yank run in the third.

It was the first victory for Bouton, who was the Yanks' first major holdout in over 15 years this spring until he finally capitulated to threats of a $100-a-day penalty.

Hansen Triple Lifts Chicago Past Red Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Hansen tripled home two runs in a three-run third inning that carried the Chicago White Sox past the Boston Red Sox 4-2 Saturday.

The White Sox were aided by 10 bases on balls, silx walks being served by Ed Connolly before Earl Wilson came to the rescue in the third and finished the game,

In the big inning Mike Hershberger collected the first of his three singles and Don Buford walked. Floyd Robinson's single scored Hershberger. Hansen then brought home Buford and Robinson.

Chicago added another run in the seventh when Hansen walked and Al Weis tripled.

Rain Forces Postponement Of Loop Meet

The District 2-AA track meet, originally scheduled for Saturday, has been postponed because of rain.

The event will be Monday on the Ruston High track and will get under way with the field events at 5:30 p.m. and the running contests at 6:30.

54-YEAR OLD PRO

Harrison Shoots 4-Under 66 To Take Open Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the 54-year-old veteran of 35 tours, shot a four-under-par 66 Saturday to jump from a tie for fourth into the lead at 54 holes in the $40,000 Texas Open.

The Arkansas Traveler of the Hagen and Sarazen era sank a 40-foot putt on the 18th green as a jammed gallery cheered. He had made the 54 holes in 202.

He overtook Gordon Jones of Orlando, Fla., who had come in with one of the tournament's lowest rounds, a 65, for a 203.

Harrison, twice winner of the Texas Open, was shooting his third straight sub-par round and was eight-under-par for the 54 holes.

Littler soared to a 71 and Dill had a 72. Littler fell down to a tie for fifth at 205 and Dill to a tie for ninth at 206.

Ken Venturi, making a comeback after years of absence from the winner's circle, and Dan Sikes tied for third with 204. Venturi shot a 68 Saturday while Sikes had a 69.

Harrison, if he wins in the final round today, would be the oldest golfer ever to bag a tournament. John Barnum won the Cajun Classic in 1962 at 51 and holds the record.

OFFENSE UNDER WRAPS

LSU Gold Team Defeats Purple

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State kept its football squad under wraps most of the night but sophomore quarterback Jerry Joseph and 1963 star halfback Joe Labruzzo couldn't be denied in the fourth period as the Gold team shutout the Purples 10-0 Saturday night in the annual spring game.

For the most part, the game, marking the end of LSU's off-season drills—was about as unspectacular as head coach Charlie McClendon had predicted it would be.

With scouts of next fall's opponents looking on, McClendon had said he didn't plan any innovations that would give foes an advance look at strategy.

McClendon let his coaching staff guide the two teams and sat in the press box with Gov.-elect John McKeithen.

Only five backs—three of the purple squad and two on the gold unit—saw regular action in the 1963 campaign. Most notable absentee from the game was Pat Screen, the sophomore quarterback who started out with a bang last year only to suffer a broken collar bone. Screen, fully recovered from the injury, skipped spring practice to play on the baseball squad.

Joseph, a 5-10, 178-pound product of University High on the LSU campus, clicked for nine of 17 passes good for 97 yards. He led Gold rushers with 34 yards in 10 carries to take total offense honors.

Joseph sparked the Gold touchdown drive late in the third period with a 21-yard burst which carried the ball to his own 41. He passed 8 yards to halfback Ronnie Morgan as the period ended and then flipped a 22-yard pass to end Billy Masters and a 23-yarder to Labruzzo before going the final two himself.

Later in the fourth period, Joseph moved his squad deep into Purple territory and when the drive bogged, Labruzzo booted a 27-yard field goal.

The Purple unit pushed to the White one late in the second quarter, but was held on downs. Another scoring threat ended when Joseph intercepted Purple quarterback Billy Ezell's pass from the 19 in the end zone, and Lloyd Christ of the Purples tried a 23-yard field goal in the third but it was short.

Although he couldn't muster scoring punch, Ezell was his team's offensive leader. He carried the ball three times for 51 yards and completed 8 of 15 tosses for another 69. Both Ezell and Joseph saw three of their aerials intercepted.

Rayville Nine In Playoff Fray Today At 3 p.m.

RAYVILLE (Special) — Rayville High's twice rained out baseball playoff game with A.I.C. of Opelousas will be played today at 3 p. m. on the Rayville diamond.

The Hornets were runner up in district 2 - A while A. I. C. is the only school in its conference that plays baseball. The winner of today's fray will advance to the state semi - finals Tuesday.

If rain forces postponement again today the contest will be played "rain or shine" Monday at 12 noon according to coach Bobby Anderson.

Big Aubry Quimby will pitch for Rayville. The 6-6 righthander has a 4-4 record this season.

Legion Baseball Meeting Slated For Farmerville

FARMERVILLE (Special) — A meeting to discuss Junior Legion baseball in the Fifth District will be held at the courthouse here next Saturday at 2 p.m., according to James Spencer, district commissioner.

All cities wishing to enter teams this year should have a representative present, Spencer said.

Boys born on or after Sept. 1, 1945 are eligible to play this year, Spencer said.

MRS. EDITH DEEN

Author Due At Covenant For Speech

The author of several religious books, Mrs. Edith Deen, of Fort Worth, Texas, will be guest speaker at a 7:30 p.m. Wednesday program at Covenant Presbyterian Church. The event will be open to the general public.

She will discuss the subject, "What does the Bible say to families today." In her talk she will place emphasis on "families within the big church family."

SEVERAL BOOKS

Mrs. Deen is author of "Family Living in the Bible," "All of the Women of the Bible," and "Great Women of Christian Faith."

The guest speaker is a former first lady of Fort Worth, where her husband, Edgar Deen, served as mayor, and for many years she was woman's editor and daily columnist for the Forth Worth Press. She has authored many magazine articles, served as radio and television commentator, lectured in many areas of the nation, and has been active in church, educational, and professional organizations.

She attended a number of universities, and holds B. A., and master's degrees from Texas Woman's University, in addition to an honorary doctor of letters degree from that institution. She is a former deaconess at University Christian Church, Fort Worth.

BEGGAR'S BANKROLL

ORISTANO, Sardinia (AP)—A hospital here is holding $2,560 until it hears from a court.

The money was found sewn into a jacket lining on Pietro Manca, 73, a Sardinian beggar who spent his last years roaming the streets and was found dying a natural death in an abandoned barn at Marrubiu last week. Relatives soon turned up with claims.

State Heart Group Cites News Writer

The Louisiana Heart Association Saturday in Baton Rouge presented a citation to Miss Mary Anne Corpin "for outstanding service in the production of news items and feature articles on heart disease in the Monroe News-Star—World."

The special citation was the first of its kind, and the only one presented to a news writer in the state, according to Heart Association President Dr. Page W. Acree of Baton Rouge.

The awards ceremony took place at a luncheon highlighting the 15th annual meeting of the Louisiana Heart Association at the Lakeshore Motor Hotel in Baton Rouge.

"This is actually the first such award presented by the association," said Heart Association field director Pat Mitchell of Monroe.

"At the end of each year," he explained, "awards are presented to the officers of the association and the proper committees showing what has been accomplished in each of the areas in the different phases of the program.

"This year, when the program was submitted from Ouachita Parish, a complete sheaf of material from the newspapers was included, and it was recognized that this was very outstanding."

The citation was recommended by the awards committee headed by F. A. Babb of Lake Providence and approved by the L.H.A. It was presented because of the outstanding service which has been pendered, and will not necessarily be presented each year, said officials.

The Association's convention began Friday noon with meetings of the Professional Education committee and the Heart Fund planning and advisory committee, followed by a board of directors meeting at 2 p.m. and a dinner party at the City Club.

Scientific sessions for nurses and physicians were held Saturday morning.

The annual luncheon at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Magnolia Room featured the president's report by Dr. Acree.

C. C. Clifton Jr. of New Orleans, State Chairman, discussed Heart Fund results, and Henry J. Miltenberger of New Orleans presented the treasurers' report.

Election of new officers concluded the sessions.

Vice-presidents include Dr. David Buttross Jr., Lake Charles, Dr. James D. Kelly, Monroe and Dr. Henry S. Roane, Ruston.

Sheriff-Elect To Take Office; Names Deputies

JONESVILLE (Special) — R. C. "J. Y." McGuffee, Catahoula Parish sheriff-elect, has reported he will take the oath of office May 1, but that he will not actually take over the sheriff's office until June 1.

McGuffee said his deputies will be Causey Egloff of Foules, Keith G. Ford of Aimwell, J. N. Forman of Jonesville, A. J. Guyon of Enterprise and Perry Stubbs of Sicily Island.

H. D. Dosher of Harrisonburg will be given the job of office deputy, McGuffee said. Other personnel will include W. A. Book of Larto, Shelby H. Beasley of Harrisonburg and Jeff Boothe of Harrisonburg, all part-time radio operators and office personnel to serve on "staggered hours."

J. W. (Jug) Adams of Jonesville will be the jailer.

MRS. EDITH DEEN

Author Due At Covenant For Speech

The author of several religious books, Mrs. Edith Deen, of Fort Worth, Texas, will be guest speaker at a 7:30 p.m. Wednesday program at Covenant Presbyterian Church. The event will be open to the general public.

She will discuss the subject, "What does the Bible say to families today." In her talk she will place emphasis on "families within the big church family."

SEVERAL BOOKS

Mrs. Deen is author of "Family Living in the Bible," "All of the Women of the Bible," and "Great Women of Christian Faith."

The guest speaker is a former first lady of Fort Worth, where her husband, Edgar Deen, served as mayor, and for many years she was woman's editor and daily columnist for the Forth Worth Press. She has authored many magazine articles, served as radio and television commentator, lectured in many areas of the nation, and has been active in church, educational, and professional organizations.

She attended a number of universities, and holds B. A., and master's degrees from Texas Woman's University, in addition to an honorary doctor of letters degree from that institution. She is a former deaconess at University Christian Church, Fort Worth.

BEGGAR'S BANKROLL

ORISTANO, Sardinia (AP)—A hospital here is holding $2,560 until it hears from a court.

The money was found sewn into a jacket lining on Pietro Manca, 73, a Sardinian beggar who spent his last years roaming the streets and was found dying a natural death in an abandoned barn at Marrubiu last week. Relatives soon turned up with claims.

State Heart Group Cites News Writer

The Louisiana Heart Association Saturday in Baton Rouge presented a citation to Miss Mary Anne Corpin "for outstanding service in the production of news items and feature articles on heart disease in the Monroe News-Star—World."

The special citation was the first of its kind, and the only one presented to a news writer in the state, according to Heart Association President Dr. Page W. Acree of Baton Rouge.

The awards ceremony took place at a luncheon highlighting the 15th annual meeting of the Louisiana Heart Association at the Lakeshore Motor Hotel in Baton Rouge.

"This is actually the first such award presented by the association," said Heart Association field director Pat Mitchell of Monroe.

"At the end of each year," he explained, "awards are presented to the officers of the association and the proper committees showing what has been accomplished in each of the areas in the different phases of the program.

"This year, when the program was submitted from Ouachita Parish, a complete sheaf of material from the newspapers was included, and it was recognized that this was very outstanding."

The citation was recommended by the awards committee headed by F. A. Babb of Lake Providence and approved by the L.H.A. It was presented because of the outstanding service which has been pendered, and will not necessarily be presented each year, said officials.

The Association's convention began Friday noon with meetings of the Professional Education committee and the Heart Fund planning and advisory committee, followed by a board of directors meeting at 2 p.m. and a dinner party at the City Club.

Scientific sessions for nurses and physicians were held Saturday morning.

The annual luncheon at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Magnolia Room featured the president's report by Dr. Acree.

C. C. Clifton Jr. of New Orleans, State Chairman, discussed Heart Fund results, and Henry J. Miltenberger of New Orleans presented the treasurers' report.

Election of new officers concluded the sessions.

Sheriff-Elect To Take Office; Names Deputies

JONESVILLE (Special) — R. C. "J. Y." McGuffee, Catahoula Parish sheriff-elect, has reported he will take the oath of office May 1, but that he will not actually take over the sheriff's office until June 1.

McGuffee said his deputies will be Causey Egloff of Foules, Keith G. Ford of Aimwell, J. N. Forman of Jonesville, A. J. Guyon of Enterprise and Perry Stubbs of Sicily Island.

H. D. Dosher of Harrisonburg will be given the job of office deputy, McGuffee said. Other personnel will include W. A. Book of Larto, Shelby H. Beasley of Harrisonburg and Jeff Boothe of Harrisonburg, all part-time radio operators and office personnel to serve on "staggered hours."

J. W. (Jug) Adams of Jonesville will be the jailer.

Contour Shoulder

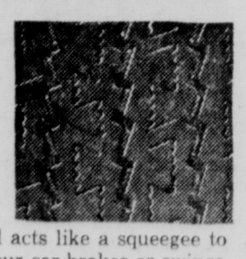

Newly Designed to Roll Over-Not Into-Road Hazards

The roll-over action of this patented shoulder gives you more control over road hazards and when you swerve off the road.

Interlocking Tread

Designed to Cling to Wet Roads Even During Cornering

The patented tread acts like a squeegee to soak up water as your car brakes or swings around a wet, slippery corner.

Silencer Buttons

Designed to Spread the Tread to Reduce Squeal

Get 4-Way Traction From Sidewall-to-Sidewall from Thousands of Vise-Jaw Edges. Silencer Buttons Spread the Tread for More Control Around Curves and Corners

ALLSTATE introduces a revolutionary concept in driver safety . . . the patented ALLSTATE SUPERTRED. The specially designed interlocking tread has thousands of vise-jaw edges that lock onto the road for more traction. The tread is wider and 10% deeper than original equipment tires, so more road-hugging, working rubber is on the job. A 3-rib center design gives maximum traction and ease of handling

Alpha Chi Alumnae Has Spring Tea For Coeds

A spring tea was given by the local Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Club Sunday, April 19 to entertain members of the active chapter at Louisiana Tech. The reception room of the First National Bank in West Monroe was scene of the gala affair.

An invitation was also extended to unaffiliated alumnae in the surrounding area.

An arrangement of long stemmed red carnations, the sorority flower, flanked by tall red tapers formed the central decor for the serving table. Napkins and other appointments carried out the sorority's colors of scarlet red and olive green.

As hostesses, local alumnae in attendance included Mrs. Sara Ellen Bottorff, Mrs. I. E. Clair, Mrs. Evelyn Curry, Mrs. Bill Dakin, Mrs. John T. Goorley, Mrs. James Griffin, Mrs. Donald Klein, Mrs. James Hoogland, Mrs. Guy Luno Jr., Mrs. Jo Anne Neal, Mrs. L. A. Newman Jr., Mrs. L. U. Norris, Mrs. James Padgett, Mrs. Charles Vaughan and Miss Charlotte Pankey.

Actives from the Ruston chapter were Misses Carol Cook, Bonnie Crouch, Martha Bradley, Milou Hammet, Clara Burgess, Charlotte Causey, Becky Rice, Gerene Burns, Linda Johnston, Bethe Andrews, Ann Woodward, Zella Faye Brown, Nancy Muse, Marianne McFarland, Trudy Avants, Jill Lestage, Bonnie McKee, Carol Bolen, Linda Lucy Landrum, Carolyn Houston, Bliss Craighead, Alice Goorley, Patsy Nelson, Gail York, Sue Doiron, Suzanne Sexton, Lydia Allen, Brenda McCraine, Coni Sweeney, Madeline Bounds, Heidi Rowan, Polly Grigsby and Marcia Maker. Miss Willie Fletcher, faculty advisor, accompanied the group from Tech.

Other guests were Mrs. Wren L. Causey of Columbia, an unaffiliated alumnae and Mrs. Earl Rowan, an Alpha Chi Omega mother from Monroe.

SLACKS SUIT

Watch for the slacks suit. Harper's Bazaar's Fashion Newsletter predicts jackets with slacks to match — a fashion that hasn't been seen since the war years of the 40's. The jacket will be a battle jacket or blazer teamed up with matching slacks in black gabardine or jersey, or gray flannel.

June Nuptials Announced For Mary Evelyn Ware

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ware, 407 Audubon Ave., West Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Evelyn Ware to Henry Albert Weaver of Monroe. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Weaver of Mattoon, Illinois.

Planned as an event of June 5 the wedding will be solemnized at 3 p.m. in White's Ferry Road Church of Christ with Albert Fleetwood minister, performing the ceremony.

Attending the bride as matron of honor will be Mrs. H. W. Rogers and chosen as best man by Mr. Weaver is Lt. Ronald Deady.

Miss Ware was graduated from West Monroe high school where she was a member of Delta Beta Sigma sorority and attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

A graduate of Mattoon high school, Mr. Weaver attended the University of Southern Illinois and is presently a student at Northeast.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will be at home in Monroe.

MEN'S FASHIONS

The American male, intended by nature to be the resplendent peacock, is pretty much of a chicken when it comes to selecting his fine feathers, says Ron Postal, director of the National Council of Men's Fashions. She claims man becomes a dull-hued bird early in life right after he has passed through the colorful era of the cowboy and Indian of his youth.

Traditionally a highlight of Spring's social season in Monroe, the JUNIOR CHARITY LEAGUE'S annual silver tea was held Tuesday from three to six in the T. J. RYAN home. Proceeds of this yearly event are used in support of the League's various community projects.

Marking the entrance to the Ryan home was a hammered brass urn filled with a massive arrangement of pineapples and greenery. Guests were greeted at the door by members of the Ways and Means committee responsible for planning the tea; LORETTA RIVERS, VERA KELSO, and ANN BELL.

Center of interest in the living room was an antique brass usabata holding an Oriental arrangement of iris and greenery. On the piano, where BARBARA ADDISON provided music during the first hour, was a tall brass candlestick holding sprays of English dogwood and white Dutch iris. Beginning at four a string ensemble from the Monroe Youth Orchestra played in the living room. These were SUSAN KILPATRICK, PHYLLIS MIDDLETON, LANE ALLEN, CHARLES WILLIAMS, JANE ALLEN, DAVIS DAVID STANHOPE, SUSAN MARTIN, and MIKE STRAUSSER.

Guests were greeted in the dining room by OLIVE SARTOR, vice-president of the League. Centering the tea table was a silver tureen filled with yellow gladioli, day lilies, chrysanthemums and yellow roses softened with English ivy trailing over the side. Those who poured included KATIE MAE THORNHILL, GEORGIE TOUCHSTONE, KITTY OLIVER, BETTY BIEDENHARN, FRANCESCA BIEDENHARN, ETHEL BOARDMAN, LOUISE MORGAN, MARIE BERNSTEIN.

Twin tables were set up on the patio, where refreshments were served. One round glass-top table was centered with a tall hurricane glass filled with lemons, limes, and variegated euonymus. At the other table, coffee was served from a brass samovar.

General chairman of the tea was Ann Bell, who was assisted by JUDY WORTHEN as kitchen chairman; ZINNIA CHAPMAN, assistant kitchen chairman; ANN SLAGLE and SALLY LAUVE, serving committee; ANN CLAIRE SEYMOUR, pick-up; and Loretta Rivers, publicity.

Vera Kelso, flower chairman, was assisted by MARY ALICE LOFLIN, JOY MARSHALL, Georgie Touchstone, CAMILLE WOOD, Helen Wallace, Ann Slagle, and JEAN GIFFEN.

Several hundred ladies called between three and six in the afternoon.

Coming down from Little Rock for the silver tea, Adrienne Gaston Smith was in town for a luncheon honoring Jibby Fox on her birthday Tuesday. The party was held at Bayou DeSiard country club, attended by a group who regularly meet for each other's birthdays. Others present were MARY ALICE HUSTED, WAVA FRAZER, JEAN GIFFEN, EVELYN COLE.

This is an eagerly - awaited weekend for the GEORGE FINKS, who are enjoying a reunion with their children. CHERYL ANN and JOHN LOLLEY arrived Friday from Dearborn, Michigan. Cheryl will be here for a month on this, her first visit since October, 1963. Also coming in on Friday was BETH FINK, who has been working in Houston since January. Beth came in for a visit with her sister over the weekend and also attended the Kappa Alpha Old South Ball at Northeast last night.

Several parties in town this week have honored MARTHA GOULD of Long Beach California. Martha has been in Louisiana two weeks visiting her mother, LUCILLE HUNT, in Ruston. Last Friday SADIE LANDRY entertained at luncheon in the private dining room of Bayou DeSiard country club, honoring Martha. Pink and yellow chrysanthemums centered the table. Others invited to share this occasion with Lucille and Martha were ROSEMARY HUNT, NODIE THATCHER, CRARY SMITH, and MARY OLIVE GREEN of Ruston.

On Saturday, LAYTON LAMKIN was hostess at luncheon at her home. Vari-colored roses and iris from Laytons' lovely gardens were used to decorate the house. Sixteen guests were seated at three tables for lunch.

Sunday brunch was the compliment of the HAROLD WOODS for Martha. Bernice placed bouquets of April roses throughout the house. White roses were used to center the dining room, where brunch was served buffet. Individual tables set up on the loggia were each centered with roses in different shades. Seventeen guests attended this party.

A yellow theme was carried out in appointments when Nodie Thatcher entertained at luncheon on Monday, also honoring Martha. Yellow iris were used in the entrance with yellow roses on the dining room table. Guests for this party included Lucille Layton, ANNA GRAY NOE, Rosemary, IMOGENE RATLIFF, Sadie Landry.

Also complimenting Martha was a luncheon given Wednesday at her home by DORIS STEPHENS. Six were seated at a table centered with a low arrangement of white-flowered pyracantha branches used with red rosebuds. Guests at this party, with Martha, Lucille, and Rosemary, were ARABELLA CANN, and JUNE M'HENRY.

After this party, Martha went to New Orleans for two days, with Lucille and MAMIE HEARD of Ruston. She returned to leave again, this weekend, for home in California.

Myriad candles lighted the Paragon ballroom for the REVELERS' dance club spring party last Friday night. A ring of hurricane lights encircled the bandstand, with wine bottles holding candles on each table. There were more hurricane lights in the openings of the trellises which surrounded the floor. Out of towners noted at the party were the EDWIN PREIS of Newellton. Music for dancing was provided by Jerry Lane and his orchestra from nine until one.

DERBY DAY, an annual party at Bayou DeSiard country club, is set this coming Saturday, May 2. ED SEYMOUR, JR. is chairman of the affair, which is planned to follow traditional patterns with local races as well as television viewing of the Kentucky Derby.

For our poem today, a seasonal one by a local author, "When April Comes" by Eulalia McCoy:

When April comes to rouse the sleeping earth
She weeps to see the wrath of wintry roar —
The havoc wrought upon the earth's brown floor —
Then goes about to remedy the dearth.
Her tears become the life-sap of new birth
To cuddled spring and all its brimming store;
The springtime is the singtime of the year
When life is glad because the pulsing heart,
And surging earth, resound in lovers' song
That turns the April grief to diamonds clear
We want the wintry days to soon depart —
Then April comes — and hearts to earth belong!

LSPA Auxiliary Elects Officers At Luncheon

Election of officers for the 1964-65 club year was held by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fifth District Louisiana State Pharmaceutical Association at a luncheon meeting last Saturday at the Rendezvous.

SLACKS SUIT

Watch for the slacks suit. Harper's Bazaar's Fashion Newsletter predicts jackets with slacks to match — a fashion that hasn't been seen since the war years of the 40's. The jacket will be a battle jacket or blazer teamed up with matching slacks in black gabardine or jersey, or gray flannel.

June Nuptials Announced For Mary Evelyn Ware

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ware, 407 Audubon Ave., West Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Evelyn Ware to Henry Albert Weaver of Monroe. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Weaver of Mattoon, Illinois.

Planned as an event of June 5 the wedding will be solemnized at 3 p.m. in White's Ferry Road Church of Christ with Albert Fleetwood minister, performing the ceremony.

Attending the bride as matron of honor will be Mrs. H. W. Rogers and chosen as best man by Mr. Weaver is Lt. Ronald Deady.

Miss Ware was graduated from West Monroe high school where she was a member of Delta Beta Sigma sorority and attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

A graduate of Mattoon high school, Mr. Weaver attended the University of Southern Illinois and is presently a student at Northeast.

MEN'S FASHIONS

The American male, intended by nature to be the resplendent peacock, is pretty much of a chicken when it comes to selecting his fine feathers, says Ron Postal, director of the National Council of Men's Fashions. She claims man becomes a dull-hued bird early in life right after he has passed through the colorful era of the cowboy and Indian of his youth.

Traditionally a highlight of Spring's social season in Monroe, the JUNIOR CHARITY LEAGUE'S annual silver tea was held Tuesday from three to six in the T. J. RYAN home. Proceeds of this yearly event are used in support of the League's various community projects.

Marking the entrance to the Ryan home was a hammered brass urn filled with a massive arrangement of pineapples and greenery. Guests were greeted at the door by members of the Ways and Means committee responsible for planning the tea; LORETTA RIVERS, VERA KELSO, and ANN BELL.

Center of interest in the living room was an antique brass usabata holding an Oriental arrangement of iris and greenery. On the piano, where BARBARA ADDISON provided music during the first hour, was a tall brass candlestick holding sprays of English dogwood and white Dutch iris. Beginning at four a string ensemble from the Monroe Youth Orchestra played in the living room. These were SUSAN KILPATRICK, PHYLLIS MIDDLETON, LANE ALLEN, CHARLES WILLIAMS, JANE ALLEN, DAVIS DAVID STANHOPE, SUSAN MARTIN, and MIKE STRAUSSER.

Guests were greeted in the dining room by OLIVE SARTOR, vice-president of the League. Centering the tea table was a silver tureen filled with yellow gladioli, day lilies, chrysanthemums and yellow roses softened with English ivy trailing over the side. Those who poured included KATIE MAE THORNHILL, GEORGIE TOUCHSTONE, KITTY OLIVER, BETTY BIEDENHARN, FRANCESCA BIEDENHARN, ETHEL BOARDMAN, LOUISE MORGAN, MARIE BERNSTEIN.

Twin tables were set up on the patio, where refreshments were served. One round glass-top table was centered with a tall hurricane glass filled with lemons, limes, and variegated euonymus. At the other table, coffee was served from a brass samovar.

General chairman of the tea was Ann Bell, who was assisted by JUDY WORTHEN as kitchen chairman; ZINNIA CHAPMAN, assistant kitchen chairman; ANN SLAGLE and SALLY LAUVE, serving committee; ANN CLAIRE SEYMOUR, pick-up; and Loretta Rivers, publicity.

Vera Kelso, flower chairman, was assisted by MARY ALICE LOFLIN, JOY MARSHALL, Georgie Touchstone, CAMILLE WOOD, Helen Wallace, Ann Slagle, and JEAN GIFFEN.

Several hundred ladies called between three and six in the afternoon.

Coming down from Little Rock for the silver tea, Adrienne Gaston Smith was in town for a luncheon honoring Jibby Fox on her birthday Tuesday. The party was held at Bayou DeSiard country club, attended by a group who regularly meet for each other's birthdays. Others present were MARY ALICE HUSTED, WAVA FRAZER, JEAN GIFFEN, EVELYN COLE.

This is an eagerly - awaited weekend for the GEORGE FINKS, who are enjoying a reunion with their children. CHERYL ANN and JOHN LOLLEY arrived Friday from Dearborn, Michigan. Cheryl will be here for a month on this, her first visit since October, 1963. Also coming in on Friday was BETH FINK, who has been working in Houston since January. Beth came in for a visit with her sister over the weekend and also attended the Kappa Alpha Old South Ball at Northeast last night.

Several parties in town this week have honored MARTHA GOULD of Long Beach California. Martha has been in Louisiana two weeks visiting her mother, LUCILLE HUNT, in Ruston. Last Friday SADIE LANDRY entertained at luncheon in the private dining room of Bayou DeSiard country club, honoring Martha. Pink and yellow chrysanthemums centered the table. Others invited to share this occasion with Lucille and Martha were ROSEMARY HUNT, NODIE THATCHER, CRARY SMITH, and MARY OLIVE GREEN of Ruston.

On Saturday, LAYTON LAMKIN was hostess at luncheon at her home. Vari-colored roses and iris from Laytons' lovely gardens were used to decorate the house. Sixteen guests were seated at three tables for lunch.

Sunday brunch was the compliment of the HAROLD WOODS for Martha. Bernice placed bouquets of April roses throughout the house. White roses were used to center the dining room, where brunch was served buffet. Individual tables set up on the loggia were each centered with roses in different shades. Seventeen guests attended this party.

A yellow theme was carried out in appointments when Nodie Thatcher entertained at luncheon on Monday, also honoring Martha. Yellow iris were used in the entrance with yellow roses on the dining room table. Guests for this party included Lucille Layton, ANNA GRAY NOE, Rosemary, IMOGENE RATLIFF, Sadie Landry.

Also complimenting Martha was a luncheon given Wednesday at her home by DORIS STEPHENS. Six were seated at a table centered with a low arrangement of white-flowered pyracantha branches used with red rosebuds. Guests at this party, with Martha, Lucille, and Rosemary, were ARABELLA CANN, and JUNE M'HENRY.

After this party, Martha went to New Orleans for two days, with Lucille and MAMIE HEARD of Ruston. She returned to leave again, this weekend, for home in California.

Myriad candles lighted the Paragon ballroom for the REVELERS' dance club spring party last Friday night. A ring of hurricane lights encircled the bandstand, with wine bottles holding candles on each table. There were more hurricane lights in the openings of the trellises which surrounded the floor. Out of towners noted at the party were the EDWIN PREIS of Newellton. Music for dancing was provided by Jerry Lane and his orchestra from nine until one.

DERBY DAY, an annual party at Bayou DeSiard country club, is set this coming Saturday, May 2. ED SEYMOUR, JR. is chairman of the affair, which is planned to follow traditional patterns with local races as well as television viewing of the Kentucky Derby.

For our poem today, a seasonal one by a local author, "When April Comes" by Eulalia McCoy:

When April comes to rouse the sleeping earth
She weeps to see the wrath of wintry roar —
The havoc wrought upon the earth's brown floor —
Then goes about to remedy the dearth.
Her tears become the life-sap of new birth
To cuddled spring and all its brimming store;
The springtime is the singtime of the year
When life is glad because the pulsing heart,
And surging earth, resound in lovers' song
That turns the April grief to diamonds clear
We want the wintry days to soon depart —
Then April comes — and hearts to earth belong!

Mr. Dunn is a graduate of Northwestern State College and is employed by the Columbian Carbon Company in Conroe. The bride-elect is a student at the University of Houston.

MISS LORANNE MARSH

Loranne Marsh Engaged To Daniel Benson Temple

Mr. and Mrs. Van C. Marsh, 1500 Speed Ave., Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Loranne Marsh to Daniel Benson Temple of Urbana, Illinois. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William Benson Temple of Ruston.

Planned as an event of June 6 the wedding will be solemnized in Parkview Baptist Church, Monroe with Rev. James R. Edwards performing the ceremony at 5:30 p.m.

The bride - elect has chosen Miss Varga Szabo of Highland, Kansas to serve as maid of honor and bridesmaids will be Miss Louise Temple of Ruston, sister of the future bridegroom; Miss Beth Walden and Miss Rebecca Wiley, both of New Orleans. Junior bridesmaid will be Miss Marilyn Marsh of Monroe, sister of the bride-to-be.

Charles C. Chadbourn III of Ruston, has been named to serve as best man by Mr. Temple. Serving as ushers will be John Max Howard of Pineville; James T. Maranto, Shreveport; Donald Gene Spencer of Clay and Mack James Marsh, Monroe, brother of the bride-elect.

Miss Marsh is the granddaughter of Mrs. J. E. Turnley of Trout and the late Mrs. Claudia Marsh of Stonewall. A graduate of East Jefferson high school, Metairie, she attended Louisiana Tech and is now attending Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mr. Temple is the grandson of Mrs. Leo Daniel of Arcadia and Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Temple of Pineville. He was graduated from Ruston high school, received his B.S. degree in mathematics from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and his M.S. degree from the University of Illinois.

A JUNE BRIDE-ELECT is Miss Phyllis Ann Winters, whose engagement to James D. Crawley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Jimmie Bolton officiating. Miss Winters is a senior at Northeast Louisiana State College where she will graduate in August. The prospective bridegroom attended Northeast in Monroe and Louisiana Tech, Ruston and is now serving with the United States Navy, stationed in San Diego, Calif.

Victoria Cain Is Bride Of Jack D. Langston Jr.

First Baptist Church in Bastrop was scene of the candlelight ceremony Friday, April 24 which united in marriage Miss Victoria Lucylle Cain and Jack Dawson Langston Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Victor Ovel Cain and the late Mr. Cain of Bastrop and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dawson Langston Sr., of Monroe.

Dr. Ray Rust performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Massive arrangements of white stock, gladioli and chrysanthemums against a background of tropical palms interspersed with wrought iron candelabra holding white tapers formed a setting for the bridal party. Southern smilax entwined the candelabra and pews were marked with magnolia foliage and satin bows.

Traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Norma Jean Weatherly, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Bill Santo.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James Chester Cain. Her gown of silk organza over taffeta featured long tapered sleeves and a scooped neckline, etched with reembroidered Alencon lace with sequins and tiny seed pearls. The voluminous skirt was embellished with the sequin and pearl appliques and extended into a full court train from pleated back fullness, defined by a single rose at the dropped waistline. A crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of calla lilies centered with white cattleya orchids.

Attending the bride were Miss Annette Holloway, maid of honor; Mrs. James Chester Cain, her sister-in-law, as matron of honor and Miss Gail Riels, bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of yellow peau de soie styled with scooped necklines, brief sleeves and semi-belled full length skirts. Floating back panels were attached to the neckline with flat bows. Completing their costumes were matching pillbox hats with circular veils, yellow slippers and long white gloves. Their bouquests were crescent designs of Killian daisies with accents of white.

Mr. Langston served as best man for his son and groomsmen were Rector Hopgood and Sidney Langston, uncle of the groom. Candlelighters were Russ Langston, brother of the bride and Bobby Kelly.

Mrs. Cain wore for her daughter's wedding a turquoise chiffon sheath with cap sleeves and drape effect skirt. Her hat was of flowers in matching shades and she wore shoes and bag of harmonizing color and long white gloves. Mrs. Langston, mother of the groom, chose a beige silk linen sheath with lace inserts, beige straw pillbox hat and bone accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

A reception followed in the social room of the church, where the bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of white stock, roses and daisies. Double candelabra on either side held white tapers. The tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Woodrow Cain, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Roger Dishongh, Delhi, and presiding at the punch bowl opposite was Mrs. Ross Crowe.

Miss Joy Baugh presided at the bride's book at a table graced with a memory candle. Tea girls were Misses Elizabeth Green, Shannon Green, Janet Marlatte, Peggy Sue Cain, Linda Crowe and Mary Crowe. White tulle rice bags tied with yellow ribbons were distributed by Phyllis Eubanks and Phyllis Corley. Others assisting with courtesies were Mrs. Huey Kilpatrick, Mrs. Luther Freeland, Mrs. Clifton Shoemaker Sr., Mrs. Woody Weatherly, Mrs. Erby Drummond and Mrs. Dan Vaughan.

The couple will be at home in Crossett, Ark., following the bride's graduation from Bastrop high school in May. Mr. Langston graduated from Collinston high school, attended Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe and was graduated from Bish - Mathis Institute. He is now with the Georgia - Pacific Paper Co., in Crossett.

Green Favored Spring Shade

It's "go" for green this spring, but not just any green — it must be a green that looks good enough to eat — lime-y, sunny, softened, touched with yellow, paled with whites!

You'll find green going big this season in all collections—in dresses, coats, suits, sportswear, jewelry and other accessories. You'll find mixing greens to be a newsy part of the story.

A JUNE BRIDE-ELECT is Miss Phyllis Ann Winters, whose engagement to James D. Crawley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Crawley of Columbia, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee Winters, Columbia. The wedding will take place June 7 in the First Baptist Church of Columbia with Rev. Jimmie Bolton officiating. Miss Winters is a senior at Northeast Louisiana State College where she will graduate in August. The prospective bridegroom attended Northeast in Monroe and Louisiana Tech, Ruston and is now serving with the United States Navy, stationed in San Diego, Calif.

Green Favored Spring Shade

It's "go" for green this spring, but not just any green — it must be a green that looks good enough to eat — lime-y, sunny, softened, touched with yellow, paled with whites!

You'll find green going big this season in all collections—in dresses, coats, suits, sportswear, jewelry and other accessories. You'll find mixing greens to be a newsy part of the story.

Victoria Cain Is Bride Of Jack D. Langston Jr.

First Baptist Church in Bastrop was scene of the candlelight ceremony Friday, April 24 which united in marriage Miss Victoria Lucylle Cain and Jack Dawson Langston Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Victor Ovel Cain and the late Mr. Cain of Bastrop and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dawson Langston Sr., of Monroe.

Dr. Ray Rust performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Massive arrangements of white stock, gladioli and chrysanthemums against a background of tropical palms interspersed with wrought iron candelabra holding white tapers formed a setting for the bridal party. Southern smilax entwined the candelabra and pews were marked with magnolia foliage and satin bows.

Traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Norma Jean Weatherly, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Bill Santo.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James Chester Cain. Her gown of silk organza over taffeta featured long tapered sleeves and a scooped neckline, etched with reembroidered Alencon lace with sequins and tiny seed pearls. The voluminous skirt was embellished with the sequin and pearl appliques and extended into a full court train from pleated back fullness, defined by a single rose at the dropped waistline. A crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of calla lilies centered with white cattleya orchids.

Attending the bride were Miss Annette Holloway, maid of honor; Mrs. James Chester Cain, her sister-in-law, as matron of honor and Miss Gail Riels, bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of yellow peau de soie styled with scooped necklines, brief sleeves and semi-belled full length skirts. Floating back panels were attached to the neckline with flat bows. Completing their costumes were matching pillbox hats with circular veils, yellow slippers and long white gloves. Their bouquests were crescent designs of Killian daisies with accents of white.

Mr. Langston served as best man for his son and groomsmen were Rector Hopgood and Sidney Langston, uncle of the groom. Candlelighters were Russ Langston, brother of the bride and Bobby Kelly.

Mrs. Cain wore for her daughter's wedding a turquoise chiffon sheath with cap sleeves and drape effect skirt. Her hat was of flowers in matching shades and she wore shoes and bag of harmonizing color and long white gloves. Mrs. Langston, mother of the groom, chose a beige silk linen sheath with lace inserts, beige straw pillbox hat and bone accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

A reception followed in the social room of the church, where the bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of white stock, roses and daisies. Double candelabra on either side held white tapers. The tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Woodrow Cain, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Roger Dishongh, Delhi, and presiding at the punch bowl opposite was Mrs. Ross Crowe.

Miss Joy Baugh presided at the bride's book at a table graced with a memory candle. Tea girls were Misses Elizabeth Green, Shannon Green, Janet Marlatte, Peggy Sue Cain, Linda Crowe and Mary Crowe. White tulle rice bags tied with yellow ribbons were distributed by Phyllis Eubanks and Phyllis Corley. Others assisting with courtesies were Mrs. Huey Kilpatrick, Mrs. Luther Freeland, Mrs. Clifton Shoemaker Sr., Mrs. Woody Weatherly, Mrs. Erby Drummond and Mrs. Dan Vaughan.

The couple will be at home in Crossett, Ark., following the bride's graduation from Bastrop high school in May. Mr. Langston graduated from Collinston high school, attended Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe and was graduated from Bish - Mathis Institute. He is now with the Georgia - Pacific Paper Co., in Crossett.

Chief Tusquahoma, DAR Given Historical Program

A program by Lt. Joseph Bowmar Society, Children of the American Revolution highlighted the April meeting of Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held last Saturday at the Highland Park Country Club.

Mrs. Joseph B. Landreaux, first vice-regent, presiding, called the meeting to order. After invocation by the chaplain, Mrs. H. C. Ervin, Mrs. R. E. Harrell led the Pledge of Allegiance, the American's Creed and National Anthem.

Mrs. Jack Willis, program chairman, presented Mrs. W. L. Alexander, Lt. Joseph Bowmar Society senior president, who introduced C.A.R. members, Arden Anders, society president; Laura Griffith, Eastland Gray and Kay Adams, in costume as Martha Washington. Colonial Girls in costume, Elaine Henry, Sue Burkhalter, Martha Stone, Becky Huenefeld, Nancy Whitfield, Ann Shelton, Renee Downing, Denise Downing, Carol Davis, Susan Kitchingham, Becky Willey, Susan Alexander and Sage Redding, director of songs. The group took part in a sketch "They Called it America," written by Mrs. Emma Alexander, which centered around historical events of Gen. George Washington at Valley Forge and events of American history leading up to the present day.

Miss Anders presented the setting for the following topics: Valley Forge — The Cradle of Liberty, by Laura Griffith; The Woman of the Hour — Martha Washington, Kay Adams in costume and songs of the hour directed by Sage Redding who led the Colonial girls in songs and dance of the period.

Mrs. Alexander also introduced guests from the C.A.R., Mrs. Emma Alexander, Mrs. S. W. McLean, Mrs. Thomas Henry Jr. and Mrs. Gilbert Marx.

Mrs. J. C. Stewart read an invitation from Kappa Kappa Iota sorority to attend a tea at Highland Park Country Club Saturday, April 25 from 3 to 5 p.m. Mrs. Donald Cannon read a letter of appreciation from the state junior membership chairman for the chapter's support at the recent state bazaar. Proceeds went toward the Helen Pouch Memorial fund, a national junior membership project.

Mrs. Stewart gave the National Defense program for the month entitled "Test Ban Treaty Bars A-Force Use in Building of the New Canal," a reprint of an editorial from the National Defender. The national magazine for the C.A.R. March issue displaying the DAR ad and the "La Louisiana" state CAR Newsletter was shown the members. Mrs. Landreaux gave the president General's Message for April.

Honorary Pin Presented By Nu Phi Mu

Phi Upsilon Chapter of Nu Phi Mu degree of Beta Sigma Phi was entertained Monday night, April 20 in the home of the president, Miss Anita Roach, in West Monroe.

During the business session plans were made for attending the sorority convention to be held in Bossier City in May. The chapter accepted an invitation to attend the Founder's Day Banquet to be hosted by Beta Pi Chapter in Monroe.

Mrs. Jewel Roach, mother of the president, was presented an honorary member's pin by her daughter on behalf of the chapter. Following the business session, refreshments were served by Miss Roach and Miss Marie Thames to Miss Jane Ferguson, Miss Ruth Brooks, Miss Shirley Tewell, Miss Nina Martin, Miss Jessie Conville, Mrs. Jewel Roach and a guest, Mrs. Nancy Curry.

The next meeting will be in the home of Miss Thames when chapter officers for the coming year will be installed.

Bring Spring Sparkle Indoors

With Spring comes nature's most welcome renewal of life as the colors of the landscape burst forth in the season's flowering plants. Inside the home though, translating the Spring season into actuality means more than giving the house its usual thorough cleaning, changing the kitchen curtains or maybe slip-covering a chair. Smart homemakers add the most satisfying touch of all by bringing Spring indoors with fresh living green and flowering plants.

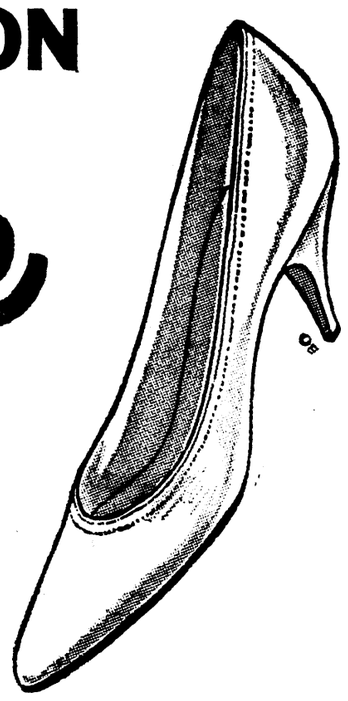

If you have an awkward corner in the living room, try one of the larger foliage plants — philodendron, ficus, schefflera — with its clay pot and saucer set directly on the floor or double-potted into a redwood tub planter. You can combine this kind of large floor plant with a tea wagon used to display Spring flowering plants. The rich and varied hues of such plants as cyclamen, tulips and hyacinths will give new dimension to your color scheme. And since the tea wagon is on casters and can easily be moved to any spot in the home — it's a mobile garden.

Corners aren't the only places that can be given Springlike touches through the use of living plants. In these days of wall units that house stereos, storage cabinets and book shelves, plants are increasingly important to break the monotony of the straight lines of shelving.

RAGE FOR WHITE

For summer, white has always been the important costume color, but this year it is more fashionable than ever. Designers have created oodles of fabrics and ensembles in more variations of white than one would have thought possible. Pure whites, near whites, and whitened pastels are being featured in all kinds of finishes from crepe, organdie and taffeta to lace, linen, and wool.

District Advisor Speaks At Annual AOPi Banquet

Highlighting the Alpha Omicron Pi banquet Monday night was an address by Mrs. Eleanor MacCurdy of Shreveport, district collegiate advisor. The banquet, held at the Paragon Club, was given by the Alumnae in honor of the advisor from Shreveport and Northeast chapter members.

Northeast Women's Club Elects, Votes Donations

New officers were elected by the Northeast Louisiana State College Women's Club at the April meeting held Monday night in the College Union Auditorium. The club also voted to give $50 to Sandel Library at the college and $50 to the NLSC Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Dan Dupree, president, conducted the business session during which candidates nominated for office were unanimously elected. They are Mrs. Clint Hanna, president; Mrs. Jasper Hammonds, first vice-president; Mrs. John Luffy, second vice-president; Mrs. Jack Rowan, secretary; Mrs. William Mobberly, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Anderson, reporter and Mrs. Dan Dupree, parliamentarian.

Following the business session Mrs. Dupree introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. L. Covin, who discussed handwriting analysis. The speaker talked on the background of handwriting analysis, concerning personality traits, talents and abilities. She told the group that handwriting, which is as individual as one's fingerprints, is being used by the F.B.I., police departments, education counciling, physicians and in determining emotional disturbances. She pointed out that during the past 15 years a large business firm in Monroe has used this method to select personnel.

Graphoanalysis, stated Mrs. Dupree is approximately 350 years old, originating in the 1800s when three monks did a study over a period of thirty years which was compiled in a book now being used in the Universities in Europe.

Mrs. Covin gave a character analysis demonstration of each members' handwriting.

At conclusion of the evening refreshmepts were served from a table covered with a white cloth, with the centerpiece depicting a head of a lady clad in spring finery. A large brandy snifter filled with pink foam formed the head and face, which was decorated with felt and jewels. It was topped with a hat of artifical flowers and pink net, and wreathed at the base with pink net and a pearl necklace.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Edward Whatley, chairman; Mrs. Howard Morton, co-chairman; Mrs. Clarence Ball, Mrs. James Coats, Mrs. Evelyn Chilton, Mrs. W. K. Easley, Mrs. Jerry Holmes, Mrs. Bobby McConnell, Mrs. Hattie McGough, Mrs. William Mackey, Mrs. Jack May, Mrs. Rollin Reimer, Mrs. Lamar Rogers, Mrs. Wilford Smith, Mrs. Robert Tate, Mrs. Oscar Walley and Mrs. Mary Wittenmyer.

Final meeting of the season will be the annual luncheon in May with installation of officers, to be held at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Miss Betty Wallace of Newellton will be pianist and Mrs. Frances Evans of Dubach, soloist.

Following their marriage the couple will establish a home in St. Joseph.

Economics-Appreciation Topics For Review Club

Arrangements of yellow roses were used throughout the home of Mrs. Fred Huenefeld Jr. on Pargoud Blvd., when she entertained the Review Club at its bimonthly meeting Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. T. Davis, president, opened the meeting with the club collect in unison.

The advisory board reported that the open meeting of the club will be held May 4 in the home of Mrs. Louis Smith, 2305 Pargoud Blvd., at 3 p.m. Guest speakers for the occasion will be Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Roddey, who will discuss the Scandinavian countries and show films.

Mrs. Davis expressed her appreciation for the cooperation of all chairmen and committees for their help in the past year's success and she in turn was given a standing ovation of appreciation by the membership.

Mrs. John C. Loftin introduced the program for the afternoon entitled "Economics - Appreciation." The first book to be reviewed was The Affluent Society by John Kenneth Galbraith. Mrs. Ralph King Jr., reviewed the book which was a controversial report on the economics of the age of opulence, written by the head of the department of economics at Harvard University.

The "Appreciation" part of the program was given by Mrs. Allen Givens who reviewed the book Our State Parks by Freeman Tilden, a comprehensive account of recreation areas, historical monuments and nature preserves that constitute our country's state parks.

At conclusion of the program the hostess served refreshments to Mrs. E. R. Cudd, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. Thomas Dansby, Mrs. Calvin Folds, Mrs. Herschel Gentry Jr., Mrs. Allen Givens, Mrs. Prentice Gray Jr., Mrs. William Inabnet, Mrs. Ralph King Jr., Mrs. John Loftin, Mrs. Graig Morgan, Mrs. Claude Smith, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Lestar Martin and Mrs. Noland Harvey.

RAGE FOR WHITE

For summer, white has always been the important costume color, but this year it is more fashionable than ever. Designers have created oodles of fabrics and ensembles in more variations of white than one would have thought possible. Pure whites, near whites, and whitened pastels are being featured in all kinds of finishes from crepe, organdie and taffeta to lace, linen, and wool.

District Advisor Speaks At Annual AOPi Banquet

Highlighting the Alpha Omicron Pi banquet Monday night was an address by Mrs. Eleanor MacCurdy of Shreveport, district collegiate advisor. The banquet, held at the Paragon Club, was given by the Alumnae in honor of the advisor from Shreveport and Northeast chapter members.

Miss Alice Butler, president of Lambda Tau chapter, welcomed the guests and introduced the newly - elected officers and the alumnae. Mrs. J. W. Webster Jr., newly - elected alumnae president, introduced the other alumnae officers, Mrs. Robert Weaver, vice - president; Mrs. Dale Self, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Robert Vance, reporter.

In her talk Mrs. MacCurdy emphasized the ideals of AOPi, understanding, friendship and love. At conclusion of her address she presented Miss Paula Lawerence, past president of the collegiate chapter with a loving cup from which members drank a toast as it was passed around the table. The AOPi "Loving Cup Song" provided background music during the ceremony.

Formal ritual was held following the banquet for the active members. Members in attendance were Monte Sue Ballard, Beverly Barnlett, Jamie Bezucha, Barbara Borgvist, Mary Bossier, Carole Bryan, Murray Burfford, Alice Butler, Grace Cascio, Virginia Cascio, Carolyn Causey, Ann Chapman, Beverly Crossan, Sherry Dial, Carolyn Dumas, Ann Evans, Jean Foster, Carolyn Fotos, Deanna Furlow, Joyce Furlow, Odwina Fusilier, Diane Garnier, Diane Garrett, Michelle Goodwin, Diane Heart, Cheryl Hoddenback, Grace Hodge, Katherine Issacson, Diane LaGrange.

Paula Lawerence, Vickie Moore, Ruth Mulhearn, Barbara McCoy, Sue Norris, Marge Pettyjohn, Cecile Reeder, Ann Robinson, Jean Rogillio, Carolyn Rose, Beverly Sanders, Gail Shoudy, Keith Sigrest, Margie Terry, Carol Turnipseed, Pat Twiner, Georgette Varino, Priscilla Villa, Penny Williams, Cecilia Wood, Barbara Beckner, Cheryl Best, Marcy Ehrett, Jan Evans, Susan Landrum, Sue Swartz and Marcy Taylor.

Northeast Women's Club Elects, Votes Donations

New officers were elected by the Northeast Louisiana State College Women's Club at the April meeting held Monday night in the College Union Auditorium. The club also voted to give $50 to Sandel Library at the college and $50 to the NLSC Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Dan Dupree, president, conducted the business session during which candidates nominated for office were unanimously elected. They are Mrs. Clint Hanna, president; Mrs. Jasper Hammonds, first vice-president; Mrs. John Luffy, second vice-president; Mrs. Jack Rowan, secretary; Mrs. William Mobberly, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Anderson, reporter and Mrs. Dan Dupree, parliamentarian.

Following the business session Mrs. Dupree introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. L. Covin, who discussed handwriting analysis. The speaker talked on the background of handwriting analysis, concerning personality traits, talents and abilities. She told the group that handwriting, which is as individual as one's fingerprints, is being used by the F.B.I., police departments, education counciling, physicians and in determining emotional disturbances. She pointed out that during the past 15 years a large business firm in Monroe has used this method to select personnel.

Graphoanalysis, stated Mrs. Dupree is approximately 350 years old, originating in the 1800s when three monks did a study over a period of thirty years which was compiled in a book now being used in the Universities in Europe.

Mrs. Covin gave a character analysis demonstration of each members' handwriting.

At conclusion of the evening refreshments were served from a table covered with a white cloth, with the centerpiece depicting a head of a lady clad in spring finery. A large brandy snifter filled with pink foam formed the head and face, which was decorated with felt and jewels. It was topped with a hat of artifical flowers and pink net, and wreathed at the base with pink net and a pearl necklace.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Edward Whatley, chairman; Mrs. Howard Morton, co-chairman; Mrs. Clarence Ball, Mrs. James Coats, Mrs. Evelyn Chilton, Mrs. W. K. Easley, Mrs. Jerry Holmes, Mrs. Bobby McConnell, Mrs. Hattie McGough, Mrs. William Mackey, Mrs. Jack May, Mrs. Rollin Reimer, Mrs. Lamar Rogers, Mrs. Wilford Smith, Mrs. Robert Tate, Mrs. Oscar Walley and Mrs. Mary Wittenmyer.

Final meeting of the season will be the annual luncheon in May with installation of officers, to be held at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE RUSSELL COATS

Double Ring Vows Unite Couple Here

Ridge Avenue Baptist Church was scene of the ceremony Sunday, April 12 which united in marriage Miss Linda Gay Phillips and George Russell Coats. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gray Phillips of Eros and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Coats, 2906 N. Ninth, West Monroe.

Rev. H. L. Sampson performed the double ring vows at 4 p.m. before the altar which was decorated with white gladioli and greenery and branched candelabra holding white tapers.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Fred Staples, organist and Mrs. Johnny Hale, soloist.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Casey Phillips. She wore a short gown of white peau de soie with a white lace jacket and matching elbow-length lace mitts. Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a pearl tiara and she carried a bouquet of white orchids, surrounded by white tuberoses and tulle.

Mrs. Rawslyn Bunn, matron of honor, wore a gown of light blue silk dacron with tiered embroidered skirt, matching accessories and carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations and tulle. Bridesmaids, Miss Cheryl Hightower, niece of the bride and Miss Sharon Coats, sister of the groom, wore identical gowns of light blue silk dacron with matching slippers and white carnation corsages. Headdresses for the attendants were blue clip on bows with short back veils.

Mr. Coats attended his son as best man and ushers were Jerry McBroom and Fred Checks Jr.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a light blue silk sheath with appliqued lace medallions and matching blue accessories. Her corsage was of small white orchids and carnations with blue tulle. The groom's mother chose a mauve lace sheath with matching accessories and her corsage was also of white carnations and orchids, tied with blue tulle. Also wearing blue were Mrs. W. D. Johnson, grandmother of the bride and Mrs. George D. Johnson, grandmother of the groom, whose brocade dresses were complemented with corsages of white orchids and carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents in West Monroe. The mantel, where the couple received guests, was banked with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums flanked by white tapers. A similar arrangement was used on the dining table where the wedding cake was served by Mrs. Juanita Wall and Mrs. Johnny Mitchell presided at the punch bowl. Miss Gloria June Boutwell presided at the bride's book which was placed on a table graced with a memory candle.

For a wedding trip to Biloxi, Miss., the bride wore a brown and white knit three-piece ensemble with white and brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They are now at home on Caples Road in West Monroe. Mrs. Coats graduated from Eros high school and is now attending Louisiana Business College. Mr. Coats graduated from West Monroe high school.

MISS GLENDA ANN DEVILLE

Current Decor Schemes Combine Color, Periods

The selection of furniture fortunately for most of us, is no mere caprice. Because furniture is bought to last and good designs are ageless . . . basic vogues in decorating develop slowly, and take years to fade.

With this in mind, it is simple to decorate a home with furniture that will keep its new look for years to come with periodic additions of bright accessory and furnishing touches.

Newlyweds starting to select furniture "from scratch" this year, will be happy to know that the only restriction is their own taste and preference.

Whether you choose traditional, provincial or contemporary, you'll find a wide choice of excellent pieces that permit you to mix or match periods and styles!

The look you achieve will not only present your individuality, but will also look completely up to date in effect.

New dimensions in furniture are typified by two completely opposing silhouettes; the lofty, slim and sophisticated and the heavier, lower, more countrified. Again, the two can be mixed judiciously for a handsomely individual look.

The second is displayed in furniture are more robust in manner and elaborate in detail. Here you will find lower, squared off tables, up-dated apothecary chests, deep sofas with unexposed legs.

Both styles, and every known furniture period take easily and smartly to the era's important trend in furnishings — the Oriental flavor, now seen everywhere.

The Oriental influence leaves its mark on both furniture and accessories, including chests, wall hangings, rugs, screens and tables. These are imbued with a colorful simplicity that blends well with both antique and modern.

New dimensions in furniture are typified by two completely opposing silhouettes; the lofty, slim and sophisticated and the heavier, lower, more countrified. Again, the two can be mixed judiciously for a handsomely individual look.

The second is displayed in furniture are more robust in manner and elaborate in detail. Here you will find lower, squared off tables, up-dated apothecary chests, deep sofas with unexposed legs.

Both styles, and every known furniture period take easily and smartly to the era's important trend in furnishings — the Oriental flavor, now seen everywhere.

The Oriental influence leaves its mark on both furniture and accessories, including chests, wall hangings, rugs, screens and tables. These are imbued with a colorful simplicity that blends well with both antique and modern.

Judy Hair Is Bride Of Mr. Parker

Baskets of white gladioli against a background of greenery formed a setting in Brownville Baptist Church for the wedding Thursday, April 16 of Miss Judy Hair and Curtiss Parker. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wetzal Hair, 1511 Ammon St., West Monroe and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Parker, 1404 Bennie Breece St., West Monroe.

Rev. Harold Cook performed the double ring vows at 8 p.m. following wedding music by Mrs. Charles Henderson, organist and Mrs. Thomas Ponder, soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Jimmy Hart. Fashioned on traditional lines her gown featured a bodice of Chantilly lace with slightly dipped neckline, accented by scallop detailing. The belled skirt of peau de soie was highlighted with an appliqued front panel of the lace, accented by bridal bows of the peau. Her lace trimmed veil was held in place by a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Sybil Hair, maid of honor, wore a gown of blue chiffon with lace jacket and matching blue and she carried a bouquet of pink roses. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Ann Hair, wearing yellow chiffon with matching shoes and veil and Miss Opal Hair, dressed in pink chiffon with shoes and veil to match. Both carried bouquets of pink roses.

Serving as best man was James E. Parker and ushers were Garnold Wilson and Dale Jones.

Mrs. Hair, mother of the bride, was wearing a pink knit suit trimmed in white, with black accessories and a corsage of white Dutch iris. The bridegrooms mother, Mrs. Parker, wore a blue whipped cream dress with white accessories and corsage of white Dutch iris.

A reception followed in the social room of the church, where the bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums. Miss Sue Garner served the wedding cake and presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Helen Simpkins.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a white two piece suit with pink accessories. The bridegroom is now with the U.S. Army and will be stationed at Fort Gordon, Augusta, Georgia, where the couple will reside.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hart, Columbia; Mrs. C. W. Hair, Bosco; Mr. and Mrs. James Parker, Ruston and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Collier, Holly Ridge.

Miss Plauche Engaged To Wed Mr. Aronstein

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Plauche announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Adrienne Marie Plauche of Baton Rouge to Julius Aronstein Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Aronstein Sr. of Vidalia. The wedding will take place June 20.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Academy of the Sacred Heart at Grand Coteau. She was presented in the Order of the Troubadours of the Lafayette Town House and in the Crew of Brigarde de Lafitte, also in Lafayette.

Miss Plauche attended the University of Southwestern Louisiana, the University of Colorado and Louisiana State University where she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and served as first vice-president. She is also a member of the Spinsters, Alpha Omicron Pi Alumnae Chapter and Sacred Heart Alumnae Group which she served as president. She is presently employed with a law firm in Baton Rouge.

Mr. Aronstein is a graduate of Vidalia high school where he was a member of Mu Sigma Phi, scholastic fraternity. He received the bachelor of science degree in landscape architecture from Louisiana State University where he was a member of the Canterbury Club, the Horticulture Club and was a student member of American Society of Landscape Architects. He is presently associated with the Baton Rouge Planning Commission and is a member of the Baton Rouge Jaycees, Louisiana Planners Association and Southwest Chapter of Landscape Architects. The prospective bridegroom served as a general in the 1962-63 Royal Court of the Natchez Pilgrimage.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Physical health and mental health, the way we feel and the way we think, are so closely correlated that it is impossible to know which has the greater influence on the other.

There is no doubt that many people who eat as they should and exercise as they should fail to take care of their outlook and approach to life. There are some things in which I believe wholeheartedly. I think they can make the difference between fatigue and energy, despair and happiness, isolation and popularity. Here are a few of them.

1. Be enthusiastic about something or someone, or both. Believe in something wholeheartedly. There's nothing like enthusiasm! If lifts every day out of the ordinary and makes it special.

2. Live in the present. Let the past act only as a colorful and rich and warm background against which to play the drama and meet the excitement of today. If you knew that this is the last day you were going to have on this earth, would it change your attitude? Do you take this bit of life for granted?

DON'T WASTE ENERGY

3 Don't waste your energy in irritation over petty annoyances. People waste tons of energy this way.

4. Do some constructive work. This will banish boredom and also many little aches and pains, and weariness.

5. Analyze your abilities honestly. Make the most of them, but do not set your goals too high or you will be frustrated. On the other hand, it is worse to set them too low, because you no doubt have many talents or flairs which you have not even touched.

6. Take your depressed days in stride. Everyone has them. They will pass. Do not take them seriously unless they become a habit.

LOOK FOR HUMOR

7. Don't take yourself too seriously either. Look for the humor in everyday life. There are laughs all about you. A sense of humor softens many a sharp corner in living.

8. Take care of your health. You handicap yourself when "cooking" with low energy rather than high.

If the worry habit is sapping your pep, you may want my leaflet "Worry." It will help you overcome this vicious habit. If you would like to have it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 56 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Summer Shift Turns Blazer

Despite all the talk of bias cuts and ruffles, there will be a lot of life left in the shift yet. For one thing, it's a foregone success for the dog days when comfort comes first.

But shifts are changing for summer, looking less like nightgowns worn by mistake. Particularly liked is the blazer look translated into a double-breasted coat-dress.

Sometimes it's sleeveless, with the traditional notched collar standing well away from the neck, four flap pockets detailing its white cotton ottoman in true Chanel style. The line is nearly straight. Other shifts derive from the prototype first designed by Emmanuelle Khanh, slightly shaped, with cardigan neck, red and blue braid binding around neck and down the front.

The blazer shift is also seen in beach dresses and terry robes, often with the braid binding and brass buttons. Then it goes semiformal in organza, looking delightfully tailored as a shift - sleeved blazer, with pearl buttons.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

6 Designs Presented

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Six designs, each with it's own theme, were displayed on the T. V. Fifth District Garden Center Program last Wednesday by members of the Sunset Garden Club of Ruston. The club's president, Mrs. Paul Davidson, and one of her members, Mrs. Eugene Hammons, brought the designs for the show.

The first design was made by Mrs. W. W. Cobb, who chose the oriental manner (Ikenobo style) using one blossom in the design. The line material was the iris foliage (three tiered) placed vertically in a small greenish - gray pottery usubata container. The one flower was the lovely golden yellow fugi mum placed low in the design against a background of large ivy leaves. A teakwood base added to the feeling of the orient as well as achieved good balance.

Mrs. Hammons chose "Mother's Day" for the title of her design, which featured roses and tulips. The roses with the buds predominated in colors of light pink into orange-red. Forming a massed symmetrical design in a white urn type container. The rose foliage formed a pleasing filler for the flowers. This particular rose (Aloha) was grown by Mrs. V. L. King, of Ruston. These would be a lovely design for the church altar on Mother-er's Day.

CLEVER USE

Mrs. O. D. Ranne very cleverly used two containers for her asymmetrical design. Each container served as a holder for two sections of the design forming a single unit. A liner for a thermos bottle (aluminum) held the tallest placement materials, and a small pewter pitcher placed beside it contained the lower part of the design's materials. Pedalanthus formed the overall line which was strengthened with euonymous foliage. The main filler flower was deep cerese-red sweet Williams. The entire design was placed to one side of a wooden base which had been covered with marblized contact paper.

Mrs. Doris Payne created "Simplicity," using three stalks of pale blue bearded Iris with buds. The tallest placement was one bud against a single branch of English dogwood. The container was a black, round, ceramic compote. A black base added good balance. This is a lovely way to arrange bearded iris or other tall spike flowers that are so lovely to look at individually. When the large blossoms fade the buds open and you have a second display of beauty to enjoy.

'MAY BASKET'

Mrs. Julia Shaw created the "May Basket." In the small brown woven basket she placed a bowl filled with chicken wire and water to keep her materials fresh and hold them in place. An array of spring flowers were used in a asymmetrical design starting with white Dutch iris for the tallest placement, and next filling in with yellow Dutch iris, yellow roses and anemones. Yellow ranuculas formed the lower line. To add a touch of nostalgia she used purple ranuculas in the central part of the design with the deep pink roses and anemones. Baby ivy was used as a filler. A wonderful way to use a collection of one or more of each type of garden flowers — a real spring bouquet in a basket.

Mrs. Paul Davidson, the club's president, made a modern design, asymmetrical in balance, using three sansavera stalks, tiered, for the tallest placement, with three short ones for the lower line of the design in a gray into brown tone colored urn-type container. This line was filled in with the buds and open flowers of the white peonies. These, of course, were in the various stages of opening so that gradation could be achieved. The foliage of the peony was used as a filler. This design will be a long-lasting one because all of these materials will hold their freshness for several days — or even a week. A very attractive bleached log round of cypress was placed under the design for good balance.

BEAUTY ACHIEVED

This was a wonderful show. Each design was certainly created in a way (expertly) so as to achieve beauty, simplicity and harmony, the end to which all arrangers strive when making their arrangements. So congratulations to these arrangers from The Sunset Garden Club. Many join in with me in extending thanks for your lovely program.

This is the month to divide and reset chrysanthemums. Remember new shoots make better plants than old crowns. Now is the time to get that border bed made for fall mums. Many friends will be glad to divide their mums and share with you, if you are in need of plants — or, you may want to share yours with others. This is the time to do this as well as so many other garden jobs. Set out the caladium bulbs and plait the early blooming bulb foliage (not cut it off). Remember the food for the new bloom comes from that foliage. It may be clipped off, however, after it is entirely dead.

Prune the climbing roses as soon as they are through blooming, if they bloom just once a year. Keep new roses set this spring, disbudded. Cut back the spring blooming perennials, such as larkspur, daisies and stock so that they will rebloom. Remember you can still get a wonderful selection of bedding plants to set out, such as petunias, Sweet Williams, larkspur, stock, snapdragons, feverfew, Joseph's Coat, marigolds, verbena, hollyhock, dusty miller, coleus, daisies, and calendulas. Some of the bulbs to plant this month are: Ginger lily, caladium, crinum, dahlias, glads, daylilies, hosta, tuberoses, waterlilies, liriope, calla tritonia, banana plants and others. Use sulphur for mildew and red spider. Kill chewing insects with five per cent DDT, either in solution or dust.

This week the program will be brought on Wednesday by the Sprig and Twig Garden Club of Monroe.

Design Tip To Young Couples

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Young couples furnishing a first home have different requirements from those of an established family, points out long-time designer - decorator, William Gulden, who teaches a college course for credit at Queens College in New York.

"They should know how much money they have at the start to spend, what type of furnishings they want — modern, traditional or whatever, what colors they like and whether they will live in a house or apartment," he says.

PROPER START

Gulden would like to see every couple start with a decorator, "not only for the ease of decorating, but the saving in money and confusion."

They should at least start out equipped with knowledge, he says. He had devised a formula for decorating, Dial-a-Style, to be published soon that he hopes will be helpful .By spinning wheels directed to styles, one finds out historical backgrounds, what fabrics, accessories and colors accompany the style dialed.

FLOOR PLAN

"Another important idea is a floor plan. A large piece of furniture such as a triple dresser may not fit properly into a room and may prove too big to move around staircase landings or even to get into the house or apartment," he advises.

Gulden suggests a floor plan be worked out on the scale of one-half inch to a foot on paper. And that lists of rooms be made with details such as sizes and placement of windows, doors, fireplaces, closets. Cut-outs of furniture may be put over the floor plan as a test for fit and for a general idea of the space required, he says.

"Young people never realize how much storage space is needed, so some furniture should be chosen with that idea in mind. Cabinets with doors or drawers are better in that respect than those with legs," he says.

CHEERFUL ACCESSORIES

Gulden suggests taking the color scheme from fabrics. He doesn't believe in startling colors, preferring to put cheerfulness in the accents of accessories which can be changed when you are tired of them.

"I always try to talk young people into good bedding. Start with mattress and spring on legs. Later have the mattress and spring built into regular beds."

When deciding on formal or informal room schemes thing in terms of suitability whether you are the outdoor type or the sit-at-home type, he says.

He advises his students:

Rooms shouldn't be like museums to impress friends.

A family room is useful for a big household, but costly for newlyweds who'll be tempted to use it for storage.

Decide on the essential pieces you can buy now and which pieces can wait six months or longer.

MEASURE AREA

An 8-foot sofa may be too large for the area you have, so always measure first.

Paint rooms opening into one another the same background to achieve spaciousness in a small home.

ONE OF FIRST homes to be built of framing manufactured to specifications of the proposed new standards for softwood lumber is this Boise, Idaho, house of Donald W. Brown, designed by architect David M. Dickover, AIA. Now nearing completion, the house has trussed rafters and exposed laminated beams throughout.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

A 2 by 4 isn't really a 2 by 4 — as you well know if you have ever bought one.

By the time it reaches you after being dressed (surfaced) at the mill, a 2 by 4 is down to something like 1⅝ inches by 3⅝ inches. It's the "something like" that is causing all the trouble. While the present standards call for uniform sizes at the time the lumber is dressed, dimensional variations occur later on, depending on how dry or how green the lumber was when it left the mill. Thus, a 2 by 4 purchased by you may not be exactly the same size as the 2 by 4 purchased by your neighbor, or even the same size as another 2 by 4 purchased by you.

The more water in the wood, the more shrinkage will take place. Green lumber is generally considered to be that which has a moisture content of 30 per cent or more. Dry lumber usually refers to that with a moisture content of 19 per cent or less. Because the green lumber shrinks in transit or shortly after being nailed in place, the two end up different sizes by the time they see service as studs, joists, rafters or other supporting members.

Under a proposal by the American Lumber Standards Committee of the Department of Commerce, a piece of softwood lumber would have to be a specific size at a specific moisture content. That means green and dry lumber would be surfaced to different sizes at the mill so that, as nearly as possible, they would be the same sizes after application in construction. Two members of the 15-man committee are against any change, saying that it would give owners of vast areas of private timber an "unconscionable windfall."

In any case, the National Bureau of Standards has mailed out ballots to more than 21,000 lumbermen, architects, builders, specifiers and related groups to find out their opinions on the proposed changes. The results of the survey will be disclosed this summer.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Spicy Aroma Of Viburnum

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Gardeners who bought small shrubs of the new hybrid Viburnum carlcephalum when it was introduced in this country right after the war now have something really spectacular growing in their yards or gardens.

By now, these huge fragrant snowballs are 10 to 15 feet tall and six to eight feet wide. Oe that I visited last week wafted its slightly spicy sweetness on the air for 50 feet around it. The fragrance is not at all too much — just the right strength to make you look around to see where such a delightful odor is coming from.

The odor of V. carlcephalum comes from the well known Viburnum carlesii which was introduced from Koroea some 30 years ago and became popular with Southern gardeners at once because of its odor and its earliness. When two wild plants are crossed, the name of their progeny is often made up of half of the name of each parent and this naming system has given us such strange names as carlcephalum from carlesii and macrocephalum, the name of the other parent.

V. carlcephalum was produced by Mr. Albert Burkewood and received the coveted Reginald Cory Memorial Cup of the Royal Horticultural Society in 1946. Durnig the war, one day I visited the nursery of Burkewood and Skipwith at Kingston-on-Thames and saw the many new plants which Mr. Skipwith and Mr. Burkewood had produced when they had worked together. The fine Viburnum burkewoodii is another fragrant shrub — this one an evergreen — that many of us are now growing in the South. On lecture trips, I find that many gardeners do not know the name of this shrub. If you have bought a shrub that looks like V. carlesii but has more or less evergreen leaves, it is probably V. burkewoodii. One good feature of this hybrid plant is that it will grow and bloom in some shade.

The viburnums are a large group of shrubs and small trees. Our wild haws are viburnums, and the showy white snowballs are also in this group of plants. At this time of the year, the black haws and the blue haws provide those beautiful greenish white flat snowballs that contrast so well in the woods and fields with the dogwoods.

Perk Up Grasses On Lawns

By EARL ARONSON

There are ways to perk up your lawn —to speed up the work of nature—from the ravages of winter.

Some grasses, particularly the popular Kentucky blue grass, grow intermittently through winter. Their runners will advance when the soil is not frozen solidly. So you can help the beautification process along as soon as green shows.

Dr. Robert W. Schery, director fo The Lawn Institute, suggests:

1. Set your lawn mower real low for the first (and last) time of the season, cutting before abundant new growth appears. This will get rid of leaves browned by winter. It will give you a better view of the new shoots and the new grass a better exposure to the gentle spring sun.

FERTILIZING

2. Fertilizing will speed growth. Feed early with a high nitrogen plant food. This is especially important if you didn't feed last fall. Fertilize while the soil is still hard, if possible, so you won't dig footsteps in a soggy lawn.

3. If your grass has been damaged or thinned during the winter, scatter seed, scratching the earth gently before sowing. Use a good quality lawn seed mixture of fine-textured grasses.

Get rid of thatched spots on your lawn early. Thatch is undecomposed surface vegetation from dropping leaves. If conditions for decay are favorable the old leaves will soon form good humus. If decay does not keep pace with leaf - drop, more thatch results and this may smother your grass or harbor disease and harmful insects.

One reason for increased thatch in lawns, Dr. Schery says, may be the demand for dense grass. Varieties are chosen which produce much leafage, and generous fertilization forces production of even thicker growth.

Kentucky bluegrass and fine fescues such as Chewings, Illahee, Pennlawn and Rainier spread by underground runner. When their lowest leaves drop they crumble to the soil where humidity is conducive to decay. Trailing grasses that spread by above-ground runners (some southern lawn species and creeping bentgrass) weave "a mat of living stems that holds the thatch above the soil and troublesome thatch may accumulate," says Dr. Schery. Get rid of this.

CLOSE-CLIPPED

If you insist on a close-clipped lawn that resembles a golf fairway, don't expect too much from Kentucky bluegrass. Highland bluegrass would be more appropriate. It is partially trailing, fine - textured variety that tolerates close mowing.

Highland should be mowed frequently — twice a week — but never cut back drastically to brown stubble. Creeping blue-grasses are used for golf greens, but the Highland or Colonial type is easier to care for.

Highland should be fertilized regularly and watered whenever the soil begins to dry out.

Fescues are excellent all-around lawngrasses but generally a better sod results when Kentucky bluegrass is included with the fine fescues.

The fescues do well in sunny locations in the north and are good shade grasses. They have a deep green color, narrow, graceful, good-textured blades and stand up well under dry conditions.

Still Time For Tasks

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Here are some garden jobs that should have been done earlier this month, but check them as it is not too late, but get busy this week.

Stake dahlia and gladiolus, plant fall blooming bulbs such as lycoris (September Lily); fertilize shrubs and lawns — for shrubs, use ¼ pound of complete fertilizer as 8-8-8 per square yard of ground covered by plant; for lawn, use 20 pounds of same type fertilizer per 1,000 square feet of lawn surface; divide violets; seeds to sow for quick color — zinnia, cosmos, marigolds, sunflower, cockscomb, sunflower and coleus; mulch plants. If plants are mulched they will require less frequent watering during summer months. Mulching helps in ease of maintenance.

MORE GARDENING

With warm weather, the possibility of chinch bugs in St. Augustine is ever present. Plan now to control before large dead areas appear. To determine if you have chinch bugs, cut bottom out of coffee can, sink into sod and fill with water. Allow to sit a few minutes. If chinch bugs are present they will come to the top. They are small brownish to black bugs. The 1964 control recommendations include the following chemicals: Aspon, BHC, DDT, Ethion, Diazion, Trithion and VC 13. Follow very closely the manufacturer's directions for application.

FURNITURE CARE

Regular dusting and polishing can add years to the life of your furniture and keep it appearing new. Rubbing well after polishing or waxing is the key to handsome furniture. If wax or polish is allowed to accumulate, it will dull the surface. Excess wax can be removed with turpentine. White marks that appear on furniture are usually caused by water or other spilled liquids. Usually they can be removed by brisk rubbing with a polishing cloth. If that doesn't work, try turpentine or camphorated oil. Stubborn stains may need light rubbing with denatured alcohol. Use sparingly and watch that the surface does not become sticky. If it does, add a drop or two of linseed oil.

A THOUGHT

It's just the view from where you sit that makes you fear defeat, you can view life from many aisles —why don't you change your seat?

Many New Styles Seen In Windows

The home owner wants visual changes that he can be proud of. That he can show off. That he can have a as reminder of good planning with satisfactory results.

Ventilation, important in every room, is particularly critical in an area like the kitchen. Today's housewife has little use for windows that stick and bind over the kitchen sink, and with modern Casements and Flexiyents, there is little reason she can't have fingertip operation with any window in her kitchen. (This holds for the rest of her home, too.)

Old screen porches can be a gold mine for remodeling builders. In many cases the addition of year - round windows and a heat source will give a family the extra room they want and need.

Pointers Given About Shingles

In choosing singles, take quality as well as color into consideration. The heavier the weight, the higher the quality and the better the appearance will be. Asphalt singles now come in eights well over the 235-pounds per square minimum required by Underwriters' Laboratories. A square is the amount of singling required to cover 100 square feet.

Mow Grass Frequently

Mow your lawn so often that never more than one inch is clipped off the top. If the grass gets much taller than usual and you clip more than one inch, the plant's food processes are damaged.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

6 Designs Presented

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Six designs, each with it's own theme, were displayed on the T. V. Fifth District Garden Center Program last Wednesday by members of the Sunset Garden Club of Ruston. The club's president, Mrs. Paul Davidson, and one of her members, Mrs. Eugene Hammons, brought the designs for the show.

The first design was made by Mrs. W. W. Cobb, who chose the oriental manner (Ikenobo style) using one blossom in the design. The line material was the iris foliage (three tiered) placed vertically in a small greenish - gray pottery usubata container. The one flower was the lovely golden yellow fugi mum placed low in the design against a background of large ivy leaves. A teakwood base added to the feeling of the orient as well as achieved good balance.

Mrs. Hammons chose "Mother's Day" for the title of her design, which featured roses and tulips. The roses with the buds predominated in colors of light pink into orange-red. Forming a massed symmetrical design in a white urn type container. The rose foliage formed a pleasing filler for the flowers. This particular rose (Aloha) was grown by Mrs. V. L. King, of Ruston. These would be a lovely design for the church altar on Mother-er's Day.

CLEVER USE

Mrs. O. D. Ranne very cleverly used two containers for her asymmetrical design. Each container served as a holder for two sections of the design forming a single unit. A liner for a thermos bottle (aluminum) held the tallest placement materials, and a small pewter pitcher placed beside it contained the lower part of the design's materials. Pedalanthus formed the overall line which was strengthened with euonymous foliage. The main filler flower was deep cerese-red sweet Williams. The entire design was placed to one side of a wooden base which had been covered with marblized contact paper.

Mrs. Doris Payne created "Simplicity," using three stalks of pale blue bearded iris with buds. The tallest placement was one bud against a single branch of English dogwood. The container was a black, round, ceramic compote. A black base added good balance. This is a lovely way to arrange bearded iris or other tall spike flowers that are so lovely to look at individually. When the large blossoms fade the buds open and you have a second display of beauty to enjoy.

'MAY BASKET'

Mrs. Julia Shaw created the "May Basket." In the small brown woven basket she placed a bowl filled with chicken wire and water to keep her materials fresh and hold them in place. An array of spring flowers were used in a asymmetrical design starting with white Dutch iris for the tallest placement, and next filling in with yellow Dutch iris, yellow roses and anemones. Yellow ranuculas formed the lower line. To add a touch of nostalgia she used purple ranuculas in the central part of the design with the deep pink roses and anemones. Baby ivy was used as a filler. A wonderful way to use a collection of one or more of each type of garden flowers — a real spring bouquet in a basket.

Mrs. Paul Davidson, the club's president, made a modern design, asymmetrical in balance, using three sansavera stalks, tiered, for the tallest placement, with three short ones for the lower line of the design in a gray into brown tone colored urn-type container. This line was filled in with the buds and open flowers of the white peonies. These, of course, were in the various stages of opening so that gradation could be achieved. The foliage of the peony was used as a filler. This design will be a long-lasting one because all of these materials will hold their freshness for several days — or even a week. A very attractive bleached log round of cypress was placed under the design for good balance.

BEAUTY ACHIEVED

This was a wonderful show. Each design was certainly created in a way (expertly) so as to achieve beauty, simplicity and harmony, the end to which all arrangers strive when making their arrangements. So congratulations to these arrangers from The Sunset Garden Club. Many join in with me in extending thanks for your lovely program.

This is the month to divide and reset chrysanthemums. Remember new shoots make better plants than old crowns. Now is the time to get that border bed made for fall mums. Many friends will be glad to divide their mums and share with you, if you are in need of plants — or, you may want to share yours with others. This is the time to do this as well as so many other garden jobs. Set out the caladium bulbs and plait the early blooming bulb foliage (not cut it off). Remember the food for the new bloom comes from that foliage. It may be clipped off, however, after it is entirely dead.

Prune the climbing roses as soon as they are through blooming, if they bloom just once a year. Keep new roses set this spring, disbudded. Cut back the spring blooming perennials, such as larkspur, daisies and stock so that they will rebloom. Remember you can still get a wonderful selection of bedding plants to set out, such as petunias, Sweet Williams, larkspur, stock, snapdragons, feverfew, Joseph's Coat, marigolds, verbena, hollyhock, dusty miller, coleus, daisies, and calendulas. Some of the bulbs to plant this month are: Ginger lily, caladium, crinum, dahlias, glads, daylilies, hosta, tuberoses, waterlilies, liriope, calla tritonia, banana plants and others. Use sulphur for mildew and red spider. Kill chewing insects with five per cent DDT, either in solution or dust.

This week the program will be brought on Wednesday by the Sprig and Twig Garden Club of Monroe.

Design Tip To Young Couples

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Young couples furnishing a first home have different requirements from those of an established family, points out long-time designer - decorator, William Gulden, who teaches a college course for credit at Queens College in New York.

"They should know how much money they have at the start to spend, what type of furnishings they want — modern, traditional or whatever, what colors they like and whether they will live in a house or apartment," he says.

PROPER START

Gulden would like to see every couple start with a decorator, "not only for the ease of decorating, but the saving in money and confusion."

They should at least start out equipped with knowledge, he says. He had devised a formula for decorating, Dial-a-Style, to be published soon that he hopes will be helpful .By spinning wheels directed to styles, one finds out historical backgrounds, what fabrics, accessories and colors accompany the style dialed.

FLOOR PLAN

"Another important idea is a floor plan. A large piece of furniture such as a triple dresser may not fit properly into a room and may prove too big to move around staircase landings or even to get into the house or apartment," he advises.

Gulden suggests a floor plan be worked out on the scale of one-half inch to a foot on paper. And that lists of rooms be made with details such as sizes and placement of windows, doors, fireplaces, closets. Cut-outs of furniture may be put over the floor plan as a test for fit and for a general idea of the space required, he says.

"Young people never realize how much storage space is needed, so some furniture should be chosen with that idea in mind. Cabinets with doors or drawers are better in that respect than those with legs," he says.

CHEERFUL ACCESSORIES

Gulden suggests taking the color scheme from fabrics. He doesn't believe in startling colors, preferring to put cheerfulness in the accents of accessories which can be changed when you are tired of them.

"I always try to talk young people into good bedding. Start with mattress and spring on legs. Later have the mattress and spring built into regular beds."

When deciding on formal or informal room schemes thing in terms of suitability whether you are the outdoor type or the sit-at-home type, he says.

A family room is useful for a big household, but costly for newlyweds who'll be tempted to use it for storage.

Decide on the essential pieces you can buy now and which pieces can wait six months or longer.

MEASURE AREA

An 8-foot sofa may be too large for the area you have, so always measure first.

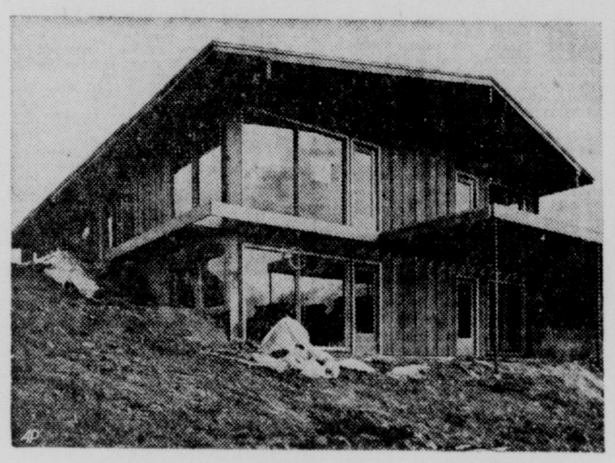

Paint rooms opening into one another the same background to achieve spaciousness in a small home.

ONE OF FIRST homes to be built of framing manufactured to specifications of the proposed new standards for softwood lumber is this Boise, Idaho, house of Donald W. Brown, designed by architect David M. Dickover, AIA. Now nearing completion, the house has trussed rafters and exposed laminated beams throughout.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

A 2 by 4 isn't really a 2 by 4 — as you well know if you have ever bought one.

By the time it reaches you after being dressed (surfaced) at the mill, a 2 by 4 is down to something like 1⅝ inches by 3⅝ inches. It's the "something like" that is causing all the trouble. While the present standards call for uniform sizes at the time the lumber is dressed, dimensional variations occur later on, depending on how dry or how green the lumber was when it left the mill. Thus, a 2 by 4 purchased by you may not be exactly the same size as the 2 by 4 purchased by your neighbor, or even the same size as another 2 by 4 purchased by you.

The more water in the wood, the more shrinkage will take place. Green lumber is generally considered to be that which has a moisture content of 30 per cent or more. Dry lumber usually refers to that with a moisture content of 19 per cent or less. Because the green lumber shrinks in transit or shortly after being nailed in place, the two end up different sizes by the time they see service as studs, joists, rafters or other supporting members.

Under a proposal by the American Lumber Standards Committee of the Department of Commerce, a piece of softwood lumber would have to be a specific size at a specific moisture content. That means green and dry lumber would be surfaced to different sizes at the mill so that, as nearly as possible, they would be the same sizes after application in construction. Two members of the 15-man committee are against any change, saying that it would give owners of vast areas of private timber an "unconscionable windfall."

In any case, the National Bureau of Standards has mailed out ballots to more than 21,000 lumbermen, architects, builders, specifiers and related groups to find out their opinions on the proposed changes. The results of the survey will be disclosed this summer.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Gardeners who bought small shrubs of the new hybrid Viburnum carlcephalum when it was introduced in this country right after the war now have something really spectacular growing in their yards or gardens.

By now, these huge fragrant snowballs are 10 to 15 feet tall and six to eight feet wide. Oe that I visited last week wafted its slightly spicy sweetness on the air for 50 feet around it. The fragrance is not at all too much — just the right strength to make you look around to see where such a delightful odor is coming from.

The odor of V. carlcephalum comes from the well known Viburnum carlesii which was introduced from Koroea some 30 years ago and became popular with Southern gardeners at once because of its odor and its earliness. When two wild plants are crossed, the name of their progeny is often made up of half of the name of each parent and this naming system has given us such strange names as carlcephalum from carlesii and macrocephalum, the name of the other parent.

V. carlcephalum was produced by Mr. Albert Burkewood and received the coveted Reginald Cory Memorial Cup of the Royal Horticultural Society in 1946. Durnig the war, one day I visited the nursery of Burkewood and Skipwith at Kingston-on-Thames and saw the many new plants which Mr. Skipwith and Mr. Burkewood had produced when they had worked together. The fine Viburnum burkewoodii is another fragrant shrub — this one an evergreen — that many of us are now growing in the South. On lecture trips, I find that many gardeners do not know the name of this shrub. If you have bought a shrub that looks like V. carlesii but has more or less evergreen leaves, it is probably V. burkewoodii. One good feature of this hybrid plant is that it will grow and bloom in some shade.

The viburnums are a large group of shrubs and small trees. Our wild haws are viburnums, and the showy white snowballs are also in this group of plants. At this time of the year, the black haws and the blue haws provide those beautiful greenish white flat snowballs that contrast so well in the woods and fields with the dogwoods.

Perk Up Grasses On Lawns

FURNITURE CARE

Regular dusting and polishing can add years to the life of your furniture and keep it appearing new. Rubbing well after polishing or waxing is the key to handsome furniture. If wax or polish is allowed to accumulate, it will dull the surface. Excess wax can be removed with turpentine. White marks that appear on furniture are usually caused by water or other spilled liquids. Usually they can be removed by brisk rubbing with a polishing cloth. If that doesn't work, try turpentine or camphorated oil. Stubborn stains may need light rubbing with denatured alcohol. Use sparingly and watch that the surface does not become sticky. If it does, add a drop or two of linseed oil.

A THOUGHT

It's just the view from where you sit that makes you fear defeat, you can view life from many aisles —why don't you change your seat?

Many New Styles Seen In Windows

The larger remodeling projects need a good measure of dramatic change to be completely satisfactory.

The home owner wants visual changes that he can be proud of. That he can show off. That he can have a as reminder of good planning with satisfactory results.

Probably the most dramatic way to add a completely new feeling to an old room is to carefully select and use good windows. Today there is a window style built for every need.

Frequently, windows can be the key selling feature of a complete remodeling job.

Thousands of older homes need the benefits of today's larger window walls to bring in both light and afford a view.

Ventilation, important in every room, is particularly critical in an area like the kitchen. Today's housewife has little use for windows that stick and bind over the kitchen sink, and with modern Casements and Flexiyents, there is little reason she can't have fingertip operation with any window in her kitchen. (This holds for the rest of her home, too.)

Old screen porches can be a gold mine for remodeling builders. In many cases the addition of year - round windows and a heat source will give a family the extra room they want and need.

Pointers Given About Shingles

In choosing singles, take quality as well as color into consideration. The heavier the weight, the higher the quality and the better the appearance will be. Asphalt singles now come in eights well over the 235-pounds per square minimum required by Underwriters' Laboratories. A square is the amount of singling required to cover 100 square feet.

LEGENDARY GOLDEN CITY

Earthquake Shakes Soviet Samarkand

MOSCOW (AP) — Army engineers were rushed Saturday to the ancient city of Samarkand, where an earthquake followed by heavy rains caused a mountain to collapse into a river. A major flood disaster threatened an area populated by more than 225,000.

Samarkand is in Uzbekistan in the Soviet Union's south. Most of the city and its famed buildings are on a string of hills surrounding the lower valley. It contains the tomb of Tamerlane, the Mongol conqueror of the 14th century.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the city is threatened by a large lake which is rapidly building up because an earthquake threw a dam across the Zeravshan River.

Soviet authorities fear the dam may burst and evacuation of the population in the valley of the Zeravshan River has begun. Izvestia said the lake is threatening not only Samarkand, but also the town of Pendjikent in Soviet Tadjikistan and various villages.

The number of people threatened was not reported, but Samarkand has a population of about 215,000 and Pendjikent more than 10,000.

Samarkand was founded in the 4th century before Christ. Tamerlane used it as his capital.

Soviet experts estimate that 15 million cubic meters of rock and earth were tossed into the river by the quake. The date of the quake was not reported, but Izvestia said heavy rains were also a contributing factor in causing the mountains to fall into the river.

The mountain which formed the dam is called Darnvorz. Izvestia said the lake was rising at a rate of 25 to 30 feet in 24 hours.

First Annual Hobby Show To Be Held Here

The first annual Hobby Show is to be held here at Benoit Recreation Center on Oaklawn Drive Saturday and Sunday, May 23 and 24.

The event, the first of its kind in the Monroe area, is being sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department at the center located at 1700 Oaklawn Dr.

People of all ages, with all kinds of hobbies and collections, are urged to enter their exhibits. Garden Clubs are also encouraged to enter flower arrangements. Jack Hesketh, director of the recreation department, said no charges will be made for entering exhibits.

Anyone interested in entering their hobby or collection in the exhibits, should contact the Monroe Recreation Department at 325-3895.

Truman Wants To See Alaska

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Saturday he has an unfulfilled ambition—to visit Alaska.

"I've been in all of the 49 other states and I hope some day to get to Alaska—then I'll have seen them all," he told newsmen during his morning stroll.

GHANA'S REQUEST

MOSCOW (AP) — Ghana's minister of agriculturel, Krobo Edusei, has arrived in Moscow and will ask, the Tass news agency reported, for Soviet experts to help Ghana develop deep sea fishing.

DURING PAST WEEK

New Construction Permits Are Issued

Construction totaling $133,900 will get underway in Monroe as indicated by building permits issued by the Monroe City Inspection Department last week.

Dale Martha, co-ordinator for the department, said eight permits were issued for new construction totaling $100,000 and 15 for additions or alterations to existing structures which came to $33,900.

They cinlude Jasper Scott, to move house from 804 Wood St. to 4010 Church St.; City School Board, move a portable classroom from Lexington School to Barkdull Faulk School at 2110 Jackson St.; and Call Hill, move frame house from 104 Eighth St. to outside the city.

Hathorn Tells 'Y' Club Here Of ZIP Code

The post office department's ZIP Code was defined by Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn as an economy measure to cope with the nation's mounting mail volume without an "unmanageable increase" in its workroom personnel.

In a speech at the Y's Men's Club Friday, Hathorn labeled the program as the only economical answer to what Postmaster General John A. Gronouski describes as a "Mail explosion" of the 1960's and 70's.

Hathorn pointed out that the Monroe Post office processes a goodly share of the 70 billion pieces of mail generated nationally. The volume, he said, rises at the rate of 2½ billion pieces a year and by 1970 will total 90 billion.

He said ZIP Code is designed to solve the problem of rising volume, by cutting down on the number of times the mail is handled. By "leap frogging" mail from sectional center to sectional center, ZIP Code reduces the possibility of error, saves money and speeds delivery.

Jaycees To Sell Ads In Pageant Program Book

Nix, supervising production and preparation of the book for the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce, said Saturday that a meeting to iron out final details of the sales campaign is scheduled Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the pageant headquarters at 402 DeSiard St. in downtown Monroe.

Jaycees who will be canvassing the Twin Cities selling advertising in the official program book, along with the program book committee and members of the pageant's general planning and steering committee, will be present at the meeting, Nix said.

Salesmen will be briefed on procedure by Jaycee Pete Dowd.

The sales campaign will run until the latter part of May, according to Nix.

Nix added that a mail sales drive is already underway and some advertising has been received.

The book will be the official program for the Miss Louisiana Pageant which makes its first run in Monroe July 2-4. The pageant is being sponsored by the Jaycees. Billy Hargiss is general chairman.

Scheduled for an appearance in Monroe during the pageant is Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark., this year's Miss America. The Miss Louisiana pageant is a preliminary for the Miss America pageant held later this year at Atlantic City, N.J.

Public Affairs Chief To Visit Area Tuesday

JONESVILLE (Special) — Edward J. Steinel, executive director of the Public Affairs Research Council of Louisiana, Inc., will be in Jonesville Tuesday to report to area members on the progress of work of PAR.

Wedon T. Smith, Jonesville attorney, will serve as chairman of the meeting which will be held at the Riverside Restaurant.

"PAR has been a potent influence in stressing some issues which ultimately made up the platforms of political aspirants for major public offices," Smith said in making the announcement.

"It is expected that the next few years will see substantial progress toward an uplifting of Louisiana's governmental image and removal of some of the deterrent factors that affect our competition for new business and industry.

"Perhaps he (Steimel) can give us some insight in to the solutions of some of the basic problems facing our state," Smith added.

Teenagers Still Eager For Beatles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The first tickets went on sale Saturday for the August appearance of the British entertainers, the Beatles. And guess what? Hundreds of teen-agers were waiting—after an all-night vigil — for the first chance to buy the ducats.

The crowd was orderly and and many of the youngsters had their parents along as chaperones.

Veterans Group To Make Plans For Convention

The state American Veterans of World War II and Korea convention will be discussed at a meeting this morning in the Virginia Hotel of the AMVETS State Executive Committee.

The committee will meet at 10 a.m. to make final plans for the convention to be held at the Virginia Hotel here June 12, 13, and 14. Other items on today's agenda include discussion of a resolution being offered by Foss Landry Post condemning the Gesel Report. This report concerns Defense Secretary McNamara's order which places business establishments practicing segregation off limits to servicemen.

The Walter Savage Post Jr. No. Five of Monroe will host todays meeting. The Committee is composed of 17 members who direct AMVET policy for Louisiana, and some of its members include presiding officer, Dept. Commander A. J. Guidry of Baton Rouge, and Provost Marshall Larry Ferracci of Monroe.

The Walter Savage Post and other local posts treated committeemen to a cocktail party Saturday night at the hotel in the Cameo Room.

Aldermen Buy New Equipment

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Winnsboro Board of Aldermen purchased a new city garbage truck and tractor-mower at their meeting the past week, according to Mayor W. E. Marioneaux.

The aldermen awarded the low bids on these items to two Winnsboro firms and a Monroe firm. Low bid on the truck went to Lanier Motor Company, Winnsboro, with a price of $2,547.45; the truck body bed went to Southern Equipment Co., Monroe, whose bid price was $3,778.25. The Mason-Ridge Tractor Co., Winnsboro, submitted the low bids on both the tractor and mower. Bid prices were $1,989 on the tractor and $510 on the mower.

Census Taken At Winnsboro

WINNSBORO (Special) — New population census figures here indicate there are now 5,295 residents in Winnsboro.

Mayor W. E. Marioneaux pointed out that these figures indicate an increase of 858 persons over the 1960 census count of 4,437. The mayor said this will mean an increase of about $4,000 per year in the rebate on the cigarette tax.

The census was conducted by the Winnsboro Civitan Club which was paid 10 cents per person.

INDIAN PAY HIKE

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Over Socialist cries of "immoral" and "indecent," members of Parliament voted 140-11 this weekend to increase their year-around monthly salaries from $84 to $105 and their daily allowances while in session from $4.41 to $6.50.

LEGENDARY GOLDEN CITY

Earthquake Shakes Soviet Samarkand

MOSCOW (AP) — Army engineers were rushed Saturday to the ancient city of Samarkand, where an earthquake followed by heavy rains caused a mountain to collapse into a river. A major flood disaster threatened an area populated by more than 225,000.

Samarkand is in Uzbekistan in the Soviet Union's south. Most of the city and its famed buildings are on a string of hills surrounding the lower valley. It contains the tomb of Tamerlane, the Mongol conqueror of the 14th century.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the city is threatened by a large lake which is rapidly building up because an earthquake threw a dam across the Zeravshan River.

Soviet authorities fear the dam may burst and evacuation of the population in the valley of the Zeravshan River has begun. Izvestia said the lake is threatening not only Samarkand, but also the town of Pendjikent in Soviet Tadjikistan and various villages.

The number of people threatened was not reported, but Samarkand has a population of about 215,000 and Pendjikent more than 10,000.

Samarkand was founded in the 4th century before Christ. Tamerlane used it as his capital.

Soviet experts estimate that 15 million cubic meters of rock and earth were tossed into the river by the quake. The date of the quake was not reported, but Izvestia said heavy rains were also a contributing factor in causing the mountains to fall into the river.

Izvestia said the dam formed near a village called Aini, between the Turkestan and Zeravshan mountain ranges.

The mountain which formed the dam is called Darnvorz. Izvestia said the lake was rising at a rate of 25 to 30 feet in 24 hours.

First Annual Hobby Show To Be Held Here

The first annual Hobby Show is to be held here at Benoit Recreation Center on Oaklawn Drive Saturday and Sunday, May 23 and 24.

The event, the first of its kind in the Monroe area, is being sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department at the center located at 1700 Oaklawn Dr.

People of all ages, with all kinds of hobbies and collections, are urged to enter their exhibits. Garden Clubs are also encouraged to enter flower arrangements. Jack Hesketh, director of the recreation department, said no charges will be made for entering exhibits.

Anyone interested in entering their hobby or collection in the exhibits, should contact the Monroe Recreation Department at 325-3895.

Truman Wants To See Alaska

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Saturday he has an unfulfilled ambition—to visit Alaska.

"I've been in all of the 49 other states and I hope some day to get to Alaska—then I'll have seen them all," he told newsmen during his morning stroll.

GHANA'S REQUEST

MOSCOW (AP) — Ghana's minister of agriculturel, Krobo Edusei, has arrived in Moscow and will ask, the Tass news agency reported, for Soviet experts to help Ghana develop deep sea fishing.

DURING PAST WEEK

New Construction Permits Are Issued

Construction totaling $133,900 will get underway in Monroe as indicated by building permits issued by the Monroe City Inspection Department last week.

Dale Martha, co-ordinator for the department, said eight permits were issued for new construction totaling $100,000 and 15 for additions or alterations to existing structures which came to $33,900.

They cinlude Jasper Scott, to move house from 804 Wood St. to 4010 Church St.; City School Board, move a portable classroom from Lexington School to Barkdull Faulk School at 2110 Jackson St.; and Call Hill, move frame house from 104 Eighth St. to outside the city.

Jaycees To Sell Ads In Pageant Program Book

The kick-off is scheduled Monday for advertising sales for the Miss Louisiana Pageant program book, according to chairman Webb Nix.

Nix, supervising production and preparation of the book for the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce, said Saturday that a meeting to iron out final details of the sales campaign is scheduled Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the pageant headquarters at 402 DeSiard St. in downtown Monroe.

Jaycees who will be canvassing the Twin Cities selling advertising in the official program book, along with the program book committee and members of the pageant's general planning and steering committee, will be present at the meeting, Nix said.

Salesmen will be briefed on procedure by Jaycee Pete Dowd.

The sales campaign will run until the latter part of May, according to Nix.

Nix added that a mail sales drive is already underway and some advertising has been received.

The book will be the official program for the Miss Louisiana Pageant which makes its first run in Monroe July 2-4. The pageant is being sponsored by the Jaycees. Billy Hargiss is general chairman.

Scheduled for an appearance in Monroe during the pageant is Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark., this year's Miss America. The Miss Louisiana pageant is a preliminary for the Miss America pageant held later this year at Atlantic City, N.J.

Public Affairs Chief To Visit Area Tuesday

JONESVILLE (Special) — Edward J. Steinel, executive director of the Public Affairs Research Council of Louisiana, Inc., will be in Jonesville Tuesday to report to area members on the progress of work of PAR.

Wedon T. Smith, Jonesville attorney, will serve as chairman of the meeting which will be held at the Riverside Restaurant.

"PAR has been a potent influence in stressing some issues which ultimately made up the platforms of political aspirants for major public offices," Smith said in making the announcement.

"It is expected that the next few years will see substantial progress toward an uplifting of Louisiana's governmental image and removal of some of the deterrent factors that affect our competition for new business and industry.

"Perhaps he (Steimel) can give us some insight in to the solutions of some of the basic problems facing our state," Smith added.

Teenagers Still Eager For Beatles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The first tickets went on sale Saturday for the August appearance of the British entertainers, the Beatles. And guess what? Hundreds of teen-agers were waiting—after an all-night vigil — for the first chance to buy the ducats.

The crowd was orderly and and many of the youngsters had their parents along as chaperones.

Hathorn Tells 'Y' Club Here Of ZIP Code

The post office department's ZIP Code was defined by Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn as an economy measure to cope with the nation's mounting mail volume without an "unmanageable increase" in its workroom personnel.

In a speech at the Y's Men's Club Friday, Hathorn labeled the program as the only economical answer to what Postmaster General John A. Gronouski describes as a "Mail explosion" of the 1960's and 70's.

Hathorn pointed out that the Monroe Post office processes a goodly share of the 70 billion pieces of mail generated nationally. The volume, he said, rises at the rate of 2½ billion pieces a year and by 1970 will total 90 billion.

He said ZIP Code is designed to solve the problem of rising volume, by cutting down on the number of times the mail is handled. By "leap frogging" mail from sectional center to sectional center, ZIP Code reduces the possibility of error, saves money and speeds delivery.

Veterans Group To Make Plans For Convention

The state American Veterans of World War II and Korea convention will be discussed at a meeting this morning in the Virginia Hotel of the AMVETS State Executive Committee.

The committee will meet at 10 a.m. to make final plans for the convention to be held at the Virginia Hotel here June 12, 13, and 14. Other items on today's agenda include discussion of a resolution being offered by Foss Landry Post condemning the Gesel Report. This report concerns Defense Secretary McNamara's order which places business establishments practicing segregation off limits to servicemen.

The Walter Savage Post Jr. No. Five of Monroe will host todays meeting. The Committee is composed of 17 members who direct AMVET policy for Louisiana, and some of its members include presiding officer, Dept. Commander A. J. Guidry of Baton Rouge, and Provost Marshall Larry Ferracci of Monroe.

The Walter Savage Post and other local posts treated committeemen to a cocktail party Saturday night at the hotel in the Cameo Room.

Aldermen Buy New Equipment

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Winnsboro Board of Aldermen purchased a new city garbage truck and tractor-mower at their meeting the past week, according to Mayor W. E. Marioneaux.

The aldermen awarded the low bids on these items to two Winnsboro firms and a Monroe firm. Low bid on the truck went to Lanier Motor Company, Winnsboro, with a price of $2,547.45; the truck body bed went to Southern Equipment Co., Monroe, whose bid price was $3,778.25. The Mason-Ridge Tractor Co., Winnsboro, submitted the low bids on both the tractor and mower. Bid prices were $1,989 on the tractor and $510 on the mower.

Census Taken At Winnsboro

WINNSBORO (Special) — New population census figures here indicate there are now 5,295 residents in Winnsboro.

Mayor W. E. Marioneaux pointed out that these figures indicate an increase of 858 persons over the 1960 census count of 4,437. The mayor said this will mean an increase of about $4,000 per year in the rebate on the cigarette tax.

The census was conducted by the Winnsboro Civitan Club which was paid 10 cents per person.

INDIAN PAY HIKE

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Over Socialist cries of "immoral" and "indecent," members of Parliament voted 140-11 this weekend to increase their year-around monthly salaries from $84 to $105 and their daily allowances while in session from $4.41 to $6.50.

WANT-AD WONDERS Trade Mark

Want Ad Leads To Original Nobel Prize

"A Wealthy gentleman, desires to find a lady familiar with language, as secretary."

Bertha found her new employer to be Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, and, through the years, convinced him to commence the now famous Nobel Peace Awards.

Want Ad Leads To Original Nobel Prize

Bertha found her new employer to be Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, and, through the years, convinced him to commence the now famous Nobel Peace Awards.

BOOKS

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Interesting Books Added At Library

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The theme of National Library Week "Reading Is The Key" reminded patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library that books do hold the key to excellence in many fields. Each week a number of interesting new books are added to the book collections of the Ouachita Parish Public Library and this week has an unusually large number of interesting titles. In the field of fiction, the outstanding book is "Flood" written by Robert Penn Warren. This is a violent novel of our time, with the setting in a small Tennessee town. "Brightness" by Elizabeth Jenkins is a novel with a fine moral viewpoint, which will be most welcome to many of our readers. An unusual book of short stories with strong overtones of irony is "Hissing Tales" by Romain Gary. Those who like a sweet love story, will want to read "A Candle in Her Heart" by Emilie Loring. "The Blind Heart" by Storm Jameson is a sophisticated novel with the setting in Southern France. a

For readers of mystery stories there is a wide selection of interesting new books this week. They are: "The Misty Curtain" by Lucy Cores; "From 9 o'clock to Jamica Bay" by Daniel Broun; "Miss Lenora When Last Seen" by Peter Taylor; "The Raymond Chandler Omnibus"; "Packed For Murder" by John Blackburn. "The Voice On The Telephone" by Mildred Davis; "And On The Eighth Day" by Ellery Queen; "Quest of The Bogeyman" by The Lockridges and "The Night in Lisbon" by Erich Remarque.

In the field of non-fiction there are many important books; "A History of Western Philosophy" by Bertrand Russell is one that will be most useful. "Developing Your Personality" by Martin Panzer is another useful book. "Seven Sages: the Story of American Philosophy" by H. B. Van Wesep, will be used extensively by students. "The English Bible" by F. F. Bruce is a history of the many translations of the Bible. "God Our Contemporary" is a fine book of religious meditation by J. B. Phillips. "Best Sermons, Vol VIII" collected by Paul G. Butler will be widely used.

"Wall Street: the other Las Vegas" written by Nicolas Darvas details the risk of speculating on the stock market. "With Fire and Sword" by Quentin Reynolds is an interesting book of great War adventures. "Democracy and Education" is a reprint of the classic in the field by John Dewey. "Educating the Academically Able" by Lester D. Crow is a fine book of reading on the subject. Another book in the field of education is "Are Parochial Schools the Answer?" written by Mary Perkins Ryan. "Merchants Make History" by Ernst Samhaber is an interesting history of commerce.

The science collection of the library is one of our weakest spots and we are working hard to build it up. This week there are a number of new titles in that field. "Modern Science and Modern Man" by James Conant; "The Creation of the Universe" by George Gamow. "Biography of Physics" by George Gamow and "A Biography of the Sea" by Richard Carrington. The last one is an extremely interesting book and one that you would all enjoy reading.

The field of useful arts has a number of new books also. "What to Do Until the Doctor Comes" is a practical book of first aid written by William Bolton. "The Complete Book for Gardeners" by Rachel Snyder and "The Art of Flower Arrangement" by Norman Edward will interest many gardeners. "The Southern Country Store" by Lewis Atherton is a very interesting history of early merchandising in this section of the country. In the fine arts field there are five new books: "German and Austrian Porcelains" by George W. Ware: "Victorian Silver and Silver-Plate" by Patricia Wardle; "Drawing with Pen and Ink" by Arthur L. Guptill; "This is Music" by David Randolph and "Indispensables of Piano Playing" by Abby Whiteside.

One of the most popular types of material at the Library is the book of biography. This week there are a number of new ones; "Borah" by Marian C. McKenna; "Chennault and the Flying Tigers by Anna Chennault; "The Lives and Legends of Buffalo Bill" by Donald Russell; "Selected Letters of William Cowper" selected by Mark Van Doren; "Cyprus the Great, King of Persia" by Harold Lamb; "William Preston Johnston" by Arthur M. Shaw; "Four Days," a historical record of the Death of President Kennedy, compiled by the American Heritage. "James Longstreet, Soldier and Politician" by Donald B. Sanger; "Moliere: the man seen through the plays" by Ramon Fernandez; "Seargent S. Prentiss: Whig Orator of the Old South" by Dallas C. Dickey; "Black Jack Pershing" by Richard O'Connor and "Truly Emily Post" written by her son Edwin Post.

Clinton Wavered As England Lost

PORTRAIT OF A GENERAL. By William B. Willcox. Knopf. $8.95.

Sir Henry Clinton, who helped preside over the dissolution of the British empire in what is now the United States, appears in this biography as a curious if gifted figure of frustration and inhibition.

After spending 20 years deciphering bales of Clinton's original papers, the author found the man's character so baffling and contradictory that he brought in another Michigan professor, a psychiatrist, to help make an analysis. That's a worthwhile switch on the usual practice of amateur psychiatry by biographers.

Even so it is hard to understand why Clinton, bold and decisive as a lion in his advice and even his actions as a subordinate to General Howe, turned timid and vacillating when he got the supreme command in his own hands.

Seems it all had a lot to do with Clinton's upbringing and the character quirks of his father.

However that may be, the general proved to be a virtuoso feudist in the military establishment, as well as a wizard for laying plans for campaigns that never came off.

He had trouble getting his superiors to approve his plans, and his subordinates to act on them. And when by chance a plan did near fulfillment, he would often flinch at the last minute from actually carrying it out.

Churchman's Obsession Disastrous

THE SPIRE. By William Golding. Harcourt, Brace. $3.95.

In the mold of myths and the supernatural, Golding has written a story about a religious man's obsession. It deals with good and evil, with man's relation to man. It is composed in a supercharged prose.

The framework of the story is that Jocelyn, dean of an English cathedral (Salisbury was the model for the story), believes he has received a vision directing him to send a "prayer" of stone and timber to God, in the form of a great spire over his church.

He becomes so obsessed with this idea that he sacrifices himself, his fellow priests, the builders themselves, to the risky task of raising a tower over a shaky and inadequate foundation.

In the process, he madly destroys his position in the church and brings disaster to four principal characters — Roger Mason, the master builder; his sharp-tongued wife Rachel; Pangall, a sort of caretaker of the cathedral, and his wife Alison.

And in the end, it becomes apparent that Jocelyn's guardian angel was a dark spirit: that Jocelyn was a poor judge of devils.

It may be interesting to contrast the stark, shattering narrative of Golding's "Lord of the Flies" — in which primeval sin erupted through young boys (exchoir boys of just such a cathedral) — with this highly neurotic narrative of a churchman's agonized exploration of how men can be good or bad, inside or outside the church.

Money Made Easy

Chase's book is a very timely eye-opener for those of us who have never understood economics, and no doubt for women who have tried to understand the subject.

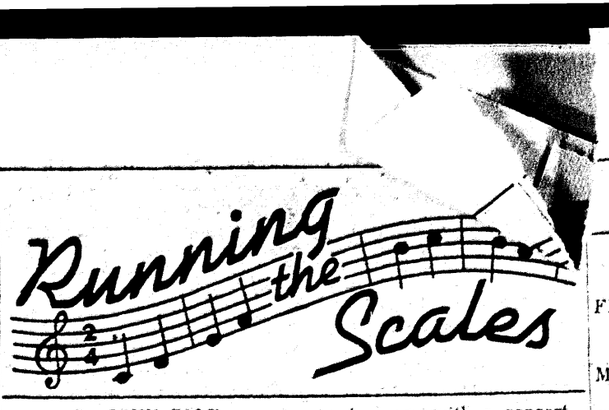

He begins with the premise — which apparently is generally held by the experts — that the rate of economic growth in the United States during the past decade, dragging along at less than 3 per cent a year, is so low as to be a matter of dangerous portent.

From there he offers concrete suggestions for getting the U.S. economy up to "potential," meaning normal, not sluggish, advance, in which unemployment would be reduced to reasonable size. His major proposal is for a federal Agency for Economic Growth, which in his view would be as important as the creation of the Federal Reserve System itself.

In doing so, he explores the whole question of what money has become in recent years. Money isn't what it used to be — gold or silver. It has popped up under the guise of bank credit and circulating "numbers" (bank checks) which work just as well. In this argument, he relies on studies made by an organization known as the Committee on Cash Flow.

He spells out, in terms even you and I can understand, the knowledge that has developed in recent years about money, credit tax cuts, budget deficits and other mysteries, such as the difference between individual and federal economics. To those of us who always have felt that economics is a sorcery performed behind Alice's looking glass, it may be some comfort to know that we were almost right — up to the last two or three decades.

Chase advocates a war on poverty and a sort of domestic Peace Corps on such fronts as soil conservation. (His manuscript was prepared in 1963, shortly before the current administration's proposals for an anti-poverty drive.)

By JOHN CALE

Exactly 400 years ago today, on April 26, 1564, a baptizing took place in Stratford - on - Avon, Warwickshire, which resulted in the best known name of all English literature.

No one knows the exact date of William Shakespeare's birth, but the celebrations of the anniversary throughout last week would cover the situation pretty well. For a long time, April 23 was considered the birthdate, but since this was also the date of Shakespeare's death in 1616, the historians might have erred slightly in order to tie up vital statistics.

As we pay a moment's tribute to a writer whose material has survived the centuries, we've found an appropriate quotation from an anonymous author of the prologue to Julius Caesar in Covent Garden Drolery, dated 1672:

"His Excellencies came and were not sought.
His words like casual Atoms made a thought:
Drew up themselves in Rank and File, and writ,
He wondring how the Devil it were such wit."

ORCHESTRAS

Local symphonies will hold the spotlight as the curtains fall on regularly scheduled "season" attractions in this part of the state. The Twin City Symphony will feature a composition by Dr. Eloy Fominaya in a concert slated for Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Brown Hall auditorium on the Northeast campus. Professor Kenneth Byler will appear as guest soloist with the group in the performance of "Concerto for Viola and Orchestra." The composer is a professor of strings with the Northeast music faculty and the performer is a member of the teaching staff of Lawrence College Conservatory at Appleton, Wisconsin.

Other numbers on the program include the overture to the opera "Iphigenia in Aulis," by Gluck; the "Symphony in G. Minor," by Mozart, and "The White Peacock," by C. T. Griffes.

The newly organized Ruston Civic Symphony will close the week-long festival of the arts held on the La. Tech campus in commemoration of the Shakespeare anniversary with a concert at 3 p.m. today in the college student center.

The Monroe Youth Symphony will present its final concert of the year on Monday, May 4, at Neville auditorium with guest soloists in violin and piano.

AUDITIONISTS

Diane Balfour, mezzo soprano and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Balfour of West Monroe, and Gayle Smith, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wilford Smith of Monroe, scored musical successes in regional and tri-state auditions held last weekend by the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Both vocalists, who were featured in this year's colorful "Spring Serenade," directed by Mrs. Estelle Schulze Sanders, placed in the regional auditions in Shreveport. At the tri-state auditions in Baton Rouge, Miss Smith earned a first place and Miss Balfour a third.

PIANIST

Joe Monroe, Monroe pianist, will play a concert today at Southern State College, Magnolia, Arkansas. The program includes works by Mozart, Chopin, Ravel, Debussy, and Walter Jenkins of the Sophie Newcomb music faculty. The program will be repeated here Sunday, May 3, in Biedenharn Hall on the Northeast campus on the occasion of National Music Week.

HINDSIGHT

The fading rays of this season's show pieces leave us pondering a few points as to where the stress should lie in live artistic presentations of music or dramatics. There must be a happy medium somewhere between the elaborate setting and the "thing - 'or - itself" attitude about plays and musicals.

Of course, this could turn into a bread - and - butter sort of discussion where someone could end it all by saying simply, "I like a little of both."

But it goes deeper than that. Certainly the age of the electronics "spectacular" has conditioned us to expect more stagecraft than was the case even a decade ago.

Meanwhile, music in particular has suffered a setback in quality at the hands of the mass media in spite of the fact that the means to reproduce sounds are enjoying a high-water mark.

All of this is leading to a situation which puzzles those on both sides of the footlights as well as the stage designers and technicians. An extreme case was noted recently in a description of a "peep show" booth which emitted perfume to match the extent of the featured exotic dancer's routine.

Just such a thing matched the downfall of the romantic movement a little less than a century ago when attempts were made to include too many of the senses in the performed arts.

Our pitch has been for emphasis on the central art medium thoroughly supported by those embellishments which strengthen the attitude of the performer or performers. All of which could mean simply "say your piece, but don't get lost in the curtains," or "let some of the picture show through the frame."

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Interesting Books Added At Library

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The theme of National Library Week "Reading Is The Key" reminded patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library that books do hold the key to excellence in many fields. Each week a number of interesting new books are added to the book collections of the Ouachita Parish Public Library and this week has an unusually large number of interesting titles. In the field of fiction, the outstanding book is "Flood" written by Robert Penn Warren. This is a violent novel of our time, with the setting in a small Tennessee town. "Brightness" by Elizabeth Jenkins is a novel with a fine moral viewpoint, which will be most welcome to many of our readers. An unusual book of short stories with strong overtones of irony is "Hissing Tales" by Romain Gary. Those who like a sweet love story, will want to read "A Candle in Her Heart" by Emilie Loring. "The Blind Heart" by Storm Jameson is a sophisticated novel with the setting in Southern France. a

For readers of mystery stories there is a wide selection of interesting new books this week. They are; "The Misty Curtain" by Lucy Cores; "From 9 o'clock to Jamica Bay" by Daniel Broun; "Miss Lenora When Last Seen" by Peter Taylor; "The Raymond Chandler Omnibus"; "Packed For Murder" by John Blackburn. "The Voice On The Telephone" by Mildred Davis; "And On The Eighth Day" by Ellery Queen; "Quest of The Bogeyman" by The Lockridges and "The Night in Lisbon" by Erich Remarque.

In the field of non-fiction there are many important books; "A History of Western Philosophy" by Bertrand Russell is one that will be most useful. "Developing Your Personality" by Martin Panzer is another useful book. "Seven Sages; the Story of American Philosophy" by H. B. Van Wesep, will be used extensively by students. "The English Bible" by F. F. Bruce is a history of the many translations of the Bible. "God Our Contemporary" is a fine book of religious meditation by J. B. Phillips. "Best Sermons, Vol VIII" collected by Paul G. Butler will be widely used.

"Wall Street; the other Las Vegas" written by Nicolas Darvas details the risk of speculating on the stock market. "With Fire and Sword" by Quentin Reynolds is an interesting book of great War adventures. "Democracy and Education" is a reprint of the classic in the field by John Dewey. "Educating the Academically Able" by Lester D. Crow is a fine book of reading on the subject. POPS!! SAY THAT AGAIN—I MEAN THE FIRST PART! SAY IT!!

I SIMPLY SAID—

I HEARD YOU, DARLING!! FATHER—YOU ARE A BLOOMIN', BLINKING' GENIUS!! WHAT AN IDEA!!

SENSATIONAL!

I AM? WHAT DID I SAY THAT WAS SO BRIGHT? AND—WHERE ARE YOU DASHING OFF TO?

SUPER-MARKET. BACK IN A JIFF!

Later...

O.K., DARLING—TAKE A LOOK! AND YOU'D BETTER LIKE IT, BECAUSE IT'S YOUR BABY!

M-MY BABY??

SURE—YOU SAID I'D LOOK FETCHING IN A POTATO SACK. WELL...???

Y-YOU WERE OUR GOOD FRIENDS ONCE... I KNOW YOU CAN'T HELP ME NOW...

BUT WILL YOU GET THIS BIBLE ACROSS THE BORDER TO COL. CANYON ?

IT IS LAST WISH OF MISSIONARY MISSA...

SO, IN DUE COURSE, THE BIBLE IS DELIVERED TO STEVE IN THE NEIGHBORING COUNTRY....

LOOK, LAREE! IT'S MRS. YEER'S BIBLE...

THE BOY SAID SHE IS SICK WITH JUNGLE FEVER!

THE POOR WOMAN... BUT WHY SEND YOU HER BIBLE ?

SHE CERTAINLY USED IT...PASSAGES MARKED... HEY! —PASSAGES MARKED!

Presented to Mrs. Norman Yeer by her Bible Class, May 1959

PSALMS, lx, 8
JEREMIAH, xlviii, 40
PSALMS, xxxi, 15; cxliii, 9

LAREE, TAKE THIS DOWN AS I READ OFF CHAPTER AND VERSE...THEY'RE ALL OLD TESTAMENT... FIRST= Psalms, lx, 8...

"Philistia, triumph thou because of me" THE PHILISTINES WERE THE ARCH-ENEMIES OF THAT DAY... THEN= Jeremiah, xlviii, 40

"...Behold he shall fly as an eagle and spread his wings over Moab"...SHE MUST MEAN THAT THE RED AIR STRIP EXISTS! BOTH DAVID AND JESUS HAD MOABITE BLOOD... FINALLY= Psalms, xxxi, 15; cxliii, 9...

"Deliver me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me"...

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:

When I wash my young daughter's hair, I set up my adjustable ironing board, place the wide end of it against the sink and lay the child face up on the ironing board with her head over the sink.

A hand towel rolled and placed under her neck makes her more comfortable and catches any water which might drip down her neck. A small pan or spray attachment is excellent for both washing and rinsing the hair.

Alice Tucker

* * *

This is a wonderful way to wash a child's hair. The little angel can look up into your face (which she can't do if you say, "hold your head over the basin"). She can also put her little arm around your waist for comfort. And the soap does not run into her eyes.

You know that if soap gets into a small child's eyes, you are going to have a bad time washing her hair thereafter. Try this method. The children will love it.

Heloise

NO SKIDDING HERE

DEAR HELOISE:

I put a plastic place mat under my portable sewing machine and typewriter when I use them. This is especially good when working on a polished surface. There is no slipping or sliding!

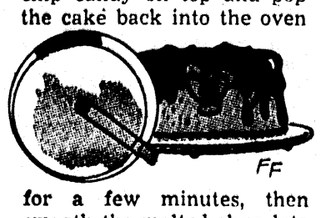

I also use a pretty kitchen towel as a scarf on top of my refrigerator. This sure saves scratches.

Jane Hertneck

QUICK CHIP CAKE

DEAR HELOISE:

When I do not have time to make frosting for a cake, I sprinkle some chocolate chip candy on top and pop the cake back into the oven for a few minutes, then smooth the melted chocolate chips all over the top of the cake, and presto . . . instant frosting! Any type of broken or chopped chocolate bar will do.

If desired, sprinkle shredded coconut over all of it while still warm.

Ellen Marden

BALL POINT PENS

DEAR HELOISE:

What do you do when a ball point pen just won't write?

Joel

* * *

DEAR JOEL:

There are two things you can do:

You can light a match and hold the ball point barely into the heat for a few seconds. (If your pen is all plastic, be sure to remove the cartridge first.) After heating the point, draw circles real fast on a piece of paper. If it isn't out of ink, it will start working again.

Or if you have more than one ball point pen, remove all the cartridges, drop them into a small pan of boiling water and turn off the heat. Leave them until the water gets cool. Replace in pens and write to me again!

Heloise

FOR ADDED SPARK

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who own cigarette lighters and can never find a flint, here's an idea that will save their nerves . . .

Learn to keep the extra flints under the cotton inside the lighter.

Not only will you never be without a flint, but you can give yourself the title of "Sir Galahad" and come to the rescue of somebody who needs one.

Scotty Scott

BICYCLE FASHIONS

DEAR HELOISE:

An old discarded shower cap makes a pretty and wonderful rainy-day bicycle seat cover. Not only does it keep the seat from getting wet during the rain but keeps the dust off on clear days.

Busy Teen-ager

SLIDIN' TIME

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a tip for your readers, especially if they have heavy refrigerators and appliances and want to move them without scarring up the kitchen linoleum:

All they have to do is slip pieces of flattened milk cartons under the feet of the box! (Any heavy appliance may be lifted with a plank or some type of automobile jack.) With the flattened milk cartons under the refrigerator it will slide with the greatest of ease without marring the floor.

Mrs. Joe Brody

BIRTHDAY PAPER

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's what to do if your child goes to lots of birthday parties and you run out of wrapping paper:

Try wrapping birthday gifts (especially if they are oversized) in the Sunday comic section! It's colorful, practical and quite different. I use a child's jump rope in place of ribbon for tying the package!

Dottie

ITALIAN POPCORN

DEAR HELOISE:

For a different treat, I fix salted popcorn as usual, and while it is still piping hot I sprinkle it with grated parmesan cheese, stirring it to coat the corn evenly. It is delicious.

E. Z.

* * *

And have you ever tried sprinkling popcorn with garlic salt or onion salt?

Heloise

WRAPPING CAKE

DEAR HELOISE:

When I frost a cake, whether I am taking it to a friend or putting it in my freezer, I take a squeeze bottle of water and dampen some wax paper. Then I sprinkle the paper with powdered sugar. This paper can be used to wrap any iced cake, meringue pie or candy. It protects the frosting beautifully and will not stick to the icing.

If you don't have a spray bottle, just take an ordinary sponge or cloth and slightly dampen the wax paper, then sprinkle the powdered sugar on it.

Mrs. Howard Gillispie

GARLIC BREAD

DEAR HELOISE:

When I buy French bread to use for garlic or hot-buttered bread . . . I slice it, butter and season it and then slip it right back into the bag in which it came. I then put this in my freezer!

I take out any number of pieces I need, especially when unexpected guests come, and I do not have to wait for that frozen slab to thaw before slicing it. All I need to do is separate the pieces and heat them. Thus they can be served with a minimum of trouble.
